WOULD BALK A CHIPPAWA COST PROBE

Is Charge Hurled at Cabinet Ministers by G. H. Ferguson in Public Accounts Committee.

FIGHTING START

TORONTO, April 7.—(Special)—The Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature got off to a fighting start in its deliberations to-day, when an attempt was made by G. H. Ferguson to place before the committee documents with reference to the Hydro project at Chippawa, which had not been ordered produced.

Charges that Cabinet Ministers were seeking to balk a full inquiry upon the matter, were hurled by Mr. Ferguson and other Opposition members, when the committee declined to receive the documents so submitted and in the ensuing argument the greater part of the morning was consumed.

F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Commission, had been summoned by the committee to give evidence with regard to certain items of Chippawa expenditure, appearing in the public accounts, when Mr. Gaby appeared, however he bore with him, three filing cases and a pile of books and papers, more than a foot in height.

Papers Not Ordered

W. E. Raney, Attorney-General raised the point that the majority of these documents had not been ordered by the committee.

Mr. Ferguson—"What difference does that make? If the witness is present and has all the papers on the case".

J. W. Curry—"Mr. Chairman.."

Mr. Ferguson—"I have the floor".

Mr. Curry—"A point of order, Mr. Chairman, the member for Grenville is trying to suggest to a witness what documents he shall bring without obtaining authority from the committee."

"On what authority did you order those papers", inquired Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer.

"I can understand Mr. Ferguson asking for the papers, but I can't understand Mr. Gaby's bringing them", added Manning Doherty minister fo Agriculture. Mr. Ferguson remained on his feet.

"Who do you think is running this committee?" demanded Mr. Raney.

"Don't be so irritable, Mr. Attorney-General," Mr. Ferguson reproved him." God bless you, it's a pity when the Premier goes away and leaves you alone. There can be only one object in refusing to have these papers identified—To provide a few days delay, On the barest strand of a technicality you would delay the inquiry."

Mr. Doherty Jr.—"It is not a technicality, it is an irregularity".

Committee Wide Open

Mr. Ferguson—"It"s northing of the kind. This committee has always been regarded as wide open, with power to hold a full investigation into any matter which any member wishes to bring up".

Peter Smith here strove to interject a remark.

"I haven't finished", Mr. Ferguson rebuked him. "And when I've finished with you, you'll know it. There is no reason why the committees resolution shouldn't be amended here and now. Are we

"To the Grave"

MRS. LEONORA Z. MEDER.

CHICAGO, April 7.—"The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

An attorney had used the quotation as the finishing touches to his argument.

To him the phrase was grandiloquent, uttered for effect.

But there was one in the courtroom who heard, and was roused into a peculiar consciousness by the words.

That person was Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, also a lawyer.

Days after, the line kept repeating itself.

Decides on Home.

And then she asked herself:

"Home or career."

And the answer was simply: 'Home."

That's how Chicago has come to lose its foremost woman politician, club leader and barrister.

"I'm going to chuck it all,' says Mrs. Meder. "For the glamour of public life, women give up children, husband and home. Success? Fools' gold I'm through. The end is the grave. Empty nothingness."

And this decision she made after 30 years of intimate dealing with the public.

It came right on the eve when the women's Democratic organizations had announced her name as the candidate for judge at the coming elections.

Success is hers.

She was the woman who had been public welfare commissioner, and the first of her sex to sit in an Illinois jury box.

Her practice at law was bringing in more than a handsome living.

But, "No," she said.

"It's back to the home for mine. Not that I have neglected the one I have, nor the duties to my children—one, my own; the eight others, my sister's little orphans. I've tried to be a good mother, but I feel now that I must be a better one.

Home Woman's Sphere.

"After all, the old-fashioned mother wa sthe best of her type. She might not have known much about antiseptics, adenoids or tonsils, but she surely knew how to bake an apple pie.

"Home. What a wonderful word. That's woman's sphere. I waited 30 years to convince myself just what it meant way down in the quintessence of the thing."

SMALL VOTE FOR WESTERN CLOCK

Very Little Doubt as to the Result—How Vote Went Up to Noon.

In spite of the efforts made to get out a large vote it looked this afternoon as if the vote on the Western Clock by-law would be an exceedingly small one. The Chamber of Commerce reported that through lack of cars they were handicapped in getting people out. A much larger vote could have been secured had they had a large number of automobiles on the job, Secretary L. Fraser declared.

There was not much doubt as to the outcome however, and wherever the Examiner went to-day people were confident that bylaw would be carried. Up till noon polls in all parts of the city reported only a vote of from 25 to 50 per cent of what ordinarily came in before noon The following polls which cover the city exclusive of Ashburnham fairly well gave the number of votes cast till 12 o'clock as follows:

No. 6—J. E. Firth's office, 362 Water street, 12.

No. 14. —F. J. Lynch's store, 465 Park street, 5.

No. 19—Patterson and Walton's store, 720 George street, 10.

No. 1 — H. Allen's store, 113 Gladstone avenue, 9.

"MEXICAN POLITICS."

DUBLIN, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)— "Mexican politics," which the newspapers have been talking about, will always be rampant in Ireland under the treaty arrangement, because the Irish people are agains the treaty, De Valera declared in an address at Kingstown yesterday. "If the people do not want Mexican politics," he said, "they must remove the treaty by its roots, anf if they want stable government pending its removal they must allow the Dail Eireann to take its rightful place as the government of the nation."

Declares Farmers and Agents Made Handsome Profit From Maple Syrup

Farmers in this district are looking forward to starting their spring work next week, according to men from several townships The Examiner interviewed to-day. The ground is drying up nicely, and in a few more days will be ready for the plough and harrow. The frost, they say, is practically out of the ground, one man relating how, in digging post holes he had only found about an inch of hard ground.

Conditions Promising.

"The condition of the ground this spring is in good shape for fine crops," said one farmer.

"There is just enough moisture to give everything a good start. The rain last night was good for the land, but we do not want as much rain as last spring to hold up the growing season," he added.

"The fall wheac is looking better than in some years," said another farmer. "Of course, it is lying flat now, but you can tell it is in nice shape, and stands nearly six inches in some places. The danger of frosts will be great for a week or so, and a great deal depends on the weather, he said.

Syrup Season Over.

Unless a sharp frost comes along to give the sap running a new lease of life, the season for syrup making is about over. Farmers say that the run is getting a trifle "buddy" now, and will have to go into vinegar.

"Everything depends on the weather," said a man who is closely in touch with the farming industry. "If we had an east wind, the sap ought to run good. I never knew a good sap day that there wasn't an east wind blowing."

"Some of the farmers must have made some money from the bush this year," declared a former machinery agent. "I remember when we used to only pay a dollar a gallon. This year they got as high as $3.50, and I wouldn't wonder if some farmers with a large number of trees under tap made a thousand dollars this year."

In Warsaw, the centre of the syrup industry, this man declared syrup was selling at $2.00 a gallon. He said most of the gentlemen who sell the syrup on the market are merely agents, and clear a handsome profit in their turnover.

SACRIFICE OF ART TREASURE

ODESSA, April 7.—(Associated Press)—More of Russia's apparently inexhaustible supply of art treasuers are being thrown upon the market under the new free trade policy combined with the increasing need of money to buy food. Here, in Moscow and Petrograd, the shops sell for the most part second hand jewelry, of gold and silver.

The bitter story of the home-wrecking revolution is told in any shop window. The majority of these things are going abroad. Among them are collections of plate, paintings, Swiss watches and Sevres vases which were imported from the western countries in the last 200 or 300 years or taken as loot in old wars, especially wars to the south and to the east.

Hundreds of articles bought in France during its great revolution and brought to Russia are now finding their way home again, bought up at low prices by foreigners.

Loot from Poland has gone back. Part of Soviet Russia's war indemnity to Poland included diamonds requisitioned from the old Russian rich who had in their turn may have obtained them from Poland long ago. Second-hand wedding rings are plentiful in the shops for women are patring with the last tie that binds them to their loved ones.

Dozens of newly opened commission shops here display a wealth of old wedding dresses. richly brocaded in gold and silver thread. Persian shawls, satin slippers, ball gowns cut into pieces an sold as scarfs or shirtwaists, handworked bed linen, mellowed old laces, silver daisies of the debutante and priceless old silken fans from France and Japan, handpaited by Watteau and like artists.

The men, too, have sold their imperial regiment watches and decorations, their pipes, their gold watches cigarette cases, the gold and ivory ikons. Musicians have placed on sale their instruments, masters the black conductors' batons inscribed by admiring friends with silver and gold dates in memory of their triumphs.

NURSES MAY HAVE BOOTH AT THE SHOW

The Graduate Nurses' Association at a meeting in the Public ibrary yesterday afternoon discussed having a booth at the Motor Show. A committee, with Miss Ethel Davidson as convenor, was appointed to consider the possibilities and report to the association. The nurses felt that they should take some part in the show as other organizations do, to assist the Peterborough Health Association.

On account of the unavoidable absence of the secretary, Miss Lillian Simons, the election of officers was held over till the May meeting. The question of nurses' remuneration was not discussed. Miss M. Deyell, 61 Crescent street, told the Examiner.

Charles Quibell was given two months in gaol, with the option of a two hundred dollar fine and costs. The step-father of the two boys will appear in court on Tuesday next on a charge of making home brew.

MUSIC FROM THE STATES HEARD HERE

Local Engineers Put On Interesting Programme Last Evening—Talk on Wireless.

IN ITS INFANCY.

Through the efforts of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute, a wireless telephone concert was given last night in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. It was planned originally to listen in on the concert given by the Toronto Star, but this was found to be out of the question, and, instead, some excellent music was heard which originated in Pittsburgh, Pa.; Schenectady, N.Y., and Newark, N.J. Instrumental and vocal selections from all three cities, and an announcement from the Brotherhood of St. Andrew's of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, could all be heard with surprising distinctness. The announcement was given in a slow and well modulated voice, and could be heard very clearly in all parts of the hall. The cheery "Good Night" at the close of the message was received with applause.

Immediately preceding the lecture and during the intervals between the selections a very lucid and interesting talk on the wireless telephone and how and why it works was given by Dr. Charles A. Culver, Ph.D., formerly Professor of Physics at Beloit University, and now radio engineer of the Independent Telephone Company.

Dr. Culver barred all technical terms from his talk and told of the wonders of radio communication in plain every-day language, which could be followed and understood by all who heard him. He traced the development of radio from its earliest inception, and prophesied great things for it in the future. He said that within a very short space of time, probably only a matter of weeks, broadcasting stations would be operating in Canada which would send out not only concerts and sermons, but market reports and the general news of the day. By this means those who possess a receiving set would know the more important items of news before the newspapers were published.

An Old Principle.

He began his talk by saying that the idea of communication without wires was almost as old as Humanity for the primative man who built a signal fire to warn his neighbors of the approach of an enemy was merely using one form of wireless telegraphy.

Signor Marconi, he said, by the discoveries he made, marked the greatest advancement in the science, but he was not the discoverer of the electric waves which he utilized to carry his messages. This honor belongs to an English mathematician, who, as a result of his studies, was able to show mathematically that such waves existed. Their actual presence was shown some years later by a German school teacher.

By using homely and everyday examples, he was able to show the relationship between electrical energy and matter and the part played by the electric wave which man has harnessed to carry his messages for him. Light and electricity, he said, were the same thing, but the wave length of light is only a very minute fraction of an inch, while the wave length of the electrical energy used in radio from four to five hundred yards.

The audion, he described as the greatest invention of the age, for it is this little instrument that makes wireless telephony possible. This he described to some length, showing how it was constructed and what its functions were in sending and receiving radio messages.

Rain Interfered.

At times during the concert the music was interrupted by a series of disagreeable noises. This he explained was due to the heavy rain which was falling and which set up certain electrical waves which tended to interfere with the receiving of messages.

He said that the range from which a message could be received depend-

Health Officer to Report Clean Bill

His report to the Board of Health on Monday will give the city practically a clean bill of health, Dr. T. W. H. Young, M. O.H., said to-day. "There are no epidemics," he said. "The scarlet fever is cleared up. There are a few cases of diphtheria and some of chickenpox, but that is all."

"Is there any flu?" the Examiner asked.

"I haven't noticed any real flu. Of course there are a lot of colds. There's bound to be in the spring, but there isn't any genuine flu?"

"Is there any pink-eye?"

"Not any great number of cases. I believe there are a few."

CO-OPERATION IN INDUSTRY IS THE NEED

The Local Manufacturers' Association Hear Industrial Problems Discussed by S. J. Williams.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Addresses by S. J. Williams, formerly president of the W.G.R. company of Kitchener, J. M. McIntosh, Secretary of the Ontario Division, and H. W. Macdonell, Director of the Industrial Relations Department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, featured the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. J. E. Walsh, whose visit had been looked forward to, was unable to be in the party of C.M.A. officials because of illness.

Problems that face the manufacturer were discussed by the speakers, Mr. Williams dealing in an intensely interesting way with the subject, "Co-operation in Industry." Mr. Macdonell discussed the Assessment Act, explaining the advantages and disadvantages of amending the Act to exempt taxation on dividends derived from shares in commercial or manufacturing corporations, as called for in a resolution adopted during the early part of the meeting, on motion of W. A. Richardson and B. F. Ackerman.

Old Officers Elected.

The report of the nominating committee presented by J. W. Meyers, recommending the old executive for another year, was adopted. The officers for 1922 are therefore: Chairman, J. J. Turner; vice-chairman, James Hamilton; teasurer, W. T. Hall; secretary, Homer Meyers; executive officers, W. R. Breyfogle and W. A. Richardson.

An application from the Chamber of Commerce of the support given them by the manufacturers during the past year, and a request for equal assistance this year, was received and referred to the executive to be dealt with before the next meeting in May. President Turner said that there was a feeling that the maximum fees might be reduced.

Montreal Chamber of Commerce asked for thier support in sending a Canadian exhibition train to France. Mr. McIntosh of Head Office, stated that the C.M.A. were in touch with this matter, and information would soon be available, and Peterborough would likely be asked to indicate if they will co-operate and take space. It was decided to reply to the Montreal Chamber that the matter is being taken up through the C.M.A.

RUSSIAN SOVIET DELEGATES TO GENOA ARRIVE

Polish Minister is the First Delegate to Reach the City — No Disturbances Experienced.

ON APRIL 9.

GENOA, April 7. — (Canadian Press).—George Chitcherin, Russian Soviet Foreign Minister; Maxim Litvinoff, Deputy Foreign Minister, and the other members of the Russian delegation to the Genoa Conference travelling with them, arrived at Genoa yesterday from Berlin. The party, which numbered 25 persons, did not leave the train here remaining on board as it proceeded to Rapallo, 15 miles southeast of this city, where the delegation is to be quartered.

Genoa and its environs have been cleared of suspicious Russians, who it was feared might disturb the coming international economic conference. Strangely enough, most of the Russians expelled from Nervi and other watering places in the vicinity of Genoa, were monarchists chiefly members of the old aristocracy, who claimed that they must remain in Italy for health reasons.

The Polish Minister to Ukrainia arrived Wednesday. He was the first actual delegate to reach the conference city. The Finnish delegation was expected yesterday and many other delegations will arrive to-day.

Foreign Minister Schanzer has urged the chief delegates of the Allied Powers to be here by April 9, to participate in a preliminary meeting for the purpose of agreeing upon some common action on the leading questions to be discussed at the conference, which opens the following day. Mr. Schanzer acted on the suggestion of David Lloyd George, British Prime Minister, who is taking a leading part in the plans for the conference.

Premier Facta will be in attendance at the conference for about a week, after which he will return to Rome, leaving M. Schanzer to direct the work of the sessions.

It is expected the conference will last about two months.. It will be inaugurated by Premier Facta who will voice the greetings of Italy to the foreign delegations and outline the object of the conference The program of the meeting will be set forth in a speech by Mr. Schanzer.

CZECHO-SLOVAK LOAN IS FLOATED.

LONDON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—The new Czecho-Slovak eight per cent. loan to the amount of £2,800,000 was offered for subscription here yesterday at 96 1-2. There had been much speculation as to how the investing public would receive the first issue by a Central European country since the war. It met with instant success, the loan, sponsored by the Rothschilds, the Barings and Schroders, being heavily over-subscribed when the lists closed at 11.30 o'clock.

IMMIGRATION POLICY IS DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

Estimates Passed After Lively Discussion—Government to Announce Policy Later.

BIG GAIN.

OTTAWA, April 7.— (Canadian Press.) — Immigration estimates (Civil Government) passed the House last night after some discussion and after an intimation that the Government would announce its immigration estimates are under conmigration policy when the general imsideration. It was shown that immigration to Canaad in 1921 totalled 148,0000 as compared with 48,000, but statistics of those who had left Canada were not available. "Failure to keep a record of those leaving the country is like keeping a set of books on one side only," warmly commented A. R. McMaster, Liberal member for Brome. From Progressive branches, the plea was made that Canadian immigration agents in the United States should keep a check on Canadians arriving there. And Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, stressed the need of a "sound" immigration policy.

On estimates of the Department of Immigration, amounting to $213,265 for salaries and $50,000 contingencies, there was a brief resurrection of Duncan Marshall's trip to Florida. Hon. H. H. Stevens said that he would not throw the blame upon Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Immigration, he had probably been "the victim of one of the mysterious temptations" that had been referred to as being present in the Green Chamber. (Laughter.)

Florida Trip.

Mr. Stewart replied that he would be very glad to explain Mr. Marshall's presence in Florida. There had been an exhibition at Tampa, at which the Canadian Government was exhibiting; and Mr. Marshall had gone down there to deliver a lecture on "Canada Day." He had made the trip just for that day and then returned.

"That is one of the last places where we could hope to get immigragration,' remarked Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Stewart replied that there were a lage number of farmers from Iowa at the exhibition at Tampa.

Mr. Meighen retorted that the people who went to Tampa were people with plenty of money.

"My Honourable Friend is all wrong," interjected Mr. Stewart.

"I know," shot back Mr. Meighen, 'I have been down there myself (laughter) but only for four days."

Mr. Stewart said that the whole exhibition might have been a mistake as far as Canada was concerned. But he found the Canadian exhibits there when he came into office and he was informed by his officials that the exhibit had done valuable service to Canada.

Mr. Manion asked the Minister to make a general statement on the changes he proposed to make in the Immigration policy.

Mr. Stewart replied that he would reserve that statement for the general estimates of his Department.

He had been consulting on the general problem with Hon. T. A. Low, Senators Dandurand and Bostock. There was still some questions upon which they had not reached a decision, and he was not ready to make a statement at the present time.

Great Increase.

Dr. Manion drew from the Minister the information that while there were only 48,000 immigrants who came into Canada in 1916, in 1921 the number had been 148,000. He inferred from thi that Canada's immigration was going back to the position it occupied before the war. "That is so far as we wish it to go ferred from this that Canada's immi-

GALLI-CURCI LOSES GEMS TO ROBBERS

Jewellery and Valuables Worth $45,000 Stolen From Rest-Room By Two Girls.

IN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 7. —Madame Amelite Galli-Curci, the opera singer, was robbed here yesterday of jewels and valuables which which she said were worth $45,000, when two girls fled with a jewel case that had been left by the singer's maid in a cafe rest room. The singer and her party had stopped here for lunch.

The singer, her husband. Homer Samuels, and the maid, departed at once for Los Angeles ,to aid in the search for the girls.

REVOLUTION ADVOCATED MONTREAL

ON CHAMP DE MARS.

MONTREAL, April 7.— (Canadian Pres.)—Nothing but red revolution will solve the unemployment question in this city, according to Albert St. German, stenographer of the Superior Court, who addressed a meeting of about 3,000 workless on the Champ De Mars, in front of the City Hall yesterday afternoon. Speaking through a megaphone, Mr. St. Germain, announced that further demands of a peaceful nature were futile and the League of the Unemployed would be formed. An executive council on the Soviet model would be chosen and a "plan of campaign" would be studied.

From the windows of the nearby court house could be seen judges and advocates in their robes listening to the speeches of Mr. St. Germain and others. One of the latter wore light grey suede gloves, a raglan spring overcoat and spats and gave the crowd the benefit of some Latin quotations.

U. S. TOLD OF GOOD POINTS OF CANADA

Benefits of Mutual Understanding Are Pointed Out By M. M. Mahoney.

KIWANIS CLUB.

WASHINGTON, April 7. Canadian Press. — The benefits of a campaign for wider mutual understanding between the citizens of Canada and the United States, such as that conducted by the Kiwanis Club this week, were emphasized by M. M. Mahoney, representative of the Dominion Department of External Affairs in Washington, in an address delivered at the "Canadian Day" luncheon of the Washington Kiwanis Club yesterday. A two nations had long been espirit of brotherhood between the tablished through emigration from one country to the other, Mr. Mahoney said, and this was bound to broaden with the establishment of better understanding.

"From the factory towns of New England, with their vast populations recruited largely from the Province of Quebec, to the fruit ranches of Oregon and California, every State in the Union has a large population of those who were formerly Canadians," said the Canadian representative in dealing with this phase of his subject. "From the factory workers of New England to the Cabinet Minister of the last administration who recently passed on, they have filled and are filling every position in the Republic except that of the presidency"

On the other hand Canada received a great many fine citizens from the United States, the speaker declared. In the thirteen years preceding the outbreak of the war, he pointed out, the United States' emigration to Canada was almost as large as that from the United Kingdom and virtually larger than that the most part these imigrants had of all other countries combined. For settled in the great Canadian West.

"They and their children are of the salt that has savored the Prairie Provinces." continued Mr. Mahoney. "Self-respecting, law abiding, God-fearing citizens, ready and anxious to do their share in the development of the country, morally and educationally, as well as materially."

DEFENCE BILL IS READY FOR THIRD READING

After Some Discussion the Amendment is Passed Removing the Mounted Police From Scope of Bill.

PENSIONS.

OTTAWA, April 7. Canadian Press —After further discussion, the bill to create a Department of National Defence went through the committee stage in the House yesterday and stands for the third reading.

An important amendmenet excludes the Canadian Mounted Police from the scope of the bill and the new department will therefore comprise the Militia, Military, Naval and Air Forces. When the Bill was last before the House objection was made to the inclusion of the Canadian Mounted Police on the ground that it was essentially a civil organization. Yesterday Hon. G. F. Graham, who was in charge of the bill, himself moved the amendment and it was carried without objection. Another amendment made affects the superannuation allowance of officers to be retired.

The original bill authorized the Government, in such cases, to add from one to three years to the actual term of service. An amendment reduces the years which may be added from one to two years.

Plans for the retention of experienced and highly trained military officers were made in the course of the committee discussion.

James Robinson Declares Everybody Gambles in Wheat Options Under Present System.

OLD SYSTEM.

OTTAWA, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—The farmers of Western Canada have no confidence in the present open grain market system, declared James Robinson, second witness for the Canadian Council of Agriculture in his evidence before the Committee on Agriculture yesterday afternoon. At present options on wheat were sold before the wheat was in the ground. Clerks, storekeepers, laborers and preachers gambled in wheat options and got their profits out of the farmer's prices. Under a wheat board the witess believed, the farmer would get the maximum return from the produce.

The farmer had been "up against' drought, hail, grasshoppers and other difficulties. Only the privilege of grumbling remained to the farmer. At present the farmer's creditors demanded that he sell his grain as soon as threshed. The result was that the market became glutted. Seventy five per cent of the wheat was marketed in three months under the open market system.

Referring to deliveries, Mr. Robinson said that last year total September deliveries of wheat at Winnipeg had been 33,011,520 bushels valued at $53,725,000; October deliveries 56,165,090 bushels valued at $61,876,000, and November deliveries 38,836,775 bushels valued at

THE CHIPPAWA PROBE.

That the charges laid by Col. Carmichael, of extravagance and inefficiency in connection with the Chippawa probe, should be investigated, goes without saying. But there is room for much difference of opinion as regards the method the inquiry should take. The Government has retermined upon a Royal Commission to delve into the question, but there is opposition from both Liberal and Conservative ranks. Members of the Opposition believe that a committee selected from among the members of the House would be able to conduct the investigation more satisfactorily and effectively than an independent commission, and that the probe could be much more speedily carried out. There will be many outside of the House who will agree with that opinion It seems a reflection upon the Legislature that it should be considered necessary to entrust this most important inquiry to an independent tribunal. Surely the House has enough confidence in its own ability to be willing to undertake this responsibility.

NO FOREIGNERS NEED APPLY.

The United States House of Representatives is so full of the spirit of patriotism that it has determined that even such a doubtful commercial enterprise as the botlegging industry must be 100 per cent. American. That seems the only explanation for the action of the House in passing a Bill that provides for the deportation of any alien who violates the Prohibition laws. Some ridiculous measures have been passed by the House of Representatives, but it is doubtful whether any measure has ben such a farce as this particular Bill which gives to American bootleggers a monopoly. One member hit the nail on the head when he declared that the legislation was to make the United States safe for American bootleggers. Of course, the measure may be explained on economic grounds. Space in the American jails will now be reserved exclusively for the 100 per cent. American violator of the Volstead Act. The alien who might take up much of the available accommodation will be sent out of the country, and in this way the providing of additional jail space will be avoided. Of course the wily alien who has tested the commercial possibilties of ignoring the Prohibition regulations, and has found the risk worth while, will defeat the purposes of the new Bill by speedily becoming a naturalised citizen of the United States

THE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE.

The people of Peterborough are reminded that the annual Salvation Army Self-Denial Fund drive will take place on Monday. The objective this year is $4,000, and the committee in charge, which is headed by W. H. Bradburn, chairman, W. H. Dunsford, treasurer, and F. H. Dobbin, secretary, expect that one day's campaigning will be enough to put Peterborough over the top. It seems almost unnecessary to devote much space to a consideration of the Army's work in Peterborough. The Army has developed from a very small beginning to a community asset of the greatest importance. It is accomplishing things here that no other organisation has been able to undertake. No deserving call upon the Salvation Army for assistance goes unanswered, no matter what the creed or the social standing of the applicant may be. It is enough for the Salvationists to know that their services are required—they are always ready to respond. Again, there is probably no other organisation in which the overhead expenses are so small, for a dollar given to the Salvation Army means practically one hundred cents spent in the work for which it was donated. Citizens of Peterborough hardly need to be reminded of these things, however. It is perhaps enough to call their attention to the fact that the annual drive is being held on Monday, and to leave the rest to their generosity.

TAXED TO DEATH.

Ignorance of the law is held to be no excuse, so the proprietors of the local pool rooms and bowling alleys who found themselves called upon to pay at short notice the Provincial tax of $15.00 upon every table and alley have no legal ground for complaint; yet at the same time their indignation is not difficult to understand. It would seem a much more satisfactory way of doing business if the owners of all such amusement places had been officially notified last year of the passing of this legislation.

But outside of that altogether, this form of taxation is thoroughly objectionable, because it is an invasion by the Province of the prerogatives of the municipality. The municipality has to regulate and control these places and keep them in order, and yet the Provincial Government steps in and takes thousands of dollars in taxes from this source. Municipal rights are ignored altogether in such a method of raising revenue, and it looks as if the municipalities of Ontario will have to keep a closer check upon the legislation introduced by the Farmer Government if they want protection from revenue-collecting policies that encroach upon the jurisdiction of the cities and towns.

THE WAR VETERAN AS A CITIZEN.

Every citizen of Canada has the right to regard himself, or herself, as a shareholder in a great state enterprise. The business of the nation is his or her business. In theory the individual assumes a share of the responsibilities and reaps a portion of the benefits. The dividends are based upon the amount of industry and energy displayed in assisting in the development of the country. Upon the pre-war peace basis this scheme of things worked out fairly satisfactory, but the war and the widespread economic disturbance following in its wake brought about a new situation in which the members of one group of the national shareholders were called upon to keep Canada's shores inviolate, while those of the remaining and larger group reaped the benefits of supplying the necessary material with which to prosecute the defence of the country.

Following the conclusion of the Great War the members of the first group, the ex-service men, endeavored to resume their pre-war status in the economic world, but found that, due to a number of causes, this was to a large degree not possible, unless some assistance was secured. They naturally turned to the representatives of the people (who had promised upon enlistment for active service that a grateful country would attend to their utmost needs when they returned). Preferential treatment was not sought. The Government was asked to invoke the principle of equal privileges with retroactive application. As a result of constant urging a considerable number of re-establishment measures were secured during the three years immediately following the war, but still the ex-service men in large numbers are suffering because they have not been accorded equal privileges with the non-veteran citizens of the nation.

Those who seek to wipe out all evidences of the war as an unpleasant experience which should be forgotten, as far as possible, in recent days have been following the same course of reasoning as The Montreal Gazette when it declared in its issue of March 13:

"So far as the able-bodied ex-service man is concerned, his position is that of every other deserving citizen, and he has not just title to discriminatory advantages."

The greater body of Canadian ex-service men, as represented in the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, does not, nor have not, sought "discriminatory advantages." As responsible citizens they seek only a reasonable reinstatement of the status which they lost while in the performance of a special duty to the state.

By giving full effect at the present time to the measures necessary for the complete re-establishment of all ex-service men, the Federal Government will not only be performing a national duty in restoring the full privileges of citizenship to these men, but will regain for the nation the useful productivity of this vital portion of its man power.—The Veteran.

NEWSPAPERS AND READERS.

The editorial executive of The Detroit News, speaking before the students of the Medill School of Journalism in Chicago the other day, told the prospective reporters and editors that newspaper readers, rather than newspaper makers, are generally to blame for the prevailing opinion that the press prints a great quantity of crime news. Whether or not Mr. White talked for publication, the substance of his remarks has been published, and the readers of his paper and of other publications are doubtless more than mildly interested in knowing what he thinks of them, says The Kingston Whig.

The Detroit editor says many readers base the assumption that much space is devoted to crime and sensation upon the fact that they spend so much time in reading every line of violence and scandal that little opportunity is left for perusing the many columns of really serious and constructive news matters. The reporting of the arms conference, of the Provincial and Federal Parliaments, of the Chippawa-Queenston canal construction, of Imperial problems, etc., are passed up as dull or mild; but murder and divorce grip and hold from the first line to the last. There are two classes of readers who delight in the sordid details of the Stillman case, says Mr. White—those who find it a "sociological document," and those who admit it is "hot stuff."

Whether readers are pleased or angered by this frank statement, that may not have been meant for their ears, remains to be seen. Perhaps most of them will rather enjoy the lampooning. Surely anyone will admit, who takes the trouble to measure with a yardstick, that the amount of space devoted to crime by the average daily journal is small as compared to the vast total contained in all the departments of wide scope and varied interest.

Of course, the difficulty in generalization is this—that no one indictment and no one defence will apply equally to all newspapers. There are black sheep and white in the publishing business as in every other. And while it is undoubtedly true that most newspapers are fairly free from obnoxiousness, and some are clean in high degree, others deserve only the score of their contemporaries and the public generally. And it is known in newspapers, if not elsewhere, that the "yellow press" has the scorn of self-respecting publishers in greater degree than it has of the rank and file of readers.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

Put the Salvation Army over the top on Monday.

There is litle use of introducing a new building by-law if it is not enforced any more thoroughly than the present one.

Communists and Labor

London Spectator: Mr. J. H. Thomas (Labor leader) told a meeting of railway men at Sheffield that the Communists were trying to capture and break up the trade union movement. They were, he said, directed and paid by Moscow. He was prepared to publish the details of the conspiracy, supported by Bolshevik gold. He warned the Labor party that, so long as it was thought to be connected with the Communists, it would fail to come into power. He declared that Bolshevism was incompatible with democracy, though if Russia wanted such a rule she had a right to have it. Mr. Thomas, it will be seen, confirms of his own knowledge the charges made by the Duke of Northumberland against the extreme Labor men. It would be well if Mr. Thomas would try to free the Labor party's only official daily newspaper from its connection with the Communists, whose chief English leader is, as it happens, the editor of the journal. Such facts as this tend to foster the suspicion, which Mr. Thomas would dissipate, that the Labor party is far too closely associated with Bolshevism.

A Business Talk to Young Business Women

YOU will generally find that well-informed stenographers, teachers, secretaries and other salaried women employees hold one or more life insurance policies, including probably an endowment. This policy has many attractive features.

An endowment policy makes provision for her own future.

An endowment policy is a particularly good one for the woman who desires to make a sound and profitable investment of her savings.

If she should die before her endowment policy is paid up, the full amount of the policy will be paid to her mother or any other person she may name.

Her policy after the first three years always has a cash surrender value. And she can readily secure a loan from the Company upon the security of her policy.

A profit-participating policy is the cheapest in the end, because the profits reduce the cost. These are the points business women are discussing at the Business Clubs and elsewhere.

One Canadian Company, and only one, shares its entire profits with its policyholders. Let us send you our booklet—"Life Assurance for Canadian Women"

"Our First Year"

(To Be Continued.)

WHAT'S ALREADY HAPPENED.

Bride and groom agree to retain their liberties as individuals. Jack interrupts his wife's dinner preparations to phone that he is staying at the club to play chess. Bart Elliot, her platonic friend calls to take her to the Playhouse Club for the evening. He suggests that he and she eat the dinner she had prepared especially for her husband.

Chapter VI.
Marriage Builds a Wall.
By A Bride.

I did not broil the steak for Bart in my husband's absence. I don't think that principle restrained me. I don't think I was able to decide between the right and the wrong of the matter.

The simple fact was that I could not visiion Bart, ancient ally though he was, sitting in my beloved's place, opposite me at the table in by own little home.

Bart was just a careless big boy, who was used to having his own way, who had bossed be from my babyhood. I was greatly relieved when he concluded the steak episode by picking up his hat with:

"Peggins, if I've annoyed you, I'm sorry! Come on!"

Dinnerless for conventio'ns sake, spritiless because we had disagreed we drove in silence to the little Playhouse. A wall of reserves separated us for the first time in our lives.

Bart and I had never spooned. Petting parties were not my line. I knew that Bart had had his "cases" —more and more of them as he grew up. Also I knew that he would have loathed me had he suspected me of permitting "petting."

And because there never had been anything sentimental between us it seemed doubly ridiculous to let any marriage disturb our good fellowship.

The fact so depressed me that not until we reached the Little Playhouse did I remember that I had failed to call up the chess club and notify Jack where I was going.

For several years a crowd of us had been staging a variety of plays in an old barn, refitted as a theatre. A certain rich man financed our enterprise.

Some of us acted for the fun of the thing; some because they had achieved a little reputation in college for dramatic ability; some in the hope that amateur work would open the way to the legitimate.

The rich man's daughter designed our costumes and did them excellently. Local artists sketched our sets. Local authors got us to try out their dramas.

Our director was a judge on the bench by day who enjoyed directing plays as some persons enjoy swimming. Altogether we were a bohemian bunch, or we thought we were.

The crowd at the Little Playhouse welcomed me, the bride, with a gay chorus. It was the first time any of them had seen me since my wedding.

"Oh, ho! Did you marry him?" queried Judge Ballou with a critical glance at Bart. "I had an impression my cards read 'Mr. John Cuthbert Madison."

I shrugged my shoulders, as much as to say, "Well, you see whom I'm with!"

Bart had to take the brunt of a fierce attack from the boys:

"Luck with you, per usual!"

"Anything you can't pull off?"

More raillery, meaning nothing. But somehow I wished that my very own husband had escorted me to the little Playhouse. Not a month had I been wedded, but something curious certainly had happened to me. Without my own man, already I had begun to feel detached, out of place.

And for the first time the affairs of the Little Playhouse bored me!

MILITARY BILL UNPOPULAR IN FRENCH HOUSE

SMALL MAJORITY.

PARIS, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—The eighteen months' military service bill appears to be growing more and more unpopular as the discussion of this measure progresses in the Chamber of Deputies. Only the personal prestige of Premier Poincare saved the measure from being overthrown and the Government from defeat when the Chamber yesterday afternoon discarded the amendment making effective a service of twelve months instead of eighteen by the slim majority of 320 to 237, and then only after the Premier had made it a question of confidence.

A majority of the Chamber are openly against eighteen months' service, favoring one year, and had not M. Poincare made the adoption of the longer period a question of confidence, in the opinion of deputies of all sections, the one year service bill would have received an overwhelming majority.

POGROMS AGAIN START IN RUSSIA

Seizure Church Treasures Being Used as Propaganda Against the Jews.

FOR FAMINE.

MOSCOW, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)— The official Soviet Rosta News Agency yesterday says there have been several attempted pogroms in Moscow, where the "Black Hundred" monarchists are carrying on anti-Semetic propaganda in connection with the requisition of church treasures. The news agency decuares the apparent object of these activities is to strengthen opposition to the requisition.

The Soviet authorities have announced that more than ten tons of silver and 127 pounds of gold have been requisitioned so far from the various churches, all of which, says the Rosta Agency, will be used exclusively to buy food for famine sufferers. The treasures already collected are said to amount to more than 20,000,000 gold rubles, 1,000,000 of which already has been sent abroad to buy food.

LABORITES LOSE SEATS IN LONDON.

LONDON, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—The elections of members of the Boards of Guardians in London yesterday resulted in a great defeat for the Labor candidates, who secured only 128 out of the nearly 700 seats which were balloted for. The defeat of the Laborites has nothing to do with political cleavage, but is a revolt of the taxpayers against what they consider the unjustifiable liberality of the Boards of Guardians in affording relief to the poor and the unemployed, of which the recnt happenings in Poplar were an example.

Last Fall the Councillors of the Burough of Poplar were arrested because of their refusal to comply with tax increases ordered by the London City Council. They were incarcerated in Brixton Prison, but finally were released when they signified a desire to solve Poplar's financial difficulty.

IMMIGRATION POLICY, ETC.

neld), said the statement had been made that a million and a half native born Canadians had left Canada in the last decade. He thought it was time seriously to consider stopping the leak.

Dr. Manion believed the number mentioned included immigrants as well as native born Canadians.

"Admitting that," asked Mr. Hoey, 'Do you not think it is a tragic situation, considering the economic policy we have been following in Canada since confederation."

"Why then have so many people emigrated from free-trade England?" sharply enquired Dr. Manion in turn.

"Does the Hon. Gentleman think that is a fair comparison,' retorted Mr. Hoey, "in the present stage of Canada's development and of England's?"

England and Germany.

Dr. Manion replied that he thought it would be fair to compare England and Germany and that in the years before the war the population of Germany was increasing.

"That was because they were preparing for war,' came from the Progressive benches.

J. Fred. Johnston (Progressive Last Mountain) shifted the discussion to the appointment of a Deputy Minister made last fall. Did the Minister think that immigration was big enough to justify the appointment of a new officer?

"There is no immigration," called out another Progressive member, "we might as well wipe out the whole vote."

Mr. Stewart believed there was quite sufficient ground for the appointment of a Deputy Minister.

"When we place agriculture in the position which it ought to be placed in,' he said, "then we will have plenty 'of immigration. When we have done that, as we intend to do, I believe there will be plenty of work for a Minister and therfore for a Deputy Minister."

T. W. Caldwell congratulated the Minister on his statement, 'I think," he said, "that such a policy is badly needed."

A. R. McMaster (Liberal Brome), asked if there was any way of determining how many people were leaving the country. "This is difficult to determine," answered Mr. Stewart. Mr. McMaster retorted that failure to keep a proper record of those leaving was like keeping a set of books on one side only. Thee could be no real basis for a proper immigration policy until the full facts were available. He was convinced that the immigration agents could ascertain the number leaving as well as the number entering.

At this juncture, Mr. McMaster initiated a sharp attack on members who could not speak loud enough to be heard all over the Chamber. Passing estimates was a dreary business when members would persist in speaking in voices fit only "for parlours." The acoustics of the Chamber were good if members would only speak properly.

This staement was received with shouts of "louder, louder" from all parts of the House.

Mr. Hoey declared that Canadian immigration agents in the United States should keep a check on the numbers of Canadians arriving in that country.

Increasing Since War.

Mr. Meighen argued that up to the war immigration was continually increasing, and was satisfactory. With the cessation of hostilities the Immigration Department was re-organized to meet the new situation and records would show that good results had been obtained.

This was not the time to slow down the activities of the Immigration Department. In the west a volunteer organization was co-operating with the Department and this would go a long way toward improving the situation. Canada was in need of a sound immigration policy with lots of "horse power" behind it.

L. H. Jelliffe (Progressive Lethbridge) declared that the late Government had done good work in relieving the situation caused by drought in Southern Alberta. Immigrants were needed further to ensure the prosperity of the country. The Department of Immigration should not be treated in a niggardly manner but should be given every opportunity of carrying on its work.

William Irvine (Labor Calagry East) asked if Mr. Jeliff was moving an increase in the immigration estimates.

Mr. Jelliffe answered in the negative and the estimates carried.

WESTERN FARMERS

$27,217,000. In November some 5,000,000 bushels more were marketed than in September but the total price received was only about half the September price.

When the Wheat Board was formed in 1919 there had been an impression prevalent that the Board was formed to keep prices down. The farmers had started out prejudged against the Board but from experience had learned to have confidence in it. Mr. Robinson had not met a farmer in Manitoba or Saskatchewan this year who was not anxious to see the Board re-established.

"The farmers want to see the profits come into their own pockets instead of going to speculators", continued Mr. Robinson.

Re-organization of the Wheat Board would bring about intelligent marketing. The market would not be gutted and the consumer would not be called on to pay any more for flour.

Marketing through a Board would prevent in large measure the blocking of railway lines. In 1920, he said "street prices" along the C. N. R. were sometimes 4 cents lower than on C.P.R. because of car shortage.

On the Canadian National Lines in Northern ad Northeast Saskatchewan there was at present an embargo against wheat shipments which forced the farmers to keep wheat on their hands even though much of that wheat now was damp and requiring immediate treatment to prevent loss.

Answering Thomas Sales (Saltcoats)) Mr. Robinson said that in 1919 it took three bushels of wheat to buy a sack of flour when both were controlled. On last year's prices it took five bushels of wheat to buy a sack of flour.

After answering a number of Committee Mr. Robinson was requestion from members of the tired subject to recall this morning at 11 o'clock when the Committee resumes. J. A. Maharg, a former member of the Commons and of the Martin (Saskatchewan) Government will also be examined to-day.

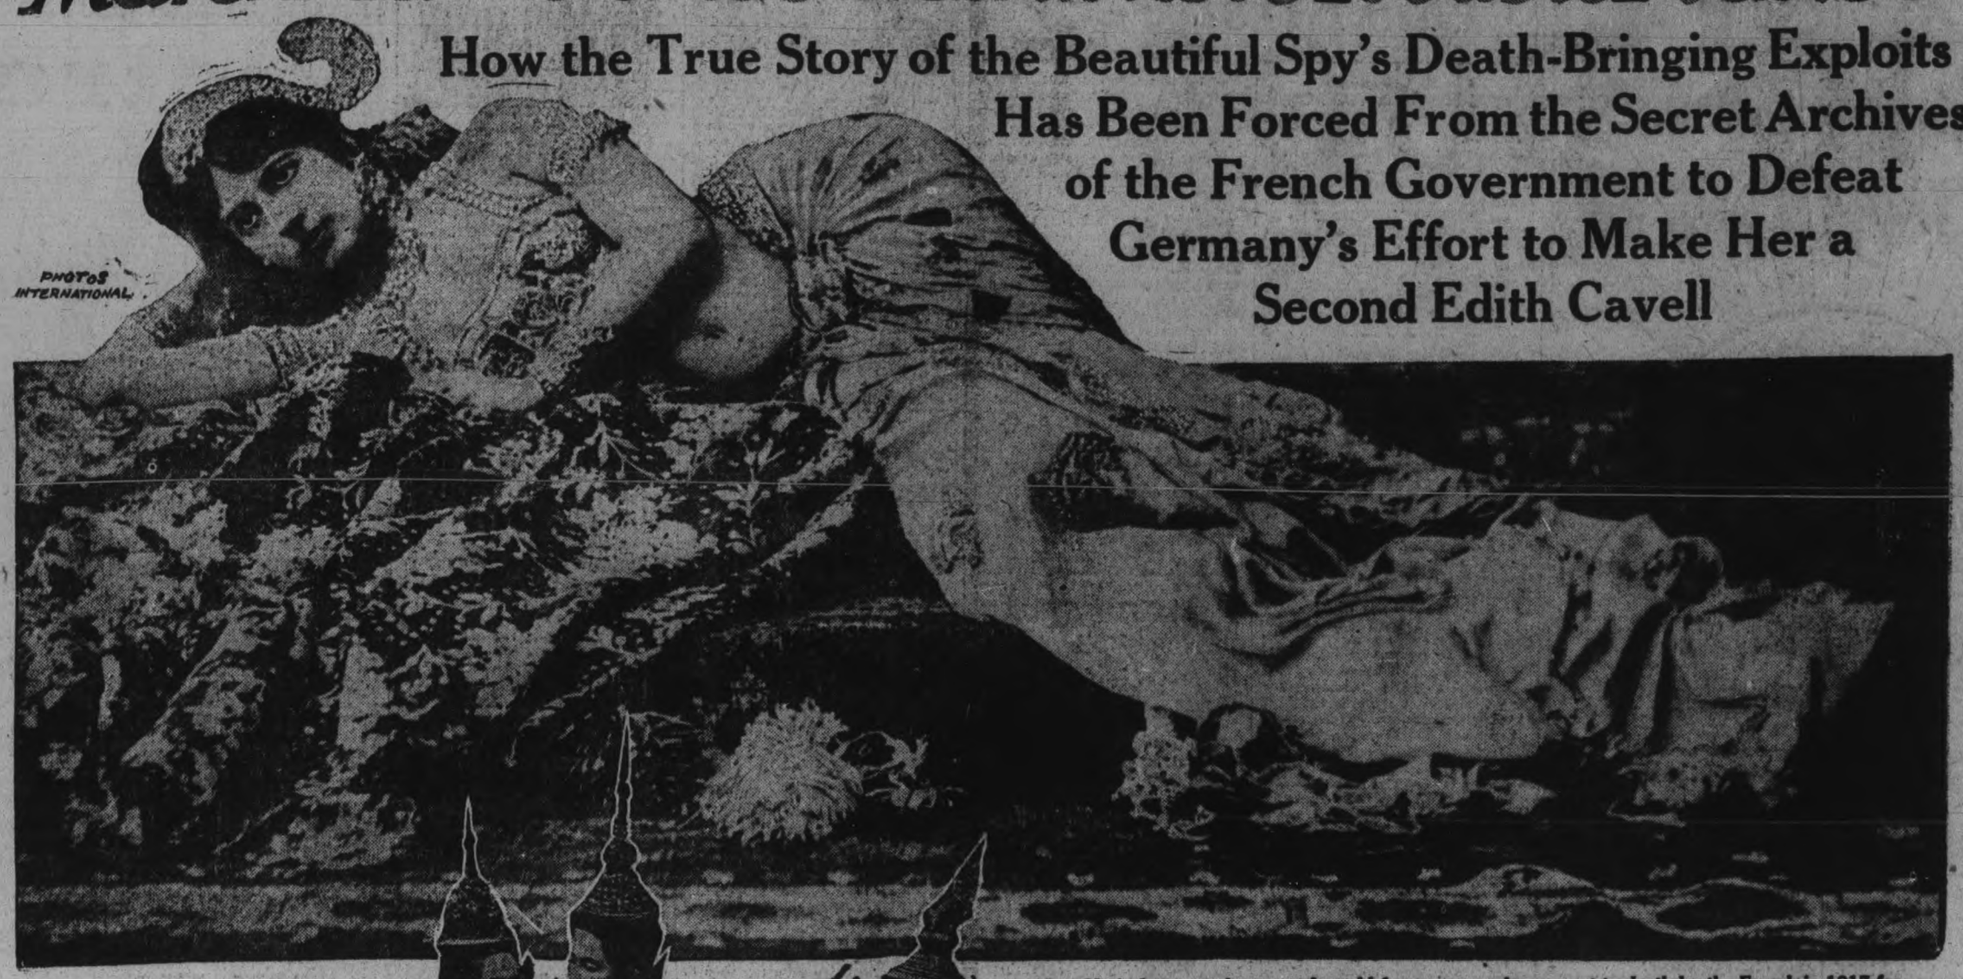
Mata-Hari's Ghost Returns to Trouble France

How the True Story of the Beautiful Spy's Death-Bringing Exploits Has Been Forced From the Secret Archives of the French Government to Defeat Germany's Effort to Make Her a Second Edith Cavell



Mata-Hari, Javanese dancer and world-famous spy, who was put to death by the French in 1917 for betraying France to the enemy and whose confessions involving many high personages are now being made public to defeat the accusation that she only acted as did the martyred Edith Cavell

By Fairfax Downey

OUT from the innermost of the secret archives of France has been brought a tale, like a grewsome prisoner haled to testify from the deepest dungeon of the old Bastile—a tale of blood, and lust and passion and war in its blackest aspect, a tale which never would have seen the light had not circumstances of the most extraordinary and imperative character in that sub-surface conflict of nations which does not cease at treaties of peace called it forth.

The names of high French officials who possessed the power to sway the destinies of their country at death-grips with Germany were dragged in the dust the other day, at least by imputation, when there was told the final chapter in the story of the alluringly beautiful spy, Mata-Hari, who charmed away war plans to the profit of the foe across the Rhine. Indiscretions these, which would have been received ordinarily with a truly Gallic tolerance, or perhaps concealed forever to save the face of the State, in spite of the trail leading from them to the graves of many French soldiers, were it not for a move of the German propagandists, too serious and sinister to be ignored.

Their subtle but deadly threat, unmasked following the execution of Mata-Hari by a firing squad, caused the French War Minister in 1916 and 1917 and the official second in authority in the Foreign Ministry to be publicly mentioned as having been intimate friends of the utterly fascinating Dutch-Javanese adventuress and dancer. The newspaper "Liberte," doubtless under official impulse, began the publication of the memoirs of Commandant Emile Massard, of the French army, who aided in the tracing of the spy's plots and witnessed the final expiation of her crimes one gray dawn in Vincennes Wood.

The distressing disclosures are said to have been forced by a German attempt to put Mata-Hari, executed as the most dangerous spy of the war, on a pedestal with the martyred Edith Cavell, the heroic English nurse, who died before German rifles in Belgium. It was astounding, this audacity which ventured to compare the respectable woman who merely aided in the escape of Belgian soldiers with the courtesan who debauched honor itself, betrayed the first tanks to the enemy and wrought the death of many soldiers. Stern steps had to be taken.

More clever and insinuating has been the propaganda of the film, manifested in the German photo plays released in the last year or so in the United States and elsewhere. The pictures have won their way by their very excellence and artistic merit. On the face of them they are propaganda for nothing more than the German screen. And yet most of them have dealt with dark periods in the history of the Allies, seeming by intimation to cleanse the German escutcheon by the display of earlier blots on the arms of its conquerors. Recall "Passion," with its scenes of the evil days of the Louis and the bloody orgies of the Revolution; "Deception," with the Blue-

Burmese Temple dancers, of whom Mata-Hari was one before she tired of convent life and entered upon the adventurous career, replete with one amor after another, which culminated in her death at the hands of a firing squad

"A heavy silence was broken by an officer reading the decree of death. He ceased. A command, and the soldiers raised their rifles. "Fire!"

beard intriguing of Henry VIII; "Gypsy Love" and wicked and romantic Spain—these and others, most of them with at least a trace of palliation for the insane fury of the War Lord and his nation.

Such moves as these, then, necessitated the counter moves which caused the revelation of all—or almost all—the tale of the evil career of Mata-Hari, though reputations, great and small, and homes and families collapsed in the telling.

M. Jules Cambon, former general secretary to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, delivered a scathing indictment of the spy-vampire.

"Mata-Hari was a courtesan. It was proved she was a spy and the center of a spying system. Her correspondence showed that she received money from Berlin. She herself admitted that she was one of Germany's chief spies in France, who used the relations she had been able to make by her mode of life. She merited no indulgence. No comparison is possible between charity and spying."

It is the belief expressed in M. Massard's memoirs that lust for gold was the underlying motive which animated Mata-Hari in all her perilous and dastardly adventures. The woman is said to have captivated the German naval attache in Madrid, with a result that he laid a cluster of precious jewels at her feet. The dancer, ever mercenary and practical, was not backward in announcing that she preferred gold to the gems. She is believed to have returned the gift, with the request that the German espionage service pay her instead in cash. Apparently not only Mata-Hari's affection was to be recompensed.

The head of the German spy service with headquarters in Amsterdam, was called upon to forward the woman 15,000 pesetas (about $3,000), and she was to be addressed under the code spy name of "CA 42." The payment was to made at some neutral embassy in Paris, by preference the Spanish. Of this, the French counter-espionage service was warned, and they at once set about pursuit of that old maxim, "Chemme la femme."

To these damaging charges the dancer later made the defense in court that the German naval officer "did not want to pay for my affection with his own money, and so he decided to make his government pay for it."

"Believe me, gentlemen," she insisted in her alluring way, "the money was what only was mine by right."

To understand in a measure the extraordinary power of this ravishing spy over the hearts and wills of many men who came to love her more than honor one must know the story of her life. Some forty years ago, Mata-Hari was born in the East Indies of a Dutch father and Javanese mother, born with a heritage of an understanding of the West and with the craft, the mysticism and exotic charm of the East. As her beauty bloomed, her mother is said to have fled with her to save her from the scarlet career to which her charms might have doomed her in Java. The flight led to Burma, where the child was placed in a Buddhist convent to embrace the chaste life of a nun and worship by the grace of the sacred dance of the bayadere.

But the slim, lithe form of the girl, trained so well by the time she reached fourteen to perform graceful evolutions to the glory of Buddha, was destined instead to pervert her talents to the sensuous swaying of a semi-nude Nautch dance. The jewel of cherished chastity was fated to give place to the Scarlet Letter. One day an English baronet came to witness the holy dancing of the bayaderes. A swirl of sacred skirts, a meaning glance from the great black eyes of the restless novice and that night the fane of the convent was rent by an elopement.

Happiness came to Mata-Hari, and there was a son by the marriage, but a vindictive servant poisoned the boy. Without waiting for the law, Mata-Hari took her own vengeance; then she fled and became an adventuress, living by her beauty and wits.

Mata-Hari knew many men. First she became the chatelaine of a diplomat, then of an army officer, then of a banker, whom she ruined and brought to prison as an embezzler, then of a diplomat again, for her forte was the high intrigue and the great stakes at which nations play. Always she was successful on the Parisian stage, with her dances of the Burma temple, which the temple might blush to own. The capitals of Europe knew her graceful height, her luminous black eyes and her almost hypnotic magnetism.

When the war began Mata-Hari was living as the mistress of a German diplomat, and at once there was written down on the French list of spy suspects Mlle. Marguerite Zelle Mata-Hari.

She joined an ambulance and proceeded to the front, where she remained seven months, being in communication with the head of the German espionage service in Amsterdam and bringing about serious disasters to the French.

"The truth is," Mata-Hari is said to have defended herself at her later trial, "I went to the front so that I might be near a Russian officer, Maroff, who was the only man I ever loved."

"But," interjected the judge of the court martial that was trying her for her life, "you passed all your time with our aviators. You got to know where they intended to land our agents behind the German lines. Then you advised the Germans. Directly you killed dozens of our information agents; indirectly you caused the death of innumerable French soldiers."

And such was the despicable work of the woman spy in the belief of all the highest tribunals in the land, although she insisted her relations with a German secret service chief cited had been only amorous.

The souls of men alight with the pure, white fire of patriotism burned with the crimson flame of passion when Mata-Hari sacrificed them on her altar. One of the most abject among her victims was the young British officer on duty in the town where the tanks were being secretly constructed as surprises which were to catch the Germans unawares and wreak havoc. The lure of the Javanese dancer did not fail. When the land battleships first rumbled into the fray, they were met with penetrating gas and a special armor-piercing shell. Treachery had been abroad and Germany was forewarned.

If this vampire ever felt a twinge of conscience for her victims, she showed it in her cry to the judges at the trial to name none of the aviation and artillery officers implicated. "They are all married," she pleaded. "I do not want their wives to know of their friendship with me." But for them, and later for the high officials, her pleas were in vain.

As the trial progressed with its scandalous revelations, many of which were suppressed, it became more and more evident that the death penalty would be exacted. For while it is comparatively rare for courts to condemn women to death for crimes in time of peace, a court martial sitting during a desperate war has no such hesitancy. Among the first women executed as spies by France were Ottilie Voss and Marguerite Schmidt, who were shot in October, 1915, after being found guilty of transmitting information to Germany. Felice Pfaat shared the same fate on the same charge at Marseilles in September. Sari Petrass, the Hungarian actress, who before the war played in America, was shot as an English spy in Budapest in 1916.

Convicted by the courts, pardon denied, Mata-Hari knew the end had come, when officers, her lawyers and Sisters of Mercy entered her cell one morning in 1917 in the black hours that precede the dawn. Indignantly refusing to adopt a subterfuge suggested by her lawyer and insist she was to become a mother, thus gaining a delay, the dancer discarded her prison garb and arrayed her beautiful body in her daintiest lingerie and gown. She made her toilet carefully as the prison priest baptized her.

Then, "Let us go," she announced and rode like a queen in a coach to the edge of Vincennes Wood. There in the haze of dawn stood a file of poilus leaning on their rifles, waiting. A lone bird perched forlornly in a sparse-limbed tree. At the edge of the clearing an ominous black post was fixed. With her back to this, Mata-Hari took her stand.

The spy smiled bravely, dazzingly. She kissed her hands to the lawyer who had defended her and to the priest. The sisters knelt in prayer.

A heavy silence was broken by an officer reading the decree of death. He ceased. A command and the soldiers raised their rifles.

"Fire!"

A dozen rifles spoke as one. The body of the dancer, graceful even in death, sank gently to the ground. A sergeant stepped forward, drew his revolver and administered the coup de grace.

Thus, fearless, died Mata-Hari, spy, and thus was closed one of the most famous dossiers of the war.

And yet there are whispers, whispers that no drop of blood was seen to stain the white gown of the dancer and that her body was later spirited from the prison in a large coffin, and there are those who will swear they have seen the siren in Italy.

Who knows? Mata-Hari charmed many men.

RECIPES

OUR grandmother relied on the fields for her first spring greens. She used them religiously, regarding them as much a medicine as a food. And with their aid she kept her family fit.

If the modern housewife will take her basket and an old case knife and roam far afield she will find these same greens waiting her. And the same food value found in spinach and other cultivated greens may be had for nothing in dandelions, sorrel scoke and narrow dock.

Plain Boiled Dandelion Greens.

Pick over the greens and remove all spears of grass. Wash through as many waters as necessary. The last water should be perfectly clear. Cut off the tiny root and shake out the leaves. Put in a kettle with water to cover.

Boil 15 minutes and add salt. Boil 15 minutes longer and drain. Press out all the water possible. For two cups of cooked greens melt two tablespoons butter. Pour melted butter over greens and mix well. Reheat and serve. Vinegar or lemon juice is often added with the butter. Serve these greens once a week during the early spring.

Dutch Greens.

Wash and pick over greens. Shake out leaves and put in the frying pan in which ham was cooked. To two cups of wilted greens add one cup of cold boiled diced potatoes. Cook five minutes, stirring to mix well.

Beat one egg slightly with one tablespoon vinegar, one teaspoon sugar and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour over greens in frying pan. Lift and mix with a silver fork, cooking just long enough to make the whole hot. Serve at once.

Very young and tender dandelions must be used for this dish as the greens are wilted and not boiled long enough to make them tender.

Wilted greens are prepared in the same way without the cold boiled potatoes.

If there is a ham bone in the house boil it and dandelion greens in the same water.

Plain boiled greens are exalted a little by a garnish of hard boiled eggs. Drain the greens carefully after boiling. Chop and reheat in butter. Form in a mound on a hot platter and cover with slices of hard boiled eggs.

Dandelion Salad.

Mix equal parts of tender dandelion leaves and shredded lettuce, two tablespoons oil, one tablespoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon sugar.

Wash and crisp dandelions as carefully as lettuce. Mix salt, sugar and pepper with vinegar and beat in oil drop by drop. Pour over greens and mix well. Serve with toasted cheese crackers. This salad has much the taste of French endive.

These are all simple old-fashioned recipes, but if carefully followed and painstakingly served the result is most satisfactory from every standpoint.

TRAGIC DEATH OF SANDFORD MASTERS SHOCKED APSLEY.

Apsley News.

APSLEY, April 7. — The tragic news of the fatal accident that occurred on Monday last to Sandford Masters, a widely known and popular resident of Coe Hill, was received in Apsley on Tuesday morning, and came as a shock to his many friends here. According to particulars received later, Mr. Masters and a companion were drawing a load of hay. When coming down a steep hill near Coe Hill, Mr. Masters, who was driving, slipped from the load, fell under the sleigh and was dragged along until the team was stopped at the bottom of the hill. When extricated the unfortunate man was quite dead. Mr. Masters was a comparatively young man, and leaves a wife, the daughter of Mrs. Beggs, Chandos, and two young daughters, to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended.

Helping Save Children.

The offertory at St. George's Church on Sunday evening was on behalf of the Russian Save the Children Fund. It amounted to $20, which sum has been remitted to the M. S. C. C.

Maple Syrup Making.

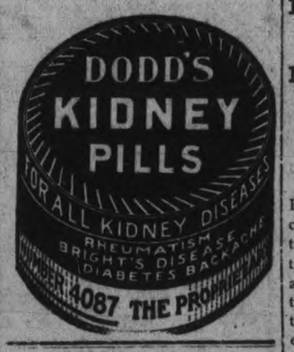
Maple syrup making is in full swing, those engaging in this, the first spring work on the farm, reporting satisfactory results, the flow of sap being exceptionally good.

Question of Cattle Feed.

The heavy snowstorm at the end of March caused great anxiety to most of the settlers on the question of feed for cattle which, previous to the storm, was already very low in the mows. Economical feeding is developing into a positive science. There are fifteen to twenty per cent. more cattle in this district than last year, mainly milch cows, and no cheese factory within fifteen miles.

MINERS DISSATISFIED WITH GILLEN BOARD.

SYDNEY, N. S., April 7.—(Canadian Press).—A demand that all men dismissed for "striking on job" be reinstated is the outstanding feature of a letter addressed to coal operators of Nova Scotia last night by Secretary McLachlan, of the United Mine Workers, District No. 26. There is much dissatisfaction here among the rank and file of the miners over the order to reconvene the Gillen Conciliation Board.



FRENCH AT GENOA WITHOUT POWER.

Premier Poincare Makes Strict Reservation Which French Delegates Must Observe.

PARIS, April 7. — (Canadian Press.) —The French delegates are going to the Genoa Conference without full powers, it develops from reports of Premier Poincare's final instructions to them. This decision of the Government is being much discussed in political circles, where it is looked upon as likely to develop complications.

BRITISH NOTE IS NOT A DEMAND.

Note to France Is But Formal Notice That Three Years' Suspension Has Expired.

LONDON, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)—The British note to France concerning interest on France's debt to Great Britain, it was authoritatively explained yesterday, was not an actual demand for payment of interest, but a formal notice that the three years of suspension of interest having expired, Great Britain resumes freedom of further action.

Certain countries, is was said, notably Italy and Rumania, were promised two months' notice on any required cash payments, and as Great Britain starts payment to the United States in October, it became necessary that this notice should be given.

PEOPLE BECOMING RESTLESS AND ANGRY

LONDON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Giving first place to conditions in Ireland the Times and Daily Mail emphasise the question whether it will be possible to hold elections in view of Republican activities. Dublin correspondent of the Times asserts that the following of Collins and Griffith show lack of interest and that the mass of people failing to get lead from them, is becoming angry and impatient.

BETTER TIMES COMING

For The People of Peterboro

The advent of Spring has brought about a revival of business conditions in Peterboro. Improvement is noted in the building trades as well as the industrial and commercial life of the city. In this we hope the workingmen of Peterboro will have a generous share.

There is every reason to believe that industrial conditions will continue to show improvement.

A Spirit of Optimism

The merchants of Peterboro share in the spirit of optimism that is abroad in the land.

The buying power of the dollar is greater now than it has been for a number of years. THE NEW CENTRE MEAT MARKET has played a worthy part in the effort to improve conditions for the buying public. It was the first meat store in Peterboro to realize that meat prices were too high.

Continue The Good Work

Our efforts to lower prices and improve the quality of meat sold in Peterboro has met with gratifying success, and now we are consolidating our position by strict adherence to the principles which we enunciated when we first made our debut to the meat-buying public of Peterboro.

Peterboro Folks Want Quality and Service

Better meat at lower prices is our slogan. NEW CENTRE stands for quality and service. It means the best that human effort and money can produce.

Can we do anything more?

The name "NEW CENTRE" means just as much to us as sterling silver means to a jeweller. It implies the best quality available at all times and carries with it a measure of service commensurate with that quality.

It Had To Come

NEW CENTRE had to come to Peterboro. It was necessary to keep pace with the times. The day when anything in the form of meat will do has passed. The coming of NEW CENTRE to Peterboro brought lower prices and better quality meat.

Rose Coglan, Belle of the Forties Now Fdces Poverty and Old Age

NEW YORK, April 7.— (Canadian Pres.)—Rose Coghlan, adored comedy star of the 'Eighties, has taken her first tragic role.

It is that of a broken, penniless old woman, waiting and praying in her rooms in the "Roaring Forties," for deaeh to come and take her from a world that has passed her by .

The "Lady Teazle' who graced the boards of Wallack's Theatre in the 'Eighties, and piled up success on success as the years went by, ended her last stage part—a small one—last May, when "Deburau" closed. Since then she obtained two engagements, but in each case the producers, divorcing sentiment from business, came to her after a few days of rehearsal and reluctantly told her she "wouldn't do." Three weeks ago she collapsed while working over an income tax return on earnings long since consumed. And she hasn't left her rooms in West Forty-Second Street since.

Mrs. Richard Pitman, Rose Coghlan's only daughter, who lives with her and cares for her between rehearsals as understudy in a Broadway production, told of her mother's plight with tears in her eyes:

"I leave the room for a few minutes," she said, 'and when I come aback, Mama has her hands over her face and is sobbing softly. 'Oh, I want to die; I ought to be dead. Nobody in the world wants me. I ought to be out of it. I'm just a burden—just a burden.'

"She's never been a business woman. She's been an artist—an actress. She couldn't be anything else. And when she had money, it was for everybody she knew—her friends—her family—everybody.

"Now she has nobody but me. She can have everything I've got, but it isn't enough—not to take care of Rose Coghlan as Rose Coghlan ought to be taken care of in her old age. We're going to move to a cheaper apartment. She wants to sell her dresse—the costume she wore as Lady Teazle and all the others. She actually needs little comforts of life which the price of them may bring."

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"Ever since I can remember, Dr. Pierce's medicines were used in our family at home and they never failed to give good results. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' was used as a tonic and blood purifier also for bronchial trouble and it proved excellent. I myself have taken the 'Discovery' for bronchial trouble and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build me up when I was rundown, and they were both very beneficial.

"I feel safe in recommending all of Dr. Pierce's medicines knowing them to be good."—Mrs. Clifford Mitchell.

Obtain these famous medicines now at your nearest drug store, in tablets or liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for a trial package of any of his remedies. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice.

How's Your Liver?

Health Is Kept, If You Observe This

I suffered from congestion of the liver about six years ago and I always say that this medicine cured me. I have also given it to my family for colds and it cured them in a very short time."—Mrs. Enoch Mitchell, Box 129.

DON'T NEGLECT BRONCHITIS

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a cough which is dry, harsh and hacking, accompanied with rapid wheezing, and a feeling of tightness through the chest.

There is a raising of phlegm, especially in the morning after rising from bed. This phlegm is at first light color, but as the trouble progresses it becomes of a yellowish or greenish color and is sometimes streaked with blodd.

In

NORWAY PINE SYRUP

you will find a remedy that will stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucous, and help nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Mr. John H. Root, 40 Maple Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with bronchitis and I had a very bad cough. I had it so long I was beginning to get afraid of other developments. I tried all kinds of cough remedies without relief. I was advised by a friend to try D. Wood's Pine Syrup, so I got a bottle, and it convinced me to believe that I had at last gotten the right medicine. I used several bottles and am practically well. I have recommended it to others since, and good results followed."

Be sure and get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it; price 35c, and 60c. a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Rebekah Lodge.

"Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge was very largely attended on Wednesday evening when it was honored with a visit from Mrs. G. Watson of St. Thomas, president of the Ontario Assembly, Mrs. E. Middleton of Toronto, past-president, and Mrs. B. Watt, of Peterborough, vice-president. Two candidates, Miss G. Harkness and Mrs. Margaret E. Hutchison, were initiated, the visiting officers in their addresses after the degree was conferred, expressing themselves as being well pleased with the manner in which the degree team performed their duties. They also referred favorably to the manner in which the routine business of the Lodge was conducted, only a very few corrections being necessary, the Assembly officers having the latest Rebekah constitution for their guidance.

A word picture of the ideal Rebekah, which was read by Mrs. Watson, was much enjoyed, the president urging it as a model for all the members present to aspire to in their connection with the local lodge. A splendid banquet, at which over 80 guests sat down, was served at the conclusion of the session, the dining room being prettily decorated with the Rebekah colors; cards and dancing gave added pleasure to the social hour before the gathering finally dispersed. This being the first time an Assembly officer has visited "Golden Sheaf" Lodge since its organization, the occasion will long remain a memorable one in the exprience of those present, the lessons being learned, and the encouragement given, being both interesting and helpful.

Montreal, Quebec.—"I was a sufferer for three years, not able to do my housework. My husband was discouraged, for I was no better and had had the doctor all this time and nothing helped me. I was always sleepy, had no appetite and suffered with my left side. My mother in England recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped my sister, so I have been taking it. I am now able to do my housework and I can not praise your medicine too highly as I have great hopes for the future. I will tell anyone who writes to me what good it has done me."—Mrs. E. Masson, St. Henry P. O., Montreal.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been helping women just as it helped Mrs. Masson; oftentimes after doctors and other medicines failed.

If you are suffering from disagreeable symptoms caused by some female weakness, try this splendid medicine. It is a woman's medicine for women's ailments, and can be taken in safety by any woman.

6 ARE KILLED IN A COLLISION OF AIRPLANES

Paris and London Aerial Expresses Wrecked in Mid-Air Today.

BRIEFS FROM WIRES

PARIS, April 7. (Canadian Press.)—The Paris and London aerial expresses collided in mid air this afternoon, over Phieloy, north of Paris, and the pilots of both airplanes, three passengers, and a mechanic were killed in the wreckage that fell flaming to the ground.

OFF TO GENOA.

LONDON, April 7. (Canadian Press.) — Smiling cheerfully, but unable to conceal his careworn expression, Premier Lloyd George headed a party of twenty, including his wife and daughter Megan, which left this morning for Genoa.

DRURY IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 7. (Canadian Press.) — The climax will be reached to-night in the celebration of United States-Canadian week, when Premier Drury of Ontario and Governor Sproule of Pennsylvania, will address a mass meeting here. A greeting will be read from President Harding.

JOINT CONVENTION HELD IN TORONTO

The Joint Safety Convention, under the auspices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Department of Labour, the Ontario Safety League, Ontario Pulp and Paper Makers' Safety Association, Electrical Employers' Association, Lumbermen's Safety and Industrial Acident Prevention Association, was held at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

Among other prominent speakers at the banquet on Tuesday evening, A. E. Dawson, of Toronto, and well known in Peterborough, spoke on "Accidents from the Economic Standpoint." All the logic in the world, he said, and all the figures obtainable, would be inadequate to furnish the mind with a picture sufficiently striking to bring home the importance of the subject with which he was dealing. An accident was a thing subject to various definitions from the legal standpoint, from the insurance standpoint, from the standpoint of the state, and from the humanitarian standpoint. Broadly, an accident entailed loss of life and property and happiness and destroyed energy, and it was in that economic aspect that he was dealing with the matter.

The figures available were not conclusive because insurance companies do not agree on what constitutes an accident, and Government definitions also differed. In addition to that, the figures do not include the workman outside the factory. The indivdual was an economic factor, whether actually on the work or elsewhere, and his injury affected industry no matter where it occurred. While insurance men had divided the world into some 6,000 occupations, and these occupations into some ten classification, statistics from these sources did not tell half the story, as they did not include the loss in productiveness caused by accidents. It was one of the great sources of waste in industry.

We are, he said, concerned with railway rates and tariffs, but these things and others sink into insignificance when compared to the economic loss through accident. Accidents slow up the work. They affect the morale of the men and the loss of a competent worker has to be filled by a green hand, and the more green hands the more accidents.

Striking Statistics.

The United States, he said, presented the most complete figures. In 1919, the last complete return available, 23,000 fatal industrial accidents happened in the United States. There were three million non-fatal accidents. The estimated loss was over a thousand million dollars. In Canada in 1919, according to the returns of Compensation Boards, there were 44,260 accidents, and in 1920, 54,851. It was costing $26,000 a day, and that only told part of the story. The part being played by the Ontario Compensation Board gave a reasonably good idea of the loss in dollars and time. When public opinion awoke to the importance of conditions and realised that 75 per cent. of these industrial accidents were preventable, it would see that the Government and other agencies were put in motion to eliminate this percentage of preventable accident. A factor that was important was that in providing measures of safety, the manufacturer could meet with the workers on common ground where there was no possibility of misunderstanding.

AID MUTILATED VICTIMS OF WAR.

Geneva, April 5.—(Associated Press). The best methods of aiding the 4,000,000 soldiers and others mutilated in the world war are being investigated by the commission of experts of the International Labor Bureau, one of the subordinate commissions of the League of Nations.

The commission is being assisted by representatives of all the large associations of "mutiles," as the mutilated persons are carried, and also by official delegates from Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany, representatives of the Hygiene Commission of the League of Nations, the International Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Socireties. The experts are considering whether to hold an international exposition of apparatus used by the mutiles showing af the devices and equipment evolved be any country for the diminution of suffering, and to increase the injured person's capacity for work.

They also have under consideration a proposal to establish a technical bureau to study the artificial devices of all countries designed to aid the crippled and maimed.

The Commission is looking into the assistance given by the various governments to war invalids and is studying a plan under which all countries would give the same aid to all mutilated persons residing therein regardless of their nationality.

The commissioners hope to bring about an international agreement for that purpose.

Soviet Propaganda At Angora, Turkey.

ANGORA, TURKEY, April 5.—(Associated Press).—Active propaganda is being carried on here at the seat of the Kemal Pasha's Nationalist government, by a Bolshevist trade delegation under Professor Goldan of Moscow University. The Soviet aims were explianed at a dinner to Kemalist press representatives when the Russian spokesman said:

"We mean to work hard to bring about the recovery of oriental peoples. They must free themselves from the grip of western influence. Turkey has given a brilliant example, and this will be followed by other Asiatic nations. We intend to open libraries, economic institutes, theatres and railways throughout the country."

It was further announced that a Russian commission would shortly arrive in Anatolia to study the resources of the country. A Russian orchestra is giving a series of propaganda concerts in aid of the Russian famine.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

ALL CATTLE ACCREDITED IN 10 YRS.

Dr. George Hay, V.S., Campbellford, Says the Movement Will Gather Momentum When Half the Farmers Have Had Cattle Tested.

INCREASING IN SEYMOUR.

"Ten years from now there will probably be nothing but acredited herds in the provi ce" said Dr. George Hay, veterinary surgeon, of Campbellford, in a conversation with the Examiner on the trend toward better cattle. It was under the Governments 'system of examining herds that thirty-three cattle belonging to Mr. Alexander Matchett of Otonabee were found to be affected by Dr. Frank Wood of the Federal Department of Agriculture and were ordered to be sent to Toronto for slaughter. It afterwards was learned that every one of these cattle was found on post-morten examination to be tubercular although the evidence in some of them was slight.

"When we have reached the stage where more than half the farmers of Ontario have accredited herds it won't be long until the rest come in", said Dr. Hay. "The Government realizes that it must go slowly, that you can't legislate away ahead of public opinion. Besides if it was made obligatory to test all the cattle in this country the Government would have a huge sum to pay out in compensation to the farmers.'

Dr. Hay referred to the experience of the State of Illionis a few years ago in their decision to compel farmers to adopt the accredited herd system. A very large sum of money had to be paid by the State and it was discovered that the law was really too previous and the public was not prepared for it.

"We have four or five accredited herds, Seymour townships" Dr. Hay continued, "and there are that many more farmers who are now talking of having their cattle tested. Some of these herds will test very favorably, but I know of one that will have a lot of rejects. As soon as half the farmers have accredited herds then the other farmers will have to fall in line. A farmer who has tested cattle is permitted to buy only other tested cattle. They are not allowed to mingle in pasturage, fairs or elsewhere with cattle that have not been tested, and those conditions will force the owners of untested herds to swing into line with the majority. It might be ten years or perhaps a little more, but farmers are seeing the advantage of healthy stock. Some of them are setting an example which others are following. The movement is gradual but it is growing.'

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7.—"The Princess of the Poppies," is the title of a musical entertainment to be staged on May 23 and 24 under the auspices of the Seymour Agricultural Society. This production, directed by Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cowell, may be qualified in advance as an assured success The personnel of the presentation is large, as under preparation, and both in music and costumes a real treat is promised.

Doubly Bereaved.

There passed away in Campbellford on Wednesday noon, Miss Minnie McAlphine aged 18, daughter of Mr. James for some time from diabetes, but not until Sunday night did her condition become alarming. The late Miss McAlphine, was a general favorite with her young companions, who with her relatives mourn her loss. The deceased was a member of the Methodist church and the funeral was held on Thursday at 12.30 from the residence of Mr. Harold Stephens, Margaret street, to Stanwood church, where service was conducted by the pastor Rev. J. E. Glover, after which interment took place in Stanwood cemetery This death is particularly sad from the fact that the family have been doubly bereaved this week, in the loss of the deceased half sister, Dora, aged four, who was laid to rest on Wednesday.

PUBLIC WORKS BILL PASSES IN THE COMMONS

Reduction of $5,000 Is Made. Salary of Deputy Minister is Increased.

AUDITORS AT WORK.

OTTAWA, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Public Works, (Civil Government) estimates went through the House of Commons yesterday with a reduction of $5,000 'to provide for new appointments if required". Hon. Hugh Guthrie objected to the item, declaring that the amount should be met out of the vote for contingencies.

Hon.. T. H. King, Minister of Public Works, said that the same vote was in the estimates last year and was then used to pay the salary of the private secretary of the Minister. That officer could not be paid out of contingencies because he was a permanent appointee. This vote of $5,0000 was, in shor, a contingencies vote for the permenent service.

Mr. Meighen said there was no ambiguity in the explanation in the answer given by the Minister. The trouble was that it had no force. The fact that a vote was needed last year, did no mean that it would be needed this year. What the House wanted to know was the purpose for which the Minister proposed to use the money this year.

O. R. Gould (Progressive Assiniboia), said that the Minister of Agriculture had informed the House that his Department was greatly in need of experts. The $5,000 would be used to better advantage in the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Meighen declared that the vote in question was based on a wrong principle and urged that it should be dropped. The reduction of $5,000 was accepted following which the Civil Government vote of the public works Departments was approved.

Civil Government estimates for the office of the Governor-General's secretary, amounting to $33,560. for salaries and $66,600. for contingencies, were subsequently approved without discussion. The salary vote last year was $3,625.00; the contingency vote was the same as this year.

Civil Government estimates of the Department of Finance amounting to $413,545 for salaries and $50,000 for contingencies as compared with $416,275 and $50,000 for contingencies last year, resulted in a sharp discussion on the salaries of Deputy Ministers.. The estimates provide an increase of from $6,000 to $10,000 for the Deputy Minister of the Department of Finance. Mr. Fielding declared that his Deputy Minister was entitled to the increase and that the higher salary was being received by other deputies.

Mr. Meighen questioned that other deputies were receiving $10,000 salary, and believed that the amount was too high. He did not dispute responsibilities of Deputy Ministers.

H. C. Hocken, (Conservative Toronto West), declared that if the increase was granted, other Deputy Ministers would also demand the increase to the higher figure. The Deputy Minister of Public Works, he said, was only receiving $6,000.

Sir Henry Drayton, former Minister of Finance was convinced that the work done by the Deputy Minister was cheap at a salary of $10,000 a year. It was important, however, that the increase should not be regarded as a precedent. The Deputy Minister of Finance had important duties which similar officers in the other Departments were not required to perform. Sir Henry asked the Minister whether the auditors who had been employed to go through the Department were still engaged in this work, and if their work would result in some form of free audit being adopted.

Hon. W. S. Fielding replied that the auditors were still engaged in the work. He expected that the results of their work would be highly beneficial.

Mr. Fielding: "The age of the Deputy Minister is 59". Then he added to the amusement of the Committee "the Minister does not confess to any such age." Mr. Fielding added that the Deputy Minister had been in the service of Department for forty years.

HIGH STEWARD OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.

LONDON, April 6 Associated Press). — Lord Birkenhead, as Lord Chancellor of England, receives the sum of £10,000 a year, and has undertaken another post, though not quite so lucrative. He has succeeded the late Lord Halsbury as High Stewart of the University of Oxford at a salary of £5 a year.

Ther are no duties now attached to the office, but a few centuries ago one of his tasks would have been to try scholars for treason.

An odorless powder is being manufactured by a German company which, it is claimed, will render wool mothproof.

The Secret of their Satin Jackets

You have noticed the delightful smoothness, aroma and flavor of the coating on Moir's Chocolates.

Do you know how this velvety texture is obtained.

Moir's do not buy their chocolate coatings. They make their own, importing for this purpose the highest grade cocoa beans.

The cocoa beans are first blended, roasted and enriched with added cocoa butter and then ground in powerful machinery for days at a time until the paste has the smoothness of satin and is so close in texture that the air is excluded and the flavor and delicate aroma of Moir's Chocolates almost indefinitely preserved.

Take home a box to-day.

From far off Ceylon, Java and South America come direct the cocoa beans used in making Moir's Chocolates.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, April 7.— Cattle receipts 11,000; beef steers mostly steady; spots weak; top yearlings 9.25; best heavy steers 9.15; bulk of beef steers 7.25 and 8.15; she stock steady to 15c. lower; bulk of beef cows and heifers 5.25 and 6.75; canners and cutters 3.25 and 4.25; bulls strong; bulk bolognas 4.25 and 4.40; veal calves mostly 50c. lower.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)—Wheat averaged moderately higher in price yesterday owing more or less to unfavorable crop reports from the Southwest and to firmness of quotations at Liverpool. The closing here was unsettled at 1-4 to 1 3-8c. net gain, with May $1.30 1-4 to $1.30 3-8, and July $1.18 7-8 to $1.19. Corn finished 3-8 to 1 1-8c. higher; oats up 1-4 to 3-8c. and provisions varying from unchanged figures to 12c. decline.

If Women Would Only Learn

A high authority, Prof. Sherman, of Columbia University, says "the ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans is more often deficient in calcium than any other chemical," and that "many cases of arrested development may be due to insufficient calcium." Bone is made from calcium, yet modern foods contain little of this vital food element. Meat is poor in it and white flour and prepared cereals have it almost all refined away. Corn has little, even before refinement begins.

Roman Meal is the exception to this rule. It is rich in calcium and all minerals required for growth and health, obtained from three whole grains (wheat, rye and Flaxose) and comminuted bran. It is the most healthful and the best food produced to assist child growth, and makes porridge, muffins, pancakes, all very delicious. At grocers. 22

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Receipts were 450 cattle and calves, 400 hogs. Total offerings amounted to 650 cattle.

Trading on the cattle market was again inactive this morning, buyers bidding mostly in line over yesterday's close. There was a fair demand for the real good lightweight killing cattle, but the bulk of cow stuff and in-between butcher steers changed hands under a very poor enquiry. Butchers ranged from $4.50 to $5.00; killing steers $5.00 to $6.00, and feeder steers $4.00 to $5.00.

The hog market continued unchanged at $11.25 for selects.

There was no trading on the sheep and lamb market due to lack of receipts.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)—There was no improvement in the local or country demand for cash grain in the domestic market yesterday. The condition of the flour market was unchanged. A fair business was done in most lines of millfeed. Demand for rolled oats was slow. Prices were maintained in the baled hay market. An active trade continues in eggs but business in potatoes was quiet. A very firm feeling prevails in the butter market and prices may go higher. There is little to report in the cheese market.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)—The general market conditions in the larger receiving centres are unchanged. Prices at country points are quite firm. General pressure is to sell on receipts daily.

Toronto local market firm, specials jobbing 3-, extras 34, firsts 32. It is reported that an occasional car of United States is being received costing less than 30c, all charges paid. At 231-2 Chicago would lay down here about 29.

Montreal receipts heavy, trade is active in specials, jobbing up to 37, extras 35, straight candled 32.

New Westclox Site Once a Flaming Hill

Was Also Scene of Ashburnham Men's Victory Over Belligerent "Hell Street" Gang — Old Memories Haunt Location of New Factory.

THE ARMOUR FAMILY

(By F. H. Dobbin)

During the first week in April, ground will be broken to prepare for the excavation for the new building of the Western Clock Company, on the site selected, a part of Armour's hill, East City. The improbable has come about. No one ever gave a thought that this spot would be taken, and indeed preferred, on which to build a business and manufacturing structure. And there is one essential that is absent, he provision for a siding and rail access. That has ever been a condition brought forward in Peterborough. But this company in its processes, work, and the bringing in of materials is in the unique position of being independent of rail connection into its premises. For ever-present truck will carry from the freight sheds such raw materials as needed, and in this case the raw material is the finished product of some other, or likely, the parent factory.

The operations of the company—the construction of clocks and time pieces call for light freedom from dust, absence of dampness and moisture and what the motorist terms, "Free Air". There will be no obstructions offered on the top of the hill to the acquisition of all the air needed. Likewise smoke will be absent a very matrial considration. And as well this Company and its management have very serious ideas as to the real value of congenial and healthful surroundings, both as contributory to the operations and as an influence on and to those employed. It may be remarked that such consideration does not prevail in our local gas works. There you have the farther end of the proposition. Consider the contract.

A Landscape Feature

For a few days the matter is the subject of public comment and approval, so we might recall about Armour's Hill for there be very many who know of it only by name and not from association. It sticks up in the landscape to the east of East City. Conjectures have been rife for fifty years as to what Ashburnham, (now East City) would do with the hill, if the pinch ever came. It was not extremely useful but it was handy to have about if ever needed. Would be a good site for a reservoir, to hoid water supplies when he neighborhood came to be built up with much profusion As a site for homes and dwellings it was commanding, but there that ended. Life has other strenuous things to worry about without climbing up and trotting down hill four times a day, at least. And the airplane is not, at date of writing thoroughly domesticated.

How did this hill come about, is asked? Who was Armour? Why didn't Armour make some use of the lands after he had acquired the portion? Well, let us see what there is in it.

The Origin of Name Armour

Rev. Samuel Armour was a North of Ireland clergyman, who came to Canada and was for some years rector of St. Jude's Church in Cavan, in this district. Years afterwards he left Peterborough and closed his life in Millbrook, still in church service. Coming to Peterborough, he was first rector of the diocese of St. John's, one of the fifty-seven rectories created under the administration of Sir John Colborne. The gifts of this local rectory were many and now very valuable. Rev. Mr. Armour bought from the Canada Land Company, a British corporation, that had strings tied round large blocks of lands in this district, and to the north, two hundred acres, in a block and this plot included the hill in question. And on the top of the hill quite in line with the now extension of Hunter stret, east, he built his home. It stood at that time up in the landscape, except for the trees, very conspicuously, for there wasn't asother dwelling within eyeshot, so to speak. One of the first houses to be built of materials other than logs. The excavation for the new Western Clock Co., building discloses the old well that served the dwelling, filled in long ago. That is the well. The new building will stand well back from the line of Hunter street and east for some distance from Armour Road. About nine feet of material will be shaved off the top and used to make the terraces that will surround the building, when completed. And that accounts for the proposition to reduce the street grade opposite the property. The old cellar and some stone work is all that identifies the spot on which the house stood. But the dwelling has surounding it something of historic aroma, as being a connecting link between Rev. Mr. Armour and those who were born and nurtured in the house.

When the Hill Flamed

Setting aside, for the moment, personal references, consider the hill. At the time it was well wooded. The stumps still standing on the western slope are evidence of the size of the pine trees. The top of the hill was burned off on memorable days and nights in the fall of 1854, and it was a sight that thrilled. Now, it is a popular impression that the whole hill, as we see it, is of the Armour property. Not so. And when our friends of the Kiwanis Club take over the hill as a gift to be transferred to the city the Club must deal with several owners, to secure, the hill in its entirety. That is the area covered by the hill to the Norwood road, on the north. The high point is not of the Armour holding. The fence up the hill, in line with the north side of Douro street defines the limit. To the south the Armour lot stops at the property of Mrs.. Hubbs.

Road Made Detour

In connection there is a rather curious situation. The original survey of the lands now covered by East City provided that what was to be the direct road to Norwood, and to serve the territory east of the town, should go right over the top of the hill, quite in line as an extension of what is now Douro street. But the hill was a impossible proposition. So a diversion was planned, through the McFarlane properties, over the north limit of the hill, and by a curving road come back to the line to the east. That accounts for the turns and twists where the crossing over the canal exists.

There came a time in the middle fifties when the "Scotch Village" as it was known, (now East City), had growing pains. The locality felt that it wass being ignored by the west side of the river, and the village decided that it would do business for itself. So presently the thing was devised, and a proclamation appeared in the Canada Gazette formally incorporating the locality under the name of Ashburham, in some respects a compliment to Rev. Mark Burnham the guide, philosopher and friend of the place. But being a trifle ambitious, and looking to the future, the number of citizens who applied for incorporation decided to enlarge the limits, to the east, (which by general consent had been viewed as Concession street), and took in one hundred acres, from the area of the township of Otonabee, and so go the hill into the village limits.

There Were Poets There

The status of Ashburnham was acclaimed on the night of September 10th., 1858, by a huge bonfire, built on the hill top, just north of the residence of Mr. Lundy, (East City), at which time a poem was read, speeches—real ones— made, and general jubilation. Also something that was assumed to be good for the inner man was partaken of, with devious results. An incident of the evening, not otherwise marred was the appearnce on the scene of members of the "Hell Street Gang", as Charlotte street was at that time designated. There came forward with the laudable intention of breaking up the festivities. But not so. The men of the newly born municipality were extremely militant. They acted promptly. The invaders were summarily seized, thoroughly rubbed with charcoal from the embers of the bonfire, taken down behind Calcutts brewery and treated to instant and satisfactory immersion. Then sent home to mother..

Part Expropriated

When the Government engineers had definitely settled on the site for the canal and lift lock, a swath was taken out of the previously mentioned hundred acres, and there upon arose ex-propriation proceedings, due to the objections of Chief Justice Armour, who objected to being summarily deprived of a portion of his birthright. Eventually a portion of money healed the breach. It may be mentioned that Reverend Samuel Arwour built his house over ninety years ago, and that the Western Clock Company will occupy about sixteen acres.

Of the large family of children born in the old house and those who came into the lile of the district and indeed of the Province. Of these Chief Justice, John Douglas Armour, (Province of Ontario), may be mentioned. Born in Peterborough, in the old homestead, on May 4th 1830. Youngest son of the household. He was prepared for the law, and in 1847 he matriculated, and in 1850 carried off the Gold Medal in classics. Called to the bar in 1853 He practiced law at Cobourg and in 1857 was raised to the Bench. Subsequently he became Chief Justice of Ontario and a judge in the Supreme Court of Canada. He was appointed one of the Canadian representatives upon the Alaskan Boundary Commission and proceeded to England on that duty where he died in 1903.

Another son, James Gardiner Armour, practiced law in Peterborough and lived on Chambers street, in one of the rought cast houses to the rear of Mason's store. He died in 1844, at the age of twenty-seven years.

E. A. Peck A Descendant

The family connection is still extant in the city. Mr. E. A. Peck, is a grandson of Rev. Samuel Armour, his mother being Miss Mary Armour, one of the daughters of the house. Mr. Peck's father came from Kent, Eng., and for a time farmed, kept store, and then took up the manufacture of ales and porter. He married Miss Armour in 1845 after the Armour family had returned to Cavan. Peck's Brewery, on the shore of the Little Lake, was for years a local landmark, the same house in which Peck sr., lived still doing service, surrounded by the trees, (now in second growth) that were planted when the house was built. Mr. Peck, after a time, went back to England, but returned to Peterborough in 1869 and resumed his business as brewer.

GOSPEL HALL MEETINGS.

On Thursday evening Mr. Bentley (English evangelist), spoke on his advertised subject, "Seven reasons why I believe the Bible is the Word of God."

The reasons he gave were as follows: Firstly, because Christ who was God incarnate testified to the inspiration of Scripture.

Secondly, because of its marvellous unity.

Fourthly, its difficulties are an evidence that it came from an infinite mind. Some parts of it are beyond the power of finite mind to fully comprehend.

Fifthly, Its indestructability proves that God is in it. Its bitterest foes have done their utmost to demolish and banish and burn it, but it lives on, while its enemies are confounded.

Sixthly. The moral effects produced by it wherever it is received prove that it is from God.

Seventhly. It is a mirror of man. As the X-ray enables the physician to see inside the body, God's word penetrates the heart, diagnoses the disease there, says it is "deceitful above all things and desperately wicked." But the Book that discovers the disease reveals the cure. Sin's disease can be cured by the "redemption that is in Christ Jesus" and by Him alone.

To-night the subject will be: 'The Heart of the Gospel."

GLAD HAND FOR VISITORS FROM ROCHESTER, N.Y.

George B. Taylor and Family Will Be Welcome Summer Residents at Stoney Lake.

Mr. George B. Taylor, of Rochester, New York, and one of its representative manufacturers, having heard of the Kawartha Lakes from Rochester friends as a "Tourists' Paradise and place of rest," has made up his mind to become a summer resident with his family.

He has lately purchased from Mr. G. W. Hatton, K.C., his island in Burleigh Bay, and proposes to motor from Rochester to Burleigh Falls about the middle of April, providing the roads are in proper condition, making such needed improvements as are required and spend a large part of the summer there.

It is a class of citizens such as Mr. Taylor and his family are said to be, that the citizens of the City and County of Peterborough and the summer resorters of Stoney Lake desire to interest and intermingle with, with a view of making Stoney Lake not only a popular but representative resort.

The island purchased is a miniature park, and contains about four acres. It was thoroughly underbrushed last winter, and its large pines, maples, basswood and other forest trees left standing. It is surrounded on its shore line by balsams and other evergreen trees. It is the last island on Stoney Lake, that is, the most western, and is at the foot of Perry Creek Rapids and the Burleigh Locks.

We have added Mr. Taylor, at his request, to our list of subscribers, and we hope that his visits amongst us will be, not only pleasurable, but with mutual and lasting benefit, and we hope he and his family will become so enamoured with the surrounding and natural beauties of the Kawartha Lakes that his relationship with the cottagers will be such, that he will be content to continue his visits from year to year and induce other citizens and friends of his to also try out this section of our waters.

Doubtless numbers of high-power yachts will cross the lake this year and ply the waters of the Trent Valley Canal, in which event all of these yachts will pass through Burleigh Falls Locks and the island home of Mr. Taylor.

GENTLE SARCASM FOR AMERICANS.

Whole U. S. Nation Never Leaves School.

LONDON, April 7.— (Associated Press.)—The reception accorded in America to Mrs. Margot Asquith, and other English lecturers this winter has prompted some gentle sarcasm at the expense of Americans and of the lecturers.

Mrs. Asquith's failure to identify Jane Addams evoked pointed remarks from the New York correspondent of the London Star who says that "if Jane Addams had lived in England Mrs. Woodrow Wilson would have known about her."

"Interviewed, Mrs. Asquith has been delightful," he continues. "Her view of the yellow press was that it must be read by the Chinese. Was Lloyd George as popular as ever? 'I wonder,' said Margot, with a smile through her cigarette smoke which, by the way, is criminal in Kansas even for men."

Of the audiences, the Star correspondent says that instead of reading books for themselves they learn by ear. "The results must be shallow," he adds; "but at least it means that in a very real sense this whole nation never leaves school. It is always trying to pick up knowledge but most of the knowledge is and must be superficial."

He calls the United States the "clover land" for English lecturers and says that agents there have done "an excellent wholesale trade in Philip Gibbs who usually comes to America with some new European country in his pocket as a rule ruined, broadly speaking, by The Big Four. Ladies listen to him with rapt attention and unwrapped shoulders. It is generally believed that that he is the only Knight of the Garter too modest to wear it.

"Oliver Lodge was the smartest of all visitors for he talked not only about the old world and the new world but about the next world on which he established a monopoly. Whenever he wandered, therefore, he found the streets paved with gold."

G. H. Chesterton was referred to by the correspondent as "our biggest consignment" and John Galsworthy was reported as quietly meandering among universities while H. G. Wells was credited with a certain sensitiveness which restrained him from undue mixing.

CLEAN UP GROUNDS.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 7.— (Canadian Press.)— A public meeting called by the chamber of commerce took initial steps towards the formation of an amateur athletic association and considered the holding of a clean-up be for putting into condition for use the new sports grounds on Thomas street which are unenclosed.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom, here is a constant retching, and the meals are frequently vomited. There is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver, as it fails back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health.

Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines, N.S., writes:—"I had been a great sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several, so-called, catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which I did, and four vials completely relieved me. That was six years ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble."

The Hotel Iroquois Murder

(Copyright, 1920.)

There are many who have ridiculed the methods by which Craig Kennedy, Sherlock Holmes and other master sleuths of fiction have arrived at their infallibly correct conclusions by deductive reasoning or by mechanical apparatus which registers every fraction of a heart-beat or every minute change in the suspect's respiration.

But every now and then these same methods are used by detectives in real life, frequently with a great degree of success.

For example, there was the Hotel Iroquois murder case in which Police Commissioner George S. Dougherty applied a mixture of the Holmes and Kennedy rules in such a manner as to make the guilty man practically convict himself, although at the time he was ignorant of the fact that he was doing it.

William H. Jackson, a wealthy guest of the hotel, was found dead in his room one morning, stabbed through the heart. His gold watch and several other pieces of jewelry had not been touched, but the only money in his clothes were three twenty-five cent pieces in one of his vest pockets. As Jackson was known to carry a good deal of money, the supposition was that he had been murdered by someone who either lost his nerve, or who failed to take the watch and jewelry because they could be too easily traced.

Even Commissioner Dougherty's knowledge of the working of the criminal mind could find little that could be dignified by the term "clue."

Jackson had evidently returned to his room rather late the night before—in fact, one of the clerks recalled seeing him enter shortly after midnight—but the elevator boy said that he had come up alone and that no one had gone up to or come down from the same floor for several hours afterwards.

"That means nothing," Dougherty pointed out. "The man who killed him might just as well have walked down a couple of flights before taking the elevator. It's more than possible that, to avoid suspicion, he walked all the way down and out through the lobby as if he had a perfect right to be there. No hurried departures early this morning?" he asked the room clerk.

"None at all, sir. Only a few people have checked out, and I happen to know all of them. We have their home addresses if you need them."

After a careful examination of the room and the body of the murdered man, Dougherty returned to his office and contented himself with seeing that the machinery of the police was kept carefully oiled. But to no effect. Beyond the very patent fact that Jackson had been struck down in cold blood, there was no indication of the weapon or the criminal.

As days passed without further developments, the public began to criticize and find fault.

"How things come to such a pass," people asked each other, "that a man can be killed in a big hotel and the police are unable to find even a single person who might have done it?" And, as is usual at such times, the fault was laid at the door of the Police Commissioner.

Finally, when the wave of criticism had reached a height that he could no longer afford to overlook it, Commissioner Dougherty decided to try a method which, as he phrased it, "was a shot in the dark—and a hundred-to-one shot, at that."

"All we've been able to find out," he said to one of his lieutenants, "is that Jackson was stabbed by a left-handed man, standing behind and slightly to one side of him. Jackson dropped without a sound, and the murderer was able to lift his roll without disturbing the body in the slightest. The whole thing probably didn't take more than sixty seconds. Now, excluding the guests in the hotel at the time—most of whom it is manifestly impossible to reach—I want you to round up every person who was in the Iroquois that night. Find out which ones are left-handed and bring 'em down. That wouldn't do in this case, at least the old-fashioned kind wouldn't. I'm going to try something new. It's a gamble but we've got to take a chance."

One by one the left-handed brigade was marched into Dougherty's office. One by one he put to them a set of questions, one of the first of which regarded their health and the state of their pulse. Once he had his finger on the suspect's wrist, he never lifted it until the final question had been asked and answered.

It was not until the Commissioner commenced to question Paul Geidel, the elevator boy who had taken Jackson up to his floor the night that he had been murdered, that he noted any material change in the pulse beats of the person he was examining. When he asked Geidel what he had done immediately after Jackson had stepped out of his car, the boy's pulse hesitated and then commenced to race. But his voice was quiet enough as he replied that Jackson had asked him for some ice water, that he brought it, placed it outside his door, and had then gone on with his work.

Instantly a thought flashed into Dougherty's mind—"Jackson opened the door, produced a roll of bills, asked for change for a dollar and tipped Geidel a quarter, slipping the other three into his vest pocket. Geidel, seeing the money, murdered Jackson either then or later. At least, he knows something about the crime. His pulse is proof of that." But, aloud, the Commissioner only said: "You're left-handed, aren't you?"

"No, sir," replied Geidel, promptly. "Right-handed." And again his pulse was racing.

"That'll do," Dougherty concluded. "Thank you for coming here."

The instant the boy left, the Commissioner ordered him followed. Two days later he was arrested and finally convicted—one of the few cases on record where a man's inability to control his heart action during the strain of lying provided the initial indication of his guilt.

GENERAL SEMENOFF IS UNDER ARREST.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—General Gregoire Ataman Semenoff, Anti-Bolshevik military leader in Siberia, was arrested at the Pennsylvania Station upon his arrival here from Washington last night by Sheriff Nagle. In the custody of six deputy sheriffs he was taken to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel where arrangements were under way to have him released on $25,000 bail.

The arrest was made in a civil action involving nearly half a million dollars on orders issued by Supreme Court Justice Delahanty.

MUST HALT MOVEMENT TO REDUCE ALL WAGES

NEW YORK, April 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Eight hundred delegates to the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York, claiming to represent seven hundred thousand workers, last night passed a resolution, pledging to the striking coal miners their "united, moral and financial support."

President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, spoke to the gathering and declared the United Chamber of Commerce and anti-union organizations fostered a natio-wide movement to reduce wages in all industries and that such a movement must come to a halt.

"If the miners fail of public sympathy in their efforts to stem the tidal wave of wage reduction started by these interests," he said, "then woe to miners, woe to all organized labor and woe to the public."

COUNTERFEITERS

BERLIN, April 5.—(Associated Press) A band of international counterfeiters with branch offices in almost every European country, America and Australia, has established headquarters in Berlin, say police and Reichsband investigators. Monies of half a dozen countries are being maunfactured here. A score of arrests have been made, but authorities say the band is still functioning.

In addition, there have been many arrests of counterfeiters operating alone, making either German or American money. American dollar and $10 notes are favourite productions of the counterfeiters. German 50, 100 and 1,000 mark notes also are widely counterfeited.

Confederates of the counterfeiters usually dispose of the German money counterfeited here in a foreign country. France, Holland, Belgium, Sweden or Norway. The foregin money made in Germany is marketed here.

One of the counterfeiters arrested was the proprietor of a large hotel in Amsterdam who posed as a pleasure-seeker and lived elegantly in the best hotels.

A German counterfeiter of 100-mark notes was employed as mechanician in a big artificial ice-skating rink here. He established his work-shop in the attic of the ice-palace," and surrounded it with electric wires so arranged that unexpected entrance would cause an explosion in the "mint" and destroy the "evidence."

The proprietor of the rink watched him, and informed the police who cut the wires, entered and found the mechanician busily printing money.

'PLAINTS AGAINST AFFAIRS IN RUSSIA.

Allege the New Economic System is Bourgeois Rule.

MOSCOW, April 6.—(Associated Press).—Moscow newspapers have turned their broadsides loose on the little group of Communist malcontents who dared present to the last meeting of the Communist Internationale grievances against the present turn of affairs in Russia, alleging that the new economic system is a resurrection of bourgeois domination.

However, the papers print the text of the complaint and the list of those who comprise the group of malcontents, headed by A. Shliapnikoff, one of the leaders of the Metal Trade Union, who has been chosen as a delegate to Genoa. In all there are 24 signatures to the statement of grievances, including Mme. Alexandra Kollantay, member of the Central Executive Committee, the real governing body of Russia.

The power possessed by the Government for rallying support to its policy and maintaining party discipline was displayed by the action of the Metal Trades Congress which, after an address by Premier Lenine, adopted a resolution of censure against Shliapnikoff.

"Leave the Communist party if you like," says the "Pravla," "and we will fight you," a lding that the group could not stay in the party and oppose the present turn of affairs.

In its petition to the Internationale the group stated that it considered the policy now being executed in Russia would lead to a split among the proletariat, whole factions at congresses being deprived of their rights, while persons expressing opinions contrary to those professed by the leaders were persecuted and deported. Charges were made that bourgeoisie now comprise 40 per cent. of the Communist party and are getting control over affairs, though 60 per cent. of the party are workers.

The tendencies of Shliapnikoff's group are anarchical and syndicalist. He is a member of the Central Committee of the Communist party.

Radio communication, he said, was only in its infancy, and there still remained a vast amount of research work to be done and a tremendous amount to be learned. One of the things discovered recently was the fact that the concerts sent out from Toronto within the past few days could be heard distinctly, and for great distances to the east and south, while they could not be received nearly as well or as far to the north and west.

Following his address he answered a number of questions from radio fans in the audience.

The speaker was introduced by H. O. Fisk, M.E.I.C., who also spoke a few words at the close, thanking him for the clear and easily understandable way in which the subject had been presented.

It was estimated that about 1,000 persons were present.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is aching; if what you eat sours and forms acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before eating more food.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate, which is inexpensive and almost tasteless.

Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast.

Rhythm is the Keynote of Beauty, Says Deaf Girl

MISS HELEN HECKMAN

MUSKOGEE, April 7.—Artistic rhythm and beauty of mind and soul are more essential than physical care of the body.

So declared Miss Helen Heckman, of Muskogee, Okla., a winner in a recent national contest for beauty of face and figure.

And you might say that Miss Heckman has danced her way to beauty. This in spite of the fact that she has been deaf since infanthood.

She is an accomplished artist in terpsicho... ing. Her sense of rhythm is so highly developed that, in spite of deafness she dances in perfect time with phonograph music.

Miss Heckman's mother had much to do with her accomplishment in rhythm. In learning speech, as a child, Miss Heckman was required to rhythmically walk out phrases of poetry, pausing slightly for a comma or semicolan, sitting gracefully in a chair for a period and rising on her toes for a question mark. This rhythm was the first and greatest force in Helen's development.

And it lead to beauty in figure. Facial beauty, Miss Heckman feels, came through spending a great deal of time outdoors.

OAK HALL

Broadway Likes "Voltaire," The College Girls' Comedy

CARLOTTA MONTEREY.

Success may come to him who waits—

But two New York college girls weren't going to take any chances.

They got busy, wrote a play, took it to a producer, sold it and had it in rehearsal five days later. Then they took the manuscript to a publisher, made him read it, and had it accepted—in two days.

Now they are busy reaping the results of their success.

The girls are Leila Taylor, a Columbia University School of Journalism graduate, and Gertrude Purcell of Hunter College. Their play is the romantic comedy "Voltaire" in which Arnold Daly is playing the title role.

Covers One Day.

Unlike "Disraeli" and "Abraham Lincoln" and other plays of that type, it does not present a series of disconnected episodes in the career of a great historical character. Instead its action is confined to one day in the life of Voltaire at his chateau at Ferney, near the Swiss frontier.

In it are crowded bits of Voltaire, the philosopher, playwright, matchmaker, historian, pamphleteer, chess player and wit. There is no pretense of being historically accurate. But most of the events actually happened at one time or other in his career. The young authors took the liberty of telescoping them to suit the needs of their intrigue.

The comedy is one of the best "well built" plays seen on Broadway this year. It is so carefully arranged that it loses some of its suspense.

First Attempt.

But it is the authors' first attempt—they will do better next time.

Arnold Daly's acting could scarcely be improved. His portrayal of Voltaire, the septuagenarian, is the best thing he has done since "The Master." Carlotta Monterey is charming as Mlle. Clairon, the French actress.

They are putting the play over and are making Broadway's youngest playwrights happy.

Boy Falls Five Stories and Bounces Off Auto Picked Up "Dead" He Comes To at Morgue

NEW YORK.—April 7—Peter Curnik, 26 years, a window cleaner, owes his life to an automobile top upon hich he fell yesterday afternoon when he slipped off the ledge of a fifth storey window of the offices of the Hayes-Green Corporation, 52 East Twenty-fifth Street. He hit the top of the motor car with the reverberation of a huge bass drum. His body rebounded five feet and then fell again on top of the motor car. The police said that Gurnik had neglected to secure his safety belt.

His body hurtling through the air attracted the attention of lower-floor tenants of the building. They thrust their heads through the windows and shouted warnings to the street below at the moment as the window cleaner's body landed on the automobile.

The commotion attracted a great crowd from Madison Square, and among the first to arrive was Traffic Patrolman Walter F. Graham, who was on duty at Fourth Avenue and Twenty-Sixth Street. Graham, assisted by two men who had seen the accident, lifted the unconsciouM window cleaner from the automobile to the sidewalk. The patrolman commandered the automobile of Max Lindenhauer, 2,529 West Twenty-fourth Street, Coney Island, and started to Bellevue Hospital.

Lindenhauer drove to the Morgue instead of to the hospital. He assisted the policeman to take Gurnik's inert form from the motor car into the morgue where it was laid upon a slab.

Assistant Superintendent William Ward asked if the man was dead, and the driver of the car replied:

"Of course, he's dead. He fell five stories."

"But who said he was dead?" asked Superintendent Ward.

"Everybody at the scene of the accident," replied Lindenhauer. "What else could he be but dead after such a fall?"

The Assistant Superintendent, apparently convinced, started to give instructions for the body to be prepared for burial, when he was interrupted by a feeble inquiry:

"Where am I?"

He looked again at the "dead" man, and replied:

"This is no place for that man. Take him to the hospital.

Thoroughly fertilize the allotted space. Spade deeply and fertilize again. Continue to spade until the soil becomes rich, deep and fine. The bed should be raised a little above the paths. Put the young plants about four inches below the surface and 18 inches apart. Do not cut the stalks the first season if you would have good results for 50 years to come.

FIRST REPORTS FROM THE FROZEN NORTH

News of North West Police Operations of Winter Reach Headquarters.

EDMONTON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).— Reports from the 'outposts of civilization" are commencing to come in to Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters here covering the winter operations of the Mounties in the far north. Sergt. Thorne of the northern patrol, reports conditions have been very favorable for the natives during the past winter and no cases of acute distress or starvation were reported. Meat and fish have been plentiful and the fur is being taken in satisfactory quatities this year. The past winter was one of very heavy snow throughout the north, but the trails have ben in excellent condition.

In January Sergt. Thorne made a patrol up the Liard river from Fort Simpson and reports many samples of gold being taken from the South Nahanni, but he had no information as to the quantity or quality of the metal. Major Jennings, commanding the detachment here, states he has seen placer gold from this location which on analysis proved of no value. He sounds a note of warning to those who intend going in on the Nahanni in respect to prov ig the field before any talk of stam pede is indulged in.

In addition to the usual patrol work, Segrt. Thorne and his patrol have been investigating the disappearance of two oil prospectors, named Warburton and Keely, of Whitehorse Yukon territory, who have not been heard of since they started on a return journey in 1921, from Fort Norman to the Yukon.

No trace of them was discovered but it is hoped with the coming of the Fort Norman mail their disappearance may be cleared up as another patrol carried on an investigation on the Gravel River, via which stream the Yukoners attempted to return home.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Advocating an increase in the fee charged on each registration card issued from 10 cents to 25 cents as a means of overcoming the deficit resulting from the unfortunate ending of the Scottish tour last year, President D. Macneil, of the Dominion Football Association, is confident of an early recovery in the financial standing of the association. He hopes, within a short time, to see the big deficit caused by the disastrous United States programme staged by the Scots, combined with the loss sustained in the Connaught Cup series, wiped out entirely. Mr. Macneil's plan of increasing the registration fee will be put before the delegates of the next annual meeting.

The petty squabbles which, following Secretary Roy's financial statement, threatened at one time the disintegration of the association, have all passed to the great beyond, according to Mr. Macneil and practically all the provincial bodies, with the exception of Manitoba and Alberta, have all renewed affiliations with the parent association. It is anticipated that Manitoba and Alberta will sign up following their annual general meetings, to be held shortly.

From the fact that Quebec and Ontario between them require 7,000 registration fees, it is evident that by the president's method of charging a 25-cent fee on each, a very respectable sum can be realized, sufficient not only to clear off outstanding debts but also to create an annua revenue.

Boxing Championships

CALGARY, Alta, April 6.—The first Canadian national open boxing championships ever staged in Western Canada will be held here April 20 and 21 when fistic artists from many parts of the Dominion and the United States meet.

Preparations are already under way by officials of the Alberta branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to assure the success of the tourney, from which, it is expected the fistic game in the Western provinces will receive a big boost. Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia are sending representatives and there promises to be a large representation from the boxing fraternity in Alberta.

going to limit the scope of this inquiry".

"Put it up to the committee," suggested Mr. Raney.

"I'm going to put it up to you, Mr. Attorney-General," Mr. Ferguson shot back, "whether you're going to dictate to the committee, and limit the scope of its inquiries, solely to protect the Government."

J. W. Curry—"Will my honorable friend answer a question?"

Mr. Ferguson—"That depends what it is, and who asks it."

Mr. Curry—"Can these papers, produced under subpoena, be taken away from the custody of the committee?"

Mr. Ferguson—"I'm in the habit of consulting the Attorney-General on all such points."

Mr. Curry—"You mean you are in the habit of making a pretence of consulting him."

Mr. Ferguson—"I do consult him, but I don't bother with his deputy."

Mr. Doherty—"Did you have in your mind, when you drafted this resolution on Wednesday, the production of all these documents?"

Mr. Ferguson—"I certainly had."

"A Voice—"Camouflage." ....

No Camouflage.

Mr. Ferguson—"It's no camouflage. When an official is summoned before the committee it is generally understood that the resolution need only provide a ground work for the inquiries to be made. For instance, if I had moved for an inquiry into the item of Mr. Gaby's salary I could have summoned him and inquired as to the nature of his duties, all the estimates which he had prepared, and many other phases. This is the first time I ever saw such an attempt to burk to a wide open inquiry. If it is the Attorney-General intention to do so, that's his business."

Mr. Raney—"That's an affront to the committee."

"There are seven Cabinet Ministers here this morning to delay the progress of the inquiry," declared W. F. N. Sinclair, Liberal member for South Ontario. "It doesn't stand to the credit of this great democratic Government——"

Going to Talk.

"Never mind the credit. Get on with the inquiry," interrupted Mr. Raney.

"I've got the floor, and I'm going to talk just as long as I want to," Mr. Sinclair insisted. "I say it doesn't stand to the credit of the Government to send seven Cabinet Ministers into the Public Accounts Committee to hold up an investigation on purely technical grounds. This is the 38th day of the session, and, God knows, we want to get somewhere. I have never seen such an exhibition as this staged before."

A Piety Mouth.

"Our honorable friend has a piety mouth this morning," observed F. C. Biggs. "I object to any such talk from the Minister of Public Works," Mr. Sinclair protested. ...

"Since that's your feeling I'll take it back," Mr. Biggs conceded. "But you've got my opinion. The member for South Ontario has made absolutely unjustifiable statements. I have a right to be present in this committee to represent my constituents.." The member for Grenville moved yesterday to have a committee of the House.

"Both," replied Mr. Ferguson. "We can get preliminary facts here, surely."

"Why not let the documents be produced", queried T. H. Lennox.

"Produce it by all means, as soon as the committee orders it, but not a bit before", Mr. Biggs retorted. "A few of you fellows have got the cart before the horse. I'm here representing my constituency for a fair deal".

Who's the Judge

"You think you are", commented Mr. Ferguson. "Thank God, you're not the judge", Mr. Biggs shot back.

"What is the difference whether the evidence is submmitted now or later"? demanded Mr. Ferguson. "It will mean that the committee will be running things, and not you or any other fellow", the minister replied.

Mr. Ferguson declared that he took full responsibility for having the documents brought before the committee. Mr. Gaby asked him what papers he should bring, and he told him all that had any bearing on Hydro expenditure. He moved that the documents submitted be accepted by the committee, identified by Mr. Gaby and kept for the members to study.

Mr.. Raney moved an amendment that until the documents ordered should be identified and considered, No action be taken with the others which had been submitted.

Mr. Raney's amendment carried 15-6. Those opposing the amendment were Messrs. Buchland, Ferguson, Henry, Lennox and McCrea. (Conservatives), and Sinclair (Liberal). R. Cooper, Liberal member for Welland voted with the Government members in support of the amendment.

Another Sensation

Another sensation was provided when Mr. Gaby read to the committe the subpoena by which he had been summoned to appear. The subpoena called for production of "all estimates and papers". It was discovered that by a clerical error the words "relating to this item" which appeared on the original resolution, had been omitted from the subpoena.

"Then the Attorney General's motion will permit the inquiry to go on, since the subpoena calls for all the evidence," observed T. H. Lennox.

"Or perhaps he will try to wriggle out of that"..

Mr. Raney expressed the opinion that consideration of the estimates in the question should be deferred until the House reached a definite decision as to the appointment of a committee and a commission to probe Chippawa expenditures. It was finally agreed on motion of Mr. Ferguson, however ,that Mr. Gaby reappear next Wednesday, for examination of the estimates in question.

NO STARTLING FINDS FT. NORMAN OIL FIELDS

EDMONTON, Alta., April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—No startling developments were recorded at Fort Norman during the past winter, according to Ronald McKinnon, of the Imperial Oil Company's staff, who recetly arrived here from the northern oil fields. Little work, it is said, was accomplished by the men left at the oil drills owing to the extreme weather and solidly frozen ground. There is no change in the condition of the discovery well—oil exists in the drilling, but the well cannot be classified as a gusher.

Mr. McKinnon left Norman late in January and travelled the entire 1,200 miles to Fort McMurray by dog team, relays of fresh dogs being secured at each post.

MAJ.-GEN. WILLIAMS IS HEAD OF PROV. POLICE

TORONTO, April 7.—(Special).—Gen. Elliot, who took over from Jos. Rogers a year ago the position of Chief of the Provincial Police, has given up that position, and has been succeeded by Major-General V. A. S. Williams, C.M.G., until now General Officer Commanding Military Division No. 2, with headquarters in Toronto.

The retiring Chief or Commissioner has held the office for exactly a year. He took the position on the understanding that it was to be for one year. His health has not been good, and he is reputed to be well off financially. He will take some time resting up. The new Commissioner will be in charge of general law enforcement, including the O.T.A. He has had a distinguished military record.

LIKE "MYSTERY HOUSES."

WINNIPEG, Man., April 7.—(Canadian Press.)— Equipped like the mystery houses described in "dime thrillers," local police, in a search for offenders of the Manitoba Temperance Act, recently discovered a house with movable partitions, electrically controlled by a push button in the floor. The partitions were used to evade the police and during a test the movable wall worked "like a charm." A portion of the partition taken to police headquarters as evidence against the owner was covered with the same paper as the solid wall of the house.

OTTAWA, April 7. — Canadian Press. — The present government and the late Conservative government both wash their hands of the responsibility for the existence of duty paid export liquor warehouses along the southern borders of Saskatchewan which were declared by Saskatchewan members to be "a menace to life and public property and a supply depot for the bootleggers who come from as far south as Oklahoma to stock up with intoxicating liquors to be smuggled into the United States."

AUGUSTUS THOMAS DRAMAS WIN FAME FOR LEAH BAIRD.

Beautiful Star Eclipses All Her Past Performances in "The Capitol."

Both in theme and enactment Leah Baird's new plays for Artco productions and Hodkinson release grow in power. The third play of Miss Baird's series is "The Capitol," a great theatrical stage success of its period with Frank Keenan and Amelia Bingham as the stars. It is a story of politics and love and intrigue in modern Washington, with the shadow of the nation's political structure and the background of the United States Senate for atmosphere.

This makes three Augustus Thomas dramas that Miss Baird has had since the launching of the Four Star pictures under the presentation of Arthur F. Beck. These three are "As a Man Thinks," "The Volcano" and now "The Capitol," which comes to the Regent Theatre, beginning to-day.

Miss Baird has made a remarkable advance in her fortunes as an already nationally popular screen star by having the advantage of six plays by the foremost of all American dramatists.

In "The Capitol" Miss Baird portrays three different roles—one in the prologue, which character she also plays as twenty years later, in addition to the principal role of a young society debutante of Washington, D.C. When the play achieved its remarkable run years ago, the three who stood out in the all-star aggregation, were Amelia Bingham, Mary Shaw and Frank Keenan. In the selection of a cast to support Miss Baird, Mr. Beck assembled a coterie of players, who qualify nearest to the original Broadway cast.

AT THE ROYAL.

As virile and compelling a romance of the North Canadian wilderness of lake and forest is "Gleam o' Dawn," in which William Fox's new star, John Gilbert, appears for his first time as an actor. Gilbert had been engaged as director in one of the largest film studios, but William Fox engaged him as leading man at more money. "Gleam o' Dawn" is one of those photoplays that could never be rivalled by a stage production. The plot is inseparably connected with and dependent upon its scenic environment. Without the scenic surroundings of the natural forest are as necessary to this play as is Portia to the Merchant of Venice. Silas Huntworth and his adopted daughter live in the remote recesses of the forest in a cottage, as Huntworth is a skilled artist, who seeks solitude after meeting a domestic tragedy. A young artist who calls himself Dawn saves Huntworth's cottage from being illegally seized by land grabbers. He is invited by Huntworth and his adopted girl Nini to visit with them. Just after Dan Cupid has made two good shots and the young people begin to discuss ways and means to fix the H.C.L., a half-witted Frenchman identifies Dawn as the son of his (the Frenchman's) only love who married Huntworth. He shows Dawn how Huntworth deserted his (Dawn's) mother shortly before Dawn's birth, leaving her to starve. Dawn is so wrought upon by the Frenchman's hatred for Huntworth, his successful rival, that he decides to kill him to avenge his mother's ill-treatment. However, he finds out the reason for Huntworth's action, and everything turns out lovely! A beautiful romance that almost carries the scent of the northern pine trees amongst which it was screened. Barbara Bedford, in "Winning with Wits," plays a dual role, first as an actress and then as a business woman to prove the innocence of her father, who has been sent to penitentiary for another crime, and also to fix the guilt on the right man. A clever detective story in which love and a woman's wit win out. Then the Sunshine comedy, "Hold the Line," is a sparkling bit of fun dealing with a college football match.

AT THE GRAND.

HERE ON SATURDAY.

Nothing else this season has given music lovers as much pleasure as the fine performance of "Il Trovatore" by Boston English Opera Company and when Manager Phillips of the Grand heard this excellent company contemplated a return tour in the Bohemian Girl he immediately set to work to secure a return date. The Bohemian Girl is without a doubt the world's most popular comic opera. Its beautiful numbers "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Then You'll Remember Me," "Bliss Forever Past," "The Heart Bowed Down," "Fair Land of Poland", and its wonderful choruses, "Come with the Gypsy," "Our Lady Moon," etc., will live as long as music exists. The oftener one hears them the more beautiful they become as they contain the real elements of immortality—melody, pathos and romance.

The Boston English Opera Company needs no introduction; its artists comprise the foremost star singing English language among them "Helena Morrill, Norman Arnold, Edward Orchard, Henry Kungs Doothy Bott, etc. and the famous wonder chorus.

The Boston English Opera comes to the Grand Theatre on Saturday, Bohemian Girl. The seat sale is now open, and unless you want to miss the season's treat musical treat make your reservations without delay.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The double feature program at the Capitol Theatre for this week end is particularly attractive. There is a regular he-man story of the waste places in "The Call of the North", with Jack Holt, one of the best 'strong character part' actors of the screen, in the title role. Scenes of wild natural beauty form a background for the play of intense human emotion staged at 'Conjuror's House' in the far North with the wills of two determined men struggling for victory. There is the "long traverse", the "march of death", that threatens the daring free trader who has incurred the wrath of the great Hudson Bay Company; the stern factor who sent the elder Stewart to his death through the jealously of his gentle wife; the lovely Virginia, and the final tender and unexpected ending of a picture that holds the interests from start to finish.

Charlie Chaplin has one of his very funniest vehicles in "A Dog's Life", with the eccentric comedian smuggling his small white pup into the tough Bowery came conto the tough Bowery cafe conthe jazzy dance with the woe begone singer and Charlie, accompanied by the dizzy pup; and Methusaleh one-stepping with his bony flame. There is a stolen wallet to complicate matters, and a free-lunch counter where Charlie, satisfies his hunger in characteristic fashion.

A Nick Carter picture adds interest to the balance of the program, made up of the usual excellent short reels.

PUBLIC UNTROUBLED BY THE COAL STRIKE.

Local Demand Normal, With Only the Usual Spring Orders on File.

The strike of American coal miners has scarcely made a ripple on the local market. Orders have been practically normal, and there has been an entire absence of any rush to load up with stock from fear of any possible shortage of supplies. The usual Spring deliveries are being made, but the public show no signs of concern or alarm over the outcome of the strike. The surplus of anthracite coal is estimated at ten million tons and fifty million tons of the soft of steam variety. Hence, no one is apprehensive of any shortage for months to come, and at the same time the demand declines with the change in the seasons.

SCREEN NEWS

At present a movie marriage is like a trolley transfer: good only on date indicated.

The latest short-term contract to expire is said to be that of Constance Talmadge and John Pialoglou. Constance lived with Pialoglou barely long enough to master correct pronunciation of his name This took some time. Movie actresses who marry men with simple names are under no such handicap.

If the tendency goes much further it may be just as well for municipal clerks to cease issuing marriage licenses and start giving out ten-day guests cards instead. The ceremonial routine may come to this:

"Do you, Cyril, take this woman to be your lawfully wedded wife to cherish and to hold until Monday afternoon?"

"What day is to-day?" asks Cyril.

"To-day is Saturday," informs the marriage clerk.

"Make it read 'until Monday noon,'" replies Cyril. "I've got to take the 1.10 to Chicago and propose to a girl out there."

"And you, Aletia, do you promise to love, honor and obey this man?"

"Oh, I might as well. I ain't doin' nuthin' over the week-end."

The situation really is becoming alarming. Honeymoons are impossible. No railroads can complete the trip between two given points before the happy couple have decided to sue for separation.

And it is all excused on the ground of temperament. When the average movie star was a young woman living at home with the old folks she thought temperament had something to do with the weather.

Whenever she showed any pecu- "Mamie is off in the bean. Unless some boiler-maker marries her soon and gets her to settle down. She will be getting arrested". They didn't dream it was the deah girl's temperament. Neither did Mamie.

LACROSSE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS! WHY NOT?

Baseball has become so firmly established in the public schools, through the medium of several leagues in which the keenest rivalry prevails, that lacrosse promoters are doubtful of making the impression which they have been trying for these last two years. Dr. Sutton, president of the Lacrosse Club, is particularly interested in a school lacrosse league which he has advocated and is actually preparing for, but he too recognizes the firm hold which baseball has on the playtime sport of the school boys.

Without wishing to discourage baseball or to suggest anything that might tend to weaken the school leagues, it may be pointed out that after all only a dozen or so boys actually play on each baseball team. The rest decorate the rooters' ranks on the side lines. Probably there are some physical advantages to these young spectators from the exercise of "yelling their heads off" but it usually follows that the boy who isn't actively engaged in sports during his school age simply graduates to the grandstand and the bleachers during his later "teenage" and young manhood. Once a spectator always a spectator.

Those who are interested in the physical development of school boys should be the first to recognize the necessity of getting more of them into the games, and fewer strung along the side lines. This is the ideal of the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association, and the public generally realizes that during the past winter more of the younger boys and girls than ever were given a chance to play hockey in the leagues supervised by Mr. Walter Smaill.

It may therefore be proposed to public schools that the concentration of interest on baseball to the the principals and assistants of the exclusion of lacrosse and football, for example, is actually depriving many of the boys from learning and becoming adept at either of these other games Let the baseball league keep on functioning as in the past and sharpening the school spirit and the inter-school friendly rivalry, but at the same time some serious consideration should be given to these other sports.

This is the argumnet that appeals to the Lacrosse Club executive. Why not encourage the boys who fail to make the baseball teams to form a football and lacrosse teams? Both of these games will provide the very best of exercise for the youngsters and will also have as great, if not greater, effect in the formation of character The traditional influence of the Eton cricket grounds upon the English nation might be aptly invoked in this appeal for a more comprehensive system of athletics in our own public schools.

The principals of the schools may feel assured of the support of the Football and Lacrosse clubs in the event of these games being generally introduced. Alex Dick recently expressed the desire to provide a football and to coach a team of soccer novices if the opportunity was afforded him, and doubtless other foot ball players would be glad to teach the game to the boys. The same applies to lacrosse, and when Dr Sutton and his associates are trying and with a large measure of success, to revive this splendid game it is to be hoped that they will be given more co-operation than was evidenced last Spring.

Two Star Tiger Recruits

JOHNSON AND PILLETTE.

The Detroit club feels that in Johnson and Pillette the Tigers have picked up the two most promising pitching recruits of the year.

Despite the fact that the two "rookies" cost Owner Navin $40,000 in real money and several players he feels that the transaction will prove worth while.

Both are right handers. Of the two Johnson has made the better showing so far. He had practically earned his place as a regular.

An injury which, it is believed, broke a couple of small bones in his wrist will probably set him back at least a month in his work.

DODGERS HAVE GOOD DEFENCE.

Brooklyn Club Is Well Fortified With Excellent Substitutes.

The strength of a ball club is rated by the ability of its substitutes to deliver when called on.

The Brooklyn club appears to be well fortified this year in every position. Last year the Dodgers were sadly lacking in this respect.

Robbie has secured enough good infield talent to make a shift he has been trying to accomplish for five years.

That is placing Ivy Olson at second where the old war horse will have less territory to cover and a shorter throw, leaving the short-stopping for a younger and faster man.

Sam Crane, bought from the Reds for $7,500, looks to have the inside grip on the job, but he is being hard-pressed by the rejuvenated Chuck Ward.

Jimy Johnston, .320 hiter, and the club's best base runner last year, will start at third, but if he falters in fielding, Andy High, the fast little recruit from Memphis, is there to jump him.

Robbie is sweet on High, who has been going great guns in the practice and makes an ideal leadoff man. If High crowds Johnston, the latter is slated to be Olson's understudy at second, and may yet be the regular keystone guardian should Ivy falter.

Even Ray Schmandt, the regular first sacker, has a rival in Sam Post, who was farmed out at a pitcher last spring and returned a promising first baseman.

Post is a left-handed thrower and has ben compared to Jake Daubert when that star broke in with the Dodgers. Sam hits them hard and far. In the offing is Hal Janvrin, who is being touted as the best all-round utility man extant.

CAT JUMPED INTO THE NIAGARA RIVER

NIAGARA FALLS, April 7. —(Canadian Press). —A pet cat of Immigration officials jumped 150 feet into the gorge Wednesday night when chased by dog, and turned up yesterday a little ruffled of fur but otherwise little worse for adventure.

INSIDE STUFF

WHAT BILLY EVANS SAYS

Coach Has a Brand New Idea For Football — A Good Shortstop.

In his day there were no better shortstops than Owen Bush.

The season of 1921 was a tough one for the diminutive infielder. Detroit tried to waive him out of the league. Claimed by Washington, he had trouble hitting his stride.

A number of times during the season after he had struck out or played badly he would complain to me about his vision.

It seems that Bush had the right dope. Recently he consulted an eye specialist in Indianapolis, who advised a operation.

According to the specialist the tear duct had become clogged, was not functioning properly, and was seriously hindering Bush's vision.

The operation was a success, but subsequently contracted a cold which settled in the optic. The operation was performed just prior to the start of the training trip. He is still under a doctor's care.

As a result Bush did not go south with the team. He is confident, however, that regardless of his late start he will play a much improved game the coming season.

It is Manager's Milan's intention to use Bush as an understudy to Stanley Harris at second.

ILLINOIS COACH HAS BRAND NEW IDEA FOR FOOTBALL

Coach Zuppke of University of Illinois football team is an original cuss.

The Illinois mentor has added Dr Coleman R. Griffith an associate professor in phychology at the university, to the faculty advisory board on athletics.

For years athletic teams at University of Illinois have worn dark blue jerseys. It is with dress of the athletes Zuppke desires to experiment.

Last season when Illinois met Ohio State in the final game of the season the eleven had not won a game, in fact had not scored a touchdown against a Western Conference eleven.

When the Illinois team trotted on the field the spectators first gasped then laughed.

Instead of the usual blue jersey and regulation headgear of black tan leather the Illinois athletes from the waist line up were a conglomeration of bright yellow and black.

You could have seen them a mile away. Evidently that was what Zuppke wanted. Illinois won that game, upset the dope and kept Ohio State from winning another Big Ten championship.

Illinois made a spectacular forward pass in that game that decided the issue. Zuppke believes the bright yellow color that adorned the headgear and jersey was largely responsible for the success of the winning team.

This fall Zuppke is going even further. This fall the headgears and jersey will be a blending of orange, canary yellow and white.

The change is ordered by the simple physiological fact that, in looking from the corner of the eye it has been proved that only certain colors are visible.

Thus the football star in picking man for a pass will be greatly aided by the rainbowlike dress of his teammates.

JOE HARRIS IS SLOW YET NEVER MISSES SIGNS.

Joe Harris formerly of Cleveland Indians, who is doing acomeback with the Boston Red Sox, enjoys a joke even if it is at his own expense.

Slowness of foot kept Harris from being rated a real star. Always a good fielder and a great hitter, Joe's "dogs" as he always referred to his pair of bad feet, kept him from achieving greater heights on ball field.

Flatfootedness at one time threatened to end Joe's career. A couple of years spent in the army greatly improved his physical condition.

The Boston Red Sox, who trained at Hot Springs this year, have proved they can hit There isn't much speed on the club. In commenting in this feature, the lack of speed Harris has always been the target for the rest of the team.

"When Joe gets on, and he is on most of the time, the bases are clogged" is the way the Red Sox put it. "No wonder they call us slow."

Recently, in returning to the hotel after one of the exhibition games Harris, in the lead, noticed a sign reading:

"Slow moving traffic keep to the right." Joe figured this was his chance to even up.

"This way fellows", yelled Harris, as he served off to the right on the new course "the folks down this way know all about the Red Sox".

Approximately one-third of the 1,500,000 homes destroyed in Poland during the war have been re-built.

EXCEEDED RECORD

DAYTON BEACH, Fla., April 7. —Driving his specialy constructed motor car at 180.27 miles an hour, Sig Haugdahl, of Norway, yesterday negotiated a mile on the local beach in 19.97 seconds. The trial was conducted under the auspices of the International Motor Contest Ass'n and was electrically timed.

The world's record as sanctioned by the American Automobile Association is held by Tommy Milton at 23.27.

Haugdahl yesterday exceeded records held by Milton for the kilometer, five-mile and ten-mile straightaway courses.

DOG RACING IS LATEST THRILL

Canines Give Chase to Electric Rabbit — The Initial Venture.

MIAMI, Fla., April 7. — Man's new winter sport—dog racing—has "taken."

Blase notherners, used to about every sensation in the sport world, have found a new thrill in watching long, lithe, swift greyhounds racing just like horses do.

The opening of the track of the Miami Kennel Club drew a crowd of more than 6,000, and they like it.

New York sportsmen who have seen the races here, are seeking a track for that state and next year it is the intention of the men who build the local track to fulfil their request. Havana, also, has bid for one. They hope, in the course of a few seasons, to establish a circuit through the east.

The common question is, how do they make dogs run without live rabbits. O. P. Smith, one of the promoters, solved this question and made possible the sport by the invention of a device to carry a mechanical rabbit.

On the outer rim of the track is a miniature electric trolley from which a long arm extends and on the end of this arm is a stuffed rabbit. This trolley is controlled by a man in a tower.

In all, there are about 200 dogs now racing at the Miami track. The track is much like a horse racing track, having its grandstand, paddocks, and is a quarter-mile track.

Before each race the six dogs entered in it are displayed in the paddock. Then they are led to the track where cages await them at the various starting points, according to the length of the race, which varies with the different events.

The dogs ar put in the six compartments in the cage and the electric

As it speeds by the first time the dogs become frantic and rear about, mad to go after it. On its second trip, when it is about 30 yards ahead of the cage, the dogs are freed by the lifting of the door in front of the cage ard they lunge after the elusive bunny.

At the end of the race the rabbit disappears into a chute and the hounds are recaptured, feeling cheap, by their attendants.

SEVENTEEN KILLED NEAR JERUSALEM.

LONDON, April 7.—(Canadian Press).—Seventeen persons were killed during a faction fight between two Arab villages near Hebron, Palestine, says a Jerusalem despatch yesterday to the London Times. The despatch said it was understood the disturbance had no connection with the dispute between the Arabs and Zionists.

Four small islands in the south seas were recently offered for sale in London.

OFFICERS OF BALL CLUB MAY RETIRE IN A BODY TONIGHT

And Will Abandon Franchise to Any Persons Who Wish to Take It Up —Rose and Murray Reported Gone to Leaside

GENERAL DISSOLUTION

Wholesale resignations from the Peterborough Baseball Club will be handed in at to-night's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, according to some of those who have been trying to re-organize the local Central Ontario League team. It is even stated that the franchise of the league will be abandoned and "that any one who wants it can have it."

The officers of the ball club are quitting cold and in disgust, and are reported to have plans of taking hold of some of the junior teams. The gossip preceding to-night's meeting leaves the impression that although Peterborough may still be represented in the Central Ontario League there won't be many regulars in the line-up. It is admittedly possible that the P.A.A.A. will accept the local franchise and assume control and management of the team.

The defections forthcoming to-night are said to include the president, F. D. Craig, the secretary, Horace Walkey, Jake Solomon, Ald. Phelan and others who have been actively identified with the game, especially the veteran catcher Max Swanston.

In addition it is reported that Mickey Murray and Lornie Rose have gone to Leaside to work and incidentally to try out with the new Leaside entry in the Central Ontario League.

There may eb a change of heart before or during to-night's meeting, but prominent members of the ball club declare that they are through, and that critics of the club can step up and run the ball show themselves.

Lacrosse

George Mein's "Athletic" hold their organization meeting tonight. The Strathconas make their start on Saturday night and the South End team on Monday night. How about the Ashburnham squad? They should fall in line promptly in this organization business.

George Mein is angling to get Arnold Hatton as another assistant for his bunch of beginners. Todd, Mein, Simmons and Hatton, with Keith Mein of last year's juniors would make a nifty nucleus for the Athletics.

Johnnie Ward feels sure that Fred Doughty, Ed. Manning and some of the other northenders will be indentified with the Strathconas.

It's all very well to join the Kiwanis or the Rotarians and to be filled with their spirit of helping the under-privileged boys, but some of these youthful adults would be well repaid by taking a real interest in one or other of the city lacrosse teams. Those who have played the game can testify from their own experience that it will make manly men if any game will. The late Sir Sam Hughes was a brilliant product of the lacrosse field. If the doughty Sir Sam handed out bumps in his day he knew how to take them too.

By the way Lou LeBarr has been one of the most faithful promoters of the revival of the game in Peterboro. It transpired a short time ago that owing to an oversight and misunderstanding the balance of the cost of some of the junior sticks was not wiped out when the old executive was going down into their dips to equate the ledger. Mr. LeBarr has not been paid that not too large account yet, and he also has a bunch of sticks that he bought by request in anticipation of activities in school and juvenile leagues last year. These sticks cost $3 each, but Mr LeBarr recently stated that he would hand them out around $2.50.

LEAVES FOR THE MISSION FIELD

The Interdenominational Bible Class, of which Rev. Mr. Doner is teacher, were entertained last night at the home of Mr. James Dutton, president of the class, in honor of Mrs. Cuthbertson, who leaves next week to join her husband, a missionary in Japan. After a pleasant social hour, a presentation of a well-filled purse was made to Mrs. Cuthbertson by Mr. Doner, who, in a few appropriate words, expressed the regret of the class in losing a faithful member. Mrs. Cuthebertson replied in grateful terms, expressing the appreciation both of herself and her husband of the work of the class. After an enjoyable service of refreshments, farewell and Godspeed to the returning missionary concluded a pleasant a pleasant evening.

More earthquakes occur in Italy and Japan than in all other countries combined.

SHOOTING DUCKS ON THE OTONABEE

Reports of Infractions of Game Laws Reach the Local Association.

Members of the Peterborough Hunters' Fish and Game Protective Association have been informed that some persons have been shooting wild ducks in some of the bays of the Otonabee river between the city and Rice Lake. Ducks are plentiful in this district just now and are feeding during their temporary stay before resuming their northward flights. An effort is being made to apprehend any breakers of the game laws, and these reports from farmers along the river have been gratefully received by the members of the Protective Association.

TONIGHT'S BASEBALL MEETING IMPORTANT

In the interests of baseball, it is hoped that there will be a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Central Ontario League Club in the Chamber of Commerce at 7.30 o'clock to-night. Upon this meeting depends whether or not Peterborough is to be represented in the Central loop this year, and every friend of baseball is asked to be present.

OPENS AGENCY FOR BASEBALL PLAYERS.

Workless Ball Players Can Sign Up.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7. — (Canadian Press).—An employment agency for baseball players is the latest. A player from the Michigan-Ontario League who lives in Rochester has formed the bureau, and intends to keep it in operation until he leaves to join the Kitchener, Ont., club. His plan is to farm the players out to various small cities and villages.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The Owls will practice at the Exhibition Grounds (East End) tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. All players are requested to turn out.

The Owls' first League game will be played on Good Friday, when they meet the Woollens.

TORONTO GARRETS HOPE TO WIN FROM THE PETES

But the Local Basketball Team Have Advantages

The Garrets of Toronto, who play here on Saturday, won the junior O.A.B.A. championship, but when they entered in the Intermediate series this year they were not looked upon as serious contenders. But now that they have defeated the fast West End Y, Central Y, and the Orillia teams, basketball fans in Toronto, are looking forward to them winning the cup. They play a very fast game with good combination, but are not very heavy, their average weight being about 145 pounds. They have an advantage of course in having played together for a number of years, and their winning team of last year is practically intact. Peterboro, however, will have the advantage of not only playing on their own floor but also the smaller floor space will help them. The Petes have been practising strenuously for the game, and are working into smooth combination.

In the first half of the game in Toronto they were not able to get together in the game and as a result the Garretts piled up a good lead, but in the second half, the Petes got their combination working and not only outplayed the Garretts, but also outscored them, and managed to cut a number of points off their lead. A fast preliminary game is being arranged between the Intermediate and Senior Y.W.C.A. teams, so that those who are going to the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night will not only see a good men's game, but will also see the two best ladies' teams of the city in action. Reserved seats are now on sale at

Can. Gen. Elec. Take Three Straight From De Laval.

Lasn night at Water street bowling alley the C.G.E. team had all their pitchers in fine shape, striking out nearly every other time. Capt. Craig says he is not going to worry much this year over his pitching staff after

Last night at Water street bowling aggregation had too many bench warmers at the start of the season, but expect to do some weeding out before the final clash. The most promising pitcher of De Laval was our old hockey friend, J. Murray, who came in with 575. McLeish was dark horse of C.G.E., who has been predicted to make a good season of it this year. Last night's showing ranked him among the best with 631. The reason some of the pitchers did not do so well was that they were trying too many curves, which is bad for any good arm. The bleachers had some good fans who were having a practice also trying out a few new yells. By that you can see that they need the practice also.

Following are the results:

THINK IN SOCIAL SWIM OF NATIONS.

Russia Delighted Over Invitation to the Genoa Conference.

MOSCOW, April 5. (Associated Press) A little girl who had been snubbed by all her neighbors for years and then suddenly received an invitation to a party at the home of the rich little girl on the hill could hardly display more excitement than the Russian Bolshevist government has over its invitation to the Genoa conference.

They now feel they are in the social swim of nations, and thus entitled to make faces at former representatives of former Russian regimes who refused to play with them.

Unless, for reasons of policy, which do not at present seem likely to be invoked, the Soviet delegation to Genoa should decide to appear there in the garb of the proletariat, the Bolshevist representatives will be sartorially as immaculate as any others attending the conference. They are going to be well dressed at their first party.

DOUKHOBORS' PLAN TO ATTRACT GOVT. ATTENTION.

CALGARY, Alta., April 7.—(Canadian Press).—The declaration that the children of the Doukhobors along with the aged members of the community should be destroyed in order to alleviate the sufferings of the colony, was made purely with the idea of bringing their plight to the attention of the British Columbia Government, Peter Veregin, leader of the Doukhobors, who issued the declaration, declared to a representative of a local paper recently. Never for a moment was his remarks meant to be taken seriously, although several women of the colony expressed a willingness to follow the suggestion which the Doukhobor chieftain made.

The publicity given his declaration, Mr. Veregin declares, has resulted in the British Columbia Government showing a willingness to help. At Nelson a short time ago, Premier Oliver promised to advance a loan of $50,000 to the colony, while the members will hereafter be given credit against their taxes for all road work. This offer has met with every demand which the Doukhobor leader made.

Mr. Veregin said the Doukhobors had no intention of migrating from Canada.

WEEDS, INSECTS, DUST. WORST ENEMIES OF CROPS

WINNIPEG, Man., April 7. (Canadian Press.) — Weeds, insects and rust do $32,000,000 worth of damage to the Manitoba crops annually according to the soil survey report prepared by Prof. John Bracken of the Agricultural College, at the request of the Provincial Government. Stem rust has caused an average annual loss of more than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat in the province each year since 1916, the report states, and at a conservative estimate the lowered production through insect depredations amounts to $7,000,000 a year while in 1921 alone the western wheat stem saw fly reduced the yield of wheat in Manitoba alone by 3,555,000 bushels

Great stress is laid on the need for more diversified farming, as the report explains farmers cannot hope to continually raise products from the same soil when soil energy is extracted every crop. The fact also is emphasized that western Canada produces more wheat per capita than any other part of the world.

FOUND DEAD TO-DAY.

CONCORDIA, Kansas, April 7. — (Canadian Press.) — L. Tremblay, a farmer of St. Joseph, five of whose sons were hacked with an axe on Tuesday, was found dead early today.

FATHER O'LEARY IS ILL.

OTTAWA, April 7. (Canadian Press. — Lieut.-Col. Rev. Father P. M. O'Leary, the widely known Catholic chaplain, who served with the Canadians in South Africa and in the great war, is seriously ill here.

LONDON, April 7. — (Cable.)—Hon. James Dooley, Premier of New South Wales, is expected to resign immediately as the result of the defeat of Labor in the recent elections, according to Sydney despatch. It is expected that Sir Geo. Fuller will be commissioned to form a ministry.

SOLDIERS TRADED GOODS FOR LIQUOR.

Bootleggers Said to Have Got Army Supplies by Truck Loads.

NEW YORK, April 7. — Bootleggers at Camp Dix, N.J., have been in a plot to plunder the military reservation which already has cost the Government between $100,000 and $200,000 in looted army equipment.

New Jersey State police are credited by the military authorities with having unearthed wholesale thievery which has continued over a long period. A half-dozen arrests have been made, and a total of fifty is expected. The army now is cooperating in the investigation, which is expected to involve no officers.

Clothing, blankets, pistols, saddles, automobile accessories, cameras, and other equipment have been carted out of the Wrightston Camp. The stuff was sold to army stores and to private individuals in New York, Philadelphia, Trenton, Norristown, Paterson, Mount Holly, New Egypt, and even at the camp's gateway in Wrightston itself. About half the stolen goods have been recovered.

Thus far no receiver has been arrested. Many of those who bought equipment—sold by the looters at any price they could command for a quick turnover—are aiding the authorities in running to cover the bootleggers and thieves

Traded Supplies for Whisky.

Whisky was the commodity bartered by the robbers in exchange for costly Government equipment. As their uninterrupted operations progressed they grew so bold they drove whole truck loads of "hootch" into untenanted parts of the camp, swapped it for their coveted booty, and drove away with Government stores heaped high in their trucks.

Bootleg liquor served the conspirators in another way. Sometimes they gave it to sentries. Men charged with guarding the camp, under stringent military regulations which make it a crime to falter in vigilance, would drink ban whisky and become stupefied on their posts. Then the thieves would run their plunder past the liquor-drugged sentries.

Serious as are the charges against those already under arrest and many others who are sought, an even more sinister development may come from the investigation.

Camp Dix has been swept again and again by fires that have razed much of the once thriving wartime post. Civil investigators suspect that some of these fires, if not all of them, were set by the bootleggers to cover their trails. Charges of arson may be made before the inquiry is ended. County Prosecutor J. H. Kelsey is concerning himself particularly with this phase of the investigation.

Former soldiers familiar with the lay-out of the big cantonment are believed to have been the ringleaders. The only help they got within, in the opinion of both civil and military authorities, came from dupes in the ranks who sold their co-operation in exchange for bad liquor.

Others were guilty only to the extent of allowing gifts of contraband to be forced upon them and of becoming unwitting aids in the conspiracy by incapacitating themselves.

Her pain and suffering past,
And all her work on earth is done
She is numbered with the blest.

To earth for pain or care,
We know that she is happy now

And when our work is done on earth
We'll meet in heaven above.

AIR CRAFT'S LONG FLIGHT ACROSS SEA

START AT LISBON

(Copyright 1922 by United Press.)

PORTO PRAI, Sanitiago, Cape Verde Islands, April 8.—The thrilling story of their long flight through clouds and fog, at over ninety miles an hour, which they hope to continue until they have crossed the Atlantic and landed in Brazil, was told for the first time by the Portuguese flyers in an interview with the United Press.

Captain Coutinho, an aged weather-beaten pilot, with long experience both at sea and in the air, was reticent to talk of the flights which have brought them to St. Vincent, in this little island group, from far off Portugal. "Wait until we have completed our flight," was the attitude both of he and Captain Sacadura towards interviews.

Across the Atlantic.

Nevertheless, in the little cabin of the cruiser "Republic," which brought them here from St. Vincent to inspect this port as a possible starting place for the third and most perilous leg of their journey— the real "hop" of more than 1,390 miles across the Atlantic to islands just off the South American coast—Captain Coutinho consented to tell of their flights from the Island of Grand Canaria.

"We left the Bay of Ghando (Portuguese for Cando Bay) about half past seven Wednesday morning," Coutinho said. "After tacking some distance we rose into the wind, which was blowing a mild gale of about 25 or 30 knots an hour.

"For over half the distance of our long flight we were buffeted by this gale. Then the wind fell, shifted to the north-west, and was lightest for the rest of the journey.

Their First Leg.

"Our first journey, from Lisbon to the Canaries, had taught us the difficulties of the flight, but immediately starting on this second leg we encountered most unexpected trouble.

"The terrific vibrations of our engine affected the compass so it was useless, Captain Sacadura had to get his bearings entirely by sun and wind.

"Over the sea heading south and west for the Cape Verde Islands, we flew, sometimes at an altitude of 400 metres (about 1,300 feet), sometimes reaching up higher to ride above flying clouds in an overcast sky.

Only Saw One Steamer.

"We were entirely alone. Only one steamer did I see on the whole journey and that was but a smudge of smoke on the grey sea far off to the southward. We had food with us, but were too busy with our machine and with anxiety to keep our proper bearings to bother with it.

'About 400 miles out from the Bay of Ghando we first sighted land. We pounded each other and motioned. Our second leg of the flight had been a success. It was St. Nicalau Island, 50 miles away. Then we sighted Stantao and at last our objective, the larger island of St. Vincent.

A Good Landing.

"I took many obesrvations and we made a good landing. Our speed at first had been over ninety miles an hour, but we slowed to seventy as we drew near land.

"We go to Santiago to study the advisability of starting off from there for Brazil. We could fly there and save ninety miles on the long flight."

MISSION CIRCLE CONCERT SUCCESS

Varied and Interesting Program at St. James' Church.

A very enjoyable concert was held in the Sunday School Room of St. James' Church last evening, under the auspices of the Mission Circle of the church. Mrs. Katharine A. Powell, of Napanee, was the feature performer of the evening, and delighted her audience with a programme of various readings, including a selection from Shakespeare and a number of humorous numbers, all of which were received with applause.

An excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music was rendered by solos from Miss T. Pearson, Mr. B. Cutmore, Mr. Leslie Unitt and a pleasing violin and bass duet by Messrs. Fred. and Martin Chenhall. The De Laval orchestra also gave several well-received selections.

Rev. J. F. Chapman acted as chairman for the evening, and Rev. G. E. Ross led in prayer. At the conclusion of the entertainment, supper was served to those taking part by the young ladies of the Mission Circle.

VETERANS TO RETURN AND RE-ORGANIZE

Open Meeting of the Peterboro Veterans Held Last Evening—The Discussion.

DEFENDED G.W.V.A.

For nearly three hours, in the G.W.V.A. Hall last night, returned soldiers talked about developing a strong veterans' organisation, and finally came to the conclusion that the G.W.V.A., the first and strongest in the field, deserved their support, and if it needs reforming as they allege it does, they are prepared to act.

A standing vote at the close of the meeting indicated that 32 men who had never joined or had dropped out, were ready to sign up. The outcome seemed to satisfy everyone, and the action taken was eminently pleasing to G.W.V.A. officials, who gave a good account of their administration when they had to.

On account of the heavy rain, the attendance was not large. It was evident that most of those on hand represented the body that two weeks ago passed a lack of confidence motion in the G.W.V.A. Actual members of the Association were in a minority.

The meeting opened in an orderly way, and the proceedings were most harmonious throughout.

Harold Burrows was appointed chairman, and B. Hartshorn secretary. Mr. Burrows started the meeting off with an address.

He said the meeting had been called to settle the differences among the returned soldiers of this city. He believed that the G.W.V.A. could be run better than it was. "There is no getting away from the fact," he said, "that the G.W.V.A. is losing its members in large numbers. I don't think they have more than one hundred. I think the fees of 50 cents a month, or $6.00 a year, should be reduced." The presiding officer also declaimed upon the remuneration of the secretary being too high, and found fault with the members for not turning out to church parades and decoration ceremonies.

Objectionable Sign.

After his criticisms had been allowed to sink in, he suggested that the fee should only be $2.00 a year, that all the merchandise in the canteen be sold at cost, that a library and writing room be maintained, that the much-complained-of sign, "Members Only," be taken down, and another, inviting all returned men in, posted, and that all returned men have the privilege to attend the open meetings of the G.W.V.A.

"I believe we have some of the finest rooms in the Dominion, and the best returned men. I think it might create friction to go into all the details. I would like to see an association that a returned man could come into any time," declared Col. T. J. Johnston. He suggested giving two or three months' free membership, and he felt that if increased in size, a wider policy could be adopted.

"I'm glad to see this open meeting," a G.W.V.A. supporter said. "I've fought for this thing all along, even to having it in the Market Square. Remember, comrades, we have the support of the people of Peterborough. The reason we haven't made this a great organisation is our own fault. If we do our part, the public will do theirs. If you make an association, make it on good, strong principles."

This speaker criticised the Association for its apathy in regard to sports. "I played ball overseas, but I've never had a chance here," he said. "The G.W.V.A. does a lot of work the public know nothing about. A man came in to the secretary the other day. He had just been discharged from hospital, and didn't have a cent. Mr. Whatley got the wires hot to Ottawa, and yesterday I brought up a telegram saying the man's cheque was on the way. You don't hear much about those things."

Letter Read.

Volunteer speakers fell off at this point, and while they were collecting their thoughts, a letter was read from C. R. Widdifield, in which he dwelt upon the importance of a strong soldiers' organisation. He regretted that through absence from the city he was unable to attend.

"Reach every man who is not a member to-night to sign his name," counselled the next speaker, an ex-captain. "The reason this organisation has been going down is ourselves. I'm one of them," he said frankly. "I'm not going to distate to the G.W.V.A., as I am not a member."

"I was a member of the G.W.V.A. for about two and one-half years. It looked too much as if there was a clique. I mean by that, that a comrade moved a resolution that only

R.J.C. Stead, Well-Known Canadian Author to Address the Rotary Club

At the Rotary Club luncheon on Monday the speaker will be Rotarian Robert J. C. Stead, of Ottawa, the well-known Canadian author, whose books, "Dennison Grant," "The Cow Puncher," "The Homsteader," and "Kitchener and Other Poems" have been among the best sellers in the Dominion. The title of his address will be "Literature and National Identity," a subject in which Mr. Stead can speak with authority. In addition to being among the foremost Canadian authors, he is a speaker of ability, and what he has to say on his subject is not only deeply interesting, but constructive and inspiring. Mr. Stead has a new book coming out next autumn under the title of "Neighbors," which will, like all his books, have an all-Canadian setting and be an all-Canadian production.

Another object of his visit to Peterborough is to address the local committee of the "Save the Children Fund" Russian Famine Relief, for which he is a voluntary worker.

His Worship Mayor W. H. Taylor, having signified his willingness to act as chairman of the local committee, has called a meeting of prominent citizens for Monday evening next, April 10, at 8 o'clock, which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms.

Where Wild Fowl Rest For Food

Flocks of Ducks on the Open Trent Instinctively Wait Till Lakes Open.

While the quiet upper lakes and bays are still ice-bound from shore to shore, like our own Chemong Lake, on which the Indians from the reserve come and go as securely as in mid-winter, the long reach of the Trent River above the G. T. R. bridge at Hastings, extends a flowing haspitality to the first flocks of wild ducks that came this way in the great migration from the south. There are open stretches of water, whose swifter currents defy the coldest winter. Here a few of the hardiest water-fowl hibernated, apparently as content as the bear and the rest of the seven sleepers in hollow trees or dugouts beneath rock piles and brush. Some of them are lingering in the first days of spring, and perhaps may remain the year round, but they were only a few families compared with the numerous flocks that have arrived during the past week.

Just where the G. T. R. tangents from the Trent, about a mile or so east of Birdsall's and parallels the river to the bridge, these transient ducks have been busily feeding along the weedy shores after their long flight from the marshes of the tropics. Hundreds and hundreds of them in close array extend along the river in thin serried lines or group in compact flocks, whose numbers inspire the happy thought of their preservation in spite of losses to the gunmen who hunt them up and down the continent.

If you have never seen an innumerable flock of ducks rise together from the water as though responding to a signal, and leave a splashing trail in their taking off while continuing their flight so close to the surface that their wings seem to flick it with their tips, you have a genuine thrill in store, that is, if nature appeals to you, and deep calls unto deep.

The window of your coach becomes a magic casement looking out upon scenic beauty that seems unreal, the blue winding river shimmering in the April sunlight, the red-winged blackbirds swaying on slender marsh reeds, the faded brown bull rushes, the thin fringe of the winter's ice that still endures in the bays and inlets, and the water-fowl skimming off up the river and into the sun. The lure of the open seizes you, the call of the great an illusory pleasure, something that would soon pall and grow monotonous and utterly dull, but it suggests a long summer on lake and river with variety and romance behind every bend and in the wider spaces that vaguely loom far upstream. And it is here near home, real enough, not a bit of scenic grandeur in some remote country. But it was deserted by man except for the lone nondescript paddler, and further along those flocks of wildfowl, blue water and sky, and the warm sparkling sunlight.

And then you are whisked away from this glimpse of dreamland, away from the inviting water and its promise of refreshing light and air and vigorous health. It may be only outdoors in one of the finest stretches of river anywhere on earth. Not a sign of man breaks into the vista between the gently sinuous banks for miles, except the summer cottages boarded up and deserted. Further down a canoe pushes around a bend, hugging the shore, its dark kneeling figure apparently tending his traps set out for muskrats.

WRESTLING AND BOXING TITLES

Dates have been set for the city boxing and wrestling championships, and these competitions will be held on Monday and Tuesday, April 24th and 25th, at the Grand Opera House. A scale of popular prices will prevail. Entries will be received by Walter Smaill up to Tuesday, April 18th, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Prem. Ernest Drury Praises Presidents

CHICAGO, Ill., April 8. — (Canadian Press).—Addressing a mass meting here last night, held as a climax of Canada-United States week, Premier Ernest Drury of Ontario declared that hope for continued peace between the two countries lay in education which would develop the same type of intelligent of fair-minded citizens who have guided the destinies of the two countries in the past. He praised former President Wilson for his "ideal which may yet work out," and President Harding for his practical plan which he declared had worked.

Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania declared that Canadians and Americans had demonstrated that friendliness, good government and mutual understanding are infinitely better than fortifications for any nation than cannon and poison gas. Friendship and goodwill were promoted by the former, while the latter engenders suspicion and often hatred.

LIQUOR SHIPMENT SENT TO TORONTO

A consignment of one thousand dollars worth of liquor, the result of several seizures by the police recently, was shipped to the Department at Toronto to-day. This forenoon the Police Chief and Inspector James Reid had a busy time packing the three barrels in which the wet goods were sent. The barrels were clean, fresh ones, and marked in black paint: "Handle With Care—Liquor."

"We've never had a bottle broken" Inspector Reid declared.

"Don't you insure that stuff?" The Examiner asked.

"No. Once it's off our hands that's their business," Chief Newhall said.

According to the Chief, packing the quart bottles of G. and W. is a prosaic task, but doubtless a good many folks around town would have shed tears had they had the job. It would have been a pleasure merely to be allowed to fondle the long-necked bottles.

THE WEATHER

"April showers bring forth May flowers." So reads an old proverb. We had some brisk April showers last evening, to the accompaniment of thunder and lightning, and some more weather of the same variety seems to be due. Yesterday was the first day the thermometer went to over 60 degrees. The swallows are already here, and some of the other species of summer birds are making their appearance.—W. P.

THE BUREAU PLACING MEN ON THE LAND

Some of the Local Men Are Not Anxious to Go on Farms—The Unemployment Situation.

GOOD PROSPECTS.

Several snug billets, in some cases suitable for two are on file at the Ontario Employment Bureau, Charlotte street, but there has not been such a great rush on the part of the unemployed to snap them up as a place in Lindsay that should be acceptable to a married couple looking for a happy home. A man who is handy around a house and a wife who is a good cook are being sought for service at a well-established home, Mr. Robertson was advised to offer $50 a month with everything found.

This is only one place. There are quite a few listed, especially places in the country, many in Western Ontario. Mr. Robertson stated today that he had placed quite a number of men on farms in this district but had not sent any out of town. Men do not want to go far away, he said. Wages being offered run from $20 to $40 a month and there are good places open in different sections yet he said.

Men Optimistic

The week has brought about no great improvement in local industrial conditions, Mr. Robertson said but there is an enthusiasm on all sides that is encouraging. Among all classes there is a feeling that things are improving and those who have been workless for months are hopeful that they will obtain work soon. There is every prospect of a considerable amount of building and manufacturing is showing a steady improvement.

The demand for iron workers, carpenters and unskilled labour is practically negligible Mr. Robertso stated and only mechanics in industries foreign to Peterboro seem to be wanted in other parts of the Province. For instance cotton spinners are being advertised for in Walkerville but the Canadian Wool lens company here cannot get enough cotton spinners themselves and have had to bring in men.

It is difficult to place all the men there is not so much trouble finding work for girls and women. The female employment in local factories is about 100 per cent. according to Mr. Robertson. Applications from all parts of the province record a dearth of cooks and domestics. Summer hotels are beginning to cast around for help and Muskoka hotels are offering $35 a month, to inexperienced help. Steady work during the summer is assured. Despite the wages, prospect of generous tips, and the general attractiveness of life at the lakes the appeal made so far has aroused but little interest among the fair sex.

LOCAL BUILDING PROSPECTS GOOD

Encouraging Amount of Construction Under Way.

While an actual building boom is not yet under way an encouraging amount of building is going on compared to last year. During the first week in April building permits totalling in value $3,330 were issued at the city hall. In the same period, 1921, building to the amount of only $1,310 was started. April has started off better than March and the large number of contracts hanging fire that will go through before the month is over will make a record one. Permits issued so far are:

Mrs. Edmunds, 191 Sherbrooke street, garage, $200.

Mrs. Josepn Finley, 26 Centre street, alterations, $350.

W. G. Maitland, 597 Bethune street, garage, $30.

T. H. Hooper, alterations, 92 London street, $500.

World's Biggest Radio Depot at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 8. (Special) —The amalgamated Wireless Company, of Sydney, Australia, is arranging for the incorporation of a company in Canada, under whose charter it will erect a great sending station at Vancouver, for its Australian news and commercial service. This announcement was made yesterday following completion of a contract with the Government of the commonwealth of Australia for the erection of a great receiving station at Sydney. It will take two years to put up the greatest wireless depot ever designed. A space containing seven hundred acres on a high hill will virtually be enclosed by wires erected on towers 800 feet above the ground. This will receive messages from Britain, from a station already in existence, and from another station to be erected at Vancouver to handle the Canadian and American end of the vast business which it is expected will be done. It is intended to be ready to start work on the Vancouver project within a year," so that this wireles service will be in operation, if all goes well by the end of 1925.

ADDRESS ON THE POETRY G. D. ROBERTS

BRILLIANT STUDENT.

Mr. Thos. G. Marquis of Toronto, himself an author and lecturer of distinction, a writer on historical subjects, and an interested member of the compilers of the "Makers of the Dominion" series, addressed a small attendance at the Women's Canadian Club in the Public Library yesterday afternoon on "The Poetry of Charles G. D. Roberts."

Mr. Marquis' address was a scholarly appreciation of the works of one of the greatest of Canada's poets, with a short review of his life and works. "The year 1880 marks the beginning of Canada's Renaissance", said the speaker, referring to the publication of the first volume of Roberts' poems, at the age of twenty, entitled "Orion and Other Poems". Roberts was characterized as a brilliant student a lover of outdoor sports and a close student of nature. His first work was an absolute departure from previous poetic attempts in Canada, and showed something of the atmosphere of Shelley, Keats and Tennyson, with a touch of the Swinburne influence. Born in Douglas N. B. in 1860, he took charge of a grammar school in Chatham, N.B., at the age of nineteen, removing to Toronto some years later, where his second volume of poems was published; "In Divers Tones".

LARGE VOTE WAS POLLED FOR BY-LAW

The Result Left No Doubt as to the Wish of the Ratepayers-Start Grading Site.

HOW VOTE WENT

Although a small vote was polled yesterday on the Western Clock by-law, giving a fixed assessment of $20,000 to this company on their new plant to be erected on Hunter Street Tast, there was no doubt about the result. The vote was 1,078 for and 35 against. There was little doubt in any quarter that the by-law would carry.

The company is now proceeding with their plans, and when the final result was announced at City Hall yesterday afternoon Superintendent J. H. Vernor said: "We are ready to start grading any time." The Council will meet next week to decide upon the city's programme of grading Hunter Street, Ald. Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Works, said to-day. The vote by polls was as follows:

Vol. I. No. 6 PETERBORO, APRIL 7th EXTRA

PETERBOROUGH, April 8.—What engagements have I for next week? Why did you not know there would be a real treat in town for three days on April 19, 20 and 21? I have reserved those three days in order to assist the Advisory Board of the Peterborough Red Cross Society by going to the

PETERBORO MOTOR SHOW

All new features. You should not miss this opportunity to view the latest models in cars. Dealers in the city are extending themselves to display to the buying public many new features and will be only too pleased to give all the information you require.

Everybody will be there. The Show will not be complete without your presence. The Peterborough Health Association, to which body the proceeds will be given, are doing a good work in our city by giving Health and Happiness to a large number of children. A large programme has been mapped out for the current year, and in addition to the sick, the crippled children are to receive special attention.

By making the MOTOR SHOW a huge success you make it easy for the Health Association to carry out their full programme.

Sure you will be on the job. Do not forget the dates, April 19, 20 and 21, at the Armouries.

MAPLE SYRUP WAS FEATURE

Centre of Attraction on the Market This Morning—Butter at 43c.

There was a crowded market this morning, and no parking space available along the curbs. Throngs clustered about the maple syrup dealers, who were dispensing their wares in the popular milk-cans, some with spigots and some generously ladled out from above, with tin pails and dippers and spoons pressed into service. From 65 to 75 cents per quart was the general price, and there was plenty of it.

Pork was fairly plentiful, in sides selling at 20 and 22 cents, with some veal at 15 and 18 cents, and potatoes were piled up on every hand, with a general demand at $1.25 per bag. Two or three carts held the sundry vegetables in small quantities; beets at 50c, vellow and red onions $1.50 and $1.25 per peck, turnips 25c, beans 10c a quart, cabbage 15c and 20c, with the red salad variety at 15c a head. Spy apples were $1.25 a peck, and the Ben Davis 65c.

At the curb, a protesting Plymouth Rock bird protested loudly at his squeezed condition within a much too small cage, and looked angrily down on the head of a small boy absorbed in a large covered box, that opened to disclose a mother bird, with her brood of small, inquisitive-eyed chicklings.

The fish-man had a rival to-day in a voluble gentleman with "mudcats fresh from Port Hope this morning" at 10 cents a pound, and small white-fish at 15 cents a pound.

The basket market showed a plentiful supply of eggs and butter, the former from 27 to 30 cents per dozen, and the butter ranging from 43 to 45 cents. Fowl was very scarce, chickens in lonesome portions calling for 30 and 35 cents a pound. There was fresh maple sugar here, suspiciously pale, for 40 cents a pound, in one and two-pound round cakes, and there was a measure full of large, pale green duck eggs at 10 cents apiece.

Downstairs again, the auctioneer had an interested crowd, with offerings that included almost anything from a rip saw to a small, plaintive-eyed brown pup with a cheerful tail, who found a friendly harborage with a kind-eyed gentleman for the sum of 75 cents. And an interested and manifestly impressed audience of small boys surrounded a remarkable dealer in stick-fast cement, who broke plates with great abandon, for the purpose of sticking them together again, turning his attention later to a much stuck-up rubber and two blocks of wood, which he pounded with exceptional vigor, displaying excellent conversational abilities at the same time.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask., writes:—"I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful for your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better.

I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I was in pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks.

This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out every day, but I soon got so I could walk and eat and have got quite stout.

I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can now do all my housework.

You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

Address to Be Given by the Pastor Will Be Very Interesting.

A hearty invitation is given to all who care to attend services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church tomorrow night. Strangers will be cordially welcomed. The pastor's subject, "Through the Narrows to the Sea," will bring out many very helpful suggestions.

The music will be as follows:

Solo—Mrs. M. H. Park.
Solo — "The Palms," Mr. J. Smith.

MUSKRAT SEASON IS OPENING LATE

Spring has come in so late that the northern lakes have not yet broken up their ice, and as a result the muskrat trappers have been decidedly out of luck. Local fur shops say they have so far received only light deliveries, and the rat colony has escaped the traps that are set out in the open water.

"Another week should find the lakes open," said one of the dealers to-day, "but the season will then be about two weeks behind the average opening. The catch will probably be much lighter than usual in the Rice Lake district, but it should help a lot if the rats do escape the longer open water season. The price won't be affected by any local shortage, but from present appearances most of the trappers will have a lighter harvest and less returns from spring season."

BELLEVILLE TEAM HAS CASH SURPLUS.

Will Miss Coyer But Will Have a Scrappy Team.

The Belleville Amateur Athletic Association enters its second year of activity with some money in the bank and with a great determination to go forward steadily improving sports and athletic affairs here.

The annual meeting was well attended and proved successful in renewing interest in sports for sports' sake generally here.

A long discussion took place on the baseball situation here. It was decided to give the C. O. B. team every encouragement and assistance possible. The loss of Freddy Goyer has left the team in something of a hole, but still a good fighting team will turn out on May 20th when the season opens.—Belleville Ontario.

SIX KILLED IN MID-AIR COLLISION OF PLANES

French and British Passenger Carrying Planes Crashed to Earth Near Paris.

IN FLAMES.

PARIS, April 8 (Canadian Press). —Six persons were killed yesterday when airplanes on the Paris-London aerial express route collided over the village of Thieulloy, seventy miles north of Paris, and crashed to earth.

The dead are:

Bruce Yale, a New York exporter, and his wife, who were homeward-bound by way of England in the French machine.

M. Bouriez, another passenger in the French craft.

Aviator Mire, pilot of the French machine.

Mire's mechanic, and

R. E. Duke, pilot of the English machine.

The entire personnel of both machines met death, either in the crash or in the flames that followed it.

The British airplane carried no passengers, only the pilot, named Duke, and possibly a cabin boy, being on board, according to authoritative information in London tonight. The presence of the cabin boy on board had not yet been definitely established late yesterday afternoon.

The British machine was one of a number operated daily in the London-Paris service for passengers, mail and goods by three British and two French companies. The average number of planes making daily trips each way is six, and the total number of passengers daily usually averages about twenty. Yesterday there were 22 passengers both ways. During fine weather there are sometimes as many as forty.

The first machine in the daily service usually leaves London with the morning newspapers about 7 a.m., and is followed at intervals by others until 7 in the evening. They all leave from and arrive at the Croydon Airdrome, where, in case of fog, those equipped with wireless apparatus are thus guided on their course.

The crash is said here to be the first of the kind on the commercial air route between France and Britain For the British ship, it was its first trip under the new management of the company which inaugurated its service last Monday.

An official of the company said the machine had been in the Paris service for more than two years, but that it was loaned to the company by the Air Ministry owing to the delayed delivery of the new company's own machines.

The official added that the only person on board was the pilot, R. E. Duke.

The capacity of the machine was eight passengers and 500 pounds of LONDON, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. James Sinclair Taylor McGowan, first labor premier of New South Wales is dead according to a Reuter despatch from Sydney.

COAL STRIKE ARBITRATION PROCEEDING

Miners Have Presented Their Side of the Case. Operators Are Preparing Their Defence.

BOTH SIDES.

NEW YORK, April 8 (Canadian Press). — The anthracite miners and operators' sub-committee on wage contract negotiations, which has been hearing testimony of union leaders in support of their 19 demands as a basis for settlement of the present strike, took a recess last night to permit the operators to prepare their side of the case.

"After listening to what the miners had to say, our attitude remains unchanged," said S. D. Warriner, President of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and spokesman for the operators. "We still maintain the view expressed in our reply to the 19 demands when they were first submitted," he said. "We believe that there must be a reduction in the price of anthracite coal to prevent destruction of the market, and we believe a corresponding reduction must come in the wages of the miners."

Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, and leaders of the union delegation on the committee, expressed satisfaction with its case as had been presented.

The miners closed their innings before the committee with arguments for establishment of the check-off system of collecting dues. They held that the system, once declared illegal by Judge Albert Anderson in the United States District Court at Indianapolis, had been legalised by a reversal of this decision by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago.

John L. Lewis, President of the International Mine Workers, last night declared that the joint bituminous and anthracite strikes had become "absolute, perfect, and of the 100 per cent. response which had been anticipated."

The strike was continuing to spread into non-union territory "at a gratifying rate," he asserted. He estimated that of the 140,000 non-union miners in the country, 75,000 had already joined the walk-out. Capacity of non-union mines, especially in West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky, and Pennsylvania, has been cut more than half, he said.

"If I Could Only Sleep"

SLEEP is the greatest of nerve restoratives. But unfortunately when the nerves are greatly excited or exhausted you cannot sleep, and nervous energy is wasted at a terrible rate by day and by night.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does not produce sleep in a narcotic way, but it does overcome sleeplessness by restoring the vigor and vitality of the nervous system.

For this reason it is Nature's greatest aid in restoring health and vigor to a worn-out, nervous system, no matter whether this condition is the result of overwork, worry or disease.

This well-known nerve restorative has made more friends through its ability to overcome sleeplessness than perhaps for any one reason.

There is no keener misery han inability to sleep and the added worry of knowing that you are fast becoming a bankrupt so far as physical and nervous energy is concerned.

Should you be so unfortunate as to suffer from sleeplessness and other symptoms of nervous exhaustion you will appreciate to the full the gentle and potent power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the nervous system to health and vigor.

ALL IS QUIET IN B. C. COAL MINING AREA

No Breaks in Ranks of Strikers But Men Want Conciliation Board to be Formed.

CAN FIND WORK.

FERNIA, B.C., April 8. Canadian Press.) — Reports received here yesterday state that perfect quietness still prevails in all the mining camps in the strike area of Southeastern British Columbia and that no breaks in the ranks of the strikers have been reported, although it is apparent that the men are anxious for the Conciliation Board to get down to work.

Large numbers of the striking coal miners are leaving this district. Many state, however, that they are just taking a vacation pending a settlement being reached. Lumber camps are opening up in East Kootenay, finding no lack of labor, many of the miners forsaking the pick for the cant hook.

Employees of the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company will turn in their mining equipment and be paid off today.

TWO MEN ARE CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

FOUND IN SNOW.

MONTREAL, April 8.— (Canadian Press.) — A verdict of manslaughter was returned here yesterday afternoon in the case of Georges Boivin, alias Baker, and Adrien, alias Georges Senecal whose trial commenced Thursday on a charge of murdering Ferdinand Paquette, lumberman, of Montebello, Que.

Paquete had drunk beer containing a heavy dose of morphine and was taken ill, December 17 last. Boivin and Senecal thereupon took him away from the hotel where the drink was furnished and abandoned him in a dying condition at a deserted spot on Pie IX Boulevard in the east end of this city. The body was later found there in the snow.

GOOD CROPS ARE PROMISED IN U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(Canadian Press). — A winter wheat crop of about 14,000,000 bushels smaller, and a rye crop almost 12,000,000 bushels larger than was produced last year were forecast yesterday by the Department of Agriculture. Winter wheat came through the winter in good shape and showed an improvement of 2.4 points in condition on April 1, as compared with last December. The smaller crop is due to a reduction of 1.2 per cent. in the area sown last Fall, as compared with that of last year's crop.

ORIENTALS MAY BE EMPLOYED.

OTTAWA, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—The Governor-General has disallowed the Act of the Legislature of British Columbia, which prohibited the employment of Orientals on Government contracts in that Province. The Provincial Government in the first instance prohibited the employment of Asiatics on these contracts by Order-in-Counlil and the Legislature subsequently passed an act to validate these orders-in-Council. The constitutionality of the Act was attacked in the courts and the Supreme Court declared that was ultra vires of the Province. The Act has accordingly been disallowed by the Governor-General.

WIRE PRICES UP.

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The Pittsburgh Steel Company yesterday announced an advance of approximately 10c. per hundred pounds in minimum prices on jobbers' carload lots on wire products, effective at once. It was explained that the increase was ordered to "adjust and harmonize" schedules.

Unusual Conditions Cause Increase in Dominion Debt

OTTAWA, April 8.—(Canadian Press). —The circumstances under which there was an increase in the net debt of the Dominion last fiscal year are somewhat unusual. While there was an increase in the net debt, which is regarded as the practical test of the standing of the public funds, there was at the same time, a decrease in the gross debt. The gross debt of the Dominion at the end of the year was $2,942,612,000 as compared with $3,029,810,000 at the end of the year previous. However, during the same period the net debt rose from $2,311,294,000 to $2,384,996,000.

The explanation for this contrast betwen the net and the gross debt is to be found in the stricter interpretation which has been given to the assets of the Dominion in the last few years. A number of Government loans which in earlier years were regarded as active assets, are now retired to a non-active list. During the year just closed there has been an increase in these non-active assets and at the same time there has been a reduction of th gross assets.

During 1921-22 also, there was a reduction in the gross assets of the Dominion of about eighty six millions, while at the same time there was an increase in the non-active assets of approximately seventy-four millions. The decrease in the gross assets has taken place in the advance to banks and other miscellaneous accounts, while the increase in the non-active assets occupied in the investments other than sinking funds and chiefly in the advances made to the Government Railways.

The decrease in the gross assets and the increase in the non-active assets (which are substracted from the assets in calculating the net debt) when added together make up an amount of a little over one hundred and sixty million, which is equal to the spread between the gross and the net debt. The gross debts, it will be noticed, diminished by a little over eighty seven milions, while the net debt increased by somthing over seventy three millions.

STRIKE BOARD DELIBERATIONS OPEN TO PUBLIC

ON MONDAY.

CALGARY, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—The inquiry into the coal mining situation in Alberta, according to the constitution of the industrial Disputes Investigation Act, will be open to the public. Both operators and miners' officials state they are quite in accord with this and the opinion has been expressed that the fullest publicity should be given the deliberations of the Board when it opens its sessions here on next Monday.

There is no change as yet in the position of affairs; each side is continuing to prepare its case for presentation to the Board.

AGRICULTUAAL ESTIMATES UP BEFORE HOUSE

One Member Claims That Ontario Has Not Been Fairly Treated.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 8.—(Canadian Press.) — In the Agricultural estimates the first item taken up was 41,315,000 for experimental farms as compared with 51,270,639.50 last year. Replying to Dr. Tolmie, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, said it it was not proposed to establish any experimental farms this year. There might be an item later on to provide for obtaining land for one or two farms. Experimental farm work had been held up during the war and was still much below what was actually needed.

R. B. Hanson (Conservative York-Sundury) asked that the assistant at Fredericton, who had been in charge since the post of Chief had been vacant be given the promotion.

Mr. Motherwell agreed that this principle should be followed wherever possible.

Dr. Tolmie asked if there was any amount in the appropriation for the establishment of an experimental farm in Northern British Columbia. The Minister replied that Northern British Columbia was considered to be in need of an experimental farm and that the next one would probably be established there. There was approximately $30,000 reserved for this purpose and it was hoped that a start could be made next summer.

Donald Sutherland (Conservative Oxford S.) questioned the wisdom of establishing an experimental farm in Northern British Columbia. Ontario, he felt, was the one Province in Canada which had not been fairly treated in this regard.

WAR BONDS REACH PAR.

LONDON, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—The five per cent. war loan, the largest loan raised by the British Government during the war, reached the par of 100 yesterday for the first time, a premium of five per cent. of the issue price, according to the London Times. The advance occurred after the Stock Exchange closed and was a result of the favorable terms on which the treasury sold by tender £60,000,000 of treasury bills, and 5 per cent. five year Treasury bonds. The treasury bills sold at an average discount rate of five shillings below last week's rate the lowest rate increase since the introduction of the tender system.

AUDITOR-GENERAL E. D. SUTHERLAND ABOUT TO RETIRE.

Will Be Given Leave of Absence Till October 1, When He Will Resign.

50 Years' Service.

OTTAWA, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—The retirement of E. D. Sutherland auditor general was indicated by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, in the House this afternoon. Civil Government estimates of the Auditor-General's Department were under consideration—$253,885 for salaries and $34,000 for contingencies.

Replying to a question by O. R. Gould (Progressive Assiniboia) Mr. Fielding said the Auditor-General was desirious of retiring and would probably be given leave of absence on October 1, when he would resign. He had served the country for fifty years.

Civil Government estimates of the Department of Insurance were adopted. The votes were: Salaries $61,385.00; Contingencies, $56,000.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, April 8.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday: Sterling demand 4.5027; Sterling cables 4.5066.

BUSINESS IS ON UP-GRADE IN CANADA

Trade Report of Dominion Shows Conditions as a Whole to Be Improving.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 7.—(Canadian Press).—The trade barometer of Canada might be termed "steady", states the Weekly Trade Review of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, issued yesterday. While in Toronto and some other parts of the east wholesale trade still finds the March improvement maintained, in other parts such as Montreal and Quebec, bad weather has affected wholesale and manufacturing circles. Better weather is being experienced in the west and the outlook for a good crop—so far as one can judge at this period—is good.

Advices from Toronto, states the report indicate that the improvemen in wholesale and manufacturing conditions is being maintained especially in drygoods hardware and groceries with the boot and shoe trades showing better than for the last four months. Retail trade which has been somewhat slow is bound to improve, merchants say, with better weather. Collection are still slow.

Montreal and Quebec district reports show that bad weather has affected business and slowed up orders from coutnry points where roads are exceedingly bad. Dry goods hardware, ladies' and men's wear and grocery lines are the most active with boot and shoe trade still lagging behind, although better than a month ago. Retailers report business fairly good in Montreal and Quebec cities. Collections still too slow.

Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton reports are almost identical. Wholesale and retail trades, while finding improvement maintained still require lots of work to keep on the upgrade. Business men declared that good Legislation on immigration from Britain and Northern Europe would go far towards a satisfactory solution of business troubles in the west. Collections still somewhat slow, although improving.

PROBABILITIES.

Moderate to fresh south-west and west winds, fair and quite mild.

MANY BILLS PASS SECOND READING AT BUSY BUT QUIET SESSION OF PROVINCIAL HOUSE

TORONTO WOMAN WANTS DIVORCE.

OTTAWA, April 8 (Canadian Press.) — One more divorce application is added to the already lengthy list waiting action by Parliament. Notice was given last night that Blanche Hilton of Toronto will apply for a divorce from her husband, George E. Hilton, also of Toronto.

BARGAIN SHIP FAILS TO FIND A PURCHASER

Cargo Steamer Offered For Sale at $200,000 But Fails to Find a Single Bidder.

OTHER VESSELS.

NEW YORK, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—The cargo steamer Poznan, offered at public sale by Federal Court order to-day at a minimum price of $200,000 or approximately $19 ton, failed to find a single bidder among the three score persons who attended the auction. The sale was postponed.

Shipping men were particularly interested in the failure to sell the vessel inasmuch as the United States Shipping Board is holding its cargo vessels at about $30 a ton.

POPE PIUS REPLIES APPEAL OF EMPRESS

LONDON, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Rome correspondent of the Times says Pope Pius has replied to appeal by King Alfonso of Spain in behalf of former Empress Zita of Austria to the effect that he has brought the matter to the attention of British and French governments.

Provincial Treasurer in a Slight Clash With Hon. Howard Ferguson Over Bond Issue Advertised Yesterday.

OTHER BILLS.

TORONTO, April 8. — With the exception of a clash between H. H. Dewart and the Hon. Howard Ferguson on one side and Provincial Treasurer Smith on the other, over the sale of Provincial securities, yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Legislature swung along smoothly and got through perhaps more routine business than an any previous afternoon since the season opened.

Attorney-General Raney introduced a Government Bill to regulate the flotation of stocks, bonds, etc,. which is based on the "Blue Sky" report. The Bill, which would have prohibited "plumpers" in municipal elections, was killed when it came up for second reading.

Bills which passed the second reading included the following: To give municipalities owning street railways the right to build extensions on the same terms as they can build waterworks extensions; to allow municipalities to hold their elections on the first Monday in December; to enable police villages to handle their own taxes; to protect holders of property under agreements of sale from being sued for debts of the original owners; to provide for 13 jurors instead of 12, so that if one becomes incapacitated, there will still remain the "12 good men and true" to reach a verdict and not require a new trial; respecting sale of property for arrears of taxes; to allow cities and towns to refrain from distress proceedings for failure to pay taxes in the case of indigent persons, but these taxes will remain a claim against the property; to provide for certain exemptions from taxation to stimulate industrial enterprise.

Sale of Stocks.

The Bill regulating the sale of stocks provides that all prospectuses issued by companies must be submitted to a Commissioner to be appointed for the purpose, who may order an inquiry in case he is not satisfied as to the honesty of the

A LIVE ORGANIZATION.

The Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada has earned the reputation during the past winter of being a thoroughly alive organization, which has been responsible for bringing before the people of Peterborough a programme of educative addresses that have been of benefit to all who have had the pleasure of hearing them. Their enterprise was once more revealed on Thursday night when, thanks to the Engineering Institute, a large number of citizens was given an opportunity of being present at a demonstration of the latest triumph of science, wireless telephony. The occasion was the first public test in Peterborough of the radio, and the result was an unusual experience, for those who attended listened to snatches of concert programmes from Pittsburg and other cities hundreds of miles away. The capabilities of the radio 'phone were satisfactorily demonstrated, and the kindness of the Engineering Institute in making the arrangements for this unique event and inviting the public to be present was thoroughly appreciated. Those who were in attendance on Thursday night will wish the Engineers every success in their organization, and will hope that their educational work, which has been so well carried on during the last few months, will continue to give the public a chance to come into contact with the latest developments in the world of science.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

The substantial majority in favour of the Western Clock bylaw yesterday may be taken as an indication that the people of this city know a good thing when they see it, and that they can be trusted when the interests of the community are at stake. At the same time, the result should be accepted by the Western Clock Company as unmistakable proof that Peterborough as a city is interested in the success of the company, appreciates the manner in which the business has been conducted since the concern opened operations here and looks forward to a steady growth and development of the industry. The Examiner is sure that the local voters will never have occasion to regret yesterday's vote. The Western Clock Company, as we pointed out several times, in an industry of the type all municipalities are eager to secure. Its own record here has been of the best, and the story of the rapid expansion of the parent company may be taken as prophetic of what is likely to happen in connection with the Peterborough branch. There seems little reason to doubt that before long the local plant will not only be taking care of the Canadian business of the company, but that all Westclox products for export trade will be manufactured in this city, necessitating further additions to the Peterborough factory and a substantial increase in the number of employees. Those who voted for the bylaw yesterday did a good day's work for Peterborough. The beneficial results will be felt immediately, for the construction of the new plant will afford employment to many in the building trades.

WHO'S BEEN TEMPTING AGNES?

What vagabond's been tempting Miss Agnes MacPhail? Stand up there you, Mr. King, and you too, Mr. Meighen; and the C.P.R., and all other rogues and rascals who prey upon the frailties of poor human M.P.'s! Shame on your heads, that you should attempt to purchase the honor of a young lady, and she so unused to your ways! Have you no sense of decency, or honor, at all?

For Miss Agnes has been tempted She confesses it herself, bless her female candor, though with proper delicacy she doesn't go into details. Here is what she says:

"If ever there was a house of temptation it is the Green Chamber. When you fall for all the temptation in the Green Chamber, you go to the Red Chamber."

Serves the Red Chamber right; but we're not concerned with it. What we want to know is, who's been fresh with Agnes? The country has a right to know. It must weed out the spalpeens who trade in M.P.'s honor, and who haven't enough decency to let even our one woman member alone.

And if nobody confesses, then, may be, Agnes will. Come now, Miss MacPhail, don't be shy. Tell us who's been gay with you. Was it Mr. Meighen? Or Mr. King, suspect because he's a bachelor? Or was it your own Mr. Crerar, who gets so bumptious at times? What did they say, and how much did they offer you? Speak up, child, speak up; tell us who is the rascal!—Ottawa Journal.

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT.

Mr. W. H. Dunsford, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has received a copy of the second volume of "Letters From the Front," issued by the Bank of Commerce as an official and historical record of the part played in the Great War by members of the bank staff. The second volume consists of short biographies of all the Bank of Commerce men who saw service, as a supplementary list of those decorated and a mass of other valuable information carefully compiled and prepared in most interesting fashion. The biographies cover no fewer than 498 pages, in spite of the fact that they are marked by the utmost economy of words. Illustrations are a special feature of the book, and they include such unusual subjects as reproductions of the British and Canadian regimental badges won by members of the bank staff and of the British and foreign honours won by them. The second volume, like the first, is beautifully printed on deckle-edged paper, and aside from its value as a record, it is a work of art that is well worth preserving It admirably rounds out the information given in the first volume of "Letters From the Front." The price paid by Canada in the Great War strikes home as one glances through the pages. The death roll of the Bank of Commerce stands at 265, requiring five pages of the book, while the list of awards and decorations covers a similar space.

One reviewer has successfully struck the keynote of the book in the following words:

"The reader who turns its pages cannot but be struck with the feeling that beneath these formal statements of fact lies, as it were, a soul. Here were lads, some of them labouring in cities, some in villages or prairie, mountain and lake country, with the inspiration of patriotism and adventure in their hearts closed their ledgers and went away to endure unimagined hardships and pain. Many, in the hour of crisis, revealed powers of decision and unhesitating courage that even they had never suspected to exist in themselves. Too many of the brave lie in those cross-strewn plots in France and Flanders, which are the resting-places of Canada's thousands of heroic dead. Perhaps the most finely conceived page in the book is the fly leaf on which is printed Herbert Asquith's poem, 'The Volunteer,' of which the following lines perfectly express the feelings aroused by volumes such as this:

"'And now these waiting dreams are satisfied;
From twilight to the hall of dawn he went:
His lance is broken; but he lies content
With that high hour in which he lived and died.'"

WHAT "MIKE" COLLINS SHOULD DO.

The notice served by The Daily Mail on Michael Collins cannot be mistaken. Whether The Daily Mail has any authority to serve notices on anybody, is another question. But The Daily Mail possesses an uncanny power to interpret the average opinion of the English people—the traditional "men in the street"—and, after all, it is the British people, and not Lloyd George, who finally decide British policy.

The Daily Mail tells Mr. Collins that he has "received from the British Government the most complete powers," and that "nobody can save him but himself." It reminds him grimly of the fate of Kerensky, who made "excellent speeches," but permitted "Lenin and Trotzky to answer his talk with machine guns." It intimates that Collins may not get off as easily as Kerensky did. Kerensky at least is still alive. "A national leader," says The Daily Mail, "who allows himself to be openly challenged and defied by armed force, is preparing for himself Kerensky's doom or worse."

This is very, very plain talk. It is perfectly clear that what The Daily Mail means is that the British Government banked on "Mike" Collins because he was supposed to be the fighting partner of the Sinn Fein combination. De Valera was only the College Professor and academic theorist who made a fine figurehead for the movement into which Collins poured the blood and fire. Consequently the British Government preferred to negotiate with Collins, the man of action; and, when Collins signed, it was thought that guerilla warfare at least had been stopped. There might be a flow of rhetoric in the Dail Eireann, but no more blood would flow.

* * * *

But the College Professor—or somebody—seems to have brought into action "the machine guns of Lenin and Trotzky," as against the "talk" of Kerensky Collins. Very well, says The Daily Mail; this is the time for Collins to show that he was the real man behind the gun during the long years of Ireland's struggle, and that no other Irishman can turn that gun against him and his "free" Government. The British have stood aside. They have turned over to him and his colleagues al. the authority of the State.

The ominous date of "Easter Week" approaches. Dublin is filling up with young "soldiers" from all parts of the country. Are they for De Valera; or are they the Collins forces, being quietly recruited to defend the new Irish Government? The natural inclination is to trust Collins. He ought to know better than anyone else precisely what is preparing; and he ought to be the last man to sit still if it is disaster that is preparing.

The parallel with Kerensky should be totally inapplicable. Kerensky was always the talker. He was the Mirabeau of the Russian Revolution. He had nothing to do with the army except to go to the front occasionally and eloquently exhort the soldiers not to desert the cause of freedom for the discredited but familiar cause of Czarism. But Michael Collins never seems to have been heard of as a speaker until after the Armistice had been established. Up to that time, he was the almost legendary and usually hidden leader of that 'invisible army" which challenged so successfully the forces of the Crown. He came to the front, not by "talk," but by force organized in secret and striking from the dark. He ought to be an ideal leader to meet any secretly prepared menace that may exist today in the disquieting shadows that again cover Ireland.

No one will imagine that Collins lacks courage. No one will fear that he may be fooled. No one but will believe that he earnestly desires the stability and success of the Government, of which he has himself been the chief architect. If he fails, he will fail because he lacks authority with the fighting wing of the youth of Ireland—and if they will not follow "Mike" Collins into the calm harbor of settled government—an absolutely Irish Government with practically no British control at all—who can hope that they will accept peace at the hands of any one?

No graver responsibility was ever borne by any Irish shoulders than is being carried through these spring days by the sturdy and certainly unterrified shoulders of that once well-nigh mythical character, Michael Collins.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

Every day is a Raney day in the Ontario Legislature.

The Salvation Army, as a community asset, deserves well of the people of Peterborough. Don't forget the Self-Denial Fund campaign on Monday.

Peterborough needed no "Big Ben" to awaken her to the desirability of supporting the "Big Ben" bylaw.

With a clock factory in their midst, East City people are going to have a lot of time on their hands.

Sir Robert Borden is off to Switzerland to sit on an arbitration tribunal. And the ex-Premier got out of politics so that he might have a rest?

A Montreal girl talked to her lover for sixty-five minutes over the long distance 'phone. There will be natural wonder as to how many words he was able to interject into the conversation.

Peace in Ireland seems to be somewhat of a synethic peace.

The Relation Of The Spine To Health

An extensive series of post-mortems and dissections, undertaken by a prominent medical investigator in the East, has disclosed that there is a most intimate relationship between spinal curvatures, even of such a slight degree as the deviation of a single vertebra from its proper alignment, and disease in the internal organs.

Where there was found a curvature involving several vertebrae and covering a number of the spinal segments, it was found that the organs which got their sympathetic nerve supply from those segments of the cord, were diseased.

And the extent of this disease process was in direct ratio to the amount of spinal disturbance, or mal-alignment.

And it was further shown that wherein there was any disease manifested in an organ, investigation disclosed that there was a corresponding disturbance in the relationships of the particular part of the spine from which such organ was supplied with its nerve energy.

The spinal column is the foundation upon which the human machine is built, and to expect that any disturbance in it would not be manifested by faulty functioning of the machine is fatuous indeed.

So long as each part of the human machine maintains its proper relationship with the various other parts, the thing we call HEALTH is manifest throughout the body, but the slightest disturbance of that relationship shows itself in the presence of disease.

The osteopath is the master mechanic of the human machine, and it is his especial function to see that the bodies of such as are committed to his care are restored to a condition of mechanical harmony and so maintained, to the end that they may be blessed with perfect health.

"Our First Year"

WHAT'S ALREADY HAPPENED.

This story deals with the adventure of a bride and groom who are trying to keep marriage from interfering with their individual liberty. As this chapter opens they return home after spending an evening out—but not with each other.

Chapter VII.
My Husband Waits.
By A Bride

My husband reached home before I did. I was truly sorry because we had reversed ordinary condition, because Jack was waiting for me at midnight.

I felt as if I were proving myself a complete failure as a wife. I felt like a culprit. Yet why—why—my guilty conscience—if our theory of independence were worth anything?

I was consoled considerably to find that Jack had heard Bart's auto and had rushed to the curb to meet me.

The men shook hands cordially Jack was splendid enough not to question us, although he couldn't have known where I had been.

Good old Jack! Some husbands would have started to be horrid right then and there.

"Obliged, Bart, for looking after Peg", he said. To which Bart:

"I've done it, as needed, all my life. And I own I like the job." A few questions about their mutual friend, Jim Arnold, and Bart was off and we back in our flat.

Jack clasped me close.

"I couldn't guess where you'd gone, dearest! Imagine my surprise not to find you here! I phoned your mother caught myself, saved myself from phoning frantically to a few of the girls! I had more than an hour to get nervous in. sweet"

"I went to the Playhouse darling-I'm to be leading lady in 'Skoal-' Skoal-' I'm to be the Viking's bride!"

"Opposite Bart?"

"Of course! And he'll be wonderful as a Viking, won't he?"

To this, no comment. Jack returned to the main subject:

"I never thought of the Playhouse, Dumbell! I pranced up and down my deserted him—and worried!"

"Thought your life had left you" I teased. Then remembering Jack's game, "Who won"

"Jim. It was his problem. Another two-mover."

"Another for your collection? Goody!"

My husband collects two-movers as boys collects stamps And that is all I know about his fad. Chess is Greek to me. I haven't brains enough to play well enough to interest Jack, who is an expert.

Which is a pity because Mrs. Herrod understands chess and she and Jack swaps problems. Since she can't belong to the chess club, it being for men, Jack takes his big discoveries to her. And has for years.

She's a lot older than Jack. So I ought not to worry. I do not worry. But still I often wish I knew the game as well as Mrs. Herrod does.

In the distressingly sudden way of jealously, a horrid idea took possession of me. I had been bored—bored—by the crowd at the Little Playhouse. My mind had been on my husband and home half of the time.

With an intuition which I recognize as trustwothy, I knew that Jack hadn't given a thought to his bride all evening. How could he find play chess?

But unbeknownst he had planned to tell Mrs. Herrod about the new two-mover.

WHEN you require a roof, the measurement will be in squares (100 square feet). A basis for analysis of the costs of Brantford Asphalt Slates is given below:

1—INITIAL COSTS OF MATERIALS—Brantford Asphalt Slates are sometimes higher in initial cost for the material.

2—NAILS REQUIRED—Brantford Ashphalt Slates require ONLY 684 nails to lay a square. Brantford Asphalt Slab Slates require ONLY 450 nails.

3—COST OF LAYING—Brantford Asphalt Slab Slates are four on one strip—require only one operation in handling, one operation in spacing—Individual slates are 8 x 12¾ inches—Cut easily, fit easily, fit on angles and bend over round surfaces. You save 30 to 50 per cent. in laying.

4—NO PAINT OR STAIN REQUIRED—The surface of Brantford Asphalt Slates is in nature's permanent colors, green and red, unfadeable, always attractive,—requiring no stain to produce artistic effects, no liquid coats to make them fire-resistant.

5—SAVING OF INSURANCE—Brantford Asphalt Slates are classed as non-combustible by fire insurance companies—a direct saving of from 10 to 20 per cent. on premiums is effected. In certain localities fire regulations demand asbestos paper under some roof materials, but Brantford Asphalt Slates are fire-resistant and are immune from special regulations.

6—COST OF REPAIRS—From the day they are laid Brantford Asphalt Slate roofs show almost 100 per cent. of the original roof untouched. Brantford Asphalt Slates do not curl, split, crack or rot. Complete protection and permanent protection are built into Brantford Asphalt Slate Roofs.

INTERNAL BATHING NATURE TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION

You can help Nature in Nature's most effectual way by Internal Bathing, and without the use of drugs, keep the lower intestine in the clean condition which Nature demands for good health and vigour. Thousands of Canadians testify to the benefits derived from its use in cases of obstinate constipation, piles, indigestion, appendicitis, and hardening of the arteries.

Frank Stanton, of Port Stanton, Ont., writes:

"I must say that your 'J. B. L. Cascade' has been a great value to me, and I feel indebted to the inventor of this treatment, since I have made use of your wonderful discovery. I feel twenty years younger, and have not taken medicine of any sort."

The J. B. L. Cascade, used with sterilized warm water, is easy and pleasant in its effects. You bathe outside, why not bathe internally, too—it is far more important.

The J. B. L. Cascade is the perfected invention of Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell for Internal Bathing. It is now being shown and explained at The Warne Drug Company, Peterborough, Ont.

Ask them for free booklet all about it—or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

H. H. Dewart called attention to an advertisement appearing in yesterday's papers by the Provincial Treasurer calling for tenders to be received on 11th April for the sale of $15,000,000 of Provincial bonds. He wanted to know on what authority the Provincial Treasurer was selling these bonds, and what use the money was to be put to.

At first Hon. Mr. Smith declined to, answer yesterday, but said he would on Monday.

However, on further pressure by Mr. Dewart, who claimed the Government was ignoring the rights of the House, the Treasurer said he was borrowing this amount under the authority of the Hydro Bill, that $3,000,000 was for immediate refunds and $4,000,000 for refunds of debts due in May. The remainder would be for different general purposes.

Mr. Dewart followed this up with a vigorous attack on what he claimed was the deliberate misappropriation of the money under a Hydro Bill to general purposes, and condemned the Treasurer for not bringing this up for a vote of the House. The $3,500,000 for Chippawa had been held up for some weeks until the House could vote it, and then the Treasurer goes ahead and asks for $15,000,000 without ever consulting the House at all, although it is in session.

Not Sufficient Time.

Mr. Ferguson complained that five days was not sufficient time for brokers outside Toronto to join in tendering, and that the Provincial Treasurer was depending too much on the brokers of this city.

'I want to ask Mr. Ferguson if a Provincial Treasurer ever, while he was on the Government benches, submitted such sale of bonds for the endorsation of the House?" ask Mr. Smith.

"We had a real Treasurer in these days," replied Mr. Ferguson. "I cannot cite instances where he submitted such votes to the House, but he always listed in the Budget the sales of securities he proposed, and they were there to be investigated by the members of this House. We havent had a Budget yet this year."

Smith's Reply.

Hon. Mr. Smith, in reply, said the former Treasurer never consulted the House before he put a bond issue on the market, and as for the notice given, he might have gone to New York and negotiated the sale without any notice here at all. He further maintained that former Provincial Treasurers never announced their tax proposals at the same time as they introduced their Budget.

Thomas Marshall (Lincoln) moved the second reading or the Bill, which would have compelled municipal electors to vote for as many candidates as there were positions to be filled. By it, if a person voted for only one man for Board of Control, for which there were four places, the vote would be counted out. The same would apply in the case of aldermen.

Hon. W. R. Rollo took objection to it from a Labour standpaint, arguing that if they wanted to unite on one man for a Controllership, they should be entitled to do so.

The Hon. Thomas Crawford also condemned it.

Mr. Ferguson came to Mr. Marshall's support, claiming that it was a step towards compulsory voting, and he thought it should at least go to the committee.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract the demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Grace Hill St., Brantford, Ont. writes:—"I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop sometime if I could cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound and would break out in perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

WHEAT BOARD HAS A CHANCE OF LIFE.

OTTAWA, April 8. — (Canadian Press.)—H. W. Nood, President of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, who gave evidence Thursday before the Agricultural Committee and is remaining to watch the course of events, issued the following statement in connection with yesterday's debate upon the Wheat Board.

"The reference back to the Agricultural committee of its proposal to submit the constitutional aspects of the proposed Legislation to reinstate the Canadian Wheat Board, to the Supreme Court has given the Board a chance of life which otherwise wold have denied it. Acceptance of the committee's resolution would have meant a complication of legal technicalities with the merits of the case stated before the Committee and no Board could have been constituted in time for this year's crop. The question is now open to be decided by the Agricultural Committee without the reference to the Supreme Court holding it in abeyance."

How I Earn $15 to $25

a week at home in my SPARE TIME

By Wm. S. Coulthard

I needed more money.

I had a lot of time on my hands in the evenings, Saturday afternoon, etc.—for I had no hobby—and besides my expenses had been mounting fast—so you will see the receptive mood I was in when I saw your little ad, "MAKE MONEY AT HOME."

I sent for your free booklet.

I read it.

Your plan looked good to me—your guarantee so liberal—and on investigation I found you were reliable, so I accepted your offer. If others could make money by your plan, I could.

That was less than a year ago.

Now I am earning $15.00 to $25.00 a week, each week, writing show cards in my spare time. In addition to this, I still hold my regular job, and my salary has been increased there, too. I believe my spar time work has made me better satisfied with life, and so I'm doing my regular work better.

I have been offered positions writing show cards, but I am not interested, as my present position is perfectly satisfactory, but I certainly am glad I enrolled in your school—my spare time money is exceedingly attractive. Besides, I find show card writing an interesting occupation that fills in those evening hours that used to drag so. In fact, it is really a hobby now with me—and a profitable one, as you can well imagine. Only last week I received a check from your school for $70.00 for work done over the last three weeks. Of course, you'd have paid me regularly each week if I'd bothered about it, but I was too busy to tell you the amount of work I'd finished.

There are times, however, that I feel show card writing by your simple method is almost too good a thing—that's when I have so many orders ahead that I cannot see my way clear to finish them—and have to turn down work.

Your system of supplying work to your students has certainly helped me, but sometimes you send too much—I'm only working at it in my spare time, you know. Please note this, and don't try to overload me too much.

By the way, I think you'll be interested to know that previous to enrolling in your school I had never tried my hand at any work of this nature.

I'm glad to thank you for what you've done for me—and you can certainly use my name and tell prospective students, for I'll be doing anyone a real good turn if I can help them get started in this profitable work.

Yours sincerely,
WM. S. COULTHARD.

NOTE:—The above is the story of Mr. Coulthard. It tells of facts, for Show Card Writing offers a marvellous opportunity to both men and women, either for spare time or full time work. What Mr. Coulthard has done and is doing, you can do. Colbran, Dusenberry, Wendt, Slade, Poulson, Charles, Wright, Babieau and many other men have proved it. Mrs. Litherdale, Mrs. Lush, Mrs. Le Moine and dozens of housewives have added to the family income in this way. Girls like Misses MacDonald, Clegg, Bordreau and Hoyle are but a few of those who have bettered their positions in this pleasant way. All these owe their success to the American Show Card School method of training—the old established school which has trained hundreds to make money in SHOW CARDS. The American Show Card School will gladly send you full particulars if you but send your name and address to them. Use this Coupon.

VIMY RIDGE WAS FIVE YEARS AGO SUNDAY APRIL 9

Anniversary of Canada's Great Day of Glory When Dominion Troops Crushed Flower of the German Army.

To a barren, rain-swept hill in Northern France there will return this week-end the thoughts of thousands of Canadians who, despite the passage of years, remember with pride and anguish the imperishable glory —and the casualty lists —of Vimy Ridge.

Five years ago to-morrow the Canadian Corps played an important role in the winning of one of the greatest battles of the war. After terrific artillery preparation which lasted for several days, the British army attacked on a wide front between Lens and St. Quentin. It fell to the lot of the Canadians to be confronted with the formidable defenses of Vimy Ridge, of whose impregnability the enemy boasted, and which he had reintorced with deadly machine-gun nests and an unprecedented massing of barbed wire. His best troops were stationed along the Ridge, and the flower of the German army—the First and Third Divisions of the Prussian Grenadier Guards—faced the Canadians on that morning.

Troops Sing All Night.

Four-thirty was zero. Just before that moment of supreme import the artillery fire quieted somewhat. Troops were masing in our first lines; all were "standing to." With absolute coolness the men were discussing such evcryday affairs as the scanty rum ration, the kind of weather they might be having in Nova Scotia, and the general stinginesnes sof the "Q.M.' Nobody seemed impressed with the tact that they were about to make history. Officers were walking up and down. They had to forbid some French-Canadian companies singing any longer; the "Vingt-Deux" had been harmonizing "Alouette" and "Madelon," and other habitant shanty songs the whole night long.

The hour struck. The barrage started. With the barrage came the first drops of rain. This soon increased in volume, and the day turned colder. By noon it was sleet and snow, and it still raged three days later when the Canadians cleared the Germans from the "Pimple."

First Waves Go Over.

The first waves went over, and it soon ebcame apparent that our artillery, in which guns of the heaviest calibre had taken part, had wrought havoc among the German defences. A rain of death had poured upon the enemy; while hole first line was pounded out of recognition, the Germans had left only their patrols in the first line, withdrawing their battalions to the rear, where they had a labyrinth of deep dup-outs.

Even here there had been no safety. A few minutes after our troops started the attack the German "S.O.S." rockets started to ascend. They soon went up all along the line. Hindenburg's best men, Bavarian "shock troops," were rushing to the Vimy section. It was in vain. The heroism and dash of the Canadians had carried the first defenses half an hour after the battle opened.

By 1 o'clock, seven hours after zero, no organized body of the enemy remained on the ridge, except with the exception of the nests of machine guns on Hill 145.

Glory—And Tears.

The capture of Vimy Ridge and Hill 145 was followed a few days after by the taking of the Pimple. Hindenburg had suffered a crushing defeat. He had not been short of troops. He had unlimited reserves and he had used them copiously. But he had failed.

When the news of the great victory became known in Canada there was a thrill of pride throughout the length and breadth of the country. There were, too, many sorrowing hearts. Hundreds of Canada's best had paid with their lives for the victory. They consecrated Vimy Ridge as a spot "forever Canada."

ADDRESS ON THE POETRY

"Even prosaic, philistine, dollar-chasing Toronto could not dampen the spark of his genius," said the speaker, who referred to his mastery of the art of hexameter verse with especial reference to one sonnet "The Sower".

His Love of Nature

Copious extracts from the composer's work interspersed the address, exhibiting his love of nature The pastoral elegy "Ave" commemorating the death of Shelley, was quoted in part, with "its incomparable characterizations, its speech less ecstacy of glowing June", the opening lines "echoing the moan of the sea and the salt marshes, leading to the lyric love that mourns the death of the Prince of Song'. This was Roberts' only sustained effort..

In 1893, "Songs of the Common Day" were published, another collection of subtle renderings of the moods of nature. Later, the poet removed to New York, finding it impossible to make a living for him self and family in Canada, and Mr. Marquis regretted this manifestation of the Canadian spirit which allowed a genius to starve, while recognition awaited him in a stranger country. In 1898, "New York Nocturnes" appeared, showing the love of nature which still survived in the rush of the city, and later, "The Book of the Rose". Pot-boilers in the form of animal stories appeared from time to time.

Lacks Ethical Centre

'Although the poetry of Roberts is great", said the speaker, "it lacks an ethical centre, which leaves him less than the greatest. As an interpreter of life, he has not carried out his sunrise aim. His prose, which was of the lyrical variety, although an exhibition of mellifluous prose, lacked vigor and force, and his books, "A Sister to Evangeline" and "The Forge in the Forest" are not true to Acadian life, although containing wonderful nature delinications".

His spirit is most admirably illustrated in his poems of spring. "Although most of us have a horror of spring poetry", said Mr. Marquis, "we must remember that most of our great poets have excelled in the spring note". Chaucer, Shakespeare, our own Lampman were quoted as singers of the beauty of live and growing things. "An ode to a Husbandman", "Epitaph to a Sailor Buried Ashore", and "Beside the Winter Sea", the latter a weirdly beautiful example of unusual command of blank verse, were referred to, with lyrics in lighter vein "Ballad of Crossing the Brook", and the juvenile verse: "Wake up" addressed to his small son and daughter, the former of whom has recently published a volume of poems of originality and power.

The Laughing Sally

Mr. Marquis recited with dramatic effect the ballad of "The Laughing Sally", the swinging tale of the pirate ship that went to her doom in defense of her pursuer, an English vessel, when the latter was attacked by two French frigates. The lecture concluded with a word of advice to study the works of Canadian poets, so as to better understand the various manifestations of nature, and "best of all, the heart attuned to poetry will never grow old, and we are just as old as our hearts are."

A hearty vote of thanks for "the wonderiuly beautiful presentation of the works of Charles G. D. Roberts" was moved by Mr. A. Mowat seconded by Miss Archer, and presented to the speaker by Miss A. Lancaster, occupying the chair for this meeting.

VETERANS TO RETURN, ETC.

the executive could call a general meeting, and if a comrade wanted one, he had to get 24 members to sign. I protested strongly, but they were unanimous. I got out." This was the story of one man called upon.

For not taking a more active interest in sports, the Association came in for a severe scoring from an ex-member. Fotball, he said, was all right, but why not baseball, etc.? He also declared that strangers were not received hospitably enough. "Here's a man talking about sport. For a long time we played basehall. It was dropped. So was indoor baseball. I say, if you want sports, get in and boost them. It's not the fault of the G.W.V.A.—it's the fault of the members," warmly declared one in the audience who wanted to put the blame where it was due.

Another speaker wandered pretty well over the whole field. He started out by upholding the fee as necessary to maintain the institution. 'The thing is a fraternity, a brotherhood. The sympathy of the people is not with us, because we're always haggling. The public say we're selfish —rightly so. If we fight for those men who can't fight for themselves, the public will support us."

Secretarial Stipend.

During his address, he put in a defence of the secretarial stipend. One of those present remarked it was all right for him to talk so lightly of the fee of the institution, for he had said at the previous meeting that he had never belonged to it.

"He didn't say tnat," was the reply.

"Yes you did, yes you did," came from all quarters of the hall.

"My idea is, we want to get together as we were in France," declared the next one up. "My idea is to have all ex-members received back at $1.00. That would put them in good standing for a month. I say, cut the 50 cents a month in two. I'm willing to go out and work four nights in the week to get members. I was often up in the orderly room, but I've got no grudge against the officers, I say, let the officers in."

The sentiment of the meeting was at first critical, later undecided, and when a man jumped up and said, "I'm a member that's dropped away from it, but I'm ready to go up and pay my dues," G.W.V.A. stock advanced rapidly.

"That's the stuff," said a voice.

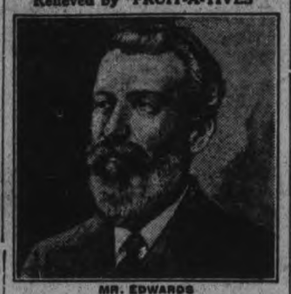
After Suffering 25 Years, Completely Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"



MR. EDWARDS

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"I am in my 78th year. About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach. One doctor said I had Cancer; another said, Ulcer of the Stomach; another, Gall Stones; others, Ulcers of the Liver and Inflammation of the Gall Bladder.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives". I found they helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much"

"I've never belonged to the Association, but I see it's necessary to get together. You can always find something to kick about," said a soldierly looking fellow from out-of-town.

Defended Association.

Assertions based on information received that the officers and the Veteran were subsidised by the Government were made, and replied to by Harvey J. Staunton, president of the local branch, and on the Provincial Command. H. J. Flynn, of Toronto, made the statements, and had to get out of Toronto and Canada within 48 hours, President Staunton, who said he signed the prosecution papers with other officers, declared. "I will deny publicly that any officer of the Provincial Command, which is the only one I can speak for, and the Veteran paper, were never subsidised by the Government." Mr. Staunton said he was unable to offer any more reason why W. E. Turley owned a $5,000 house on Pape Avenue than why he himself owned a $4,000 house in Peterborough.

Amidst a burst of applause, Secretary Sidney Whatley mounted the platform, and put in a defence of the Association. He extended a hearty welcome to all returned men to come back. He declared there wasn't one solitary thing reaped since they returned from overseas that was not primarily obtained through the efforts of the Association He recited pensions, post-discharge pay, vocational training, D.S.C.R. work, and insurance to men turned down by the regular companies . He said that he had put through $12,000 in insurance of that kind, and in claims, and allowances had got from the Government for soldiers the sum of $103,420.30.

Mr. Whatley appealed for unity. "If the Government realises you are united, I assure you they can do no other than sit up and take notice. The need for an organisation of this kind will be greater ten years from now than it is now, for you men know you are not entirely normal. I think the doctor will bear me out in that."

Regarding the fee, he admitted there was only a few other branches with such a high fee, but he declared there was a large establishment to maintain.

Dr. N. D. Sutton told the men he thought in Peterborough there was only room for one organisation 'What is the use of talking about cliques when there are some here to support and others who are not? What we need is all to get in and boost."

President H. J. Staunton promised that whatever action was taken would be brought before the executive .

The meeting wound up, after several more speakers had expressed themselves in favour of going back to the G.W.V.A., and a standing vote called for by B. Hartshorn, indicated a large number had been "converted," as one man put it.

The presiding officer stopped a discussion as to any political complexion to the Association, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

"PLENTY OF GOOD WILL BUT WITH SMALL HOPE"

German Minister Gives His Views of the Genoa Conference Quite Freely.

REPARATIONS.

BERLIN, April 8. — Canadian Press. — Dr. Walter Rathenau, the Foreign Minister, yesterday told the newspaper correspondents that the German delegation to the Genoa conference was going with "plenty of good will but with small hopes, trusting that the conference, despite its severely restricted agenda, will yet register a step forward in readjustment of the disordered world of economics."

Dr. Rathenau talked freely of German's internal and external problems of the economic misery growing out of the reparations issue and of Europe's future fate if the United States permanently disassociated herself from contin ntal affairs.

The Foreign Minister said he believed if the Genoa meeting produced negative results it would be a complete vindication of the German attitude that no international discussion could deliberately overlook the reparation issue, and would also prove that participation by the United States was indispensable to a rational solution.

Discussing Germany's reparations burdens at considerable length, Dr. Rathenau said:

"It required the labor of a million German working men last year to produce commodities and earn the payments needed for last year's reparations installment. The efforts of a second million were required to enable us to obtain raw products abroad which went into our commodities delivered to the Entente. A third million men had to toil in order that we as a nation might be in a position to obtain foodstuffs abroad since our native soil no longer suffices to sustain the German people. Thus the work of 3,000,000 able bodied Germans was primarily devoted to the task of paying off one year's reparations burden."

GREEK LOAN PASSED.

ATHENS, April 8. — (Canadian Press.— The Chamber of Deputies Thursday passed the first reading of the bill authorizing a forced loan of 1,500,000,000 drachmas (about $67,500,000) with an amendment forbidding the cutting in two of bank notes, as provided in the original bill. Under this arrangement half of each note would remain in circulation, representing half of the note's value, while the other would be converted into a bond of the compulsory loan.

Another amendment permits the banks to defer for one month payment of all their obligations to residents of Greece.

EXPECT EARLY END OF STRIKE

Conference Called By the Mayor of Lawrence, Mass., May Terminate Industrial Troubles in Cotton Mills.

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 8. — (Canadian Press.)—An early end of the strike in seven cotton and worsted mills here which recently announced a 20 per cent. wage cut was predicted by Ben Legere, leader of the One Big Union, at a mass meeting yesterday. He based his prediction on what had been said at a conference yesterday of strike leaders and the Resolutions Committee appointed by the mayor.

Thomas F. McMahon, President of the United Textile Workers of America, asserted last night that nothing had been said at the conference, to his knowledge, that indicated an early termination of the contest.

HOT TIME IN THE HOUSE OVER O.T.A.

Raney Is Accused of Using Convicted Criminals For Spotters and Enforcement Agents.

BY COL. LENNOX.

Accusing Attorney-General Raney of enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act by the employment of convicted criminals as "spotters", Col. Herbert Lennox, of North York, Conservative, for over three hours in the Legislature Thursday night launched charge after charge against the Attorney-General and his department. It was the warmest assault of a session notable for acrimonious debating, heard by a crowded House in constant uproar. Mr. Speaker having to warn the galleries to stop their laughing, and it can safely be said that Hon. W. E. Raney's experience in public life includes no three hours in which he has been submitted to such castigation as he received at the hands of Col. Lennox.

In making a series of very grave and sensational charges Col. Lennox was vehement, exacting and specific. He supplied names, dates and localities in every case. He spoke directly across the floor to the Attorney-General, who was leading the Government in the absence of Premier Drury (departed for Chicago) repeatedly challenging Mr. Raney to dispute his points, and he hammered home every attack with words of burning scorn. The Conservative and Liberal members contributed loud applause for every direct hit recorded; even the U.F.O. following seemed to feel the influence of that touch of Nature which comes into evidence whenever an effective attack is made on the hypocrisy attendant upon the paraded virtues of prohibition as enforced by the Drury Government.

Col. Lennox prefaced his exposure of the character of Mr. Raney's informers by noting that a jail term is the only penalty provided for second offenders against the O.T.A. Such being the case he declared it to be an indefensible outrage that citizens of Ontario were being rushed into jail on evidence of men, representing the Department of Justice, who were themselves convicted criminals.

Col. Lennox first charge had to do with the seizure at Fort Frances, Ontario, of liquor valued at $50,000 shipped from Winnipeg by the United Shippers of that city. The courts had decided that the Government had no right to make the seizure, but the liquor was still held by two men representing the Attorney-General's department. Col. Lennox declared that Mr. Raney had offered to restore this liquor to the owners if they would not ship it into the United States; they could use it to debauch the people of British Columbia.

"If I can't prove that statement by Mr. James Haverson, and I have permssion to use his name'," said Col. Lennox. "that you did make that offer or that it came from your department, in the Public Accounts Committee, then I'm no longer fit to be a member of this House."

Mr. Raney—"The statement is absolutely and unqualifiedly false.'

Col. Lennox—"Will you deny it came from your department?'

Mr. Raney—"I have no doubt at all that it did not."

Col. Lennox—"Then you'd better be around the Public Accounts Committee when the matter comes up."

Col. Lennox made reference to the incident where Rev. Mr. Spracklin had raided the Fleming yacht, with arms, and said he had been told what Spracklin's claim was that his "illegal ,unwarranted and indefensible conduct" on that occasion had been perpetrated under instructions from the department. Mr. Raney could say if he was wrong, but Mr Raney was silent.

Col. Lennox adjourned the debate, after speaking for three and a half hours.

REBELS CAPTURED IRISH BARRACKS.

LONDON, April 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Rebel members of the Republican army last night captured the barracks at Rathfarnham, south of Dublin, which Free State troops recently occupied. The rebels arrived in lorries and were assisted by gangs of men who were waiting nearby. They surprised Free State guards and ejected them.

BELFAST, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—British troops patrol county Fermanagh border in Ulster.

TRYING TO GET IRISH LEADERS INTO HARMONY

Efforts Being Made to Have Both Sides Co-operate to Put Down Lawlessness.

AT ELECTIONS.

LONDON, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Reports persist of attempts to harmonize the rival Irish parties. The Dublin correspondent of the London Times understands an earnest effort is being made to arrange some sort of modus vivendi between the Free State and Republican leaders during the next two months. The suggestion is that the two parties agree to protect freedom of elections and to employ their united military forces in discouraging lawlessness.

The correspondent believes that the Lord Mayor of Dublin and others are trying to effect a conference between the two sets of leaders. He says that responsible men of all parties are frightened by the growing disorders and the possibility of serious conflicts between the two wings of the Irish Republican Army.

The movement, which started from without, is described by the correspondent as gathering such weight in public opinion that the leaders of both sides may be unable to ignore it.

Many Angles to Charitable Work of Salvation Army in Peterboro

Their Drive For Badly Needed Funds, Commencing Monday Next, Should Meet With Generous Response.

The Salvation Army on Monday next, makes a drive for funds to carry on its work. There are many angles to the work of the Army in the city. Charitable work carried on by some 35 of its ladies is one of them. Since the beginning of the year, between 150 and 175 parcels of clothing have been sent out, with quantities of food. There are no strings attached to the work, and differences of creed have no influence on the workers. The need is the only requirement. Some of the conditions encountered in this work, as with any other charitable society, are "desperate", as one of the ladies said. They are compelled many times to go into homes and wash and clean up everything in sight, as well as provide necessities and comforts for the sick.

Visits are made weekly to the jail, the Old People's Home, and Nicholls Hospital, where the War Cry is taken to the shut-ins and sick. In the work of the Army among members, attention is paid to the four-fold development of the children; in the Girl Guards and Boy Scouts sections; the girls' sewing and knitting classes; the youngster brigades, and the junior band, which affiliates later with the grown-up organization.

Big Sisterhood Sows Charities Broadcast

Few people outside the direct circle of their good works, realize the extent of the charity which is being sowed broadcast by the Big Sisterhood. An ever-increasing list of people whom they look after now amounts to 280 children and 134 families. Sickness and want in the city bring more and more cases to their attention as time goes on. The big necessities of life, personal advice and service that includes attention to furnishing, and clothing, and food, milk to under-nourished children, boots for the scholars, the care of a cripple child whose feet turn in; these are all in the day's wrk of the many women engaged in the Big Sisterhood service.

Recently, a request by the society for a pair of crutches for a crippled woman brought a response which included five pairs of the desired convenienece.

Mother of Wales

It is related of Katherine Tudor de Berayne, cousin and ward of Queen Elizabeth and a famous heiress, as she was returning from the grave of her first husband, Sir John Salusbury, that she was asked in marriage by Maurice Wynne of Gwydir, who was amazed to learn that he was too late, as she had already engaged herself to Sir Richard Clough. "But," added the lady, 'if in the providence of God I am unfortunate enough to survive him, I consent to be the lady of Gwydir." Nor does the tale end here, for she married yet another, and having sons by all four husbands, came to called "Mamy Cymry"—Mother of Wales—and no doubt deserved the appellation.

CUT GLASS.

Tommy's Method For Getting Three Cents

Tony wanted three cents, and he wanted it badly. Just why three cents would add so much to his enjoyment of life, nobody knew. He wasn't explaining, but everyone within radius of his father's shop knew he wanted three cents, because he kept saying so. "Get away from there," said his father, shoving Tony away from the cash register. "Just three cents," whimpered the little fellow, shoving a grimy fist into a round eye. But the father was stern. Tony was to get no three cents; that was final. He wailed loudly, and managed to squeeze a few tears out, with no effect, only stopping when a customer drew his parent's attention to the rear of the store. Then he withdrew the fist, and gazed at the ladies surveying his efforts.

"He can have anything in the store he wants," said father, virtuously, "but I don't want him going out to buy sweets." And then he reached into the cash register, and abstracted three large, round coppers. Tony's hand shot out and grabbed them, and, taking to his heels, he was out of the shop in a flash, victorious, as usual. His father grinned and rolled up a fine cauliflower for a waiting lady.

Turning Everything To The Best Account

One of the young ladies interested in the campaign for funds going on this week for the Y.W.C.A. public department, isn't letting the grass grow under her feet. She is turning every little thing to account in her desire to augment the slowly-growing amount. The other day, one of her girl friends 'stumped' her to approach everyone on her homeward-bound street car, with a request for contributions. The young lady took the dare, netted quite a nice little sum for her efforts, and received a forfeited dollar from the girl who had suggested the idea. The same young lady retrieved a lost umbrella on a street car, and compelled its owner to pay a reward for its return, to help along the fund.

At the lecture held under the auspices of the Engineering Institute, young ladies from the C.G.E. Co. took up a collection for the fund, and realized a sizeable amount of money.

Job For Father

The average duster has but a short handle. It is impossibe for mother to reach into the corners of the ceiling and brush down cobwebs.

Solve this by making a substitute handle, from an old broomstick. With a wire snapper this can easily be made to snap on to the regular handle.

Household Suggestions

Cleaning Cutlery.

Dor the steel cutlery use a cork to apply the cleanng powder. It is much more satisfactory than a cloth.

Rubber Gloves.

Rubber gloves will last much longer with proper care. After wearing them wash out and thoroughly dry with a soft cloth. If the hands perspire, dust talcum inside the gloves. As soon as you notice a tear, patch it with adhesive.

Use Scissors.

A pair of scissors will be found more satisfactory than a knife in cutting off the fins and tails of fish when cleaning them.

Cereals.

Cereals and dried fruits must be cared for to insure against insects. Examine cereals and pancake flours when opening carton, and if there are any weevils return the package to the grocer. These foods really keep best in glass jars and should be kept in cool, dry places.

Bananas.

Bananas may be ripened in a dark room where the temperature is warm, or they can be kept in a paper bag. They are much sweeter when thoroughly ripe.

SAVES ICE.

Wrap newspapers around the ice in your ice box. This will make the ice last much longer and cut down your ice bill.

ONION JUICE.

To extract juice from an onion cut a slice from root end of onion draw back the skin, and press onion on a coarse grater working with a rotary motion.

CARE OF RANGE.

After broiling or frying, in any fat is spattered on your range, wipe surface at once with a newspaper.

WASHING WINDOWS.

To wash mirrors and windows, rub over with chamois skin wrung out of warm water, then wipe with a piece of dry chamois skin.

OILCLOTH.

Wash oilcloth with warm water and milk. Use one cupful of skim milk to one gallon of water. Wipe dry with a clean cloth.

GLASSES.

Drinking glasses which have been used for milk should be first rinsed in cold water before washing in hot.

PROTECTION.

Fold sheets and tablecloths with the hemmed sides together, being careful that these are perfectly straight, then hang them on the line along with selvidge ends. This will protect them from the wind and avoid wrinkles.

ICING.

The icing on cake will not break if you will dip the cake knife into boiling water a few seconds before cutting the cake.

SAUSAGES.

Rolling sausages in flour and sprinkling them with water keeps the from breaking in frying and gives them an excellent flavor.

OLIVES.

Olives left over after a meal should be kept in the brine they come in. Otherwise they dry up.

HANDY PAD.

A little pad hung in the kitchen, with a pencil attached, will help you to keep from forgetting little things that you intended to order from the store. As something runs out, jot it down and make his pad your daily shopping list.

ICEBOX.

Wash out your ice box with hot water at least once a week. This will prevent it from giving a bad taste to foods that are kept in it.

A Cheerful Soul

"The children sing in far Japan,
The children sing in Spain,
The organ and the organ-man
Are singing in the rain."

We haven't any organ-men in Peterboro, but we have the singers in the rain, or if not the singers, the whistlers. There was a cheerful whistler going down Charlotte street the other evening in the rain. He had no umbrella, and he had only one leg, suported by a crutch, but he was whistling "Peggy O'Neill" as he stumped along in the fine drizzle.

And we met a little lad the other evening coming up George street in the rain. His whistle was cheerfully loud, and, strangely enough, his small feet stumped along too, for they turned in at sharp angles, one very badly. It takes more than bad weather and misfortune to daunt some hearts.

Ways to Economize on Meat

If the average housekeeper would learn to use the cheaper cuts of meat in appetizing and attractive ways she could do much toward reducing the cost of high living.

The shoulder of lamb makes a perfectly good roast and is never as expensive as the leg of lamb. The breast, shank and neck can be made into very palatable and nourishing dishes that will take the place of the expensive chops on ordinary occasions.

Roast Shoulder of Lamb.

A shoulder of lamb, 2 slices of bacon, 2 cups stock, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 medium sized onions, 2 carrots, 1 small turnip, 6 peppercorns, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup canned tomato juice.

Remove bone from shoulder. Cover bone with cold water, about three cupfuls, and bring slowly to the boiling point Let simmer two hours. Wipe meat with a damp cloth and trim off the thin tissue-like covering. Season with salt and pepper, roll tightly and tie.

Cut the bacon in narrow match-like strips and insert in the meat. Slice vegetables and put in bottom of casserole. Dot with butter and add meat.

Cover closely and put in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Add parsley and peppercorns. Pour over two cups stock, cover closely and roast in a slow oven for two and one-half hours.

Take out meat and remove strings. Strain stock. There should be one and one-half cups. Melt two tablespoons butter in sauce pan, stir in flour and stir over the fire until the flour is brown.

Add stock slowly, stirring constantly. Then add one-half cup canned tomato juice. Serve in a gravy boat as a sauce for the meat.

Ragout of Lamb.

Two pounds neck of lamb, 1 cup boiling stock, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 strip celery, sprig parsley, thyme and bay leaf, yolks 2 eggs, ½ cup cooked spinach, juice ½ lemon, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Trim meat. Put into cold water, bring slowly to the boiling point. Drain and plunge into cold salt water, let stand five minutes. Drain and dry between towels. Cut into two-inch squares.

Melt butter in sauce pan, add sliced vegetables and simmer without browning for 15 minutes. Sift in flour, stirring constantly and slowly add boiling stock. Add parsley, thyme and bay leaf, one-third teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Stir until the mixture boils and is perfectly smooth. Put meat in casserole and pour over sauce. Cover closely, simmer two hours in a slow oven or over a slow fire.

Heat spinach and rub through a fine sieve. Remove meat from casserole and strain sauce. Add spinach puree and when almost boiling add the egg yolks beaten slightly with two tablespoons cream. Add lemon juice to spinach when rubbing through sieve.

Cook the sauce over hot water until thick and smooth. Arrange meat on a hot platter and pour the hot sauce over it.

Rebekahs Upheld Their Repute For Good Time

The local Rebekah Lodge of the I.O.O.F, which has achieved a reputation for good times at its meetings, had an especially entertaining affair on Tuesday evening last, on the occasion of the presence at its monthly meeting of the president of the Rebekah Assembly for Ontario. Mrs. Carrie Watson of St. Thomas; the vice president for Ontario, Mrs. Lena Bruce of Toronto; and the past president, Mrs. Edna Middleton of Toronto. The deputy president Mrs. How of Havelock, was present on this occasion also.

The guests were ushered into the Oddfellows Hall, where the meeting took place, under an arch of carnations, held aloft by the degree staff. Mrs. Wm. Hartley acted as Marshal, and presented the visitors to the local Noble Grand, Miss Bella Brealey. The carnations were afterwards presented by the degree staff to Mrs. Watson, and during the evening Mrs. Watson, Mrs. How and Mrs. Bert Wats, local vice president, were each presented with a half-dozen cut-glass sherbet glasses. A banquet followed, with a very enjoyable evening spent in speeches, songs and general jollity, participated in by nearly 200 ladies.

MATERIALS: Wash basin with water; seven corks.

PROBLEM: To make the corks float in a vertical position.

SOLUTION: As the corks will not float vertically, but on their sides, if alone, place them on edge grouped together on the table. Seize this group compactly and plunge them into the water so as to moistem them completely. Then let go and they will float together on end.

BED sheets and counterpanes—bath towels and bath mats that you dread to clean on wash day.

Just let them soak themselves perfectly clean with Rinso—the new scientific form of Soap in granules. Do not put the Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Make the Rinso liquid first.

Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water and when the froth subsides put it in a tub of cool or lukewarm water and you will have enough for a batch of clothes.
If the clothes are extra soiled, use more Rinso.

Cosmetics Are An Enemy to All The Ex-Chorus Girls

MISS RUBY NORTON.

By GENE COHN.

Rouge, powder, lip-stick—all the cosmetics that help in forming the stage career of a chorus girl become her worst enemy once she gets off-stage and seeks other work.

Take that from A. W. Schroeter, employment expert in San Francisco, Calif.

"Disturbing Influence."

He was asked by an agent of the Chorus Girls' Protective Association to analyze the reasons why thousands of chorus girls in the United States are remaining jobless during the period of theatrical depression.

"The chorus girl will not discard, in domestic service, those adjuncts of make-up, those frills and furbelows she had known before the footlights," said Schroeter. "Hence she becomes a disturbing influence."

And all this leads to the discovery that a national survey is being made in an effort to discover why chorus girls have been turned down in other jobs.

Are Too Pretty.

Miss Ruby Norton, vaudeville actress, gathered the statistics in the western section of the country. In her investigation she approached Schroeter for a job. When he found she was an actress he told her, in connection to the cosmetics angle:

"Employment experts try to give people the help they desire. Hence we are backward about sending chorus girls for fear they may flirt with the male service. Also they don't know how to make their eyes behave and the average chorus girl is too pretty."

Artist, in Feud Fist Fight, Whips Harry Leon Wilson

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Harry Leon Wilson, nationally known author and playwright, and Theodore Criley, artist, fought a dual recently, says a San Francisco paper today. There were no clashing blades or silver mounted pistols.

It was fought in a sheltered glen near Carmel, artist colony, 70 miles south of here, on the Pacific Coast, and at daylight the traditional hour of duels. The weapons were fists, encased in riding gloves, and backed, in Wilson's case, with a weight of specially trained bone and muscle.

Criley won.

An Ancient Feud.

According to the paper the feud was of long standing, arising from a quarrel after a New Year's festivity. Criley said he was attacked in letters which came through the mails, and by messenger, but that he made efforts to meet Wilson to discuss the situation.

Last fall, the open air theatre, a community affair, presented "Pomander Walk," a romantic play. Mrs. Wilson was chosen for the role of heroine, and Criley played opposite her as hero. Wilson is said to have become jealous and this later fanned into bitter enmity.

When Wilson left for Honolulu early in the year, it was thought to mark an armistice in the feud, which was well known in the artist colony. But a letter was said to have been written by Wilson to Criley before he sailed, saying he would be back. His vacation time was spent in training—walking, swimming, boxing. He returned from Honolulu in fine trim.

A challenge was issued, the story runs. Wilson said he would bring two seconds and suggested his opponent be similarly provided, but Criley declined to bring friends into it. Wilson suggested soft riding gloves worn over fists otherwise quite hard.

Criley accepted the challenge. It was said that Mrs. Criley exacted a promise that he would not strike the first blow. He appeared alone, and spoke no word until the end of the duel.

Wilson paced off a space the size of a ring. Old English rules were approved, providing that a knockdown constituted a round, and for intervals of three minutes between rounds.

Wilson stepped into the ring, stripped to his under garments, and waited while Criley removed his glasses and his coat. With a cry of "Now," Wilson alnded the first blow. Criley's promise to his wife no longer was binding him. There was little sparring. The men stood chest to chest and traded blow for vlow.

"Alas, You Win, But——"

After three minutes of battle, Wilson went down.

"Your round," he gasped, and struggled to his feet.

The second round wax shorter. Wilson went down again. Five rounds were fought according to witnesses.

At last Wilson stayed down. "You win," he said, "but don't think I am through with you. I've just begun."

"I am always at your service," replied Criley.

Criley formerly was a business man and retired to devote his time to the study of landscape painting.

Mrs. Criley has been under a doctor's care since the affair.

"The whole thing was childish," Criley said. "It was schoolboy stuff."

Wilson, 55 years old, weighed 185 pounds. Criley is 45 years old, and weighs 155 pounds.

Mr. Wilson has been a widely popular author for a number of years. Among some of his best known tales are "Ruggles of Red Gap," "Bunker Bean," "The Spenders," "The Boss of Arcady," "The Wrong Twin," "Ma Pettengill."

THE DOORS IN THE TEMPLE

Three doors are in the temple
Where men go up to pray,
And they that wait at the outer gate
May enter by either way.

There are some that pray by Asking;
They lie on the Master's breast,
And, shunning the strife of the lower life,
They utter their cry for rest.

There are some that pray by Seeking;
They doubt where their reason fails,
But their minds' despair is their ancient prayer
To touch the print of the nails.

There are some that pray by Knocking:
They put their strength to the wheel,
For they have not time for thoughts sublime,
They can only act what they feel.

(Father, give each his answer—
Each in his kindred way).
Adapt Thy light to his form of night,
And grant him his needed day.
—George Mathson

HUNT MONSTER WITH CLUB TAIL

Chicago Museum Men Are Going to South America to Get a Glyptodon.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 8.—One doesn't usually hunt 1,500-pound mammals having turtle-like shells and 10-foot tails which look like formidable spread war clubs, except in bad dreams, but a party from the Field Museum will seek to find such an animal, and others as strange, in Argentina next year.

Elmer S. Riggs, curator of the department of paleontology, will head the expedition, and he means to bring back the megatherium and the glytodon dead or alive—probably dead, as they are recorded as having been extinct a long while.

The glyptodon is the creature with the charming tail described: the megatherium, a variety of ground sloth, is a fellow a few sizes larger than the elephant.

Lazy Tree Dweller

The sloth known today is a dweller in trees, from which he hangs all day, moving slowly about toward dusk. The megatherium, however, had no need to climb trees, for he could stand on the ground and reach lofty branches with his forepaws.

These are a few of the huge monsters Mr. Riggs will seek in the southern wonderland. He won't disdain, however, to look about for extinct animals as small as mice, and expects to find remains of many of them.

Mr. Riggs' expedition will be one of five which the museum has begun to send to South America. A botanical party is already in British Guiana. Mr. Riggs will sail in the autumn, to be in the southern hemisphere when it is spring there. The party, which will also include J. B. Abbott of the museum and one other experienced field worker yet to be selected, will look for fossils where the sea has worn away the rock along the Argentine coast. In some places the rock system is exposed for a mile.

Glimpse at Long Ago

The extinct mammals of South America are quite interesting, Mr. Riggs says, because they are chiefly marsupials and are more closely related to the fauna of Australia than to that, living or extinct, found in North America or elsewhere.

The distinctly South American animals now extinct include, besides the ground sloth and the glyptodon, a camel-shaped beast with the snout of a tapir, and a heavy-bodied river animal which resembled the hippopotamus, having hoofs, huge teeth and a skull like that of a horse.

The prehistoric South and North American animal life is dissimilar because the continents were long separate. When a connection arose some of the animals crossed over, the ground sloth into the northern, the mastodon and mammoth into the southern continent, scientists say. The first ground sloth found in North America was described by Thomas Jefferson and bears his name: megalonyx Jeffersoni.

THE MYSTERY OF ROBERT EMMETT

EVER since the earliest days of English history, the relations between the home government and Ireland have, to say the least, been strained and difficult, culminating in the months of bloodshed which led to the formation of the Irish Free State—but including, before this time, such strange events as the affair of Sir Robert Casement and the mystery which surrounds the final disposition of the body of Robert Emmet.

Born in Dublin during the American Revolution, Emmet made a brilliant record for himself at Trinity College and then, joining the society of "United Irishmen," shocked the officials of the college to such an extent that he was expelled. It was at this time that he proclaimed his purpose of separating Ireland from England and establishing the island as an independent republic. After participating in the rebellion of 1798 he was forced to take refuge in France, returning in time to take part in the great Irish insurrection of 1803.

July 23 had been set as the date for seizing the castle and arsenals of Dublin and the plans were carried through successfully, save for the fact that the insurrectionists hesitated to follow Emmet to Dublin Castle and the Irish leader was forced to flee for his life to the Wicklow Mountains, where he remained in hiding until word should come that he might safely escape to France. Had it not been for his desire to take a final farewell of his fiance, Sarah Curran, daughter of the noted barrister, John P. Curran, Emmet might have made his way safely across the Channel. But he delayed too long, was captured and, like Sir Roger Casement, was tried for high treason against the British Government and sentenced to death.

The penalty inflicted upon Emmet was, however, even more severe than that which Sir Roger was destined to meet more than a century later. After he had been hanged, the executioner beheaded him and exhibited the bloody head to the multitude. Then his body was taken to the Kilmainham jail, where instead of being destroyed by quicklime, as was usual in cases of this kind, it was held awaiting orders from the Emmet family. As it happened, however, all Emmet's relatives and friends were at that time either in prison on charges of insurrection or in hiding and, beyond stating that the body was returned to the jail, history does not relate what became of the corpse of the great Irish leader.

Four generations have scoured the Emerald Isle for Robert Emmet's remains, but in vain. According to the statement of the Kilmainham jailer, the corpse, when unclaimed, was taken from the prison and buried in Sulley's Acre, a sort of potter's field where the bodies of paupers and executed criminals were interred, but was afterwards claimed and exhumed by a Doctor Gamble, who secret y re-buried the bones in Dublin in order to avoid the interference of the British authorities who feared that the ceremony might lead to another popular outbreak.

Emmet's brother-in-law, John Patten, claimed that one of the men who assisted in the burial of the body assured him that it lay in consecrated ground at St. Michael's Church, Dublin. According to this witness, a large stone which, out of respect for Emmet's wishes that his grave should bear no epitaph until Ireland should be freed, bore no inscription, was put over the grave. But the church records were carefully searched and no clue to any body that might possibly have been that of the Irish patriot was ever discovered.

Still another version has it that there remains were interred in the Protestant churchyard at Glasnevan, while some members of the family maintain that it was hidden in the family vault at St. Peter's. In spite of these reports—or possibly because of their contradictory nature—the Irish people are still searching for the ashes of their hero, but their resting place remains today as deep a mystery as it was more than a century ago.

A WOLFE

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 7.—(Canadian Press).—That a wolf, once trapped, may yet be caught again, is the experience of an Indian, named Charlie Shagenash, at Quorny. Last fall Charlie trapped a large wolf which, however, earned its way to freedom by the rather heroic method of gnawing off the front leg by which it was held. The wound healed and ten times during the winter Charlie caught sight of the three-legged beast shambling its way through the bush, and leaving behind it unmistakable footprints that revealed its identity. Recently Charliewent out along his trap line and found the lame wolf securely clasped by the steel jaws, which were clamped about his other leg.

The wolf apparently realized that it would be fatal to gnaw off this one remaining front leg, and it was just as fatal not to do so. And now, after waiting five months, Charlie is ready to collect the bounty.

ONE HUNDRED LACROSSE STICKS ARRIVE FOR CITY LEAGUE TEAMS

Biggest Shipment For Peterboro in Years—Will Be Sold at Cost Without Any Retail Profit.

LACROSSE NEWS.

Eight dozen lacrosse sticks, the largest consignment of the old hickory that has come to Peterboro in a decade or more, were received by Dr. Sutton yesterday and handed over to Mr. Lou LeBarr. There were four dozen each of youths' and boys' sticks in the shipment which was obtained at a specially low price through the arrangement of the O.A.L.A. with Joe Lally. They are being sold at cost and it is expected that the supply will be quickly taken up.

The youths' sticks are regarded by Mr. Lebarr as fully as good as the senior sticks bought last year for the intermediate team. They will sell at $2.50 each. All the city league clubs are each allotted one dozen sticks, and their president or managers are requested to secure from Dr. Sutton a note to Mr. Lebarr for their delivery. Some of the city league players are already equipped, but there are other youngsters who are just starting the game who will have this chance to get a first class stick at the lowest possible price.

The boys' sticks will be handed out at $1.50 each, and it is likely that arrangements will be made for their distribution immediately and directly.

All the signs point to a real comeback of Canada's national game in Peteroboro, and these signs will be fully realized when the corner lots are ringing with the shouts of the boys who decide that lacrosse offers just as much fun and excitement, if not more, than the other games.

WHAT BILLY EVANS SAYS

Pitching is unquestionably the best asset of a ball team.

Of course there are other things required in baseball aside from pitching.

A batting offensive is very necessary. Fielding is a consideration. Base-running also has its place.

However, one feature that enters into the makeup of every successful ball club usually receives little or no consideration when discussing a team's strength.

In baseball there is a phrase used which tells what I mean "It is a smart ball club" is the way players refer to teams that are quick to take advantage of opportunities.

I have known of a half dozen ball clubs that had great pitching, plenty of hitting, fielding and base running yet never won a pennant.

They were not smart ball clubs.

DETROIT RECRUIT TAKES SWING A LA BABE RUTH.

The 56-ounce bat is a myth in baseball.

Babe Ruth is supposed to swing a 56-ouncer. That is 12 ounces more than Ruth's bats actually weigh. Ruth swings a 44 ounce stick.

The heaviest bat used in baseball this year is wielded by Floyd Caves Herman, first baseman of the Omaha club in the Western League.

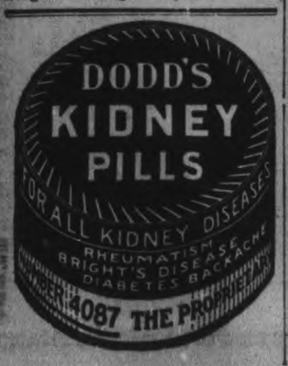
Herman is Detroit property. He tried out with Detroit this spring and is farmed to Omaha for the year. He is a native of California and played with the Edmonton team in the Western Canada League last season.

Detroit was attracted to Herman by his batting ability. He is only 18 years of age, stands six feet two inches in height, weighs 198 in playing form, had but one year's experience in professional baseball, but he is a natural batsman, a free swinger.

Herman's shoulders are as powerful as Ruth's and he is a slugger to the "manner" born. He takes what ball players describe as "a nasty cut" at the ball and he swings from the ear. He "drives 'em a mile."

When Herman reported at the Detroit camp in Augusta he brought along a bat weighing 48 ounces. A few days later there arrived six more bats weighing 48 ounces each and with the name of "Lefty Herman" burnt into the business end of the hickory.

Herman's bats are two inches longer than the bats used by Harry Heilmann, who is just as big as Herman and who is the American League's batting champion.



SCHOOL LACROSSE LEAGUE?

Mr. Walter Smaill will Endeavor to Organize the School Boys.

Mr. Walter Smaill, athletic director for the P.A.A.A., expects shortly to interview the public school principals with the view of persuading them to encourage lacrosses in the schools. If his effort in behalf of the summer game meets with anything like the success he obtained in directing the school hockey league last winter the promoters of lacrosse will be highly gratified.

It is understood that he will take hold of the Strathconas, Johnnie Ward's gang which includes some of the Collegiate Institute boys. The students just now are worrying over their Easter exams, but the approaching holidays will give them a good chance for workouts.

WOMEN'S PLACE IN ATHLETIC CIRCLES.

Matter Will Be Threshed Out at a Conference to Be Held To-Day.

NEW YORK, April 8.—(Canadian Press). — Official recognition of woman's place in United States athletics will be considered at a meeting of athletic authorities from all parts of the country here to-day. The conference, which will be under the sanction of the Amateur Athletic Union, was called at the request of the National Women's Track Athletic Committee, headed by Dr. Harry Eaton Stewart.

The competition of women athletes in both track and field sports has developed to such an extent in recent years, especially abroad, that competent control of and sanction on a national scale is considered desirable. A similar situation arose in swimming a few years ago, and the aquatic sport among women was placed under the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., with the result that at the 1920 Olympic Games in Antwerp, United States women swimmers won a large majority of the competitions open to their sex.

Similar development is taking place in track sport. Dual and international meets between women of the countries of Europe are now of common occurrence, and it is certain that such events will be added to the 1928 Olympic Games scheduled for Amsterdam. In this country women's track meets have been confined to the various schools and colleges, but there is a growing demand for a broader recognition which has resulted in the conference set for to-day.

JACK DEMPSEY IS ON A COOK'S TOUR.

NEW YORK, April 8.— Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, arrived here from the Pacific Coast to join Jack Kearns, his manager, and party, for a rest before sailing for Europe on the Aquitania on Tuesday next.

The champion will leave New York without any matches definitely in prospect and with only the haziest of plans. He said he is anxious to meet the best Europe can offer, providing the purse is satisfactory. Mentioning Carpentier, Joe Beckett, Bombardier Wells, "or anyone else," Dempsey said he'd jump at the chance to take them on.

Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, who is being groomed for a bout with Dempsey, holds no terrors for the champion. Dempsey said that because of some prejudice against a mixed match in this country it might be best to hold such a contest in Europe, but he added that he is willing to meet Wills at home. Dempsey intimated that Kearns was dickering with English promoters for such a match.

Accompanying Dempsey and Kearns will be Teddy Hayes, the champion's secretary, and Joe Benjamin. Benjamin probably will get into the ring soon after his arrival, arrangements being negotiated for a go with Ernie Rae, the British lightweight champion.

The party will proceed on what Kearns terms an elastic programme. They will go to London, Paris, and probably other of the large Continental cities. Kearns said he is not averse to an exhibition tour and unless some worth-while matches are brought about he plans to arrange one.

Neither Kearns nor Dempsey would estimate the probable duration of their tour. Dempsey, however, insisted that he is not signed to meet Wills in England, that the negro would have an opportunity at home.

"When the right time comes," Dempsey said, "Harry Wills will get his chance."

TWO BASEBALL CLASHES IN NEW YORK TO-DAY

NEW CORK, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Baseball came into its own here to-day. The Giants were hoping the weather man will permit them to meet the Chicago White Sox at the Polo Grounds, while the Yankees were preparing to invade the home grounds of the Brooklyn Nationals. All four teams reached here this morning after their training trips south.

THE REGULARS WHIFF

Athletics For Everybody

A comfortable income is a fair passport to happiness, but only if there is good health to complement it. To a greater extent than any other factor good health is the key to an enjoyable existence. Next to the weather, men spend most time narrating their ill health experiences.

To a considerable degree this condition, doctors assert, is our own fault. The alternative to poor health is sensible exercise; there is a general indictment that as a people we are too ready to watch others disport for our amusemnt and not ready enough to play ourselves for the good of our health as well as for pleasure.

Now that the out-of-doors days are at hand this is a subject worth pondering. It is a peculiar thing that the boy who plays base ball on the vacant lot, who participates in track, football or basket ball activities and thinks his young life inequitably distributed without that devotion to healthful tasks, is willing to abandon every one of them when he reaches man's estate and gradually takes his exercise behind the steering wheel of an automobile. For active sport he is willing to sit in the stands and chew gum.

One criticism has been levelled at the educational system that develops group sports which become inconvenient for the individual to pursue when the groups are scattered on leaving school, and fails to teach those athletics whic one or a couple can undertake golf and tennis being examples. If his criticism is valid there rests none the less on the individual the burden of proving himself mentally incapable of suggesting a correction in his own case, by suppyling the initiative for himself.

The greatest corrective of adult ill-health is universal adult amateur athletics. Men should play themselves as well as watching others. The boy at college does not know the gloomy moments the man experiences worrying about his stomach, or his head, or his eyes, or his liver; it is incomprehensible to him; yet within a decade, if he deserts his open air medicine, he, too will begin to think twice about pie and be taking advice on the baleful effects of fried foods.

The national adult health, could be vastly improved, without doubt, if everyone could be induced to resume, in a degree suited to him, the athletics of younger days. There is merit equally in the modest hike and the more intellectual studied golf-ball; in a humble game of hand ball or an abandon of tennis. "The play's the thing." —Detriot News

ATHLETICS ORGANISE.

Bert Todd, President, and George Mein, Manager, of New Team.

The Athletic Lacrosse Club organised last night, appointing a full slate of officers, and mustering a bunch of youngsters and a few experienced older players who should make a formidable aggregation in the Senior City Lacrosse League.

The officers are as follow:

Patrons—Dr. M. J. Roche, Dr. A. H. Allen, Mr. Claude H. Rogers, and Dr. W N. Hayes.

President—Bert Todd.

1st Vice-president—Arnold Hatton.

2nd Vice-president — Grover Halpin.

Secretary—Ben Simms.

Treasurer—Doug. Miller.

Committee—Dick Fuller, George Mein, Fred Wolfe, and Dick Bates.

Manager—George Mein.

Another meeting will be held next Wednesday night, 12th April, at 7 o'clock, at 334 Downie Street.

The Athletics are the first of the four prospective City League teams to get under way, but the other three will follow immediately, and next week should find them all ready for the practices, which will be held regularly as soon as the grounds are in god condition. In fact, several work-outs in parts of the city have already been held, and the new men are getting their first taste of lacrosse.

To George Mein goes the credit for getting these Athletic youngsters together. They talked lacrosse over among themselves, with young Keith Mein taking a prominent part in the preliminaries, and their next step was to enlist the aid of the old veteran "Shock," with the result that he is going to steal a few hours from the overtime demands of business to give the boys th benefit of his experience in the crawling stage of their practices. George is confident that they will be soon walking, and next year will be able to take care of themselves. And that is exactly the way lacrosse is going to be put back on its feet and as lusty and interesting as ever. Next!

NOTED JOCKEY TALKS ABOUT GREAT HORSES

Picks Man o' War as Best Horse of All Time and Says Billy Kelly Ranks as Smartest Horse He Ever Rode.

BY BILLY EVANS.

Johnny Loftus at one time was considered the best jockey in the world.

Loftus is now seeking new racing laurels as trainer of thoroughbreds.

Perhaps no rider of the present day is in a better position to discuss the merits of many of the leading horses of the American turf.

Loftus has ridden most of the great horses of the last 15 years. Here is what he thinks of them:

"The best horse I ever rode was undoubtedly Man o' War.

"I think that Shadrach was about the meanest. Shadrach was a 2-year-old, racing at Juarez, Mex. He had started before with other boys up, but coming out of the chute he would turn the wrong way of the track.

"His owner asked me to try him. I made up my mind that Shadrach wouldn't take the wrong way of the track with me. He didn't. He took the fence and dropped me off going over.

"The smartest race horse that I ever rode was Billy Kelly.

Billy didn't need a rider. I believe that if you tied a sack of oats to his saddle he would go to the post wait the springing of the barrier, get off and lay just back of the pace and when he straightened out in the stretch would make his move, and probably win going away."

Looks for Big Season.

Loftus has 17 horses in training at Belmont Park for J. C. Ryan, among them Sea Mint, who was such a disapointment last year, 12 3-year-olds and four youngsters.

Loftus considers Northcliffe of the 3-year-olds as the best prospect for the coming season. Last year he has hard luck, but showed amazing speed in his trials.

Of the 2-year-olds Drogheda, a chestnut colt, gives the most promise.

Whether Loftus will have the same success as a trainer as he did as a jockey only the future can tell.

But if hard work and a thorough knowledge of horses count for anything Loftus should put the Ryan colors in the forefront of the racing stables this year.

LACROSSE TEAM CONTINUES WINS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—England's good lacrosse team, composed of Oxford and Cambridge players, continued its record of unbroken victories yesterday, defeating the University of Pennsylvania, 8 to 0. The superiority of the Englishmen was plainly shown in their superb passing ability. Pennsylvania tried long passes, while all those of the visitors were short. They gained most of their ground by running with the ball.

The game was played in a sea of mud.

"PEP" YOUNG TO FIND NEW BERTH.

DETROIT, April 8. —R. "Pep" Young, Detroit American infielder, has been claimed on waivers by the Philadelphia Athletics, it was announced last night. Young is with the Tigers at Memphis, and it is expected he will immediately join Philadelphia. The locals asked waivers on Young several days ago, when he again developed the trouble with his throwing, that caused his removal from the line-up last year.

BALL FANS WANT RUTH REINSTATED.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Dyed-in-the-wool Yankee fans have started circualtion of a petition to former Judge Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, requesting the reinstatement of Babe Ruth in the American League team's line-up that he may play in the opening game of the season.

G. C. Hill, who is sponsoring the petition, said last night he had obtained 1,000 signatures in a few hours, and expected to have fully 20,000 before he presented it to Commissioner Landis.

The petition declares that it is the opinion of a majority of fans that Ruth's suspension until May 20, imposed when he persisted in playing on a "barnstorming" tour last Fall, should be lifted that the public might see him in action and that he may attempt to make another home run record.

"We are not criticizing Judge Landis for enforcing this rule," the statement said, "but we think he should take steps to have the rule repealed."

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO MEET ON APRIL 20.

DENVER, Colo., April 8.— Captain Bob Roper, of Roanoke, Va., and Fred. Fulton, of Rochester, Minn., heavyweights, will meet here on April 20, in a 12-round boxing bout, it was announced here.

Gloria Swanson Richly Gowned in Her Latest Paramount Picture

The skins of twenty-two Australian opossums were required to make up the new, rare opossum-fur coat worn by Gloria Swanson in some of the scenes of her latest Paramount picture "Her Husband's Trademark."

The beautiful fur of the Australian black and white oppossum; the black opossum is the newest thing in fashions, but is a rare product and is seldom seen outside of the most exclusive circles.

Mrs. Ethel Chaffin, head designer at the Lasky studio, secured after much time an search, the ten black and white opossum skins and the twelve black opossum skins with which the coat is made. Mrs. Chaffin designed this stunning new creation especially for Miss Swanson to wear in this picture.

The star also wears six very lavish style creations and two beautiful and striking negligees in the picture, in which beautiful cloths are a necessary feature of the theme of the story.

Sam Wood directed the picture. The original story was written by Clara Beranger and the scenario by Lorna Moon. Richard Wayne and Stuart Holmes have the leading male roles and others in the cast are Lucien Littlefield, Charles Ogle, Edythe Chapman ad Charles Burton.

Jimmy Aubrey Leads A Charmed Life

In "A Charmed Life", a Vitagraph screen comedy, starring Jimmy Aubrey, the popular Jimmy proves that there is no space to small for him to hide. Pursued by the irate proprietor of a laundry Jimmy passes through a mangle with a day's wash and comes out alive somewhat dazed. Immediately afterwards he conceals himself on the shelf behind packages of freshly done clothes.

The accomplishment of these Houdini like feats is one of Jimmy's secrets. He will not reveal them except to hint that his acrobatic training has taught him how to contract muscles and sinews in such a way as to reduce his size considerably. In 'A Charmed Life, he expanded them too soon an thereby hangs the fate of Jimmy in is latest comedy success.

The Capitol Theatre has an added attraction for next week in the appearance here of Flora Shaw, Torontos favourite soprano vocalist. Miss Shaw has appeared several times in Massey Hall, and is immensely popular with Toronto audiences.

There will be just one show this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, with the Saturday night prices: Wickers (reserved), 45 cents; downstairs, 35 cents; back balcony, 27 cents.

AT THE ROYAL.

CHOSEN FOR EASTER FESTIVAL.

The Royal has been fortunate enough to secure for Easter Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week the marvellous super-feature—'From the Manger to the Cross.' This masterpiece of film art is, of course, particularly appropriate for Easter week. In presenting any sacred theme on canvas, stage, or motion pictures, such work must be approached with reverence, truthfulness, and completeness worthy of the exalted aspiration, and particularly so when the Christ is the central figure. The tremendous undertaking in this picture was approached with a profound consciousness of responsibility. The picture has won universal commendation, and praise of churches, the clergy, and the layman. In preparing this picture, which suggests epochal events in the life of Jesus of Nazareth, the highest authorities on such a subject were consulted, and the whole picture was taken in Egypt and the Holy Land. Whilst less than 20 professional actors were taken to Palestine, hundreds of natives, clad appropriately, were used. The people engaged in making this picture often had to be accompanied by armed troops to protect them from bandits. The United States, through its State Department, secured the assistance of officials in Egypt and Palestine in various localities visited. Owing to many of the difficulties in the Holy Land, the photographic results were most admirable. This sacred picture is one that interests and appeals to the belief of every believer in Christ's divinity. Don't miss these six reels of sacred message!

Included in Monday's great double bill are the Pathe specials called "Outwitting the Timber Wolves" and "Rideau Lakes." Then there is the Vitagraph two-reel drama, called "The Church With An Overshot Wheel," by O. Henry. This is an up-to-date photodrama that carries punch, pep, and a thrilling plot. To round out this well-balanced and unusual programme, there is "His Home Sweet Home," with Larry Semon, the world-renowned comedian, at his best. No extra charge will be made for this extra programme.

AT THE GRAND.

HERE TODAY.

"The Bohemian Girl" is at the Grand tonight, the most popular of the world's comic operas. Its ballads have that fascinating combination of melody, pathos and romance which is so seldom achieved and which means immortality when it is. Its humor is pungent without being offensive. Mothers may bring their children, men their sweethearts to "The Bohemian Girl" free in the knowledge that they will be entertained without being offended, that they will hear music that will live in their memory, songs that they will sing in their homes with pleasure, especially after hearing them by such gifted artists as Helena Morrill, Norman Arnold, Edward Orchard, Henry Kungs, Dorothy Bott, etc.

To hear the artists sing "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Then You'll Remember Me." "Bliss Forever Past," "The Heart Bowed Down" and "Fair Land of Poland," to hear the famous wonder chorus in "Come With the Gypsy Bride," "Our Lady Moon," to see Edward Orchard in his impersonation of 'Devilshoof," chief of the gypsies, all combine to make a treat which does not come very often to anyone outside large music centres.

HEAVY RAINS MAKE RELAY WORK HEAVY.

Cambridge Runners Are Picked For First Place With Americans Second.

LONDON, April 8. — (Canadian Press). — Continuous rains have made the track at the Queen's Club, where the Oxford - Cambridge and University of Pennsylvania relay teams will meet to-day, extremely heavy. Therefore record time is not expected.

The United States team will consist of John Herr, Lansdowne, Pa.; Elmer McLane, Oklahoma City; Sayman Kerr, Salt Lake City, and Larry Brown, captain.

The men will probably run in the order named. The sporting writers generally pick the Cambridge runners to win, with the Americans second. Coach Lawson Robertson said last night that Cambridge was represented by the strongest contingent of runners he had ever seen. The Pennsylvania athletes, since their arrival on March 27, have had little opportunity for thorough training on account of frequent falls of snow and rain.

Since they have been in England the Americans have not done a complete mile in training, but in running two-thirds of a mile they have made it in 2 minutes 53 seconds, with McLane and Brown leading. The other two American runners were from 15 to 20 yards behind the leaders.

The Cambridge team to-day will consist of H. D. Stallard, W. Tatham, W. R. Seagrove and E. D. Mountain, and that of Oxford, W. R. Milligan, G. M. Bruxner, O. M. Weekley and E. T. Hewetson.

Tanated Calomel is the only medicine that acts upon the liver, which makes it the best medicine in the world for people who are not well. Tanated Calomel is sold by F. C. Webber.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large obttle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everyobdy uses this preparation now ,because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gary hair disappears, and after another application or two, you hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

TEA GROWING VERY EXPENSIVE.

The very high wages that have been paid to workers on the tea plantations in India and Ceylon, due to social and political unrest, has caused the price of tea to rise consistently in the primary markets and in London. This influence is now being felt farther along the line and it is to be expected that the price of tea will increase to the consumer in the near future

Annual School Spring Festival

(By Jeannette)

Before an audience that filled every seat, with boxes overflowing, between four and five hundred children took part in the annual Spring Festival, put on under the auspices of the Women Teachers' Guild in the Grand Opera Houst last evening, and provided an outstanding exhibition for parents and friends of the musical work carried on in the schools of the city. Every atom of musical ability in the various classes is called out by the efficient handling of the conductor, Miss M. R. Rannie, whose baton was the tool that made the concerted voices rise and fall with a precision of attack, a clear enunciation and a harmonious blending that made the various choruses and songs finished in every detail. With their upturned, fresh little faces, their entire obliviousnes of their audience, their apt attention to their leader, the white dresses and black suits, the black and brown heads, bobbed and curled, made a presentation of happy, singing childhood that is the best advertisement one need look for with regard to the teaching of music in the schools. From tiny tots to taller pupils of the senior classes, they sang in parts and unison, with one small boy down near the far end carefully treasuring his cap in his clasped hands during the entire performance.

The offerings were all brief and therefore, more enjoyable. Choirs of pupils from Books Two and Three gave a pretty opening number, "Netherlandish Folk Song"; Book Two Choir had three short unison songs, with the "Echo, Echo' finale dying away in faint, far away little tones; and part songs for unchanged voices were given by Mr. Kerr's choir, from the Prince of Wales school, with first and second soprano and contraltos. The two-part harmony number in this group "Forsaken", was especially effective with the clear, bright young voices chanting the dolorous refrain of the smitten lover, and the fresh boy voices taking the pretty melody.

Mixed Voices

Four-part harmony for mixed voices was rendered in two numbers "Hark, the Glad Sound" and "Old Jack Joe" by Miss Pilling's choir, of the King Edward School; Book Third Choir gave four pretty part songs for soprano and contralto; and Mr. Steer's choir, from the Central School had two numbers, in hymn trios for first and second soprano and contralto.

Choruses by Mr. Park's choir, King George School were very good, the white-frocked little lassies and two or three almost imperceptible little boys that formed this class uniting in the pretty "Spring Song", with soprano and contralto parts in "The Convent Bells" and "The Raindrops". Choir from Books Two and Three sang a patriotic hymn "Lord, While for all Mankind We Pray", very effectively.

One of the most heartily-encored offerings was a quaint little number "The Unfolding of the Lilies' by the Queen Alexandra School. Small girls with floral wreaths sang a rollicking little refrain that ended with the uncovering of paper wrappings from tiny little dimpled darlings with colored chiffon dresses, who sang an Easter melody and did a little bare-footed tripping dance that brought forth renewed applause. The serious, little dark and light-haired bobbing babies with their Psyche wings and the floral drill of the older girls, to the merry music of "The Floral Dance" made a lovely picture of innocent alluring childhood.

"The Dance of the Butterflies" was another especially attractive drill, by small girls from the King Edward School. Twenty little ladies in butterfly costumes, with orange skirts, black tight bodices and butterfly wing cap gave a tip toe drill under a vari-colored spotlight, to "Nights of Gold", with their twinkling slender black legs and swishing skirts weaving in and out of measures that slowed to a stately minuet and quickened to a merry finale with outstretched waving little arms. They sang a happy little song as they danced in their quaint slashed paper garments, and bowed to the applause that greeted their efforts.

Serious Actors

"How the Jackal Outwitted the Tiger" was a quaint phantasy from "The Tales of the Punjab" a literature lesson from the Second Reader enacted by pupils of Miss Fusee's class, King George School A tale that pointed a moral was the theme, with serious attention from the small actors representing the Brahman, in purple silk draperies; tiger, with supposedly ferocious impulses, in suit of yellow-stripped brown and nervous tail, the jackal in skin-tight black, to say nothing of the three stiff trees of golden paper with waving green boughs, and the unfortunate dark-brown elephant, tethered to a post.

Pleasing interpolations in the program, during which the pupils formed a background for the solo performers, small eyes intent on the business in hand, to the absolute exclusion of stage consciousness, were made by a well-rendered reading by Ashton Fife, King Edward School, a pleasing violin number, "Salut d'Amour" by Catharine Taylor, King Edward School; and solo dances by two small maidens, Rina McArthur Prince of Wales School, in full Highland regalia, danced the "Highland Fling" and the "Sword Dance", with light, agile swiftness, and Bernice Ferguson, of the Central School, gave a pretty vernal dance, "A Spring Frolic', the dainty little figure in its petalled frock of yellow and green, with yellow-budded headwreath, doing some good heel and toe work in her clever number.

A pleasing feature of the program was the co-operation with the small scholars of future teachers, in the persons of young ladies from the Normal School, and an ex-pupil of the Collegiate Institute, Miss Daisy Davidson. Miss Davidson's graceful solo dance "Humoresque" was a lovely interpretative rendition, in fluttering draperies, the soft, lissom grace of the dancer receiving prolonged applause, and a floral tribute from a small maiden.

Effective Song Drill

The young ladies from the Normal School had a very effective song drill and dance, "It's Only a Small Bit of Bunting" that was especially well executed. In pleated skirts and white middies, with small Union Jacks held aloft, they formed circles and squares, and danced soft, gliding measures that led into a final effect centred around the figure of Brittania with a large Union Jack above the encircled graceful figures.

An Easter hymn, "Jesus Christ is Risen To-Day", in which the audience joined, finished a delightful program. During intermission, pleasing pianoforte selections were rendered by Mildred Morphet and Frances McFadden of the Queen Mary School. Miss C. Caldwell had charge of most of the accompanying work, carrying it through with her usual attentive proficiency, while the Misses Morrow and Gillespie played for numbers from their schools, the Queen Alexandria and King Edward.. Miss Rannie accompanied the solo numbers, and to her, of course, belongs the credit for the exceptional showing of the pupils in the different numbers. With a attention to detail and a whole-hearted absorption in her difficult work that has achieved splendid results, Miss Rannie gave a triumphant exhibition last evening of wonderful powers of training small children in a love of, and excellence in, the art of music. Many bouquets were presented to their popular conductor by the children during the evening, with floral remembraces also for Miss Caldwell and Miss D. Pilling.

The music of the afternoon was excellent. Mr. Wm. Ford and his splendid orchestra gave most efficient service, and the solo by Mr. Humphage, was enjoyed by all. Next Sunday, April 9th., Rev. C. A. Roberts of Honan, China, will be the speaker. Every man in Peterborough, who has opportunity, ought to hear this man on Sunday.

PATRICK FRITZ LOST A WALLET AND PAPERS.

Patrick Fritz, 213 Charlotte Street, was in the Bank of Commerce this morning doing some banking business. A wallet containing two hundred dollars' worth of stock in the Birmingham Motors and one hundred dollars in United States currency, was laid on one of the counters. While Patrick turned away for a moment, the wallet disappeared.

Mr. Fritz would like the present custodian of the wallet and its contents to return it to the above address, as it is of no use to any person but the rightful owner.

IN MEMORIAM

COLLET—In loving memory of Lance-Corporal Fred Collet killed in action, April 9, 1917, at the battle of Vimy Ridge.

An unseen string of memory's harp
Is softly touched to-day,
And thoughts of you come crowding fast
And tears we cannot stay
He sleeps beside his comrades
In a soldier's grave unknown
But his name is written in signs of love
On the Hearts he left at home.

Cherished memories of one so dear
Often recalled by a silent tear,
'Tis only those who have loved and lost,
Who can visualize the bitter cost

Sadly missed by Wife and Children

IN MEMORIAM.

COONES.—In sad and loving memory of Thomas Coones, of Apsley, who was killed at Vimy Ridge, April 9th, 1917:

O, brother dear how we miss you
'Tis God alone can tell,
Friends may think we oft forget you
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the sorrow
That's concealed behind that smile

Add Years to Your Life

By keeping your spine normal you can add years to your life and happiness to your years. Nothing takes the joy out of life so much as ill-health, but if you possess a normal spine disease will not get a hold upon you.

You Must Adjust the Cause

Whether you have headache, fever, flu, constipation, bronchitis, stomach trouble or any similar condition you will be willing to admit that these conditions are only effects and that there must be A CAUSE for them. Probably you haven't once thought the cause existed in nerve pressure at the spine. However, it is a proven fact that the above mentioned ailments, as well as a host of others, can be dispelled by adjusting displaced vertebrae of the spine to relieve nerve pressure.

THE HUMAN SPINE

is so constructed that when the vertebrae are in normal alignment they are nerve protectors, but if through any jar, twist or strain one or more of these vertebrae get out of normal position they act as nerve disturbers simply because they cause pressure upon nerve fibres.

TAKE CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS AND GET YOUR BODY IN CONDITION TO RESIST DISEASE.

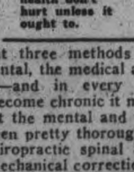
Ceasar's Sickness and Other Chronic Ailments

Weekly Health Talk No. 24
By A. P. Rogers, D.C.

Julius Ceasar's ailment, epilepsy, or the falling sickness as it was known in Ceasar's day, and a number of other chronic ailments, are of a character and quality to clearly indicate that if chiropractic spinal adjustments are tried, there is an even chance the victim may get well.



Uncle Ben Says:

To be told the truth about the state of your health don't hurt unless it ought to.

HEALTH FOLLOWS

CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

There are but three methods of healing—the mental, the medical and the mechanical—and in every disease that has become chronic it may be assumed that the mental and the medical have been pretty thoroughly tested out. Chiropractic spinal adjustments are mechanical corrections of the alignment of spinal joints. The other methods have not touched this mechanical condition in any way, because not directed in any way to its correction. Of course, when the spinal bones are realigned the cause of the ailment is removed, and the victim gets well.

NO RETURN OF EPILEPSY IN THREE YEARS

"I am thirty-eight years old and I suffered from epileptic attacks beginning about the age of 30. In July, 1919, I turned to chiropractic. The night before my first chiropractic spinal adjustment I had a severe attack. It was my last one. I was adjusted over a period of time, but not the first adjustment to this date have I had any return of the trouble or any indication of it."—J. M. THE STILLMANS REACH MONTREAL

MONTREAL, April 10.—(United Press).—Bronzed, picturesque looking habitants arrived in Montreal over the week-end from the little farms and lumber camps around Grande Anse, the region made famous as the summer home of Mrs. Anne Stillman, wife of the New York banker, James Stillman, who is challenging the paternity of her youngest child, Guy, and seeking divorce and disinheritance of the child, forty-one of the habitants have been summoned to give evidence to-day before Eugene H. Godin, commissioner appointed to hear the rebuttal of the charges laid by Mr. Stillman and of the evidence given by French-Canadian witnesses at the American hearing, who are alleged by the defence to have committed perjury.

Mr. Stillman's attorney, Philip J. O'Brien, and baby Guy's guardian, John A. Mack, were the first in the field. Mrs. Stillman has not put in an appearance, and it is understood, will not come down during the hearing, but as she is temperamental and apt to change her mind, it would be no surprise to see her drop in some day and start to prompt her counsel in the examination as, it is said, she did at the American hearings.

Mr. Stillman is represented by Cornelius J. Sullivan, of Nicoll, Annabel, Fuller and Sullivan, New York, with whom are associated as counsel, Outerbridge Horsey, of the same firm, and Col. William Rand, of Jerome, Rand and Kresnel. Gerald Donovon, of Nicoll, Annabel, Fuller and Sullivan, a young lawyer, is also in attendance. Mr. Stillman has engaged very eminent counsel for the cross-examination in French, in the person of N. K. Laflame, K.C., whose acquaintance with the habitant psychology is unsurpassed.

Fred. Beauvais, named by Mr. Stillman as co-respondent and described by him as an Indian guide, although he declares he is of ancient and noble French line agent, has returned from Grande Anse and the surrounding district, where he accompanied the bailiff on his rounds of the villages and settlements, serving subpoenas on the witnesses. His knowledge of the neighborhood was invaluable to the process-server, who could never have accomplished the work in time without the skilled assistance of the guide owing to the break-up of the winter roads.

It is said that Fred. Beauvais is highly dissatisfied at his treatment at the hands of the defence, and that he claims to have been neglected and overlooked. Fred. will not express himself to the newspaper men, but there is reason to believe he is far from pleased, and he states, with every appearance of conviction, that he knows nothing about the arrangements, and appears indignant that that should be the case. It is also understood that he resents the fact that he is not looked after, financially, by the defence. He has lost his position through the failure of the stockbroking firm of Deschamps and Company, and his new Iroquois Medicine Company is stated to be not yet a money-maker. Beauvais will not be called to give evidence before the Commission, although he is said to be both ready and anxious to do so.

PROTECTING POLES.

In keeping with the season, the Utilities Commission have employed a gang of their men when work was slack, painting the magnetite arc poles, and several citizens have commented favorably on the improved appearance. This time they are getting an olive green hue, and the whole circuit will soon be finished. Manager H. O. Fisk said this morning he had a chance to get considerable paint at a big saving, and he thought it advisable to lay it on before the flies and dust got bad. "You know, if those poles aren't well protected the rust will play havoc with them in no time," he said.

THE FORMAL OPENING OF CONFERENCE

Premier Lloyd George Emphasizes Necessity of Grappling With World Problems Confronting Congress.

PLANS COMPLETED

GENOA, April 10. — (Canadian Press)—Nations of three continents to-day began efforts to restore world to normal conditions. All plans have been completed for this great economic conference which was generrally regarding as most important and significant assembly since Versailles Peace Conference.

Formal opening is scheduled to take place at three o'clock this afternoon in historic palace of St. George.

Premier Lloyd George of Britain on eve of gathering emphasized vital necessity there was for Europe and world grappling earnestly with problems confronting congress and said he hoped delegates would re-establish general peace and reciprocal confidence between states on basis of common prosperity.

MANY COMPLAINTS ILLICIT FISHING

Law Flouted as Openly as Ever Throughout the District.

Members of the Peterborough Hunters' Fish and Game Protective Association are the repositories these days of many complaints from all over the district of the violation of the fish and game laws.

"There seems to be as much illicit fishing as last spring," said one man, "and we have heard humors which are apparently reliable that lunge are being shipped from one place not a hundred miles from Peterborough. One of the offenders was apprehended, and the association hopes that if any more of them appear in the Police Court that Magistrate Langley may find it possible to impose a fine that will serve as an example to others.

"We have done our utmost to appeal to the public and authorities to tighten up the restrictions and the supervision of the game during the closed season. Some cottagers declare that there will be no fish left for them at the present rate of illegal fishing in the district of Pigeon Lake."

START GRADING IN EAST CITY

The Board of Works will meet this evening to decide how the grading on Hunter street east is to be paid for. It is known that this work will cost considerable money. No allowance was made in the appropriations of the Board and it is up to the Council to-night to figure out if the wherewithal is to come from a debenture issue or not.. The city hopes to start its work on Wednesday morning, Ald. Walter Stocker chairman of the Board said to-day.

The Western Clock company have awarded the contract for their grading to Angus Richardson who was field engineer for the Utilities Commission in connection with the filtration plant. Mr. Richardson, the Examiner was informed to-day intends breaking ground to-morrow morning and was busy today rounding up men and teams. It is expected that the grading for the plant will take about one month. The work to be done by the city is not so extensive. A considerable cut will be taken out of the roadway reducing the grade and the earth taken out will be used as fill in the park property acquired by the city at the east end of the Hunter street bridge, it is planned.

Truck Drivers Are Violating the Regulations of Provincial Highway

That is Why Hundreds of Dollars Worth of Roads are Destroyed and Trucks Disappear—The Act Restricts Size of Loads.

Mr. D. W. Bews, resident engineer for the Provincial Highways running through this section of the country, was in the city to-day. Mr. Bews is stationed in Port Hope, and he makes periodical visits over the highway. Commenting on the condition of the road, Mr. Bews said there is a tendency on the part of motor truck owners to carry excessive loads over the highway. This was contrary to the Provincial Highways Act, which distinctly states that during the months of March and April, motor trucks must not carry more than half their registered loads. Mr. Bews cited the case of one man who, in an attempt to drive an excessive load over the highway, damaged the roadbed to the extent of six hundred dollars. Some people think that as soon as the Government takes over a road there is no further excuse for a poor roadbed. Last year the Department constructed thirteen miles of new roadbed between Peterborough and Port Hope. This newly constructed road will take care of any situation that might arise. As soon as the truck driver gets off this section on to the unfinished road the car is apt to go out of sight. This is not the fault of the Department, as it is evident that the entire road-building programme cannot be carried out in one year.

SECOND WEEK COAL STRIKE

Organization Presents Unbroken Front—Employers Statement.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Second week of strike of union coal miners got under way with organization still presenting an unbroken front and the situation in non-union fields becoming more favorable to union's cause, according to President Lewis of the United Mine Workers. He declared that the union is gaining strength in non-union fields.

NEW YORK, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Granting of anthracite miners' demands would add about one hundred and seventy million dollars to the annual coal bill, $3 on every ton, operators declared here to-day in opening their campaign for settlement of strike on basis of wage reductions.

"This added cost would be paid by the consumer who, instead of being willing to pay present or increased prices, is rightly demanding that the price of anthracite be reduced," said Samuel Warriner, president of Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, spokesman for operators, before a sub-committee on wage contracts negotiations.

He said the operators desired to pay good wages, but that the rate of pay was not so important as regularity of employment. Problem to be solved was what scale of wages will permit production of anthracite at a price the consumer was willing to pay. He said he was confident that that when the situation in all its aspects had been presented to miners' representatives they will see the impossibility of conceding demands.

Thieves Enter Home Hon. Dr. Edwards

KINGSTON, April 10.—(Special.)—Thieves secured an entrance to the home of Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards at the village of Cataraqui while he was absent and stole $300 worth of silverware and linen. Dr. Edwards has been out on a speaking tour in connection with his opposition to further grants to the Separate schools and discovered the robbery on his arrival home.

SCALE OF MINIMUM WAGES FOR STORES

Retail merchants are receiving official notices of the new law respecting the minimum wages that shall be paid to female help in retail stores. In towns and cities of populations from 10,000 to 30,000, which includes Peterboorugh, experienced adults, that is girls who are over eighteen years, shall be paid a minimum wage of $11 a week; inexperienced adults over eighteen shall be paid at the rate of $9 a week for six months and then $10 a week for six months. This is the minimum fixed in the inexperienced adult category. For young girls under 18 the scale is as follows: $7 a week for the first six months, $8 the next six, $9 the next six months and $10 a week at the end of two years.

This statute, which becomes effective on Monday, April 17, also requires that the number of inexperienced help shall not exceed 25 per cent. of the total working force.

"If the farmers' government wants to fix minimum wages why doesn't it begin at home," commented one retailer, who said all his help were now being paid more than the Government's standards. "I don't need the Government to tell me what fair wages are," h esaid, "but some one needs to tell the farmers what decent wages are. Apparently they have no consideration for the hired men who in many cases work for a small monthly wage and their board, and in those cases it is some board, believe me. I haven't a word to say about good farmers I know, but there are others who need the attention of the Farmers' government more than the retail merchants. And the Labour group in the House are so scared of the Farmers that they daren't open their mouth about the conditions of hired men on farms. I like consistency, but I can't find much of it in this latest legislation from the U.F.O. government.

Buy Riley Home as Shrine

The home was built in 1865. Miss Katie Kindell (inset), former housekeeper for Riley, will be custodian. The home is expected to be the goal of many pilgrimages of school children and other Riley admirers.

ENCOURAGE LITERATURE OF CANADA

Is Vital to Development of Canadian Spirit, Robert Stead Tells Rotarians.

READ MORE BOOKS

An eloquent plea for the encouragement of Canadian literature as a most necessary factor in the development of a Canadian spirit and consequently a vital element in the assimilation of the immigrants who are essential to the growth and progress of the Dominion, was made to the members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Empress to-day by Rotarian Robert J. C. Stead, of Ottawa, the well-known Canadian writer and author of "The Cow Puncher," "Dennison Grant" and other widely known books. Mr. Stead's subject was "Literature and the National Identity," and he left some thoughts with Peterborough Rotarians that will doubtless have an impression upon them.

Mr. Stead is peculiarly equipped to speak on the subject of the effect of literature on our national problems, because, in the first place, he is an author, and, in the second place, is is connected with the Department of Immigration and Colonization, and is therefore closely in touch with the immigration question.

Briefly he reviewed the situation, pointing out that Canada needed immigration to help her solve her railway and other problems, but the difficulty was not in securing new citizens but in assimilating them, or, in other words, making Canadians of them. He showed how the United States had faced a similar problem by using the public schools and the public press, newspapers and magazines alike, to inculcate in to the American people the idea that their's was the greatest country and the Stars and Stripes the finest flag on earth. The trouble in Canada was that these American publications prepared for American consumption were flooding the Dominion, and there was no similar Canadian propaganda to offset their influence. It would be some time before Canadian magazines could hope to compete with those published in the United States, but it had been proven that Canadian books could be successfully published, and Mr. Stead urged his hearers to read more Canadian books — there were four hundred published in the Dominion last year —even if they had to read fewer Canadian current magazines. Only in this way could Canadian literature be developed to the stage it was necessary to have it reach.

Mr. Stead concluded his address with an impressive reading of one of his best known poems, "The Silent Ships."

Rotarian John Crane was chairman at to-day's luncheon, and there was a large attendance of members and guests. Among the latter was Mr. Arnold Everett, who contributed a solo that was much enjoyed.

On motion of Rotarians Rev. Harold Young and A. L. Killaly, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Kiwanis Club for their kindness in inviting the Rotarians to hear Rev. T. T. Richards, of Scranton, Pa., last week.

May Close Hospital For Summer Months

LADIES ACCOSTED BY STREET HOUND.

The obnoxious masher has made his spring appearance. One of the species was making himself conspicuous in the vicinity of the Y.W.C.A. Saturday evening. A number of the girls who had taken part in the campaign last week and went to the Y late in the evening to make their final reports, were accosted by a young man, and it is said, that he even went so far as to follow one of the young ladies into the building, from which he was as promptly ejected by the powers that be.

No report was made to the police, but it is understood that any further operations on the part of the mashers will necessitate official intervention.

MAY BUILD NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL

Salvation Army Has Plans for $20,000 Extension to Headquarters Sanction the Work.

The new Salvation Army Sunday school, which was planned several years ago but was left in abeyance until building conditions became more favorable, may be undertaken this Spring if headquarters give their approval to the project. As originally considered the new Sunday school will front on Aylmer St. and will be located on ground which will include the double house south of the corner lot. With the proposed alterations to the Simcoe street Temple the local corps expect to spend $20,000 on their extension.

Additional room and accommodation has become a pressing want since the Sunday school has grown to proportions that crowd the present quarters. With a new building the officers and scholars would have the facilities their work requires. If the Army headquarters sanction the erection of the new Sunday school, the work will be started about May 1st. Mr. R. C. Braund, who has had the Sunday school's affairs close to his heart, and who is particularly interested in providing more and better accommodation for the scholars, has the plans of the annex ready.

Fewer Cases of Contagious Diseases at the Queen Mary Hospital During the Month of March—Board of Health Meeting.

ACCOUNTS

The Board of Health had one of the lightest monthly sessions on record this morning. The file, usually bulky with communications of various sorts, contained only the statement of the hospital and the report of Miss A. M. Price. Two members, Dr. T. W. H. Young, M.O.H., and James Lynch, were absent, and the others, G. H. Duncan, chairman, Mayor W. H. Taylor and E. F. Mason had nothing to bring up. Had Dr. Young been present a report from Dr. T. Y. McNair, of the Provincial Laboratory on the milk tests would have been read, but the Board did not care to take the responsibility of delving into it, as it was addressed to the M.O.H.

The decrease in the number of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria was favorably commented upon. Chairman Duncan expressed the hope that the Isolation Hospital could be closed up for the summer months. "It used to come all right," he said. "Just about the time the nurses wanted a holiday it could be closed. I'd like to see it closed this summer." Mayor Taylor agreed it would be a good thing from a financial standpoint, and Mr. Mason favored shutting it up if at all possible.

Expenditures Decrease.

The statement of expenditure at Queen Mary Hospital indicated that the cost of maintaining the institution has declined steadily since January. DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

PRICE THREE CENTS — PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, APRIL 10, 1922 — PRICE THREE CENTS

ATTITUDE OF CONFERENCE IS DECIDED

Matter of Representation of Countries is Settled—Inaugural Speeches.

COMMITTEES.

GENOA, April 10. — (Canadian Press)—Premier Lloyd George and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans for England; Louis Barthou and Camille Barriere, for France; Baron Hayashi, and Viscount Ishii, for Japan; Premier Theunys and M. Jaspar, for Belgium and Premier Facta and Signor Schanzer for Italy, met both morning and afternoon yesterday to discuss the procedure of the economic conference.

The attitude of the Allies in the leading questions has been decided. These five countries, who invited the others to the Genoa discussions will be represented by five delegates; the same privilege will be extended to Germany and Russia, owing to their large populating size and political importance. All other countries are to have only two delegates.

Inaugural speeches will be delivered by Premier Facta, in Italian, Premier Lloyd George, in English, and M. Barthou in French. The Allied leaders would like to limit the number of speeches so as to make the opening procedure shorter but it has not been definitely decided whether they can confine the speaking to the representatives of three countries.

The opening meeting will conclude with the appointment of several commissions, one for verification of credentials, one for the Russian question, and one each on finance, economic questions and transport.

There is great divergence of opinion as to how the Russian Commission shall be formed; the Allies desire that only England, France, Italy, Germany and Russia shall be represented, as thereby they could act more rapidly. Japan, the Baltic Entente and the Little Entente powers are all dissatisfied with this suggestion as they claim their relations with Russia are more important than those of some of the Allied countries, owing to the frontier treaties already concluded with the Soviet Government.

The government, he said, would not encourage men to go overseas unless reasonable arrangements are made for their obtaining employment.

GERMAN WAR LEADER DIED ON SATURDAY

General Von Falkenhayn, Was Minister of War and Chief of Staff of the German Army.

IN WORLD WAR.

BERLIN, April 10. — (Canadian Press.)—General Enrich von Falkenhayn, former Minister of War, and one-time Chief of Staff of the German Army, died on Saturday at Wild Park, near Potsdam.

Gen. Von Falkenhayn was appointed War Minister of Germany in 1913, succeeding Gen. Von Heeringen. Shortly after the outbreak of the world war he was appointed Chief of the General Staff, succeeding General von Moltke, who at the time was declared to be ill.

In August, 1916, Von Falkenhayn was supplanted by Von Hindenburg and shortly afterwards took the field in Transylvania against the Rumanians.

Falkenhayn defeated the Rumanians in the campaign of 1916. Later he went to Asiatic Turkey, where he commanded the Turks.

Von Falkenhayn was born in 1861 and was considered one of Germany's dashing commanders.

W. F. CARROLL SAYS CANADA NOT A NATION

"We Are Not a Nation and the Quicker We Undeceive Ourselves the Sooner We Will Become Better Canadians."

AT REFORM CLUB.

MONTREAL, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Speaking to the reform Club Saturday, W. F. Carroll, M.P. for Cape Breton South and Richmond, deprecated the talk that Canada was a nation and insisted that such was not the case, even though we have all political and religious freedom.

"We are not a nation," he said, "and the quicker we undeceive ourselves, the sooner we will become better Canadians. We are a dependency of the British Crown. Nationhood implies the right to make treaties and settle our difficulties. If you want proof that we are not a nation, look at the Privy Council. Not a bill becomes law until it is sanctioned by the King in the person of the Governor-General."

He believed that nationhood would develop greater statesmen. In conclusion Mr. Carroll said:

"I am not talking with a view to independence or with a view to severing our connection with the Mother Country."

Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, declared there was no more important question before the public than the Canadian railway question. He said it should be realized that this was a business proposition which would take time to work out. Immigration was another problem and there was a feeling, he asserted, that it should provide for proper distribution of immigrants and not to flood the cities with people. The Government, however, did not intend to be stampeded into any course of action.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION AT MONTREAL

Question of Leadership of Party in Quebec Will Be One of the Important Questions.

MANY NOTABLES.

MONTREAL, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—May 8 and 9th, has been chosen for the dates for holding the Provincial Conservative Convention for the whole province of Quebec. Plans of the organization in charge, call for a gathering of about 300 delegates, one for each 1,000 electors of the 81 electoral divisions in the Province and not less than four delegates per county. It is expected that the question of leadership will be decided definitely at the meeting. Prominent figures at the Concention will include Arthur Sauve, present leader of the Opposition at Qubec since 1916; Hon. F. L. Patenaude; Brigadier-General Smart, M.L.A., for Westmount, C. E. Gault, M.L.A., for St. George; P. J. Dufreane, M.L.A., for Joliette; Joseph Renaud, M.L.A. for Laval; and Sir Oliver Taillon, former Prime Minister of the Province.

They were watching the water as it surged over the dam.

COLLINS WARNS IRELAND OF PENDING CIVIL STRIFE IF PRESENT TACTICS OF DE VALERA ARE NOT CHANGED SOON

DUBLIN, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)— In a speech delivered at Wexford yesterday, Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, declared that unless there was an immediate change in the tone and tactics of certain of the people, "it looks as if civil war can only be averted by a miracle."

Mr. Collins added that in such a contingency there was little doubt the British would return to restore the order which the Irish would have shown themselves unable to preserve.

Train holdups and attempts to prevent pro-treaty meetings continued yesterday. A Dublin train on which Mr. Collins was supposed to travelling to Wexford, found the rails had been taken up near Arklow. Armed men prevented a repair gang from replacing the rails. Mr. Collins had foiled his opponents by making the trip during the night.

The place where the rails were removed was on a bridge over the River Avoca. After they were eventually re-laid and the train reached Enniscorthy, armed men, who arrived in an automobile, kidnapped the engine driver so as to prevent the train from reaching Wexford.

Thousands of persons attended the meeting in Wexford. There were only feeble signs of opposition to Mr. Collins. He declared that the language of Eamon De Valera had become that of a dangerous despot; that De Valera, while posing as a lover of liberty and shouting the name of liberty, was trampling its form underfoot.

"The language of our opponents," declared Mr. Collins, "is that of treason—not of patriotism. Our existence is threatened as no enemy from the outside ever has had the power to threaten it, and there is grave danger of another period of long agony before the country. Unless there is an immediate change in the tone and tactics of certain of the people, it looks as if a civil war can only be averted by a miracle. In case of a civil war the British will return to restore the order which the Irish people have shown themselves unable to preserve."

Mr. Collins concluded by again appealing to De Valera to pause and consider where his language, "which is being translated into action, is hurrying the nation."

D. LLOYD GEORGE GIVES HIS VIEWS OF CONFERENCE

Many Matters of Importance to Be Discussed—Length of Conference Is Uncertain.

FOR PEACE.

GENOA, April 10.—(Canadian Press).—The British Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George discussing the conference yesterday said:

"I am glad to be here on the ece of the conference which I obstinately sought, while others tried vainly to wreck it. With the same obstinacy I will work for the success of the conference, of which I am fully confident ".

"I had originally planned to stay here one week, but now I think I will remain a fortnight, even longer if necessary, the task before us being of capital importance namely, to re-establish good international relations and restore economic conditions in all States.

I have expressed to Signor Facta and Signor Schanzer, my gratitude for their abnegation in preparing this conference, even when it was uncertain that it would occur. It is impossible to predict exactly what will be accomplished. The days of a conference are as uncertain as the days of a human life; nobody can tell what the morrow will bring forth. But one thing is certain we have come here to work with all energy and earnestness, not to waste any time in amusements.

"On one point I am sure all the delegations are in accord, that is, to reach agreements which will prevent renewal of international conflicts, thus re-establishing general peace and reciprocal confidence between the states on a basis of economic prosperity".

The British Prime Minister and his family are delightfully situated in the Villa De Abertia, at Albaro, four miles from Genoa. This is a little place identified with the name of Garibaldi. From it he sailed with his thousand "red shirts" to conquer the kingdom of Two Sicilies. In 1915, it was the scene of a great demonstration, when D'Annunzio urged Italy to join the Entente in the war. Mr. Lloyd George's present home is a simple villa surrounded by a beautiful garden of royal palms, which heads to the rugged seashore, not unlike many ports of the Welsh coast.

OUTPUT OF OPEN SHOP MINES.

Non-union mines, working at top speed, can furnish the country with nearly 6,000,000 tons of bituminous coal a week. This is the estimate by J. D. A. Morrow of the National Coal Association.

As the strike stands, the country is consuming about 9,500,000 tons of bituminous coal a week.

This leaves a shortage of 3,500,000 tons a week.

DISARAMAMENT.

GENOA, April 10. — (Canadian Press.)—The recognition of Russia is a dominant question in the Genoa conference and will probably be the first subject taken under consideration. All discussions will begin and end with Soviet Russia, whose 150,000,000 inhabitants, and territory comprising a large fraction of the earth's surface, overshadow the smaller States which make up the mass of representation at Genoa.

The Supreme Council's Cannes resolution of January 6, from which the Genoa Conference grew, announced that steps must be taken toward the economic reconstruction of central and "eastern" Europe in order to restore international commerce and develop the resources of "all" counties, which clearly includes Russia.

The agenda, which later developed from that resolution, while superficially dealing with financial and commercial questions, seems impossible of discussion without consideration of the basic political problems. The agenda makes reference to "examination of the best methods of execution of the principles contained in the resolution passed by the Supreme Council at Cannes on January 6."

The Italian delegation, to whom the direction of the conference has been entrusted, explains that this article is the pivot upon which the conference work must turn. Referring especially to relations with Russia and her recognition, a consortium was mentioned at Cannes. This plan was stoutly resisted by Russia, which has since been joined in this opposition by Poland, Esthonia and Latvia, which met with Russia at the recent Riga Conference and signed a protocol pledging themselves to stand for Russian recognition and unite in opposition to consortium.

This attitude of the Baltic Entente against the proposed consortium was based on the behalf that the Great powers contemplated infringing their sovereignty through financial control and hoped to place them in the position of colonies, much, it was argued, as had been done with China.

Article Two of the agenda speaks of "the establishment of European peace on a solid basis." This section according to the Cannes discussion, aims at "finding a means whereby controversies between nations can be solved without recourse to the barbarous use of arms."

This article naturally will bring about a discussion of land disarmament, which was impossible at the Washington conference, owing to the French opposition. As most of the European nations are finding excessive military budgets ruinous, this has great financial importance.

Russia asserts that she is willing to reduce her army if Japan evacuates Siberia and Rumania, evacuates Bessarabia and guarantees for the security of its boundaries are given. France contends that she cannot reduce her army because Germany is not complying with the Versailles Treaty.

Article Three of the agenda refers to "essential conditions for the re-establishment of confidence, without affecting existing treaties."

This, according to the Cannes discussion, had to do with the inter-Allied debts, which were not mentioned because it was feared such mention would prevent American participation. The clause "without affecting existing treaties," was insisted upon by France in order to prevent revision of the reparations provisions of the Versailles Treaty.

Article Four deals with "financial questions: First currency; second, central banks; third, public finance in connection with reconstruction; fourth, exchange, and fifth, organization of public and private credit."

Article Five of the agenda covers "economic and commercial questions: First, facilitations and guarantees for export and import commerce; second, legal guarantees for the resumption of commerce; third, protection of industrial, literary and artistic property; fourth, consular regulations; fifth, admission and status of foreigners in connection with their participation in trade; sixth, technical assistance to be given in the work of reconstruction."

Article Six, of the agenda, deals with "transportation."

GEDDES HAS RETURNED TO WASHINGTON

The Last Appearance in Canada of the British Ambassador to U.S. Was at Winnipeg. Addressed Canadian Clubs.

STATE OF PEACE.

WINNIPEG, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambasador to the United States, left here for Washington via Chicago yesterday afternoon, where he will resume his diplomatic duties, after a months' leave of absence. While on his holiday Sir Auckland visited many of the larger cities in the United Staes, as well as paying a brief visit to Victoria and Vancouver.

An audience of about 800 men and women representing both local Canadian Clugs listened to an address by the British Ambassador on Saturday evening at the Royal Alexandra Hotel.

"Canada and the United States have never before been on such good terms as they are to-day," he said, "and as they are to-day," he man wants to see such a demonstration of that determination to work together for the good of the world as will impress all people everywhere."

TO PRESENT PETITION AT CONFERENCE

Leaders of British Trade Interests Ask Removal of Trade Restrictions.

800 SIGNATURES.

LONDON, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—An important appeal to the Genoa conference, containing the signatures of about 800 men representing the financial, shipping and industrial spheres of the United Kingdom, will be despatched on Monday. It respectfully urges the conference not merely to recommend removal of all post-war restrictions on trade, but to agree upon such further measures as will insure the progressive liberation of trade and commerce throughout the world. This, it points out, is one of the chief means whereby economic prosperity can be restored.

Among the signers are Baron Inchcaps, Viscount Cowdray, Sir Walter Runciman, Sir Alfred Booth, Sir John Brunner, Sir Charles Macara, and Sir Drummond Fraser.

SUBSTITUTION OF NEW MONEY FOR GOLD IN GERMANY

French Minister Would Do Away With Gold Standard and Base Money on Purchasing Power.

IN BELGIUM.

LA LOUVIERE, Belgium, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—The substitution of new money for depreciated currency in Germany and other countries is the only hope for reorganizing jumbled finances, former French Minister of Liberated Regions, told the Association of Central Belgian Industries, at a meeting yesterday.

Money, said M. Loucheur, should be based not on a gold standard, but on the actual purchasing power within a country; under this arrangement Germany could balance her budget and pay her reparations. Germany's 125,000,000,000 paper marks ought to be transformed to five or six billion new marks.

He declared that Belgium's hope must come through opening markets in Russia.

THE WEATHER

Sunday was the warmest day we have had up to the present time. In the afternoon the thermometer rose to 67 degrees. Last night was also the warmest we have had since last autumn. The lowest during the night was but 53 degrees. The rainfall in the morning totalled .15 of an inch. The farmers usually count on "getting on the land" by the 15th or 20th of April, an it looks as if that will be about the dat this season.—W. P.

BARNS AND ALL CONTENTS TOTAL LOSS BY FIRE.

Bad Blaze in Norman Breckenridge's Buildings Near Bailieboro Saturday

BAILIEBORO, April 10. —The barns and all its contents belonging to Mr. Norman Breckenridge, residing about one and a half miles west of this village were totally destroyed by fire on Saturday evening about four o'clock.

Mr. Breckenridge had been threshing clover and had left the barn to go to the house for his supper, when one of the children noticed the smoke issuing from the barn. They immediately called the men, but by the time they reached the scene the fire had gathered too much headway to be checked and nothing whatever was saved except the tractor and one set harness.

Fortunately Mr. Breckenridge's stock was out in the fields and thus escaped. All the machinery was burned including two new threshing mills a new corn binder grain grinder, Chalmers car, buggy, and many other pieces of machinery.

The origin of the fire is not really known, but is thought to have been caused by the boxes of the mill, becoming over-heated and setting fire to the straw. The loss sustained is a very heavy one.

CONSTABLE IS SHOT BY BURGLARS

Two of a Band of Three Indians Alleged to Have Done the Shooting Have Been Arrested.

FOOT SHATTERED.

CHATHAM, Ont. April 10.—(Canadian Press).—William Pickard, was shot in the foot at four o'clock yesterday morning while trying to prevent three Indians from robbing the Bambridge store of that place. Pickard saw the Indians endeavoring to get into the store and he immediately attempted to make their arrest. One of the Indians who was left outside to guard the entrance fled down the street and while Pickard was chasing him one of the other Indians fired from the doorway of the store .Two shots were fired and one of them lodged in the constable's foot.

Two of the Indians were eventually captured but the other one fled to the bush in the vicinity of Thamesville, where he is still in hiding. The authorities expect to capture him before morning.

Pickard, who is 68 years of age, was brought to this city at 2 o'clock yeserday afternoon and taken to the office of Dr. Elgie, X-ray specialist, where the bullet was extracted from his foot. It was found that he had suffered a compound fracture, one of the bones of his foot being shattered into seven pieces. He was removed to the public general hospital where surgeons are now debating the necessity for amputation. hetXS aturday?

FIVE YEARS AGO.

Five years ago to-day the people of Canada were reading with a strange commingling of pride and fear the story of the matchless exploit of the Canadian Corps in wresting the stronghold of Vimy Ridge from the firm grip of the German invader. Only five years ago, and yet there is reason to be afraid that Canadians are forgetting that feat of arms. Long lists of "In Memoriam" notices in the newspapers show that some homes require no reminder of the anniversary of Vimy Ridge, but the majority of our people are inclined to forget, until their attention is called to them, not only the date of the battle, but the men who took part in that great victory.

"We beat the German, the Austrian, and the Turk, sang a soldier entertainer here last week, and the audience applauded. But did they really catch the rebuke in the words, or did they feel any personal sense of responsibility toward the men who fought? They are walking round, hundreds of them, in Peterborough and everywhere in Canada just now, men who five years ago yesterday went over the top at Vimy Ridge and helped to win the greatest victory that up to that time had been saved by Canadian arms. Are we, as a nation, are we as a Province, are we as a city, are we as individuals, doing all we can to help the men who fought? The aniversary of Vimy Ridge seems an appropriate time for soul-searching on that point.

THE LENNOX CHARGES.

The occupation of liquor spotting is not of a nature to attract to it men of character or of the finest moral standing. That will be readily admitted, but at the same time, it should not be necessary to go to the other extreme, and if the charges made by Col Lennox in the Legislature the other day as to the calibre of the men employed to detect violations of the Ontario Temperance Act are substantiated, the majority of the people of the Province will surely demand that at least the services of "spotters" who have been convicted of serious offences shall be dispensed with. The Lennox charges are grave. It will not do to simply try to brush them to one side with the insinuation that they are actuated by hostility to the Ontario Temperance Act or to the Government. They have been made on Col. Lennox's responsibility as a member of the House, and if half of the instances he refers to are correct, the Attorney-General should follow the example of the housewives of the Province, and institute a spring cleaning in his department. The property and the liberty of citizens are not to be allowed to be sworn away by men who have themselves been guilty of much more serious crimes than the persons they accuse, no matter how opinion may differ as to the Ontario Temperance Act, there is surely no one who would support the retention in the service of the Province of creatures of the type described by Col. Lennox. It would be infinitely better if the prosecutions under the Act showed a decrease than to run the risk of having innocent men at the mercy of "spotters" of the crook type.

THE GAP MUST BE BRIDGED.

In suport of his argument that the wide gap that exists between the price the farmer receives for his produce and the price he is called upon to pay for what he needs, must be bridged before the industrial and business depression can be retrieved, a writer in an American weekly of wide circulation has given some figures that are rather startling, and that should be of especial interest to labour. He declares that the average farmer has stopped buying, except for the barest necessities, and that he will not start again until conditions are normal, and points out that the farmers' institutes are one-third of the buying population. Labour is blamed as being largely responsible for the present situation. When it requires a full acre of oats to pay for one day's work of a mechanic, and it is realised that the farmer must fence and drain his land, plough it, sow, cultivate, reap, pay taxes, and run the risk of season, while the workman only contributes his bare hands, it is not to be wondered at that the majority of farmers refuse to pay the product of an acre of oats for a day's work on the part of a mechanic. The writer adds the still more amazing assertion that the mechanic with his bare hands can at current rates get the entire produce of the average farm of 160 acres for 175 days' work a year. The conditions, he declares, are such that a mechanic with nothing invested and no risk, can remain idle half the time, and make the full gross income of the average farmer. Just now the miners are on strike because the average miner only gets $7.50 a day for 182 days a year. Yet this is $165 more than the renter's half of an average farm. The leaders of organised labour will have difficulty in justifying their boast that none of the advantages gained during the extraordinary conditions of the war years are to be surrendered now in the face of figures such as these quoted.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT AND THE MOTOR SHOW.

The charge has often been made that Peterborough lacks community spirit, and very often The Examiner is inclined to believe that the accusation is to some extent justified. Nevertheless, there are times when the people of Peterborough indicate that all they need to arouse them to action is a rallying point, a good cause in the support of which they can unite. Such an opportunity is being offered now by the annual Motor Show, which gives the citizens a chance to get together to help an organisation—the Health Association—which has won a city-wide reputation as a most valuable community asset. Here is an event which offers an opening for service to every one. The automotive dealers are doing their part, manufacturers and mercantile concerns are falling into line, the Red Cross Society is directing and managing the affair, other organisations are co-operating—but there is still room for everybody to assist. For the automobile owner, there is the opportunity of joining in the parade which will open the Show. Last year this feature was not a success, because the car owners failed to do their part. There should be no such failure registered this year, nor will there be if those who possess cars will take the little trouble necessary to have them on hand when the parade is called. It is a service that does not make exacting demands upon anybody, and yet one that will get the Motor Show off to a start that cannot fail to carry the enterprise through to complete success.

And then for the general whirl—for upon it, in the last analysis, the responsibility for the triumph or the failure of the affair will depend—there is the responsibility of attending. A new record should be established this year, because the Motor Show itself will be better than ever, and because the needs of the Health Association are greater than ever. By putting the Motor Show over the top, Peterborough has a chance of proving that community spirt is not lacking when the right chord is touched.

CANADIANIZING ALIENS.

The work that is being done among the foreigners of this city by means of night classes is of great importance. It is now suggested that similar courses be provided for our alien population at the Technical school. At the Gibson school fourteen classes for foreigners are being conducted, with an attendance of 220 pupils. These are taught the rudiments of the English language and other instruction is imparted with a view to "Canadianizing" them as rapidly as possible. They are apt pupils, as the case of the little Russian Pole, 15 years of age, who had been in Canada only five weeks, yet who in that time had learnt to read elementary English "tolerably well," shows. More of them should be given the chance to enter into the national life of Canada. The policy of segrating the foreign-born and leaving them to their own resources is a dangerous one, which might even prove fatal to Canada's nationality. It is impossible to keep these aliens out entirely, neither is it desirable to do so. There is excellent material among them for creditable citizenship, though it is often crude. Education along Canadian lines for the adults is the only feasible method of bringing them into the common life of the community. If the facilities existed, it is certain that a much greater number of foreigners would take advantage of them.

The result of allowing these alien people to go along in their old accustomed ways, perpetuating in Canada the backward conditions with which they have been familiar in their native homes, is seen in the case of some of the western settlements. Dr. Chown, general superintenent of the Canadian Methodist church, describes conditions aong the foreigners there as "disgraceful." Nearly half of the population of Saskatchewan is foreign, with very low standards of education. Marriage, he said, was merely an "economic convenience," girls marrying very young, and the living conditions were "appalling." If anyone considers this to be an over-estimate on the part of the reverend gentleman, let him read the whole of his speech delivered in St. Catharines on Thursday. Houses were usually of one room, one end of which, according to Dr. Chown, was occupied by the cattle; beds there were none, boards being laid along the floor by the side of the walls for sleeping purposes. Sanitary laws also were unknown "and undesired."

There we have the revolting picture of what happens when the aliens are permitted to "carry on" according to their own idea of the fitness of things. It is not their fault; they are just as amenable to civilizing influences as any other people, once they have been brought to realize a sense of their importance. If we neglect these unfortunate people, who have never had a chance in their own country to raise themselves above the primitive level described by Dr. Chown, the fault will rest on us, not on them. The Canadianization of the foreigner is one of the most important problems confronting the country.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

The Ontario Legislature doesn't seem to know where it is going or what it is going to do when it gets there.

The vote polled across the river shows that the Western Clock Company's factory is welcome in East City.

A few prosecutions for trespassing might yet save the grass in Victoria Park from the "short cut fiends," although much harm has already been done there.

It is no wonder that Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., was glad to talk to newspaper reporters while in Peterborough. There does not seem to have been any chance given to her to talk to anybody else, after her meeting here last week was over.

Mr. Automobile Owner, have you decided to enter the Motor Show parade? It rests with you car owners whether or not this feature will be a success.

Another sign of the times is that the ash sifter was not shaken nearly as often as was the "shimmy" this winter.

If at first you don't get off, get tried, tried, tried again, seems to be "Fatty" Arbuckle's version of the old saw.

The Maple Leafs announce that the United States will present the Statue of Liberty to Montreal. They say even Rev. Ben Spence smiled when he heard that one.

Toronto has a new publicity organisation to go after conventions. The Queen City is sure of spirited competition from Montreal.

LITERARY GEMS

HUNTING GHOSTS.

Pursuit of ghosts has long been an absorbing interest in many lives. Communication with the spirits of the dead has from time to time been vigorously alleged as having occurred. In the war years, and those following, with millions of untimely bereavements in Europe, the hunt for methods of communication between the world of physical life and the world of spirits, has been more intense and concentrated than ever. But so far general intelligence remains incredulous to every alleged proof that the dead are within our mortal reach. The letters Q. E. D. have not yet been written on any solution of the problem.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

The Senate's Strong Point

Los Angeles Times: The Senate is frequently blind, but never dumb. While the ultimate ratification of the treaties seems assured, the efforts on all sides to extract political capital from the small opposition against them is pitiful. Statesmen who deplore alliances of all kinds are quick to make them of any kind for personal or partisan ends. There will be some jockeying for position before the race is run.

NOT INFALLIBLE.

Dear Sir, — I read with interest in Friday night's Examiner the article re Chief Grange, quoted by Taxpayer and I most fully endorse his statements.

It seems to me that the council is going just a little too far with this official of the fire brigade.

I feel sure this man is doing his best in the interests of the citizens of Peterborough in trying to bring the fire brigade up to a standard of efficiency, that is of course, by the kind permission of the council.

I take it this man was appointed to this position as a competent man for Fire Chief.

And if he is not filling the position as a Fire Chief should, why has it taken the council close upon two years to discover this?

No, my friends, a blunder was made, a mistake we all can make—because none of us are infallible, and as someone must take the blame for so serious a mistake, it falls upon the shoulders of Chief Grange.

I would suggest that the council give the Chief the full power he is entitled to in the management of his men and leave him alone to his own duties, to bring the fire department up to the standard which is required by a city like Peterboro.

And like Taxpayer, I also say let the council look after other business of the city, which is more important than giving the Chief such gruelling criticism, and so give his name and honor a rest. Yours faithfully,

CITIZEN.

PREPARE PARK AT HAVELOCK FOR SUMMER RESORT.

Will Reverse the Baseball Diamond—Hydro Commission Offer Inducements For Patronage.

News Nuggets.

HAVELOCK, April 8.—A meeting of the Park Board was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday night of last week, when all the members were present except Mr. Plunkett.

A lengthy discussion took place as to needed improvements at the park, and the members of the board seemed to think very favorably of the idea of constructing an open grandstand either at the south or west side of the grounds.

On motion of Messrs. Moore and Copp the Havelock Athletic Association was granted power to reverse the baseball diamond so that it could conform to stand ball grounds.

Regarding the percentage to be charged for the use of the park at games where an admission fee is charged, it was decided, on motion of Forde and Hitchins, that 5 per cent. gross be collected this year.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. Forde and Copp, was appointed to examine the grounds as soon as possible with a view of arranging for improving the playing field by filling in and rolling it.

At a recent meeting of the board it was decided to hold a celebration on the King's birthday, Saturday, June 3rd, and to call a public meeting of all citizens on the night of Friday, April 7th, at the Council Chamber, to appoint committees and make arrangements for the event.

Foster Use of Electricity.

At a meeting of the Hydro Commission, held in the Council Chamber, on Wednesday night of last week, at which all members were present, the commission decided after a lengthy discussion to furnish all material for wiring houses, electric ranges, etc., at cost prices, as an inducement to those who have not yet done so to have their houses wired for light and power service. The commission will allow any local electrician for this purpose to order material at cost, the electrician to pass the invoice on to the customer so that the latter may know without doubt that he is receiving the advantage of the saving provided for. Commissioner Jones reported that suitable quarters for storing material could be rented from Mr. Davidson, Jeff's Block, for $1 a month. The commission promptly decided to lease these premises, which consists of the old tinsmith shop, and are admirably adopted for the purpose. The lease takes effect from April 1st. The Secretary was instructed to notify Superintendent Gordon to attend the regular meetings of the commission when notified of the date and hour.

Dear Sirs:-

As we approach the end of the fifth year during which time we have continuously used the columns of the leading newspapers of Canada to advertise The Literary Digest to the Canadian public, we are pleased to say that the results of this publicity have been very satisfactory.

Of course, the "Digest" occupying as it does a unique position in the periodical world by presenting the concensus of public opinion throughout the world on all the important subjects that interest mankind, appeals only to those men and women of intelligence who would keep abreast of current thought and action. For this reason it is necessary that we select only newspapers of high quality to carry our announcements. The papers we are using in Canada measure up fully to the required standard.

If one would reach the better class of Canadian readers one must do so through the journals constituting the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Very sincerely yours,
THE LITERARY DIGEST.

Advertising Manager.

What more striking tribute to the power of Daily Newspaper Advertising could be had than this letter from the publishers of a WEEKLY PERIODICAL, which has gained its circulation through the daily press. We repeat their comment, based upon five years' experience:

What's Already Happened

Jack and his new wife are trying to keep their individual liberty in spite of marriage. As this chapter opens they had both been out the night before but not in each other's company.

KITCHEN CATASTROPHE
CHAPTER VIII

Jack puts on the kettle each morning while I dress. I make the coffee while he bathes and shaves.

We slept late the morning following our first night out. Not until I heard a whistle of distress from the kitchen did I remember that I had left it in an awful confusion.

I rushed to help my husband.

"Can't find anything, Peggins!" explained my bewildered spouse.

"Go and shave! You're late, dear!" I pushed Jack toward the door. "I'll fix things." Then to myself, "Goodness gracious! What will he think of me as a housekeeper? Never have I seen a kitchen in such a state!"

In my hurry the night before, I had forgotten to put the food away Cold baked potatoes adorned my pantry shelf. Lettuce and mayonnaise decorated the sink. The smell of cauliflower was over it all. My kitchen was hot and close for I had left the broiling burner turned on all night.

On the table, my expensive tenderloin steak had turned from a pink hard surface to something flabby, dull red and unappetizing. The heat had done it! It was unfit to eat!

And I couldn't afford it in the first place. And if I'd stayed at home and attended to my business as a wife it wouldn't have happened And if my housekeeping was going to turn out like that—

I began to sob softly. Dear old Jack heard and came to me.

I pointed to the spoiled beef and sobbed the harder because I could sob in his arms.

"I hope you'll never have anything more important to weep about," my husband whispered "We'll live on rice until we've made up for it!"

Because my kitchen was in disorder and because I had cried so long, my breakfast was late. Jack couldn't take time to eat what he required. But he didn't complain, dear boy!

As he kissed me goodby, he gave his wrist watch a quick glance, then terminated our embrace suddenly. Never had he left me so abruptly. I was hurt. And Jack never noticed

Later he phoned to me to come down town for luncheon. I needed cheering, he averred.. And he had a surprise for me.

It was indeed, a grand surprise. Jack took me to his bank and opened a checking account in my name! One hundred dollars to open it and fifty for me to spend any time. My first checking account! A coveted dignity was added to my married state.

I never had earned any money After my father and mother had parted, Daddy continued to send me a small allowance monthly. Only in order to make it last me a month, Daddy paid it in weekly installments.

My own checking account! Jack was a generous and thoughtful husband. That night he gave me a lesson in making out checks and in keeping the stubs in the check book

And he laughed a good deal at some of my questions.

WHEAT SITUATION FOR LAST WEEK.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 10. (Canadian Press.)— With forty-six million bushels in store at the head of the lakes, including all grains, the elevator capacity here is practically all taken up.

Less than two and a half million bushels of grain have been received this week or just half the receipts of last week, while shipments have been about a million bushels.

Following are figures of stocks, receipts and shipments for the week:

In store—Wheat, 33,262,884 bushels; oats 7,464,597; barley 2,416,150; flax 752,539; rye 1,090,799.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 10.— There was a slight improvement in the cash grain market here Saturday, but no change in prices. The flour market was without feature. There was no change in millfeed while the demand for rolled oats was slow. The egg market was without development. There is nothing new to report in the baled hay situation and in potatoes there is a fair business passing. Prospects of increased activity are indicated in butter. There was little doing in the cheese market.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, April 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Wheat advanced sharply on Saturday following a weak start, the July option touching a new high mark for the week when 120 7-8 was attained shortly before the close. Buying by houses with eastern connections was principally responsible for the quick upward turn, and at the finish, which was strong, the market showed a net gain of 5.8 to 1 1-2c., with May $1.32 1-8 to $1.32 1-4 and July $1.20 1-2 to $1.20 5-8. Corn closed 3-8 to 3-4 higher; oats were up 1-4 to 3-8c., and provisions showed an advance ranging from seven cents to 50c.

While the Government crop report on winter wheat, issued after Friday's close, instilled a slightly bearish tinge to the market at the opening, this was outlived, however, as the buying demand from the eastern houses caused a reaction which sent prices to higher levels.

Unfavorable reports regarding the crops in the southwest also was a contributing factor.

Corn and oats reflected the action in wheat. There was a broader trade and commission house buying led to considerable short covering. There was little, however, in the news on corn to attract attention, but the delay in oats seeding caused increased apprehension.

Provisions while rather dull, averaged higher in sympathy with hogs and grains.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Receipts 130 cattle and calves and 140 hogs. Trading on the cattle market was quiet Saturday morning and not sufficient sales were completed to really establish a price range. It is likely the bulk of the offerings will be carried over for Monday's trade.

The hog market remained steady, packers bidding $11.50 for selects.

There was no trading on the sheep and lamb market due to lack of receipts.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(Canadian Press.) —Extensive accumulation of buying orders over the week end infused further activity and strength to general stock list at the outset of to-day's trading. Gulf States showing gain of 2 3-8 points at the first transaction, but soon losing half its advance. MEDICAL SOCIETY HELD A MEETING

Resolution Concerning Bill to Be Presented to the Ontario House.

An open meeting of the Peterborough Medical Society was held on Saturday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, at which representatives of several organisations of the city were present.

It was called to discuss a Bill that will shortly be introduced into the Ontaorio Legislature, which has for its purpose the legal recognition of the chiropractor to establish colleges and hospitals without any supervision or control by any existing authority.

Dr. Edward Wood, the chairman, stated the purpose of the meeting briefly, and Dr. G. S. Cameron went more fully into the history of Government control of medical work, and described the very extensive and thorough investigation made by Justice Hodgins on the subject of all systems of treatment to be found at the present time. He stated that a very full report was made as a result of this investigation, with certain recommendations, based on the two years' study of the question. This report should come before the Ontario Legislature soon, and Dr. Cameron stated that the wish of the Medical Society was that the present Bill of the chiropractors should be deferred until Justice Hodgins' report be considered in full.

Mr. R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., discussed the matter fully, and urged very strongly the need of uniform control by recognised authority of so important a matter as treatment of human diseases which involve life and public health, and moved a resolution to the effect that the Legislature be urged to defer action on this partial bill until the question could be considered as a whole in a thorough manner.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner seconded the resolution.

It was also supported by Rev. J. R. Webb who urged very strongly the need of control of the healing art, so that proper qualifications should be insisted upon, and that all should conform to these legal qualifications before being allowed to practice on human beings. He and other non-medical speakers thought the resolution was much too mild.

Others who spoke in favour of delay of this minor Bill in order to give due consideration to the whole subject were Mr. G. A. Gillespie, ex-M.P.P., Mayor Taylor, Mrs. (Col.) Mills, and Mr. Rudkins.

Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P., discussed the matter fully, stating that he maintained an open mind on the whole question. He wished to give due credit to good that could be found in any cult, but said that every branch should be under some properly organised control which should insist on proper qualifications, and that any branch should have its work limited to its qualifications. If the regular physician was required to conform to a definite standard for qualifying and practising, it was right that other cults should be controlled by similar limits. He agreed that the postponement of the minor Bill would not work any injury to anyone, and would faciltate a more complete consideration of the whole question which was of so great importance.

The following resolution was put to the meeting, and accepted unanimously:

Moved by Mr. R. R. Hall.

Seconded by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.

"That this meeting of citizens, representing the various organised bodies of the city of Peterborough, desire to express their disapproval of the proposed Bill authorising the incorporation of a College of Chiropractic in the Province of Ontario, and we further recommend to our representative in the Legislature, Mr. Thomas Tooms, that he use his influence to have consideration of this matter deferred until such time as the whole medical situation in the Province can be dealt with."

GIRLS SENTENCED TO READ FAIRY TALES TO SMOTHER BOHEMIAN FANCIES

Fairy tales and Bohemianism are battling here for supremacy.

Upon the outcome depends whether or not Chicago is to have a Quartier Latin of its own patterned after Gotham's Greenwich Village.

Miss Lillian Collier and Miss Virginia Harrison have been sentenced by Judge Jacobs to read the fairy tales attentively.

The jurist's reason in doing so was because he hoped thereby to cure the two young women of their Bohemian tendencies.

Deny "Petting Parties."

Lillian and Virginia are joint proprietors of the "Wind Blew Inn," Chicago's first attempt to express its Bohemian ideals.

Police visited the place several times and complained because they saw candles burning dimly in far distant corners and grotesque black cats stalking about the barren floors.

In addition, they also alleged numerous "petting parties" were carried on. All of which the girls denied.

"We are merely trying to live life as we see it," both said when haled before Judge Jacobs.

"Have either of you ever read 'Little Women,' 'Flaxie Frizzle' or Hans Christian Anderson's tales?" the judge asked.

Lillian and Virginia both shook their heads.

"But we read bed-time stories in the papers," replied Lillian.

Sentenced to Fairy Tales.

"Well, that's good," said the court. "All that's the matter is that you have a false value of things and life in general.

Surrounded by 27 Bohemian devotees, the two champions of the coming second city Greenwich Village strode homeward.

"But we stopped in at the library and got the books Judge Jacobs recommended," said Virginia.

"We're reading them as commanded under our sentence. And if influence of the fairy tales shows us that our viewpoint of life is wrong, then we'll stop Chicago's Bohemia."

MISS LILLIAN COLLIER.

HAS CONFIDENCE

POPE PIUS XI.

ROME, April 8 (Canadian Press). —Pope Pius XI. has written the Archbishop of Genoa, approving the request of the Archbishop for prayers for a happy result of the Genoa Conference.

"We express the desire and cherish the confidence," says the ope's letter, confidence," says the Pope's letter, consider the unhappy conditions under which all peoples are struggling, not only with a serene soul, but with the willingness to offer any sacrifice on the altar of the common good."

GIRLS EXCEEDED THEIR OBJECTIVE

Saturday night saw a merry but tired bunch of girls congregated at the Y.W.C.A. for the last returns of their week's campaign for funds for the public department, in which over 100 of the girl members worked hard and faithfully for the six days. The results were excellent. Starting with an objective of $1,500, the net total to date amounts to $1,739.50, a sum which proved a very gratifying result to the workers.

The canvassers were divided into three divisions. Miss Ethel Nichol was captain of the division receiving the largest amount, $666.75; Miss Sherlock came second, with $571,30, and Miss Grace Evans third, with $501.45. Among the different lieutenants, Miss Thressa Taylor's team has first place, with $228.20 collected: Miss M. Warman, second, $218.25, and Miss M. Elliott, third, with $178. Among the individual collectors, Miss M. Warman received the highest total, $160, which included one cheque for $100; Miss Nichol brought in $80 by her own lone efforts, no single contribution over $5, and Miss Vida Foote, $75, including two cheques for $25 each.

The girls were much excited and pleased on Saturday evening over the results of their week's work, and had a jolly time at the Y.W.C.A., with coffee and doughnuts served as refreshments. They considered their hard work amply rewarded by the total arrived at, and are most grateful to the general public who responded so handsomely to their requests.

The final list of contributors towards the fund will be published as soon as possible.

HARD COAL USED LOCAL POST OFFICE.

G. N. Gordon, M.P., has arranged for the Peterborough Post Office to use hard coal instead of soft coal. The Minister of Public Works has given the promise that this will be done. The soft coal has caused a good deal of annoyance in the offices and to those living apartments near the Post Office. An order went through from the Minister of Public Works on the 5th of April making this change.

Dishes From Dried Peas

Boiled Pork and Peas Pudding.

Leg of salt pork, 1 medium sized head cabbage, 4 parsnips, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1-2 turnip, 1 stalk celery, 12 peppercorns.

For the Pudding—wo cups split peas, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs (yolks), pepper.

Soak the peas over night. Put the pork in a big kettle, cover with warm water and bring to the boiling point. Skim well. If the pork is very salty put to cook in cold water, brought slowly to the boiling point and the water poured off.

Then put on in warm water and proceed as usual. Boil 10 minutes and add the onion, carrot, turnip and celery cut in slices. Add peppercorns and simmer from two to three hours. Allow 25 minutes per pound for cooking.

Cut parsnips lengthwise in quarters and boil in slightly satled water or with the pork. The parsnips should cook in 45 minutes. Boil cabbage in slightly salted water, drain and cut in neat squares. Serve the pork on a hot platter garnished with the vegetaables.

To Make the Peas Pudding.

Drain peas from water in which they were soaked. Tie in a cloth and boil with the pork for an hour and a half. Remove from cloth, rub through a sieve. Add butter, yolks of eggs and pepper .Beat well and put back in the cloth and boil 40 minutes longer.

If the kettle is not big enough to accommodate the peas, boil in a stew pan with one teaspoon salt. Cover with cold water and boil two hours. Add water as it boils away.

Then rub through a sieve, add butter, yolks of eggs and pepper. Put in a well buttered baking dish and bake or steam for 40 minutes.

Pea Fritters.

Two cups split peas, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, fine dried breadcrumbs.

Soak peas over night in six quarts cold water. Drain. Put in a stewpan the peas will about half fill. Add salt and sugar and cover with cold water and simmer for two hours. Add water to prevent burning, but as the peas become soft let the water cook away as much as possible.

Rub through a puree strainer or sieve. Season with salt and pepper and butter and pour into a platter to become cool enough to handle. Form in small flat cakes and roll in crumbs. Fry in frying pan in bacon drippings.

Split Pea Soup.

One cup split peas, 1-2 stalk of celery, 2 small onions, one tablespoon flour, one dessertspoon butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon of pepper.

Wash peas well and soak over night in six cups cold water. Boil in water in which peas were soaked. It will take about one and one-half hours to cook the peas tender. Rub through strainer. Stew celery and onions in water to cover and put through sieve.

Melt butter and brown flour carefully in melted butter. Slowly add the water in which the celery and onions wer cooked. Add this to peas. Season with salt and pepper, and reheat if necessary.

If too thick, add milk or meat stock to make desired creaminess.

BIG-HEART AND THE CRIPPLE BOY

'Twas a balmy day in spring; the air fragrant and aflood with Nature's invigorating oxygen, wafted to one's welcoming lungs over sun-kissed hills and smiling, verdant valleys, resplendent in their rich, new-grown carpeting of green in wondrously varying shades. The sparkling waters of a sinuous rivulent meandered murmuringly through luxuriant acres of embryo crops, through lush meadows and shady pine-scented woods, its miniature waves whispering in gentle voice of peace and life and plenty Giving promise of a glorious day, the air was resonant with the tuneful song of happily-mated birds, which found accord in the merry whistling of a youthful farm lad as, sturdy in limb and supple of body, he strided industriously behind an equally sturdy and industrious team, whom he from time to time sympathetically admonished with "Hawe! Tom, and gee!, Pat," when need demanded. And there, from the open door of a vine-clad cottage dashed a rosy-cheeked damsel—swift of limb and eyes aglow with joyous health—in merry pursuit of a sleek, mischief-loving collie who, in his exhilarating exuberance of canine sportiveness, invited chase in what appeared to be a game of "catch-who-catch-can."

Life Everywhere.

In the air, where winged denizens of many-colored plumage made swift flight; in the trees, where maturing foliage rustled merrily to the inspiring breeze; in the fields, where graceful yearlings tossed their heads and playfully gambolled in horse abandon; along the white ribbon of winding road, where a 'cyclist cherrily peddled his way to distant town; in the deep blue heavens above, where fleece-white clouds sailed majestically from horizon to horizon —everywhere was life, sentient and insentient, vigorously, gloriously healthy and superlative.

Pitifully Marred.

This altogether entrancing scene, however, was pitifully marred, and cruelly so, by a creation the Almighty never intended—an innocent and all but inactive blot on an otherwis active and animated landscape, in the person of a little boy on crutches, painfully hobbling along in forced and unnatural movement.

The Good Samaritan.

But, lo! in the distance now hoves in sight a man made in God's own image, tall and strong and vigorous, charitable and pitying. For this stranger, city-bred, immaculately dressed and driving a spirited team to glistening buggy, was none other than the late John Ross Robertson, proprietor of The Toronto Telegram—and gentleman, every inch of him. Reaching the little cripple, child-loving John Ross pulled up his horses and in a big-pearted, fatherly manner he comforted the little fellow, cheered him up and won his childish confidence. Seated on the soft green road-side sward this child of tender years, with beseeching eyes reflecting the sufferings of a pain-racked body, told that modern Good Samaritan the history of his joyless young existence—life, indeed, it could not be by any stretch of imagination characterized. Then that lovable philanthropic newspaper man, learning that the little chap was crippled because of some weakness in his back, for surgical treatment of which in hope of recovery his heart-broken parents were too poor to seek, determined to give the boy a chance for health and life and manhood. Driving the youngster home, with his parents grateful consent that man among men carried his crippled protege off to Toronto for the tender care of sympathetic nurses and skilful treatment by scientific surgeons. To make a long story short, that crippled little human was eventually returned to joyful hearts at home, sturdy in limb, strong in body, swift afoot and glowing with health and vigor.

The Blot Effaced.

And so, the marring blot of that balmy rejuvenating spring morn of years ago I write of was thus effectually effaced; for, lo! with fellow-humans' aid the cripple cast aside his crutches and walked with joyous lithsome steps the to him once painful road of old, developing into sinewy, healthy manhood—the joy of a fond mother's heart, an asset to community and country.

Similar Work Here.

And work similar to the forgoing is one of the many objectives of the local Health Association. They are now inaugurating a plan for helping crippled children in Peterborough to improved health, if not complete recovery. At least, the coming summer this philanthropic body of women and men will make what provision is practicable for assuring some sort of health-promoting recreation, maybe in Jackson Park, for crippled little ones whose parents cannot afford the expense nor furnish the care such and outing would entail. And, with public support, it is hoped to broaden the scope of this altogether commendable branch of Christian endeavor, that no limping little one in our community but who shall have a fighting chance with nourishing food and wholesome conditions for enhanced strength, mentally and physically. Unfortunately, many a child is permanently crippled for life who might have been by proper treatment—natural and scientific—restored to soundness of limb and bodily vigor. In such cases here, if any, where known, the association will neglect no reasonable means of giving Nature opportunity for reasserting herself.

To such ends, it should be remembered, a portion of the funds realized at Peterborough's Motor Show, April 19, 20 and 21, will be devoted. Let the general public do their part with generous patronage; the Health Association may be relied on to do theirs in kindly action—for "Inasmuch as ye did this unto the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me," said the greatest of all moral teachers.

Popular Salvation Army Adjutant Was Almost a Nervous Wreck Before She Began Taking Tanlac — Gains Thirty Pounds.

"I was run down for two years and lost thirty pounds in weight, but thanks to Tanlac, I have gained every pound I lost back and am in the best of health and spirits," said Mrs. Wm. Bradbury, 94 Merrick street, Hamilton, Ont., an adjutant in the Salvation Army.

"It is easy to imagine how happy I am over what Tanlac has done for me when I state the simple fact that for over two years I was unable to go down town. I was so nervous I was almost a wreck and at times I suffered so I would go almost distracted. I underwent two different operations without getting relief and was thoroughly disheartened.

"Tanlac has changed everything for me and has been a blessing beyond measure. My advice to people who would be well, strong and happy is to take Tanlac.'

LIVER TROUBLE

BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach foul and sick, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

TO REORGANIZE LAKEFIELD A. A. A. ON NEW LINES.

Sports Club Membership Fee $2 — Last Year's Officers Tender Their Resignations.

LAKEFIELD, April 10. — The meeting called by the Lakefield Amateur Athletic Association to meet the delegates of the Football and Baseball Clubs was held in the Memorial Hall chambers of the Association and delegates from the above mentioned clubs were present. Mr. R. A. Hirsch, the secretary of the L.A.A.A., pointed out the advantages of having all sport controlled by one organization, and advised that the association be composed of the present officers, and a committee composed of two members from each club. That each individual club handle their own finances and general business, and that a statement be forwarded to the secretary or or before the 5th of each month. Also that a meeting of the L.A.A.A. officers and the general committee be held on, say the 8th of each month, to receive these reports, and make any adjustments or arrangements necessary to assist the weaker drawing teams. By an arrangement such as this the weaker sport could be kept in existence by the aid of the stronger clubs. He also suggested that the Association would be responsible for all debts incurred by any of the clubs, but in the event of any of the clubs showing a profit at the end of their season they would hand this over to the L.A.A.A. which would be put into the general fund.

The above suggestions were then discussed by those present and there was some division among the members. The Football Club did not think their members should have to become members of the L.A.A.A. at one dollar each, but suggested that a fee of say $2.00 or $5.00 be charged each club to cover their players. Also that each club finance themselves and be responsible for all debts incurred, and that their money if a profit be shown at end of season, be not used to asisst any of the other clubs, but they would agree to hand over the profits to the L.A.A.A. to be kept for their club to commence the following season with. The baseball delegates appeared to be quite in favor of the secretary's proposals as a good, all-around working basis.

After much discussion it was decided, that each club would run separately and handle their own affairs, and that each club have two delegates on the L.A.A.A. committee. That each club pay to the L.A.A.A. a fee for membership of $2.00. It was also decided to re-organize the L.A.A.A. to conform with the new plans, and that no more membership tickets be sold. The present officers of the L.A.A.A. tendered their resignations to take effect on or before the end of the month, when a meeting will be held to elect a new slate of officials.

PETERBORO ELIMINATED BY GARRETS OF TORONTO

Basketball Honors Will Find a Resting Place Elsewhere — The Score Was 34 to 4.

Peterboro was definitely eliminated from the championship of the O.A.B.A. League Saturday night when the local team went down to an overwhelming defeat before the Garret five of Toronto. The score was 34 to 4.

In spite of the wide divergence in the scoring of the two teams the game was fast and exciting throughout. While the visitors certainly outplayed their opponents, especially in the first period, the breaks of the game were against the home team and time and again the ball seemed to roll around the edge of the basket only to fall out. Toronto scored in all thirteen field baskets of which nine were made in the first period.

The visitors started their scoring with a foul shot in the first half after a few minutes of very fast play, this point was quickly followed by a field basket and the score mounted rapidly until it stood at 10 to 0. At this point Pogue scored with a foul making the first score for the locals and the only score they made in that period which ended 22 to 1.

The local boys tightened up in the second period and held their opponents to four field and four foul baskts, scoring one of each themselves. Stuart was the only man on the home team to score a field basket. This was the result of one of the best shots in the game for it was made from well back of the center of the floor and dropped into the basket as clean as a whistle. Alex. Darling also played a good game or the locals but failed to score.

The play of the Toronto team was conspicuous fr the excellent pass work in which they indulged and it may be said that it was the aerial work of the visitors which defeated the local team for during the first half, the latter did not seem able to break up the fast and furious combination plays. During the second period the Peterboro boys got their own pass work going and the results were much better..

The line up was as follows:

Toronto

Peterboro

Referee, Smail; timer Loomis.

A preliminary game was played between the Reds and the Whites of the Y.W.C.A. in which the victors 14 to 3. The Whites scored first with a field basket early in the first period and were followed almost immediately by basket for the Reds. The score remained a tie for several minutes after which Whites took the lead and maintained it to the end.

Martha Kirn of the Whites was the high scorer of the game with three field baskets to her credit. Madeline Pulkinghorn played an excellent game and accounted for one basket for the winners. Gertrude Kirn also played an excellent game for the Whites..

Marion Duncan scored the only field basket for the Reds and played an excellent game throughout. The single foul scored by this team was dropped into the basket by Carrie Coon who also played a good game.

CHELSEA DEFEATS EVERTON TEAM IN BRITISH SOCCER.

Great Blow to Everton, Who Spent Thousands For New Players.

LONDON, April 10.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— Cook scored two of Chelsea's goals in that team's defeat of Everton away from home on Saturday and their success was a great blow to Everton as the latter not only spent many thousands of pounds to get new players, in order to save the team from relegation to the second division, a fate which they again stand in grave danger of, as a result of this match.

Hotspur reached the second place in the first division table because of a slightly better gaol average than Burnley. Their win was exceedingly lucky, since Birmingham were actually beaten by a goal scored by their own left full back who put a centre by Dimmock through his own goal. Nottingham Forests' celebrated fullbacks, Jones and Bulling, whose extraordinary consistency has been such an all-important factor in the team's success this season, gave a superb display against Clapton Orient. LACROSSE NOTES.

The first purchaser of a boy's lacrosse stick from the new shipment was Dr. C. H. Amys. The doctor evidently believes that Canada's old game builds sturdy boys.

It may be unnecesary to offer this bit of assurance to parents, but they should feel assured that the Lacrosse Club in reviving the game intend to see that it is conducted on clean, sound lines. That is the ideal of the players themselves, and after all the players make the game.

The south end team meet to-night in the basement of the Sacred Heart church. A large turnout is looked for.

STRATHCONA'S OFFICERS.

North End Entry in City Lacrosse League Off to a Peppery Start And Are Full of Enthusiasm.

The Strathcona lacrosse team who will represent the north ward in the city league held their organization meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night. They mustered a good attendance and showed a lot of enthusiasm for the game, which quite a number of them will be playing for the first time when the regular practices are started. The omcers were elected as follows:

Hon. Pres—F. D. Kerr, K.C.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—C. S. Cummer and J. H. Connal.
President—E. J. Fowler.

The Strathconas have chosen the name that was once prominent in Peterborough's hockey affairs, and they may broaden out into other games. For the present they hope to train the newcomers and will be glad to welcome north end boys to the club. Johnnie Ward, Alf. Johnston, Lionel Brown, Doughty, Stacey and the others who have been the prime movers behind the Strathconas are highly pleased with the encouragement and friendly interest displayed in their team by north end men, and they earnestly solicit the sympathy ad the support of others.

LACROSSE LEADER.

DR. N. H. SUTTON,
President of the Peterborough Lacrose Club, whose plan of promoting the game among the youngsters bids fair of realizing a big success this year. Dr. Sutton is giving unsparingly of his time and has gathered about him an earnest group of workers. Peterborough will have junior and juvenile O.A.L.A. teams and also two local leagues of four teams each, and probably a school league, too.

Jake Solomon Will Lead The Petes Again This Year

Old Management Decides to "Carry On" After Newly Elected Executive Declines to Assume Responsibility.

There have been some speedy changes in the local baseball situation over the week end. On Friday night a public meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce a slate of officers for the Peterboro Central League Club, was elected and the executive instructed to meet the last years officers with regard to taking over the franchise and also assuming the deficit left over from last season.

The conference was held at the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday afternoon and after discussing base ball matters at some length the newly elected officers passed a resolution declining to take over the franchise. This was equivalent of course to a wholesale resignation and left the issue as to whether or not Peterboro was to have a Central League team this year up to last year's officials.

The latter immediately afterward held a meeting at the Bank of Montreal and decided that as Peterboro wanted senior baseball and nobody else was apparently willing to assume the burden it was up to them to do what they could to provide the city with a good ball club. Accordingly it was decided to "carry on" and the following officers were elected:

Patrons: Messrs. R. Abbott, W. R. Breyfogle, R. A. Brown, W. E. Conway, R. Denne, R. Dobie C. G. Graham, G. N. Gordon, M.P., R. M. Glover, T. H. Hooper, Ald James Hamilton, Gordon S. Mathews, E. S. Martin, V. J. McElderry, A. A. McIntyre, George A. MacDonald, E. G. Patterson, Mayor H. H. Taylor, J. J. Turner C. H. Thompson, J. H. Vernor, Edgar Worth, P. P. Westbye.

Past President—F. D. Craig.

President—Ald. Nagle Phelan.

First Vice-President—Ward Patterson.

Second Vice-President— W. T. Foryte.

Secretary-Treasurer — W. H. Walkey.

Executive Committee — Max Swanston, Walter Oke, L. H. Ingram.

Manager—Jake Solomon.

Messrs. Phelan, Walkey and Solomon were appointed as a committee to negotiate with the P.A.A.A. for the use of Riverside Park and were given authority to sign an agreement on behalf of the Peterboro club either with the P.A.A.A. or the Exhibition Board.

It was decided to call a meeting of all players who wish to try out for the Central League team at the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night at 7.30 o'clock to talk over the situation. This is a most important meeting and the players are urged to make it a point to attend The meeting is for the executive and players only. Incidentally it may be pointed out that every local boy who wants to try out for the Central League Club whether he has had previous experience or not will be given every opportunity to make good.

..At this stage no one is sure of a place and new blood will be welcomed. There are unusual opportunities this season for ambitious youngster to break into the big Central loop and the way is wide open to them.

SHORTSTOPS ARE WORTH BIG MONEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10. — (Canadian Press.) — Any baseball club with a good shortstop for sale for $25,000 can find a purchaser in the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast League. It needs the infielder to fill the gap caused when Jimmy Caveney went to the majors this spring.

"The San Francisco Club offered $25,000 for a shortstop last winter and the offer still holds good," Charles Graham, one of the club owners, declared.

BILLIARDS.

LONDON, April 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The first heat of the English professional billiards championship played at Thurston Hall, London, was completed Saturday. Final scores were: Reece 8,000; McConachy, 6,767.

FOOTBALLERS OPEN SEASON

One Game in the City and Another in Lakefield on Saturday.

The Peterborough and District Football League got away to a flying start on Saturday. The C.G.E. team travelled to Lakefield and defeated the villagers, and on King Edward Park the Canadian Packers and Quaker Oats battled for 70 minutes before a large crowd of fans, but were unable to reach a decision. The game ended with a tie score, 2 to 2.

Referee J. Clarke had a busy afternoon, for most of the players were new to the game. A fine degree of sportsmanship was snown, however, and old-timers in the lines like the Shows, Wilshaws, and Harold Follis, strengthened the teams.

The goals were accounted for by M. Shaw and T. Ball for the Packers, and Jim Willshaw and J. Saffery for the Porridge boys. The line-ups were:

Canadian Packers — Goal, W. Downer; backs, J. Murduff and H. Mann; half-backs, R. Batley, H. Follis, and J. Hotts; forwards, G. Downer, J. Shaw, M. Shaw, J. Clarke and T. Ball.

Quaker Oats — Goal, G. Griffin; backs, G. Young and R. Willshaw; half-backs, W. Hepburn, H. Stanley, and A. Clarke; forwards, J. Saffery, F. Honour, J. Willshaw, R. Armstrong, and T. Foster.

Referee—J. Clarke.

PETITION SIGNED BY THE MERCHANTS GOES TO OTTOWA

On Saturday a deputation from the Retail Merchants Association delivered to G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., a petition signed by 300 merchants of this city and district recommending that the present sales tax collected from manufacturers and importers be unchanged unless it is necessary to increase it for revenue purposes. Mr. Gordon promised to present the petition to Hon. W. S. Fielding, ministr of Finance. The resolution read as follows:

Honorable W. S. Fielding,
Minister of Finance.
Dominion Government,
Ottawa.

WHEREAS, it is proposed that the Dominion Government continue the application of the present Sales Act and extend its application to those engaged in retail trade.

AND WHEREAS, we believe this proposd extended application of the present Sales Act to include two hundred retail merchants will entail a disproportionate cost to the Government for the collection of same, and could not be equitably applied,

THEREFORE RESOLVED, that we, the undersigned of the Retail Merchants' Association, Peterborough District Branch, strongly recommend to the Dominion Government that if revenue requirements necessitate an increase to the present Sales Tax, such tax be collected at the source of supply, namely, from the manufacturer, and the importer, and that the words "manufacturers", and "importer" be properly defined in the Act, so as not to include retail merchants.

AT THE REGENT.

Many are Displayed in Enid Bennett's "Silk Hosiery"

One of the most striking of the many magnificent sets used in "Silk Hosiery", Enid Bennett's latest Paramout feature, which comes to the Regent Theatre for 3 days beginning to-day is that representing the "Maison Louise," the most ultra of the many ultra smart shops along Fifth Avenue. The scheme of decoration is modern in the extreme; a riot of bright colors and the last word in interior decorating. A model throne, heavily draped in black velvet, is the pivot on which the action turns, and beautiful models appear in rapid succession wearing one fascinating creation after another.

One of the most picturesque costumes is exhibited by Katherine Ridgway, a noted model of Los Angeles. The gown itself is of silver tissue, drapped to form a Turkish effect and adorned with a vivid array as head-dress of ostrich feathers held in place by a chin strap of pearls. A huge fan of the same feathers in emerald hue completes the effect.

AT THE GRAND.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."

There has never been so lavish and adequate a production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin' as that which Mr. William H. Kibble will offer amusement lovers at the Grand, Saturday, April 15, matinee and night. The scenes which are large enough to fill the most spacious stage, could not easily be improved. Those representing the Ohio River in winter, the Rocky Pass in which George Harris protects his family, the St. Claire plantation, the levee at New Orleans, the cotton fields in full bloom, and the "Celestial City" are all most notable effects. Each pictures the reality as closely as paint and canvas will permit and the stage perspective is so deep that the effect is exceptionally pleasing. The company is also worthy of the environment. Gus Collins, the eminent minstrel star, offers an excellent study of Uncle Tom.

THE BOHEMIAN GIRL.

It is difficult to recall a better local production of Balfe's ever-popular opera, "The Bohemian Girl," than was given at the Grand on Saturday, by the Boston English Opera Compjany who repeated the triumph won here several weeks ago in "Il Trovatore." "The Bohemian Girl" afforded an opportunity of displaying the remarkable vocal abilities of both principals and chorus that was taken splendid advantage of by the Boston company.

The Arline was Miss Helena Morrill, who delighted her audience by her winsome charm and by the liquid purity of her voice. Naturally her solo, "I Dreamed I Dwelt in Marble Halls," made the most popular appeal and a storm of applause followed the last perfect note, but Miss Morrill was equally effective in her other numbers. Norman Arnold, the Thaddeus of the poduction, shared the honors of the night with Miss Morrill. "Then You'll Remember Me," Mr. Arnold's most popular solo solo, was given in a manner that electrified the audience, and "Fair Land of Poland," was sung in masterly fashion. Miss Dorothy Bott's rich contralto enabled her to score heavily as the Gipsy Queen, and her solo, "Bliss For Ever Past," was a feature of the performance.

Henry King's baritone succeeded in making the role of Count Arnheim stand out prominently and one favorite "The Heart Bowed Down." gained a new beauty in his splendid rendition.

The chorus although not large, sang in splendid form and the whole production was a memorable one.

AT THE ROYAL.

Attention is respectfuly called to the wonderful sacred picture the Royal was fortunate enough to secure for the first half of Easter week, beginning to-day. This story of Christ's life, told in pictures, is unique in every respect and is entitled "From the Manger to the Cross." This work of art, before its actual inception, was given deep study and concentrated attention by some of the world's leading theologians so that reverence, truthfulness and completeness worthy of its exalted aspiration should characterize the work.

In preparing the series of scenes, which, connectedly, suggest epochal events in the life of Jesus of Nazareth, various authorities were consulted, special mention of obligation being accreditpd to Tissot in the matter of color, costuming and groupings; and to Schieck in points of architecture. The scenes presented, in every possible instance, are photographs of authentic locations and the spectator may confidently feel that he is beholding a representationof that Holy Land where once the Immortal Nazarene was born — where once He lived—and where once He died.

In addition to this sacred theme there is a big programme of carefully selected pictures. This latter include a rare blending of scenic adventure, romance and comedy. When "scenic" pictures are mentioned the Pathe productions are synonomous with artistic excellence, and this is shown in the beautiful picture called Rideau Lakes. The Pathe story of romance and adventure called "Outwitting the Timber Wolves," is an exciting one. Then to round out a diversified programme there is the inimitable Larry Semon in a two-reel comedy, called "Home Sweet Home." This is a programme of widely differing subjects and includes the list of all.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Peterborough's most popular playhouse offers a programme to-day that excells all others. Special attraction, Flora Shaw, Toronto's most favorite soprano vocalist, well-known to Massey Hall. Feature picture presentation, Gloria Swanston in her very latest Paramount picture, "Her Husband's Trademark." Jimmy Aubrey in "A Charmed Life."

Real Love Triumphs in Gloria Swanson's Paramount Picture, "Her Husband's Trademark."

In this case, the husband's trademark is a gorgeously dressed wife. The husband is not wealthy, but hopes to attain wealth by making a show of wealth. The plot thickens when a friend of husband and wife, returns after gaining both wealth and greatness, falls in love with the wife, and the husband, to promote his selfish financial aims, rather encourages the romance. The outgrowth of this situation is a powerful climax showing the disillusionment and after a thrilling encounter with bandits in old Mexico, the scene of the friend's oil lands, the death of the cowardly husband and the triumph of righteous love.

Stuart Holmes plays the husband with all his old-time finesse, as a suave villain, Richard Wayne portrays the friend and the other roles are in the hands of Lucien Littlefield, Clarence Burton, and Charles Ogle.

The production, directed by Sam Wood, is picturesque in theme, plot and scenic beauty. Lorna Moon wrote the scenario from the original photoplay by Clara Beranger.

Comedian Invents New Sort of Tractor.

For "A Charmed Life," Jimmy Aubrey, the Vitgraph comedian, has invented an entirely new kind of vehicle. It is a dog tractor type of bus which is propelled by a treadmill system. Jimmy is a bookworm and does not care to be disturbed by intricate machinery, the manipulation of which would take his mind off the story he is reading. So, with an ordinary fishing pole with a sausage tied on the end in lieu of bait, and mister dog running on the tread trying to satch said sausage, the peculiar vehicle of Jimmy's invention moves forward. By keeping the sausage dangling just in front of the dog's nose Jimmy secures perpetual motion. When the dog finally snatches the sausage something happens and that is the kick which makes "A Charmed Life" one of the real laugh successes of the year.

HOW THE STRIKE AFFECTS USERS.

Industral plants normally have the lead as a consumer, of bitiminous coal, using 32 out of each 100 tons mined.

Railroads use 28 tons, public utilities 7 tons, households 10 tons, cake makers 15 tons.

Homes burn 55 per cent of the anthracite output, and 20 per cent goes to industries, power plants and for heating large buildings. Only 5 per cent. of anthracite is exported.

WEDDING BELLS

JOHNSON—ADAMSON.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 in St. James' Methodist Church, when Epsie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Adamson, North Monaghan, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to D. Walter Johnson, only son of Mr. B. Johnson, Peterborough, Rev. J. F. Chapman presiding.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was prettily attired in navy blue tricotine suit, with mohair hat to match and Hudson seal scarf, and wearing a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and Ophelia roses. They were unattended. The wedding march was played by the organist of St. James' Church.

JAMES BATEMAN.

On Wednesday last, 5th April, at the home of his son Herbert, there passed away in Bailieboro one of South Monaghan's oldest and most respected residents, in the person of James Bateman, at the age of 84.

His even temper, generous spirit, and faithful service to his fellow-man have won for him a tender memory in the community in which he lived.

He was predeceased seven years ago by his wife, Rebecca McCartney, but is survived by nine sons and two daughters, six of his sons acting as pall-bearers at his funeral. The daughters are Mrs. James Bullock, of Bewdley; and Mrs. G. F. Smithson, of Peterborough. There is no fireside, howsoe'er defended,
But has one vacant chair."

FUR STORAGE

Care of your Furs is essential in keeping them Fit. Expensive Furs should be examined by a Reliable Furrier every year, and should in Summer be Stored and Insured in Rooms where the conditions prevent deposit and breeding of moths' eggs. Scientific treatment is thus assured, for the Furs are taken out at regular intervals, gone over, aired, treated when necessary, and kept in perfect condition.

It is the best time to have Furs Repaired and Altered in style, if necessary, for the Lowest Rates compatible with good workmanship are charged at this time.

Wear at the neck and elsewhere can be Repaired —such Furs as Beaver, Nutria, and Seal should be whipped, combed, and sawdust-cleaned to freshen them. The Skins of Dyed Furs, if eaten by acids, should be Repaired and Reinforced to prevent rips and tears. Foxes, especially the finer ones, should have the scruff next the wearers' neck Repaired. Sable, Marten, and Mink are particularly susceptible to Moths, but if moth-eaten, can be Cleaned and Repaired. And so on—one can run the full gamut of Furs, and find the same story.

As soon as the season for wearing Winter Furs is over, get in touch with us by 'phoning 340, or by dropping a line by mail, and your Furs will be called for and taken away. They will be carefully examined and the exact condition reported, so that the necessary attention may be given them. If so desired, the Repairs will be done, but if you decide to do no Repairing or Alteration, the Furs will be thoroughly Beaten and Cleaned, then placed in the Storage Rooms. A Receipt will be forwarded to you, stating Valuation and covering Insurance as a Voucher for the Furs received. The Charges are Moderate.

COMMENT ON THE RUSSIAN DELEGATION

Clash Between Soviet Delegation and French Still Subject of Comment at Genoa Conference.

"VIEWS MUTUAL"

GENOA, April 11. — (Canadian Press.)— Consideration of the Russian question by Economic Conference began this morning with a meeting of the Russian Commission, appointed yesterday by Conference Chairman, Premier Facta, Italy.

Clash between the Russians and the French at the opening was still the subject of excited comment today, and Allied diplomats believe that the timely intervention of Lloyd George averted a break.

M. Barthou was particularly pleased with the manner in which the British Premier handled the situation and declared that Mr. Lloyd George had upheld "views which are mutual."

George Chitcherin, head of the Russian Soviet delegation, issued a statement to-day declaring it useless to discuss reconstruction of Europe without also discussing disarmament.

Amelioration of conditions is impossible while "Imperialistic countries" continue vast expenditures for the maintenance of large armies, he said.

At this afternoon's meeting of the principal committee, which is to consider Russian affairs, Foreign Minister Chitcherin of Russia protested against the presence of the Roumanian and Japanese delegates, because Roumania was occupying portions of Siberia. Premier Facta of Italy, presiding, declined to consider the protest.

The admission of the Russian and German representatives to the principal committee of the Economic Conference was strongly opposed today by both the French and Belgian representatives. Premier Lloyd George, together with Premier Facta and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy, intervened, however, and their conciliatory attitude finally resulted in the admittance of both Russians and Germans.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TRUCK CAST SHOE.

In negotiating the sharp corner at Lake and George Streets at ten o'clock last night, to answer a call from Box 12, Lock and McGill Streets, one of the solid tires on the Fire Department's motor truck came off, and the big car had to be pulled up for repairs.

After some delay the Department arived at the alarm box. An alarm had plainly been sent in, but no one in the vicinity knew of a blaze, and it is believed to have been a false alarm.

At 12.40 a chimney fire broke out at the home of Mr. Robert Carter, 33 Crescent Street. Mr. Carter had just occupied the house that day. Chemicals were used, and no damage resulted.

ANOTHER ORDER TO A PETERBORO FIRM

G. N. Gordon, M.P., Insists on Canadian-made Goods for Government.

OTTTAWA, April 11.—(Special.)— Government has given orders that Brinton Carpet Company, Peterborough, shall have orders for carpets and rugs required in Commons and Departments if prices equal to purchases heretofore made. G. N. Gordon, M.P. for Peterborough, claims that the Brinton carpets are the best made in Canada and has been demanding the Government buy Canadian-made articles,—as the late government imported rugs, and Mr. Gordon insists on the principle being adopted, of Canadian made goods for all Government offices.

A.Y.P.A. HEARS TALK ON RADIO AT ALL SAINTS'

A. B. Gates Gives Interesting Description of the Apparatus and Tells How It Works.

NO CONCERT.

At the meeting of the A.Y.P.A. of All Saints' Church, held last evening in the Sunday School building, A. B. Gates gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on the subject of radio telephones. Although an apparatus had been installed for the occasion the lecturer was not fortunate enough to pick up any outside concerts.

Mr. Gates told of the extreme difficulty of obtaining any radio apparatus at the present time, saying that it was necessary to place orders months ahead without any guarantee of delivery at a specified date.

He gave a very clear description of how the wireless telephone works, and explained the phenomena which govern its operation in a very non-technical and understandable manner. He told of some very interesting results which had been obtained by amateur operators in other cities.

Great credit was given to Thomas A. Edison, for it was said that that gentleman had patented in 1884 an apparatus which embodied all the principles of the present-day wonder. He told of another patent of Mr. Edison's which was obtained in 1887 for an apparatus fore wireless telegraphy, which later proved of such value that it was bought up by the Marconi interests. These facts showed that the knowledge of the underlying phenomena which govern the subject were not new, although the practical application of these principles had not been achieved until recently.

He prophesied great things for the future of radio telephones, but advised his hearers to refrain from ordering any apparatus at the present time because the demand far exceeded the supply.

His talk was preceded by a short business session of the organization, at which committees were announced for an entertainment which is to be held April 24.

HIGHEST DUTY YET FIXED BY UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, April 11 (Canadian Press). — Carrying out what are regarded here as the highest duties of any Tariff Bill in recent years, and giving President Harding power to enforce rates even 50 per cent. higher in case these duties are not sufficient, the Tariff Revision Bill, as overhauled by the Senate Finance Committee, will be reported to the Senate late to-day.

If it becomes law, it will hit Canada harder than the Fordney measure, for it imposes a levy of 30 cents per bushel on wheat. It also raises the duty on wheat flour. It would charge 78 cents for every hundred pounds of flour brought across the border.

A CANADIAN PROPAGANDA IS CHARGED

Proposed Importation of Store Cattle From Dominion Creates Furore in Old Country.

STRONG ATTACK

LONDON, April 11.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— A strong attack on the proposed importation of Canadian store cattle is made in to-day's Morning Post, which charges the Government with inconsistency on the subject of Cabinet responsibility, and asks why Mr. Churchill, who has declared in favor of removing the embargo, is allowed to queer the attitude of the Board of Agriculture.

It says English agricultural opinion, more than half of Scottish farmers, and all Irish farmers, are opposed to raising of embargo, and alleges that "certain Canadians, with a passion for interference with our domestic politics, doubtless supported by shipping and other interests concerned, have started raging and conducting a propaganda all over the country."

ALWAYS SEEKING SOMETHING FREE

Individual Effort With Some a Thing of the Past

A gentleman who has been approached lately on divers occasions with requests, confident and otherwise, that he contribute from his worldly store towards the pet project of the moment of those who happen to approach, is of an enquiring mind on the subject. He has come to the conclusion that individual effort has come to be almost a thing of the past, in undertakings that require a certain amount of financial assistance, and he wonders if the time will arrive when a man contemplating the erection of a new domicile will approach the City Council and citizens generally for a grant to help along the good work. He remembers, he says, when his father decided to build a home; he dug right into the earth and excavated the cellar all by himself. Also, when this gentleman was a young man and wanted the wherewithal to purchase a lacrosse suit, he got it by lugging in the defunct remains of a horse from the outskirts of the city, and selling the carcase for enough to get the desired article. When his own small son wanted a baseball mitt the other day, he earned it by cleaning out the cellar. "Something for nothing" seems to be the present-day idea, that is, if one has the nerve to go out and ask for it. "There are many worthy objects that deserve support from the community," says this man, "but when it comes to these young fellows always hitting you up for money to help along their sporting organizations, why can't they help themselves and leave people alone for awhile?"

DELEGATES LUNCHED BY HON. G. N. GORDON.

It is of interest in this community to note that Hon. G. N. Gordon, Federal member for West Peterborough and Deputy Speaker in the Commons, lunched the deputation of Labor representatives in the Ontario Legislature who interviewed the Prime Minister and Hon. Jas. Murdoch, Minister of Labor, recently. The delegates, who asked that a conference should be arranged between the representatives of the Governments and Legislatures of the Dominion and the Provinces to consider the advisability of legislation covering unemployment insurance, the eight-hour day and old-age pensions, and also into matters affecting Labor, dealt with at the Peace of Versailles Conference, was headed by Thomas Tooms, West Peterborough's representative in the local Legislature. A conference, but not before October 1, was promised.

NOW RAISING TURKEYS

MRS. GRACE RANDOLPH

DONALDSON, Minn., April 11.—Four years ago life to Mrs. Grace Randolph was just one manicure after another in a beauty parlor.

It was monotonous and she grew tired of constantly hearing the "idle patter," as she calls it, of her male customers.

Then she and her husband bought a farm. The idea was to raise grain. So they moved from Minneapolis to a 600-acre tract near here.

The first two years' wheat crops were a failure and the family bank account suffered heavily.

Then Mrs. Randolph happened on a list of turkey quotations in a newspaper. That was the turning point.

The next day she purchased a flock of 60 young birds. Forty-two of them were sold later in the season at a good profit. Just a year ago this spring close to 1,000 birds were hatched and 600 of them graced Thanksgiving and Christmas Day tables in the Twin Cities.

Profit amounted to $4,500.

"And this year looks better than ever," says Mrs. Randolph.

FIRST MADE-IN-PETERBORO CAR TO BE EXHIBITED HERE

Birmingham Motors Will Provide Some of the Thrills For the Peterboro Show Next Week—Several Cars on the Runways at the Local Plant.

Among Those Present.

If this year's Motor Show is not "bigger and better than ever" to use an antiquated piece of phraseology it will not be the fault of Birmingham Motors. This recent addition to Peterborough's roster of industrial enterprises, is making preparations to give the big Show more local colour than anticipated by displaying a real made-in-Peterborough automobile of the well known Birmingham design. That is to say the car will be the product of the Peterborough plant so far as it is possible to make it. For instance there is not a plant in Canada with a press heavy enough to make the frame of a Birmingham car. That is part number one that has to be purchased in the United States. The engine and several other parts of the car come from the same source for reasons that should be obvious to any person familiar with the automotive industry. The day may not be far distant when a great deal more of this work will be done on this side of the line and when it does Peterboro will share in the benefits from local manufacture, if Birmingham Motors can make it possible. Mr. Byron Lederer, managing director of the Birmingham Motors of Canada with headquarters in Peterborough and other officers of the Company have made that reassuring statement.

"A Rough Ride"

Those who have been following the local career of the Birmingham Motors will know what "a rough ride" means in Birmingham parlance. It simply means driving a Birmingham car over a log road specially constructed and is usually accompanied by challenge to compete with any other car in the world If the officials of the Company can secure the services of a driver capable of handling the car for this particular event the Peterborough Motor Show will have an added thrill. The car that will be used is the personal car of Mr. Lederer. This car has been through one hundred and twelve tests of this character and is still going strong. Ties and other obstructions are thrown down on the road and the car driven over them at the rate of thirty-five or forty miles an hour. Competitors who have attempted "a rough ride" with the Birmingham have had their cars wrecked.

Motor Show Visitors

Among the visitors who will be here in the interests of Birmingham Motors are the following:

Samuel A. Carlson, mayor of Jamestown, N. Y., and president of Birmingham Motors.

J. B. Mansfield, president of the Mansfield Steel Corporation, Detroit, also consulting engineer for both the American and Canadian plants of Birmingham Motors. Mr. Mansfield is coming here to look over the local plant and see if conditions can be improved for the manufacture of Birmingham cars in Peterborough. When the Quebec bridge fell into the St. Lawrence River, Mr. Mansfield was called into consultation by the Dominion Government and it was largely as a result of his suggestions that the final success of the immense structure was made possible.

Senator Charles A. Towne of New York, one of the best known lawyers in the United States and personal friend of Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs in the Canadian Government. Mr. Towne has a personal interest in Birmingham Motors.

C. E. Weaver, general manager and chief engineer of the American plant of Birmingham Motors. While in Peterborough, Mr. Weaver will give the local Company the benefit of his initial operations in the parent plant.

J. R. L. Starr K.C., of the legal firm of Starr, Spence and Fraser of Toronto. Mr. Starr is associated with R. R. Hall, of this city, as solicitors for the Company.

In addtion to the above there will be several prominent capitalists and business men from Toronto, Montreal and Quebec also Mr. Warren B. Hastings, one of the best known writers on automotive subjects in Canada together with other similarly interested.

The encouragement Birmingham Motors of this city, has received on all sides has been very gratifying. The Company under the aggressive direction of Mr. Byron Lederer is getting ready for early intensive production. In fact several cars are on the runways at the local plants at the present time and as previously stated the first car turned out locally will be shown at the Peterborough Motor Show next week. It will be followed by fifteen others. They will be regular stock models embodying the well known Birmingham principles. The Engineering Department is getting well under way with Mr. DuBois, automotive engineer in charge. The efforts of the local plant will be directed for the early production of a medium priced car incorporating Birmingham features. Within the last two weeks the local company has been approached with a tentative order for twenty-five hundred such cars for export to England.

The Purchasing Department is working overtime in an effort to obtain the materials necessary for maximum production and with the preliminary work of organization disposed of the ambition and objective of Birmingham Motors aggressive managing director, Mr. Byron Lederer, gives material prospects of being speedily realized.

Some time ago the announcement was made of the appointment of Guy F. Allen to the position of treasurer of the Company. Since that time Mr. Allen has suffered a breakdown in his health and on the advice of his physicians has decided to take at least a six months vacation. So as not to hinder the progress of the company by his enforced absence, Mr. Allen has made it possible for Birmingham Motors to name a successor. A telegram received by Mr. Lederer this week announces the appointment of Mr. James B. SAYS MAN IS ARBITER OF OWN DESTINY

Rev. Harold W. Young Heard to Advantage by Local Kiwanians To-day.

SAVED THE DAY

Says man is master of his fate, Rev. Harold W. Young, pastor of the George street Methodist church, and a prominent Rotarian, told the Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon to-day. Rev. Mr. Young backed up his point with illustrations from world history, showing how men in all walks of life had overcome the handicaps of poverty, ill health and ignorance and mounted to the greatest heights by sheer fixty of purpose, optimism, friendship and belief in an Almighty Father.

History's Golden Pages.

From the golden pages of history Rev. Mr. Young took the examples of Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Wellington, Byron, Mahomet and Nelson, all of men who overcame the obstacles of disease. Nelson, one-eyed an one-armed, surrounded his name with a reverence and glory that will live through the ages. In the realms of literature, there were Hugo and Voltaire, disease-ravaged, but of immortal memory. Milton was blind when he penned "Paradise Lost," and Robert Louis Stevenson's happy optismism survived sickness and pain. Shubert brought up in poverty, produced strains on a rickety piano that ultimately made his name famous as a great composer. Lincoln went from log cabin to White house.

The success of these men, were it analyzed, was due to an absolute determination not to be mastered by the circumstances of life. "Man is greater than any circumstances that can be brought against him," the speaker said. For everyone life is a battle, and these men entered their battle with an unconquerable will and an ideal clearly enthroned. In addition to their own impelling forces, in almost every case the love and friendship of some one else animated the efforts and ambition of great men. "Above all these things, unconquerable will and tenacity of purpose, and friendship, if a man is to master his fate as he should, he ought to have in his heart a clear relationship with God," declared Rev Mr. Young, in conclusion.

Saved the Day.

The Lion roared lustily to-day. When Rev. Mr. Young was introduced an extra big roar went up, for he literally saved the day. An spection trip to the filtration plant had to be called off on account of the rain, and Rev. Mr. Young considerately promised to say a few words on short notice. Vice-Pres. C. R. Widdifield presided. Secretary Henderson reported the appreciation of the Rotary Club, extended in a resolution for the privilege of taking part in Kiwanis American night, when Rev. T. T. Richards of Scranton, Pa., gave such an eloquent address.

The secretary reported the Kiwanis receipts from the Kiwanis-Rotary hockey game in the winter totalled $53.70, and he advised Adjutant Wallace Bunton, who was a guest to-day, that the club would be able to turn approximately $250 over to him from the self denial fund.

It was decided that the club as a whole will attend the International Convention in Toronto on Thursday, June 22d, travelling there by motor. Dr. E. H. Wood reported that hotel accommodation was at a premium, so the Kiwanians felt that it would be more practicable to motor up and Thursday, a half-holimotor up on Thursday, a half-holivention would be the best time for all to go. The booster to-day was the popular secretary. In spite of the inclement weather there was a generous attendance. In addition to those mentioned, Alex Weddell was a guest.

FIREMEN URGE COUNCIL TO RETAIN THE CHIEF

Round Robin From the Employees Declares Department Harmonious and Efficient—Say All Are Satisfied.

INVITE INVESTIGATION

An appeal in behalf of Chief Grange was received by the Council last night and referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee, in the following letter from the employees of the Fire Department:

Peterborough, April 4, 1922.

To the Mayor and Members of Peterborough City Council:

Gentlemen,—We, the undersigned members of the Peterborough Fire Department, wish to respectfully ask the Council of the City of Peterborough to reconsider its decision to replace Chief George Grange as head of the department.

Rumours of discontent and dissatisfaction within the department are absolutely without foundation, and we wish to say that we are perfectly satisfied to work under the officers in charge of the department, and, in our opinion, inefficiency does not exist, save in the minds of a few outsiders.

The undersigned members would, if necessary, welcome an impartial investigation into the affairs and conduct of the department, having nothing to fear from such an investigation and feeling confident that it would result in confidence being restored in the managemet of the department.

Yours respectfully,

GENERAL KING WILL BE SENT TO LONDON

Officer Commanding No. 3 Military District Transferred.

OTTAWA, April 11.—Majordon, who succeeds General Victor don, who succeds General Victor Williams as D.O.C. of the Toronto division, will be replaced in London by General King, of the Kingston division, who in turn will be succeeded by General Elmsley, at present adjutant-general at headquarters here. It is understood that the position of General Elmsley of headquarters staff will not be filled, the office being abolished incidental to the merger of all the defence branches.

$50 FOR HITTING THE HIGH SPOTS

It Costs Real Money to Exceed the Speed Limit on George Street.

For reckless driving on George street yesterday morning, Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning imposed the maximum fine of $50 or 30 days on a young man. According to J. F. Strickland, solicitor for the accused, there were extenuating circumstances, but Magistrate Langley declared that in any event negligent driving was a serious matter and so long as he presided on the bench would be considered as such. If accused appeared before him again on the same charge he would go to jail for a week, his Worship declared.

After considerable delay Michael Pearson, of Buckhorn, charged under the Inland Revenue Act with unlawfully manufacturing liquor, and under the O.T.A. with selling and giving, was brought into court by County Constable A. R. Moore. Joseph Wearing, appearing for the prosecution in both cases, explained that a material witness in the two cases who was coming to town on the Buckhorn stage, had not yet arrived because of the bad condition of the roads and he asked for an adjournment till 2 p.m. in the county court room. Joseph O'Brien for the accused, consented.

According to Inspector J. Stewart, who negotiated the rough roads to Buckhorn yesterday to subpoena him, Frank Freeburn, the material witness Mr. Wearing referred to, will give damaging evidence against Pearson. Mr. Stewart declared that Freeburn claimed accused brought the still into his house without permission and manufactured liquor there till he made him move out. He admitted drinking some of the product, however, to Mr. Stewart.

Unless special permission is received from the Minister of Justice the evidence of Thomas Quibell and Charles Quibell, serving sentences at the county jail for convictions under the Inland Revenue Act and O.T.A., in connection with this case cannot be given. Only in indictable offences, Mr. Wearing said this morning, the jailer has authority to deliver up prisoners to give evidence, and it is necessary to secure special permission from Ottawa. He wired the Minister last night, he said, and a reply was expected any moment.

Pearson is the Quibells' step-father, and according to the prosecution he brought them from Kinmount to enter the moonshine business at Buckhorn. The still, a crude affair, was seized, but no liquor was recovered.

GRAND RALLY OF YOUNG PEOPLE AT KNOX CHURCH

The meeting of the Young Peoples' Guild of Knox church held last evening, took the form of a re-union of both former and present members of the organization. Mr. Robt. Haddow presided and after the usual opening, announced the following programme:

Vocal solo—Miss Florence Harrison.

Cello solo—Mr. Tom Smith.

Vocal solo—Miss Doris Pilling.

Pianoforte solo—Mr. Leslie Unitt.

The above numbers were very much appreciated, each being a musical treat in itself, and all receiving hearty applause.

Mr. Wm. Sangster of the De Laval Company, was introduced and gave a very excellent and instructive talk on "Coal Mining." Mr. Sangster, having had practical experience as a mining engineer, was able to give details of life and conditions as are actually found. The speaker described the methods employed in the process of making coke and then went on to point out the different ways of mining coal. Emphasizing the care necessary to prevent fires and no maintain adequate timbering, the daily life of a miner was described in a most interesting manner.

At the conclusion of Mr. Sangster's address, the company present adjourned to the basement of the church, where an elegant repast was served by the efficient Social committee, under the able leadership of Miss Hall. Knox church is noted for its "feasts," and this one only helped to uphold its reputation.

The hearty thanks of the Guild were tendered to all those who made the evening such an unparalleled success.

CANADIAN NAVY IS CANADIAN MANNED.

Only Four Imperial Officers Serving Now and They Will Be Replaced Soon.

No Agreement.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—There is no agreement between the Imperial authorities and the Canadian Government to maintain the Canadian warships Aurora Patriot and Patrician and the three torpedo boats now in service. This information was tabled in the House of Commons yesterday in reply to questions by E. C. St. Pierre (Liberal Hochelega).

Hon. G. P. Graham stated that the vessels were of use for naval training purposes and, in case of emergency, for the protection of Canadian marine interests and Canadian recruits. Only four officers were on loan from the Imperial Navy. All officers and men loaned from the Imperial Navy were being replaced by Canadians as quickly as the latter can be trained.

WAREHOUSE FOR SHIPPING OF POTATOES

Government is Requested to Erect New Frost-Proof Building at St. John Harbour.

FREIGHT RATES.

OTTAWA, April 11. Canadian Press. — A request for the establishment of a frost proof Government warehouse at the port of St. John, for handling potatoes, was made in the House of Commons last night by T. W. Caldwell, Progressive, of Victoria-Carleton. N. B. Mr. Caldwell stated that until recently the farmers of New Brunswick had to ship their potatoes through the port of Moncton and that this was still true of a very large proportion At present there was a frost proof warehouse in St. John, established only last summer but it was now controlled by three firms who thus had a corner on the direct shipment of potatoes from that port to Cuba.

As an incident of the existing condition Mr. Caldwell stated that freight on Canadian potatoes shipped through Boston had to be paid in American funds. The result was that it cost $3.48 per barrel to ship them at a time when they were selling in the Cuban market at $4 per barrel.

The Minister of Marine and the Minister of Trade and Commerce in the late government had said that there was not sufficient business to put on a ship direct from St. John, yet one firm had been shipping 10 to 12 thousand barrels a week through Boston. The result of existing conditions, said Mr. Caldwell, was that the farmers were getting 60 to 80c per barrel for potatoes, which cost $2 per barrel to raise.

Discussion was carried on largely by the members from the Maritime provinces, although W. J. Ward, (Progressive, Dauphin) put in a plea for the potatoe growers of the prairies. At present he said they had no option but to ship as early as possible to the big markets in Chicago and New York no matter how glutted the markets might be.

Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, informed the House that officials of the Department were making inquiries in the hope of finding facilities at the ports which could be used and if possible to bring about the desired condition.

Mr. Caldwell said he would like to have a stronger assurance from the Government. "Pious wishes do not help in the export of potatoes. I have had experience," he added.

He would, however, depend on the good faith of the Government, and withdraw his motion.

LLOYD GEORGE THROWS DOWN THE BATTLE GAUGE TO RUSSIA

Little Welshman Proves to Be the Dominating Figure at Genoa Conference.

RUSSIAN DEBTS.

ST. GEORGE'S PALACE, Genoa, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—David Lloyd George yesterday challenged the Russian delegation to accept the Allied conditions as a basis for its presence at the Genoa Economic Conference, or withdraw.

In a speech which drew applause from the 157 delegates, representing 34 nations, gathered in the council hall for the opening session of the most impressive international conference since Versailles, the British Premier declared the programme for the parley was the programme laid down at Cannes, France, by the Supreme Council.

The French delegation applauded loudly as Lloyd George, looking directly across the council to where George Tchitcherin and the Russian delegation sat, declared:

"If anybody rejects these elementary conditions of civilized intercourse among nations, they cannot be expected to be received here."

The little Premier dominated the conference, which presented a picturesque scene with delegates of many races and colors, some in gorgeous dress uniforms, mingled at the long tables.

"Comity of nations is the fundamental basis of this conference," he declared.

"All who are represented here are presumed to have accepted the conditions laid down at Cannes," Lloyd George continued. This drew fresh applause, which was led by the Allies' representatives who sat on either side of the speaker, near the head of the council table.

The conditions of Russian attendance laid down at Cannes were accepted by the French, although Briand's ministry fell as a result. They called for Russian recognition of old debts and other guarantees.

Lloyd George did not specifically mention the Bolsheviki at the opening of his address, but it was clear to everyone that he was throwing down the gauge of battle to Tchitcherin and his colleagues.

"The actual fighting has ceased," Lloyd George said, entering into one of his oratorical flights which was not entirely lost on the gathering, despite the divergence of languages spoken and understood, "but snarling continues, as though many dogs of every country imagine that the louder they bark the deeper will be the impression of their ferocity.

"Europe to-day is almost deafened with this canine clamor."

Mr. Lloyd George evoked applause and continued laughter when he said:

"Genoa did America a great service by sending Columbus to discover the new world, and she can do America another great service by helping America to re-discover Europe."

The British Premier said he was positive the United States would come to the aid of Europe if Europe settled its own affairs.

The Italian delegation sat at the end of the hall, facing the main entrance. On the right of the Italians were the French and Japanese delegations and on the left the British and Belgian. The other delegations sat at tables placed at right angles to the main one, the seating being in alphabetical order, resulting in the grouping of the nations as follows:

First table—Albania, Austria, Bulgaria and Czecho-Slovakia.

Second table—Denmark, Esthonia, Finland, Germany.

Third table—Greece, Latvia, Luxemburg, Norway and Holland (Pays-Bas.).

Fourth table—Roumania, Russia, Serbia, Spain and Sweden.

Switzerland and Hungary were seated at two additional small tables.

Prime Minister Lloyd George proposed that Premier Facta be appointed permanent President of the Conference. Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation, seconded this proposal, which was approved by acclamation.

PETITION OF UKRANIANS IN ONTARIO

Resolution Adopted at St. Catharines Will Be Forwarded to the Genoa Conference.

TEXT OF DEMANDS.

ST. CATHARINES, April 11 (Canadian Press).—At a mass meeting of 200 Ukrainians of the Niagara District held at Thorold on Sunday night, views were exchanged on the treatment that has been accorded that country, and it was decided to forward to the Genoa Conference a statement of protests and demands.

The demands as contained in a resolution unanimously adopted are as follows:

"That the Bolshevik Government immediately release all political prisoners wrongfully held and tortured in 'cheka' prisons, and immediately recall its armies of occupation from the territories of the great Ukraine;

"That Roumania immediately remove her armies and officials from Bukowina and Bessarabia, ceasing assimilation;

"That Poland remove her armies and officials from Eastern Galicia without delay, and cease colonisation, polonisation, and her ruinous politics, as it is an openly dangerous obstacle in th path of peace and economic reconstruction of Europe;

"That the whole world use its influence on the Governments of Moscow, Warsaw and Bucharest, so that the Ukrainian people be given full liberty to decide for themselves as to their Government and allegiance and select statutes by means of individual vote under supervision of local committees elected by the population."

"We also declare," the manifesto continues, "That we will not rest until our demands are reansed, which are the undeniable rights of the forty-five million people of the Ukrainian nation. The peace and economic balance will not be attained in Europe, and no economic conference without granting Ukraine's demands will be of any avail, because the Ukrainian nation—the labour, the peasantry, the cultured classes—will not cease to struggle until they gain liberty and independence in the form recognisance of the above-mentioned Ukrainian countries."

YOUTH IS INDICTED ON THREE CHARGES.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Three indictments, one rape, attempted rape and attempted murder, were returned by the grand jury at the Spring Assizes yesterday afternoon against Charles Millar, youth, who was caught in Buffalo last fall and identified as the party who mistreated two small girls near St. David's last fall and shot the brother of one. Sir William Hearst, former Premier of Ontario, is the Crown prosecutor in the criminal case.

Fundamental Basis Genoa Conference

COMITY OF NATIONS—This phrase was used by Lloyd George in his address at the Genoa conference Monday in his statement —"Comity of Nations is the fundamental basis of this conference". —It means that kind of courtesy by which the laws and institutions of one state or country are recognized and to some extent given effect to by the government of another within its territory.

DELEGATION ASKS REFUND OF AUTO TAX

Dealers Ask Mr. Fielding For the Return of About $1,000,000 Collected in 1920.

RETAIL MERCHANTS.

OTTAWA, April 1.—(Canadian Press)—The minister of finance yesterday morning received a delegation in regard to the refund of luxury taxes upon automobiles. The deputation was composed of representatives of the Dominion Retail Merchants Association and of the Automobile Merchants of Canada, and spoke for those engaged in the business from ocean to ocean.

The request of the delegation arises out of the cancellation of the luxury taxes at the end of 1920. Dealers had bought largely while the tax was still in force, and had paid the tax. Then after the abolition of the import the price of cars dropped and these dealers were left to bear the loss, which is placed at $1,500,000.

While the former government was still in power a delegation waited upon Sir Henry Drayton and asked him to refund the taxes. They were referred by the minister to the automobile manufacturers, to whom the dealers had paid the tax. Subsequently conferences took place between the dealers and the manufacturers with the result that the manufacturers consented to bear loss amounting to $500,000. The dealers, being still left with a loss of a million dollars, returned yesterday and asked the present government to refund the taxes up to this amount.

Hon. W. S. Fielding promised the delegation that the government would give careful consideration to thir representations

KINGSTON TO HAVE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

KINGSTON, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Kingston spent in 1921 a total of $128,483 on local improvements, pavements, walks and sewers and at the meeting of the City Council last night a total of $75,073 was voted for the construction of pavements. It is probable that the city will spend upwards of $150,000 on pavements this year. Despite the expenditure of last year, the city's tax rate remained at 35 mills for this year, Kingston being one of the few places to keep the same tax rate as last year.

ANOTHER QUAKE

MELBOURNE, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—A violent earthquake was felt in Melbourne and the country districts at 8:47 o'clock last evening.

CREDITORS AND SHAREHOLDERS HOLD MEETING

BEVAN IS GONE.

LONDON, April 11. Canadian Press. — Angry scenes occurred yesterday at a meeting of the creditors and shareholders of the City Equitable Fire Insurance Co., Ltdr., one of the subsidiary companies of which Gerard Lee Bevan was president. The official receiver explained that the company was formed in May last year for the purpose of acquiring shares in four insurance companies.

Referring to an imposing list of assets contained in the prospectus last July, when the company was seeking subscriptions of a quarter of a million pounds sterling, the receiver declared that these assets had then ceased to exist as interest-bearing securities. The assets were now estimated at 9,526 pounds, the liquidator stated, and the liabilities exceeded 1,500,000 pounds.

The meeting refused to listen to a solicitor who attempted to speak on behalf of the directors. Thereupon two directors endeavored to reply to angry interrogations until a shareholder asked what the directors considered the duty of directors to be.

The receiver interposed, "We all know what were the directors duties," he said, "and we are very much dissatisfied with the way they have been performed in this case."

G. L. Bavan disappeared from London in January last, and early in March it was reported that he had been arrested in Naples, Italy. However this report proved incorrect. Shortly after his disappearance it was said he had resigned from the City Equitable Fire Insurance Co., and from the firm of Ellis and Son stock brokers, in which he was a partner, owing to ill health, and had gone away because his health was unsatisfactory. Mr. Bevan was educated at Eton and Oxford. Examination of the Equitable Company's books showed that many of the investments were wholly unsuited to the busines conducted by an insurance Company.

E. A. ROBERT TO BE NEW PRESIDENT.

MONTREAL, April 11. Canadian Press. — Asked yesterday afternoon if there was any truth in the rumours that he had been asked to assume the presidency of the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Water Co., Limited, E. A. Robert, President of of the Montreal Tramways Company, Limited, replied that the offer had been made and that he had decided to accept it.

It is understood that proxies in sufficient numbers to ensure the election of Mr. Robert to the presidency have already been accounted for. The annual meeting of the company takes place here Wednesday and indications are that it will be followed by another meeting, a couple of weeks later, when a new board for the current year will be elected.

Invention of billiards has been attributed to a Frenchman name Devigne, who lived in the reign of King Charles IX.

MOTION TO DISBAND THE MOUNTED POLICE FAILS

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLED HIMSELF.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B., April 11.—(Canadian Press.) —A sad accident occurred in Calais, Me., on Sunday evening, when Carl Armstrong, aged 17, son of Dr. Charles Armstrong, of Robinston, accidentally shot and illed himself while cleaning a revolver.

The bullet had entered his chin and gone through his head.

Resolution is Moved By J. S. Woodsworth of Winnipeg and Seconded By Miss MacPhail.

VOTE 108 TO 47.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press)—The House yesterday witnessed a curious division. It was on a private member's motion and found, on the one side, the Prime Minister and his cabinet, the great majority of Liberals Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, all his Conservative followers in the house and a minority of the Progressives; on the other Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, the greater part of his followers, thirteen Liberals, an Independent and the two Labor members. The division came on a motion by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg centre to confine the activities of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police "to territories not included in any Province of Canada." The resolution, it is interesting to note, was seconded by Miss Agnes MacPhail. Debate thereon occupied practically the whole after noon, the resolution being finally defeated by 108 to 47 a majority against of 62.

Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Militia, intimated in the course of the debate that reductions in the strength of the Canadian Mounted Police were planned and that, so far as practicable, the activities of the force would be confined to the unorganized territories. To this, the Prime Minister added that there were some on the Liberal side of the House who thought the old northwest police should again be distinct from the Dominion police and this was one of the matters now under consideration by the Government. From the Government side of the House, however, the further point was pressed that the passing of the resolution would merely embarass the Government in the work of re-organization. 'It is no part of the business of the Federal Government," said Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, "to do police work in the Province and it is on that ground that I think the activities of

When "No" Is Good Sometimes Isn't It Better At All Times?

A great many people have learned to say "No" to tea or coffee at noon and at night—learned it at the cost of jumping nerves and disturbed digestion.

Thousands of others who passed through that stage have learned to say "No" to tea and coffee all the time, and have found a most satisfactory "Yes" in Postum.

Postum's full, rich flavor delights the taste and meets all the demands for a hot, mealtime drink, and it contains no element that can harm anybody. Even little children may share in the delights of a hot cup of Postum with any meal.

Whether or not the thein in tea or the caffeine in coffee has begun to serve warnings on you, you can profit by the experience of others and by the information which any doctor can give you—and find charm without harm in Postum.

Suppose you make the test for ten days, with well-made Postum, and compare the "feel" with your former experience with tea and coffee.

Your grocer sells both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

THE END OF THE DOLE SYSTEM.

It is hoped that with the opening of outdoor work and a revival to some extent in the manufacturing establishments the payment of unemployment relief may be soon brought to an end. It would be well if the City Council would take this opportunity to announce that the dole system will have to be permanently abandoned from now on, and that those who have been carried over the present winter should prepare for the lean months that may be before them when the next winter season arrives. To have the impression created that it is not necessary to save at all for possible periods of unemployment and that it is all right to be as extravagant as one desires during the summer, for "the city will keep you" afterwards, would be a very bad thing for everybody. The past two winters have been marked by unusual conditions which had to be met by unusual methods, but there would be no wisdom in making the dole system permanent, nor in allowing it to be understood that money is to be had each winter without working for it. An announcement from the Council that the unemployment relief system is to be scrapped for good would have a most beneficial effect. The method is neither sound nor logical; it tends to pauperise many of our citizens; it is a burden on the taxpayers; at best, it is but a makeshift that should disappear before next winter. The situation must be faced, and a definite statement now might inculcate an appreciation of the necessity of saving in those who otherwise would be inclined to spend money as they made it, with no thought of a rainy day.

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

Mr. Robert Stead declared during the course of his address to the Rotarians yesterday that the responsibility of making real Canadians out of the immigrants who come to this country lay not so much upon the newcomers themselves as upon the citizens of the Dominion. It had been explained, he said, that "foreigners" lived in communities of their own in the West because no matter how they tried to adopt Canadian ways and enter into the spirit of their adopted land, they were never regarded as Canadians. There is much in that complaint. As a people, we are inclined to persist in looking upon our immigrants as foreigners, instead of trying to make Canadians of them or to classify them as Canadians, no matter how sincere their efforts to be worthy citizens in Canada. They do not make that mistake in the United States. Instead, they take the newcomer by the hand, adopt him into the family circle, and teach his children in the public schools that they are living in God's country, and that there is no greater privilege than to be a citizen of the United States. So successful are they in Americanising their immigrants that we in Canada might well follow their example. With us, an Italian is still an Italian, despite his naturalisation papers and his determination to spend the rest of his days in Canada. Even his children born here are classified in the popular mind as Italians. And so with other nationalities. It is time we broadened out.

STARVING CHILDREN.

The people of Peterborough are being asked to assist the Canadian fund on behalf of the starving children of Russia. There are those who attempt to evade the appeal by dodging behind the statement that the Russians are themselves to blame for the terrible conditions existing in that stricken land. What if they are? That does not alter the fact that children by the thousands are doomed to die in Russia unless relief speedily reaches them. It matters little as to the causes leading up to the present situation. The whole crux of the matter is that the lives of millions of Russian children depend upon the assistance the outside world can send them, and that Canada has a responsibility in that connection that must be faced. In spite of industrial depression and unemployment, Canadians are perhaps in a more enviable position than any other people in the world, and the call of the starving children in the famine areas of Russia should not fall upon deaf ears in this happy land. It is a challenge that our national honour demands should be met squarely. And the citizens of Peterborough who have hitherto not been directly called upon to join in the Save-a-Child campaign have had as the result of the visit of Mr. Robert Stead, the matter laid before them in a manner that makes our duty as individuals, and as a community, clear.

THE EXACTING TURK.

Angora has accepted the allied plan for a Greco-Turkish armistice—with reservations. Fairly stiff reservations they are, too. Under the original plan both sides were to hold their present lines, for the moment, except for such slight withdrawals as to leave a neutral zone ten kilometers wide between the two armies. Then a conference of Greek, Turkish, and Allied officers was to meet in Constantinople and arrange for the evacuation of Anatolia by the Greeks.

This, of course, would have required some time, especially as the evacuation of Anatolia is essentially a matter for the terms of peace, which have not yet been accepted, rather than for an armistice. But the Nationalist Turks now demand that the evacuation of all Asia Minor, including Smyrna, must be complete within four months, and that the Greeks must have cleared out of their present positions along the main line of the Anatolian Railroad within two weeks. If this position were given up, it would be immensely difficult for the Greeks to renew the war. What the Turks are asking, then, is virtually that a large part of the peace settlement be incorporated in the armistice terms, and that the Greeks be put in a position where further fighting is impossible.

These are terms that could reasonably be demanded by a victor, but hardly by one of the belligerents in a war which, from the purely military viewpoint, has been brought to no decision. If the Greeks accept them, it will be proof that they feel that further fighting is impossible. They will be admitting the loss of the war. If they do not accept, it is hard to see what the Allied conference can do about it. There is no final argument in Anatolia but force.—New York Times.

THE TAXPAYERS' REVOLT.

In the crushing blow dealt the Labor forces at the election of poor law guardians in London County, is to be seen a very plain and unmistakable hint to those who would be charitable with public funds, says the Montreal Star. In the Previous elections, Labor enjoyed a redoubtable triumph. The sequel was unfortunately a period of extravagance which reached its apex in the largesse awarded the unemployed, resulting in the imposition of local taxes that nearly brought some boroughs to the verge of bankruptcy, and necessitated the most stringent action. These mistaken "philanthropists" adopted a reckless policy of doles which never had any practical basis on sound economics, and which virtually operated as an incentive to the poor to close their eyes when work stared them in the face.

The taxpayer has evidently had more than enough of this sort of thing. The country at large is dubious as to the wisdom of the doles system adopted by the government and there is a general feeling that nothshould be done that could be construed as encouragement to idlers. The proportion of unemployed is de-decreasing and the taxpayer is anxious to do everything in his power to help it to decrease still more.

Although these elections do not necessarily possess any party political significance, it must be obvious that they reflect the belief of the man in the street that charity is gone too far. The times call for exercise of the strictest and the most rigid economy, and extravagance in any direction is a thing to be frowned down. That is the lesson the London Poor Law guardians' elections teach, and it should have a steadying effect on all semi-Socialistic leadership whose policy of misdirected extravagance has here reacted upon its own head. Labor, like Capital, has to learn through smarting lessons. It will not do Labor any harm if the leaders keep their heads. On the other hand it is quite conceivable that the lesson may ultimately work a great deal of good to the cause of Labor, which after all, is the cause of humanity at large.

EVENTUALLY A COMMON LANGUAGE.

Imagination is the salt of life, giving flavour to the business of living and turning routine into adventure. None can experience that miracle of nature, the winged voice of the radio, without a new spur to thoughtful speculation and a fresh access of faith in human destiny.

First there is the mystery, and second, its promise. The mystery is the ghostly sound of speech and song and instrument set free to fly through the air, arching space and drawn by invisible bonds masterfully into imprisonment again for the waiting ear, not of one, but of millions, and each of these millions separated and apart. If it is to mean anything to humanity, surely it must mean a passionate desire for understanding.

Understanding is the complement of imagination; the two are the ingredients of progressive civilisation; their common vehicle of interpretation is speech. The radiophone is the voice of the world, a giant whisper to be heard, as one who converses with a neighbour, in the Yukon, in Somaliland, in Hawaii, in Sydney, in the Isle of South Georgia where sleeps Shackleton on the fringe of the Antarctic circle, and on the ships which sail the seven seas of historic adventure or thread the arteries of continents.

If prediction is possible, this is the promise; The passion for the universal use of the radio shall demand a universal language in which understanding may be conveyed. A genius arising, for example, in China, overtopping the world with his science or his philosophy or his humour would pour his message into the radio and the air would fling into the ears of the world an incomprehensible babble. Then will come discontent; then will come also the impulse to learn, or at least have the children learn, other tongues so that all these messages may be captured. There have been attempts before to impose a universal language on civilisation; they failed simply because for the mass of mankind there was no obvious impulse to adopt either of them. They had small anticipation of much travel abroad, and for them the home tongue filled their needs.

But now for these masses, equally with the students, space is dissolved. The tongue of India speaks from the receiver as glibly and clearly as the voice of the guest across the room. The language belongs to the people, who control it in spite of the philologists. Their desire may do what academies have failed to achieve, because invention has supplied the impulse in a form which stirs the imagination and so breeds the passion for understanding. Then must follow common speech.

Every new universal science, invention, or experience forces additions to the vocabulary. The tendency is toward universal language to express these new ideas, as witness the many terms it has proved easier to borrow than to coin — chassis, journal, strike, chauffeur, and as many more as you have the time to recall. Here, then, is a universal science which is in the very commonest terms of life, speech itself, by which all intercourse is conducted and whereby all progress is recorded and conveyed.

Those who already enjoy the miracle may reflect on the marvellous age in which they are privileged to live, and may enhance this reflection with the certainty that its possibilities are only beginning to appear. The future contains things the imagination now can only grope after in the conviction that wonders are to be unfolded just as fast as the mind of man can reach them.—Detroit News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

At least all the baseball controversy is proof that summer is just around the corner.

A Toronto man was fined for speeding at a funeral. Usually the funeral follows the speeding.

The story is told of a woman who was restored to health by standing on her head. The world has been upside down for nearly eight years without effecting a cure.

The Motor Show must score the biggest success yet recorded this year, because the work in support of which it is being held is steadily growing. The Health Association has earned the support of the community.

A typographical error in The Examiner last evening rather destroyed the force of Mr. Robert Stead's plea for the development of Canadian literature. The author of "The Cow Puncher" urged that more Canadian books should be read by Canadians, even if they had to read fewer current magazines. The word "Canadian" inadvertently used before "current" imparted a wrong meaning to the sentence.

FIRST SESSION STRIKE BOARD TO HEAR CASE

Miners Present Yearly Budget on Which Minimum Wage Demands Are Based.

BIG INCREASE.

CALGARY, April 11.—(Canadian Press.) — The first sitting of the Board of Conciliation appointed by the Federal Government to inquire into the coal strike in district 18, comprising south-eastern British Columbia and Alberta fields, commenced here shortly before noon yesterday. W. E. Knowles, K.C., of Moose Jaw, is chairman of the Board; R. G. Drinnan, of Edmonton, represents the operators, and H. Ostlund, K.C., of Lethbridge, is acting for the miners.

Robert Livett, the miners' president, opened his case by a preliminary statement during which he stated that if the miners accepted the operators' proposed new wage scale, which calls for a general reduction of about 35 per cent., it would mean that their standard of living would be reduced much below that of 1915. He presented a budget amounting to $1,865.61, which he said had been corroborated by Professor Osborune, of Columbia University, as necessary for a miner's average family consisting of himself, his wife and three children. "In asking for a wage scale that will enable us to purchase this budget," he said, "the mine workers do so in the belief that this is the absolute minimum upon which a man can support himself and his family in decency and health. To receive a lesser wage means a steady deterioration of the health and moral qualities of the family through lack of food and proper housing." Mr. Livett claimed that no reduction in wages should be made. He contended that their demands were fair.

R. M. Young, Commissioner of the Western Coal Operators' Association, gave figures which purported to show that the wages of some of the mine workers had increased as much as 246 per cent., compared with the hourly rate of 1915. The operators, he said, submitted that the miners' demands meant the maintenance of peak war rates and ignored entirely the economical deflation which had occurred on other industries. The total of the increases since 1915 varied in different occupations from $4 to $5 a day for men and from $2.66 to $2.76 a day for boys. The enquiry is continuing.

Voice of the People

Editor Examiner:—

Dear Sir,—I wish to acquaint the readers of the Examiner, as to the treatment of a war widow by the Liberal Government.

My daughter received her cheque a few days since, for pension owing from the first of the year, also a notice stating that, owing to no funds being available for the purpose, the benefits of par exchange instituted by the Canadian Government, would be withdrawn. Correspondence on the subject can serve no useful purpose.

This means a loss to the widow of over ten dollars for the quarter, and was altogether unexpected, and felt by her to be an injustice. Treatment of this kind from the Liberal party, will certainly work out to the discredit and distrust of the present government. If they must save and economize let them reduce the members indemnities from the present $4,000 back to $2,500, which should remunerate them sufficiently I would think; but for the sake of all that is fair and right let them leave the widow's pittance untouched, which can never make up to her the loss of husband and father. Every member of parliament sitting at Ottawa, needs to have it impressed on his mind that he wouldn't be there today, only that 60,000 Canadians were willing and did lay down their lives to stop the Hun in his march to dominate Canada and the rest of the World.

Yours truly,
J. WILLIAMS

"FREE FOR ALL" VOTE

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press).— The division list, showing how each of the members in the Chamber voted yesterday afternoon on the Woodsworth resolution to abolish the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from the organized provinces of the Dominion, shows an interesting division among the parties in the "Free-for-all" vote. The Labor group, consisting of Messrs. Woodsworth and Irvine, and the Conservatives were the only groups presenting a solid front on the resolution. By party standing the vote was as follows:

Liberals, yea 13, nay 56; Progressives yea 31, nay 18; Conservative, yea none, nay 34; Labor, yea 2, nay nil; Independent, yea 1. Total yeas 47, nays 108..

"Our First Year"

(By a Bride.)

WHAT'S ALREADY HAPPENED

The story deals with the experiences of Jack and his bride, who are trying to maintain their individual liberty despite matrimonial bonds. The bride has a nice, new check book, the first she ever possessed.

* * *

Chapter IX.

"You May Charge It."

My dignity as a wedded wife was further exalted that day. At luncheon Jack gave me permission to open charge accounts at the leading stores!

"Dad's credit, our family credit, is dad's pride!" explained Jack. "And it's a big assest for young folks like us, dear. We do not have to establish our credit. Dad's laps over. Any store in town will open an account for you, dearest. How many do you want?"

It was going to be simply wonderful to step up to any counter, pick out what I admired most, and say "you may charge it," just like the more fortunate of the girls I had known at school.

Jack's instruction worked like a charm. I had only to give my name, address and signature to a severe man in a small office and I was prepared to buy whatever pleased me! No trouble at all!

First I went to Loring & Slater's Furniture.

With a charge account it had become suddenly easy to add some necessary articles to the few pieces we had put into our flat before our wedding.

Of course I tried not to be extravagant. I knew Jack's plans for our future. He wanted to build up his savings account. Some day, as soon as possible he wanted a business of his own.

Before our marriage Jack had saved $1.000. He called it his safety fund. It never was to be touched except in an emergency.

From his salary of $2500 a year and commissions we hoped to save regularly.

We had settled down to housekeeping without a debt. But our rooms certainly looked bare. And if I hoped to entertain the friends who had been nice to us I needed some more chairs right away.

There's no sense in buying furniture you do not like, and hating it the rest of your life. That morning the thing I really liked was a daven port and two chairs, upholstered in taupe mohair. "$900.00—Reduced to $683.00." Even at that bargain price the luxurious things sounded awfully expensive

But what was $683 in a lifetime? What was $683 out of a salary of more than $3000 a year?

Nothing to worry about, I told myself.

Unfortunately, Jack didn't looked spontaneously pleased when he came home next day to find the three splendid pieces installed in our living room.

As he entered I waved a hand toward them by way of calling his attention to them though goodness knows how he could have overlooked them!

"Magnificent Palatial!" he exclaimed, his arms around me. "How much Peggins '

When I named the price he released me suddenly and went to the closet to dispose of his coat and hat.

"Think we can afford 'em, Peggins?"

"We simply had to have more chairs. And these will last a life. The salesman said so. And double cushions. You can turn 'em. See-Now sit down-? Isn't that just perfect?'

To improve upon the perfect I snuggled down in his arms. And I hope the discussion was ended. It contained elements of unpleasantness.

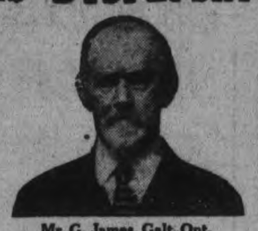
STOPS 50 YEARS' DYSPEPSIA

Mr. James amazed at quick results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin.



Mr. G. James, Galt, Ont.

Sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion often think they can get permanent relief by chewing charcoal tablets, mint lozenges and such things. But constipation usually accompanies dyspepsia and a medicine is required that contains ingredients for both conditions.

Mr. G. James of 5 Norfolk Ave., Galt, Ont., found such a fortunate combination in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which gave him relief from 50 years of dyspepsia. With the same remedy Mrs. Ellen Laira of Pictou, N. S., now in her 87th year, freed herself from a lifetime of chronic constipation.

This remarkable medicine is a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin, the greatest of all the digestants. It acts mildly and gently and does not gripe, and hence it is ideal for old people. It is so safe, however, that thousands of mothers give it to babes in arms. Every druggist sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and a dose will cost you less than a cent. People who once use this medicine never afterwards resort to strong physics, calomel, etc.

Five Actions Against the Dominion Canners Postponed on Account of the Visit of Lord and Lady Byng.

AT ST. CATHARINES.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 11 (Canadian Press). — Because of the visit of Lord and Lady Byng here this morning, Justice Lennox adjourned the Supreme Court until this afternoon, before a suit against the Dominion Canners had been concluded.

Five St. Catharines bricklayers in the employ of Newman Brothers, contractors, are plaintiffs in as many actions against the company for damages arising out of their illness from typhoid fever in 1920, said to have been contracted by water from a well on th property of the Canning Company at Jordan when they were engaged on an addition to the factory.

The five cases are being tried as one, Peter White, of Toronto, for the plaintiffs. Sir George Lynch-Staunton, for the company, yesterday afternoon called his Lordship's attention to the interesting fact that W. G. Schurr, one of the plaintiffs, had filed a bill for laundry (work done by his mother) that exceeded the doctor's bill.

The five claims total $12,000.

FIRST CLASH AT CONFERENCE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND FRANCE

Lloyd George Warns Chitcherin Conference Ship May Sink and Russia Be Among the Drowned.

INCIDENT CLOSED.

GENOA, April 11. — (Canadian Press.)—A clash over a disarmament proposal by George Chitcherin, the Russian Soviet Foreign Minister, which occurred between Chitcherin and M. Barthou, France, threatened to disrupt the conference.

M. Barthou said that France categorically refused to discuss disarmament at Genoa. M. Chitcherin replied that Russia thought France would be ready to discuss this question, because M. Briand, the former Premier, had said at the Washington Conference, that Russia's armaments had made disarmament impossible.

LONDON ,April 11.— (Canadian Press.)—The correspondent of the London Times at Genoa, writing of the disagreement between Chitcherin and Barthou over disarmament, says that Premier Lloyd George, in answering the Russian Soviet delegate, insisted that the Conference would be a failure unless it led ultimately to disarmament, but urged that before disarmament came there must be peace and a peace basis at Genoa.

Mr. Lloyd George begged Chitcherin to confine hiself to the agenda and not press for an extension of the Genoa Conference.

'If you super-add to our proposals," he declared, "you will wreck the Conference."

Turning to the delegates, the British Prime Minister exclaimed: "If M. Chitcherin removes the load line of our conference ship he will sink it, and I would point out that he might be among the drowned. We may have a rough time ahead and we don't want to be overloaded."

The matters on the agenda, continued Mr. Lloyd George, were enormously important and it would be criminal to destroy the hope of millions of people by endeavoring to solve more problems than could possibly be managed.

"Let M. Chitcherin finish this voyage," he added, "and go home with all he can carry; then we will welcome him on another voyage when we know what sort of a passenger he is."

President Facta seconded Mr. Lloyd George's appeal not to wreck the conference; he considered it would not be wise to carry the discussion further. Before these words could be translated, M. Barthou protested: "I want to know—yes, or no—have all the delegations here accepted the Cannes resolution? If not, we canot continue the discussion. If they have well and good."

The correspondent adds: "Thus the incident closed, though not very satisfactorily. Sigor Facta reiterated that he thought the discussion should end, and M. Barthou made a discontented sign of assent."

The incident occurred, according to the correspondent, when the Soviet Foreign Minister, following Facta, Lloyd George, Barthou, Wirth and the spokesman of Japan and Belgium, welcomed Mr. Lloyd Georeg's assurance that the members of the conference were met on absolutely equal terms, announced the Bolshevik accetpance of the Cannes resolution and added that in some respects "the Russian Government" would desire to go beyond the Cannes resolution. M. Chitcherin said that Russia would support any proposal to avoid a new war, or designed to lighten the burden of armaments, but must demand as indispensable a guarantee against attacks from the outside, and also financial reciprocity.

The sense of M. Chitcherin's speech was so clear and so disquieting that when he sat down M. Barthou immediately took exception to the speech.

'M. Chitcherin has announced his intention of introducing the question of disarmament, which is not on the agenda," declared M. Barthou, "and I say simply, but clearly, that when and if Russia wants to examine this question she will be faced not only by the reserve of France, but with her protest and an absolute, final and decisive refusal to discuss it."

M. Barthou pointed out that in an earlier speech, he was conciliatory, but there were times when he must say no. He was convinced that the Italian delegation would support him.

MOTION TO DISBAND, ETC.

the Royal Canadian Mounted Police should be confined to the organized territories."

During the discussion on the question J. L. Brown, (Progressive), Lisgar, thought the resolution should be withdrawn there was so much confusion over the issues involved.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter Conservative St. John and Albert), did not want to see the resolution withdrawn. "It would be just as well", he said, "for this chamber to take a vote and stand up for the reds or against them. Some expressions which have been used by Honourable members were nothing more or less than pandering to the forces that seek to disorganize social conditions as they exist".

Mr. Woodsworth closing the debate, could not see his way to withdraw the resolution. A good deal has been said about the Winnipeg strike. He did ot blame Honorable gentlemen for not understanding that strike because of the misrepresentations concerning it which were sent out in the press.. The people of Winnipeg understood the circumstancs and their opinion was expressed in his own election. He had the honor, be believed, of being the first man in the history of British law to be charged with sedition because he quoted from the King James version of the English Bible.

A good deal had been made of the fact that some of the members of the Labor Party did not represent International Labor, personally he had held a card in local 3812 of the International Longshoreman's Union. Further, the Winnipeg strike was ordered by a International body the Trades and Labor Council of Winnipeg. The trial clearly showed that, while they were accused of setting up a Soviet Government by force, no arms had been discovered in the hands of the labor men. The strike was in reality a industrial dispute for higher wages and the interpretation of collective bargaining.

The Minister of Militia had quoted from memorials of Boards of Trade in favor of the maintenance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. That was not surprising. In the Winnipeg strike the citizens committee which was practically a creature of the Board of Trade, had represented the employers, and a representative of that committe had been made Deputy Minister of Justice in the city of Winnipeg.

Mr. Woodsworth declared that if it had not been for the action of the Mounted Police, shooting would not have occurred during the Winnipeg strike. If a labor Soviet was established, there was also another Soviet in the Board of Trade rooms which had assumed Governmental authority. The time had come when labor questions could not be dealt with by brute force. Common sense must be used. The millions spent in maintaining police should be spent in studying labor questions. The war and war hysteria had passed and the administration of justice must be left in the hands of the Provinces. If they could not control the situation they could call out the militia.. The Mounted Police acted as an irritant.

Mr. Speaker called for the yeas and nays ruling in favor of the nays and against the resolution. Immediately the Conservatives sprang up, forcing the division. The House then divided.

RUSSIANS AGREE CONFERENCE TERMS

GENOA, April 11. Canadian Press. — Russia's status, which is one of the questions of supreme importance before the Genoa Conference, came to the forefront soon after the opening of that great assembly yesterday. Speeches had been made by Premier Facta. of Italy, M. Barthou, France, Premier Lloyd George, Britain. Director Wirth, Germany, and the spokesmen of Japan and Belgium.

Mr. Lloyd George had said that all met on a footing of equality—provided that they accepted the conditions set forth.

Then George Chitcherin, Russian Soviet delegate, announced adherence to the conditions, and declared that Russia was ready to support any proposals that would avoid war or lighten the burden of armament.

M. Barthou immediately protested and declared that France would absolutely refuse to discuss disarmament.

Mr. Lloyd George hastened to intervene and declared disarmament could not be taken up before peace basis ad been reaced at Genoa.

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Ald. Stock suggested that the King street crossing on Aylmer street needed grading. This improvement will be done and two crossings put in on Benson avenue from Mr. Northeys' and Mr. Walton's houses.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

"The Double Crime"

It was in the late summer of 1905 that the New York police discovered the body of a man, evidently an Italian, concealed in a barrel on the East Side.

Every mark that could supply a clue to his identification had been removed—even the labels had been clipped from his clothes—and the manner in which his face had been mutilated rendered him totally unrecognizable.

The matter was recorded at headquarters, and a number of detectives were assigned to the case. But they worked in vain. No one in Little Italy would admit of having even heard of such a man, and those who, through curiosity or other motives, visited the Morgue, failed to identify the body.

But, just as the case was about to be entered upon the book of New York unsolved mysteries, it was cleared up through a coincidence so startling that no writer of detective fiction would have dared make use of it.

On the night of the murder, William J. Flynn, then Chief of the Eastern Division of the United States Secret Service, with headquarters in New York, was working on one of the numerous counterfeiting cases which occur so frequently in the Italian section of the metropolis.

Flynn himself had elected to trail a pair of Italians whom he had reason to believe were working with or for the counterfeiters. The trail led to an Italian grocery, where, from the shadow of a doorway across the street, the government detective could see into a lighted room in the suspected house. A few moments later a covered wagon drew up in front of the house, a man got out, entered the grocery and made his way into the very room that Flynn was watching. The light from the lamp fell directly upon his face, and the Secret Service operative realized that this must be a new addition to the gang, for he was certainly no one that he had seen before. Then the curtains to the window were drawn and Flynn abandoned his chase for the time being, confident that he would nail his men any time he wanted them.

The next morning the murdered man was discovered, nearly half a mile from the place where Flynn had hidden himself the night before. It was several days later that the operative read the official account of the crime and note that the body had been found in a sugar barrel, partly filled with blood-stained sawdust. The date of the murder, coupled with the use of a sugar barrel, recalled to the operative's mind the fact that he had been watching a Italian grocery at or about the time that the foreigner had been killed. Merely to satisfy himself that there was no connection between the counterfeiters and the murdered man, Flynn went to the morgue and examined the body. The peculiar shape of the forehead, the manner in which the hair splayed out above the prominent ears, and the blood-stained hat which had been found in the barrel, told the story beyond the shadow of a doubt. It was the stranger whom Flynn had seen entering the store which he had been watching!

Feeling certain that here was a sign which pointed toward the operations of the gang which he was after, Flynn had the body photographed from a number of angles, while experts in physiognomy reconstructed the features to something approaching a life-like appearance. Then, armed with these post mortem pictures, Flynn took a trip to Ossining to see if any of the members of the Italian colony in Sing Sing could identify the dead man.

The idea proved to be a good one, for a convict whom Flynn knew—an Italian serving time for another counterfeiting case—identified the photographs as being those of his brother-in-law, Mruena Benedetto, whom he described as being a peaceful, hard-working citizen who had never been implicated in any of the crimes in the Italian settlement.

Working backward from this clue, Flynn and the other Secret Service operatives trailed the Italians whom Flynn had seen in the grocery store on the night of the murder, and it was not long before they had made a complete round-up of the gang. As was to be expected in a crime of this nature, alibis were plentiful, but, as was also usual, these were none too well supported by fact, and it was a comparatively simple matter for the police to get at the bottom of the case, once the identity of the victim had been established.

A judicious application of the "third degree" brought to light the fact that Bendetto had been killed because he had got wind of the counterfeiting plot and because he was the brother-in-law of the man who later identified the body—a man who had incurred the undying enmity of his compatriots by turning State's evidence. The inflexible laws of the Society to which they both belonged—one of the societies which rules Little Italy with a rule of iron and a hand of blood—demanded the sacrifice of the next of kin in the event of information being given to the police.

But, if Flynn had not happened to be watching the grocery store on the night of the murder, the chances are that the crime would still be unsolved. The leader of the murder gang was found to be Ignazio Lupo, one of the very men Flynn was after, but the Government allowed the counterfeiting charge to hang fire until the expiration of Lupo's term for manslaughter. Another Lupo, brother to Ignazio, escaped at the time, and was not captured until ten years later, although Flynn and his associates were on the lookout for him during all that time.

Money Market and Construction Costs

Both Favorable to 1922 Highway Development

THERE is real encouragement for those municipalities about to enter on a programme of road building, in the present labour and material prices and in the improved condition of the money market.

Highway improvement can now be undertaken at a reasonable cost; recent tenders for such work having shown much lower prices than those obtained a year ago.

This, in conjunction with the lowered cost of borrowing, indicates less reason for delay in the building of permanent highways of concrete

Conditions now favor the building of those Concrete roads which modern truck haulage and increased motor traffic call for.

Labor is down—materials have declined; and keeping step with these important factors, the cost of borrowing has been reduced to a point where the paving program need no longer be held up because of the cost of financing the work.

All who are interested in the subject of Highway Construction may obtain from us, on application, our interesting literature which fully explains the manifold advantages of Concrete.

It's the little they cost to maintain that makes concrete pavements economical

The region roundabout is fairly bursting with mineral wealth, and there are many mines. Catorce (fourteen) derives its name from 14 infamous outlaws who once infested that region." Terry's Mexico.

An alert-eyed American of forty, dressed neatly in a comfortable traveling suit and Oxford style, sat reading about Catorce in his red, flexible-covered guide-book.

The puff-eyed conductor, a polite Mexican with sun-shrunk skin stopped beside the American traveler and asked in English, "Well, senor, have you made up your mind to leave us at Catorce?"

"I believe so," answered the traveler, with a slightly Eastern accent. "You say you can recommend it because it isn't tourist ridden?"

"Yes. You will find few English-speaking people there. It is quite a wild place. You will sleep in a hole and have difficulty in getting anything fit to eat!

"Sounds tempting! I've an old friend, a mining engineer, I believe he's up here pulling silver out of the earth somewhere. I think I'll stop off, if you'll be good enough to revise this ticket to Mexico City.

A minute later the dusty train came to a stop at a little adobe village consisting of a hollow square of baked mud houses glaring in the sun, a scattering of maimed, ragged natives running along beside the train, begging piteously in high-pitched voices, "Un centissime, senor, un sentissime!" and a handful of native women with large shapely small-necked water bottles of pottery, catching scalding water from the waste pipe of the high shouldered steam engine.

The traveler stepped down and beckoned to a twisty, frog-faced fellow standing beside a group of moth-eaten burrows on the caked earth station platform.

"Cargador—Catorce!" cried the guide messenger, taking the suit case from the traveller's hand and pointing to the trail twisting up the mountain to Real de Catorce.

The tourist nodded his head and mounted a scrubby little sand horse which a boy with a guitar and black sun glasses brought from a black cool stable nearby.

Half an hour later a gay little file of burros was winding through the foothills up the trail to the mining town, headed by the American on the one horse, a five foot Spanish sword jangling at the side of his saddle; behind came the black-spectacled boy astride a patient burro, his long legs dangling to the ground at either side of the animal, guitar swung on a gay ribbon sliding across his thin high shoulders; next a pleasant-faced old woman sitting sidewise on a braided fiber pad strapped to a wobbly legged burro, the woman carried a large natural linen umbrella and fanned herself slowly with a palm leaf. Behind came a dozen burros carrying casks, packages, the traveler's suit case and a load of sombreros; all being urged ahead by the little guide walking along, frob-legged, shouting, "huhr-roooo!" and "stuuuuh!" at the stupid little sand animals.

The dusty caravan mounted the steep trail at a monotonous pace, stopping only once for a drink of water out of a barrel beside a way-side sepulcher marking the resting place of a weary traveller who never reached Real de Catorce.

As they scrambled over the pebbly road the burro boy pushed his black glasses high on his forehead and leaning back on his little mount strummed a droway Oriental tune. The American dropped back beside the boy and watched him play. As the boy finished the American smiled his appreciation and, leaning over, touched a ring on the boy's finger, asking in Spanish, "Where did you get that?"

The boy glanced at it with conscious pride and flashed the white stone in the sun. At first he was reluctant to reply, then he said quickly in his native tongue. "An American gave it to me for quick ride down the mountain."

"When?" asked the traveler idly inspecting the cheap imitation diamond.

"Last night." The boy swung the guitar back to its place across his shoulders, slipped off the burro in front of a lane between two mud walls and moved his hand. "Adios," he said, "I spend the night here with a friend."

The caravan continued for half a mile further through steep streets paved by hand with small pebbles, the smoothness of which indicated that they had served the sure hoofs of burros for centuries. At the meson of Senor Rafael Saleido the American dismounted, paid his guide and asked the direction to a great silver mine where he hoped to find his friend.

Having reached the office of the mine through several abrupt twisty streets the American opened the door and asked a black haired Mexican youth if Mr. Reichman were in. The boy directed him into a second room and there a short, stout blond German-American stared at the traveler and rushed up to him, grasping his hand firmly and crying, "My old friend Chris Poe, by all that's strange."

"Yes, what's the matter Billie," asked Poe, as he glanced from a low-browed Mexican with saggy stomach and pouchy eye-lids to an open safe in the corner, and then completed the triangle by bringing his gaze back to Reichmann, whom he noticed for the first time was perspiring profusely.

"Oh, confound it," said Reichmann quickly. "There's the devil to pay here."

"Will you please speak in Spanish so I can understand," said the pouchy little Mexican firmly, stepping up beside Reichmann.

"I was only telling my friend I was in a hole," said Reichmann, knowing that Poe could speak enough Spanish to get along. "Senor Terranova, allow me to introduce my friend Christopher Poe, the New York banker."

Senor Terranova took two military steps forward, bowed formally and put out his hand limply, as though offering a dish-rag.

"Who robbed the safe?" asked Poe in Spanish, looking idly at the big, old-fashioned American safe, yawning empty.

"That's just it!" cried Reichmann. "It was done last night. Senor Terranova I am afraid, is under the impression that I robbed it."

"I have not accused," said the Mexican quickly.

"May I ask what was in it?" Poe turned to Reichmann.

"I haven't a notion what was in the silver and crystal casket. The safe is the personal property of Senor Terranova, president of our mine."

"There is no use concealing the contents longer!" cried the Mexican, standing back dramatically and pointing his finger at a mass of debris in the corner, among which Poe recognized slabs of crystal, bones, dust and the glint of silver. "That safe contained the casket you see demolished there; the casket contained the remains of Cortes, together with a priceless chalchihuiti put in his mouth, as a heart, on burial."

"Cortes, the Great Conqueror?" cried Reichmann.

"No other," answered Senor Terranova.

"Then you are a relative of the Duke of Terranova, who was supposed to have taken the remains of Cortes to Palermo for safe burial when the mob of 1823, mad with the centennial celebration of their independence wanted to break open his tomb and scatter the ashes of the great commander," said Christopher Poe, deeply interested.

"Exactly. My name tells that. Instead of taking the body to Palermo, however, it was brought here at night from Mexico City and here it has remained since, unknown to the world."

"But why should anybody steal the skull of Cortes?" queried Reichmann, perspiring. "They left his bones, all but the head."

The little Mexican cast a suspicious glance at his mine owner and answered, "Ah, that's the only important part; in the mouth lies the chalchihuiti, a green jade stone, prized above all gems by the Aztecs. It was stolen for that."

"But I am no Astec, I don't prize any historic jewels of Mexico," cried Reichmann excitedly. "Yet you say you think an American did it."

"I think an American stole the skull for the jewel that was in it, and the gold which surrounded all," answered Senor Terranova decisively. "Besides, there are few Mexicans around here clever enough to open such a sound safe."

"It is not, however, a very good safe," remarked Christopher Poe, who had stooped to examine the door of the massive steel structure. "It's an antique pattern. Most any clever crook with a knowledge of tumblers could open it in an hour's time."

The mine president drew himself up with dignity. "I do not believe it could be opened by anyone who did not have the combination, and Mr. Reichmann here had access to the company safe in which a duplicate of the combination of this casket-container was filed."

"My dear sir," said Poe, picking a shining little article out of a crack in the floor and setting the point of it with his fore-finger as he addressed the Mexican directly. "Your suspicions are absurd. You are only excited beyond your self-control by this great loss. If you will allow me I think with this fine needle here in my fingers I can prick a little hole in the black veil that will throw a little light onto this mystery."

He held up an exceedingly fine embroidery needle.

The other two men stared at it wonderingly.

"What do you argue from that?" asked Senor Terranova anxiously.

"It is something accidently dropped by the person who robbed your safe of its historic treasure. Look at it carefully," he dropped the needle onto his palm and held it out plainly before the wondering eyes of the anxious pair. "What would you argue from that needle?"

Neither spoke, but both stood staring silently at the thin hair of steel.

"You don't use a needle in any part of your business, do you?" Poe prodded.

"No," answered Reichmann slowly.

"I'll give you this much of a hint. This is the finest make of embroidery needle, it is made in Japan," said Poe, smiling grimly. "Doesn't that suggest anything?"

"That it was a Japanese that robbed the safe?" cried Senor Terranova shrewdly.

"Maybe one of those little Japanese men professors that come here sometimes to study the mines!" cried Reichmann illuminatingly.

"Yes, was it?" added the anxious Mexican.

"Few men, even Japanese, use fine little embroidery needles like this," smiled Poe. "I don't believe any Japanese manever carried one about him."

"A woman then? A Japanese woman?" croed Reichmann.

"I leave that to your vivid imagination," answered the New York banker-detective. "Meantime, I would like to assure Senor Terranova," he bowed to that gentleman, "that his suspicions are quite false and that if he will agree to keep the matter quiet I will guarantee to give him news of the real thief within a few days."

"But what guarantee have I?" asked the Mexican sullenly.

"You have done business with our bank," said Poe steadily. "You have heard of me and know that I have no other purpose than helping out you and Reichmann. I've a letter from your consul at Washington introducing me to you, if you like."

"Oh, I know. You are right. I was so excited. If you have any idea at all who stole the skull please act upon it at once, I beseech you, Senor Poe." The Mexican's attitude changed abruptly, he dropped into a chair and looked up at Poe helplessly. "What about the needle and the Jap woman? How did she do it?"

"I'll explain when I have facts to back up my theories," answered Poe. "For the present, is there any train into Mexico City tonight?"

"There's the one at seven o'clock," answered Reichmann. "But why go to Mexico City? This safe was opened only last night; we didn't discover it until I unlocked the office at noon today." Whoever turned the trick must still be in town."

"I don't think so," replied Poe. "The mozo who came along with our burros had a false diamond ring he said somebody gave him for a quick trip down the mountain to the train last night. I'll go hunt up this boy again, question him and then take the seven o'clock to Mexico City."

"But why to Mexico?" repeated Reichmann.

"Because that is the center, a city so important that you people who live here just say Mexico, when you speak of it, the same as we in America say simply 'New York.' Mexico City is the safest place for a thief to market stolen goods. Besides, there's the carnival on now, and I've always heard that clever criminals of every class like to take in all the good times there are to be had. Come! I'll have to make a quick trip down the mountain myself if I want to catch that train."

"I will loan you a good horse!" offered Senor Terranova, jumping to his feet, evidently impressed by the energetic manner of the New York banker.

Christopher Poe managed to find that place where the burro boy with the guitar and black spectacles had the caravan. On questioning the youth he learned that the person who had given him the glass ring was a man, an American, with a sombrero, a suit case and a red water bottle.

"Could the person have been a Japanese?" asked Senor Terrenova, who had accompanied Poe.

"No sener."

"Or a woman disguised as a man?"

"No, senor."

"There!" cried the Mexican. "That upsets your theory at the very start."

Christopher Poe only smiled, thrust the fine needle he had found at the mine office under his coat lapel and set out alone, but for a servant to return with Terranova's horse.

By reckless riding down the stumbly, stony trail Poe managed to just make the train.

Setting himself comfortably in a day coach occupied the time till midnight reading a novel, then he dozed until nearly three o'clock, when the train pulled in at Mexico City.

Having left his suit case with a hotel runner at the station, Poe summoned a cab and asked the driver in Spanish

"Where is most of the fun at the carnival?"

"Senor would enjoy himself?" smiled the mahogany-cheeked coachman. "Ah, I will take him to the best places."

"Isn't there some ball? Is the Metropole still running? I want to go where all the gay people of Mexico have gathered to spend the carnival time in dancing till morning."

"Yes, the Metropole is the place. Everybody is there. It is just beginning. All the girls; dancon, senor, dancon—the beautiful motion!"

"Yes. That's exactly where I want to go," decided Poe. "Is it a masked ball tonight?"

"It is carnival time. Everybody in Mexico is masked," answered the cabman, clucking to his bony horse.

"Oh, to be sure; and we won't be too late for the fun?"

"No. It is just beginning. At two o'clock they began to come and they will be doing great things at four."

Christopher Poe leaned back in the blue flagged conveyance and enjoyed snatches of song coming to him occasionally from merry-making peasants homeward bound and cool vistas of palm fringed parks. It was a fine cool night, much the best part of the day in the city and when the carriage came at last to the gay quarter where the Metropole was located there was much excitement going.

Dismissing the cab at the door, Christopher Poe paid his peso for admission and stepped into a wild swirl of gayety. A masked ball in that quarter at carnival time was a mill of wild, reckless, profligate folly running rampant. All those of the demi-monde were there, thieves and gamblers, prostitutes and politicians, bull-fighters, reckless miners, ranchmen and soldiers of fortune.

Poe purchased a clown suit from a vender, climbed into it, drew a mask down on his face and plunged into the reckless whirlpool of dancers, grasping a grisette by the waist and dancing off with her at a wild gallop.

At a signal from the floor manager who pounded with an ornate staff on the floor the dancers joined hands and swung around in a mad circle, kicking, singing, punctuating coarse jests with ribald cries, snatching off one another's dominos and running in and out through the mob on the dance floor.

Poe found himself flung into the center of a band of devils, dressed in flaring red and doing fantastic tricks with their tails. He whirled about with them, cutting clown capers and dancing fantastically by himself in the center of the red devils until the staff pounded on the floor announced the end of the dance.

Poe rushed for a drinking table and dragged the group of devils along, treating them lavishly to beer and pulque.

Then the floor was cleared and the Spanish band struck up a barbarous, fascinatingly Oriental can-can to which the dancers swayed in unison, working up to a pitch of passion which was denoted by a blurr of cymbals and drumsticks.

During this performance Poe strolled about on the outer edge of the dancers, entering into the play, pulling off people's wigs, thowing confetti into mouths recklessly stretched in laughter, pinching playful people who chased him, carrying on the carousal as crazily as the rest.

There was one girl creating a sensation in that dance. She was a finely-formed little woman costumed as a water-carrier of Tehuantepec, the peasant girl costumed exactly suited her and she carried a small-mouthed red water bottle gracefully on her shoulder throughout the undulating, rhymic dance in time to the sensuous, tropical music.

"Cleopatra!" cried Poe appreciatively.

The girl turned and tossed him a kiss. Those who were watching laughed. She caught her partner, another attractive girl, dressed in short circus girl skirts and wearing only an eye mask, more firmly about the waist and began a new series of sinous swayings to the delight of the gleeful onlookers.

Just then the dance master's staff came down in three rapid thumps and the whole hall full dashed at a large luridly hued papier mache pear, hanging from the center of the ceiling by mani-colored ribbons.

They leaped and struck at it, trying to break it open that its store of cangies and fruits and favors might be cornucopiaed out and caught in the straining hands.

The two girls being near the center of the hall leaped to a position directly beneath the pear. The more attractive one in the peasant girl's costume caught her companion by the leg and helped her to an instant's unsteady perch on her shoulder.

The girl in circus skirts made a frantic grasp and struck the pear, breaking it open so that the goodies dropped among the scrambling dancers. For a moment she remained poised, crying in a pure ringing Castillian tongue. "Now I shall have the chalchihuiti!"

Poe, who had rushed in to fight for the favors, helped her as she jumped down beside the water-carrier girl and was quick to hear a whispered, "Yes, you win it," from the girl in peasant's garb.

The scramble for favors having finished another series of thumps with the butt of the big stick in the dance master's hands called them all to a hilarious reel, it became more of a reel each minute, for all had drunk their fill of beer and pulque and the last exhilarating hour was at hand.

Christopher Poe leaped in and snatched the girl with the circus skirts away from her partner in spite of objection of both. By clever twisting he was weaving in and out among the dancers he managed to evade the peasant girl, who pursued, frantically. He danced the girl about until she was dizzy and plead with him to stop. Then he dropped her in a corner seat and pressed a glass of pulque on her, asking at the same moment:

"Did you get the chalchihuiti?"

"No. Not yet!" cried the girl, panting. "Find my partner. We mustn't get lost. We must go home together."

"Your partner's safe," answered Poe, bobbing up to stand in front of the circus riding costumer as he saw the fascinating girl with the water-jug pushing through the dazed dancers toward them. Grasping a fellow in a bulky Chanticleer Poe swung him around, pointed to the spent girl in the corner, cried, "Here's a pheasant hen for you!" and whirled away in time to catch the approaching peasant girl about the waist and join in the mad revelry.

The girl repulsed him violently, with almost masculine strength, but Poe, with an outward show of effection crushed her tight to his bosom, using all his strength and holding her so tight she could scarcely breathe.

A sudden series of thumps from the master's staff announced abruptly that this would be the last dance. It was the signal for a depraved utterly demoralized jumble of extravagant motions, lewd cries, ear splitting curses, staggering blows and a few pistol shots. It was the moment of utter demoralization; the dance had gone to pieces, it was a mad bottle-smashing hellish riot.

Poe took advantage of the moment to strengthen his hold on the struggling girl by slipping his sinewy arm around about her neck with all appearance of sentiment and affectively choking her; with his other hand he caught the water bottle from her firm grasp, tucked it under his arm and was about to tighten his hold on her neck when she suddenly managed to twist out of his desperate hold, stagger back, scream "Cabron! Cabron!" in a very mannish voice and let drive a smashing blow straight into Poe's face.

Christopher Poe raised the heavy red water bottle and smashed it full into the masked face. The blow carried the girl's mask with it and revealed the cut and bleeding face of a man, wearing a woman's wig. Following up his stroke Poe hit the man fairly in the face and as he keeled over caught him on one arm and with the other picked up a hideous skull, which the water bottle had contained.

Holding the unconscious form of the man who had so effectively masked as a woman, Poe held high the grinning skull and cried: "Cortes! Cortes! The skull of the Great Conqueror! Found at last!"

Those who heard sent up a wild drunken laugh at mention of the famed skull of Cortes.

"See!" cried Poe, dexterously removing a striking greenish gem from a purse he found concealed about the neck of the man he had struck down. He placed the stone between the gleaming teeth in the death's head.

"See! See! It is a genuine chalchihuiti that was buried with him to serve as a heart for him in heaven; for he had no heart on earth."

Another yell of ribald laughter greeted this sally. The girl in the circus skirts at sight of the gem staggered from the seat in which Poe dropped her and tried to get at him, screaming that it was hers; but kindly people pushed back the drunken jade and Poe, the dance having come to its climax, slipped through the crowd supporting the unconscious masker on his arm and dropped limply with his burden in a closed cab just as the blare of the last garish note of the dance died out.

He drove at once to the Iturbide Hotel, where his suit case had been sent and engaged a room for himself and his friend, a pal of his dressed as a woman he explained to the clerk, who thought it a good joke that the man in the woman's wig had got dead drunk and was just coming to with the rays of dawn.

Christopher Poe, having fortified himself with the short nap on his ride to Mexico City sat up and waited while the masker regained consciousness, slipped off into slumber and had partly repaired the liquor stupor he had been in. Then Poe awakened him gently, told him how he came to be there and asked abruptly:

"How much did you think the National Museum here would give you for the skull and the gold and silver plates engraved with proofs that in the casket from which they were torn reposed the remains of Cortes?"

The fellow looked up stupidly and answered in American:

"I guess you've got the whole dope then, if you even know what I stole it for."

"I certainly have. Wait a minute, I'll sketch it to you. Some native told you that it was surmised around Catorce that Cortes was buried somewhere there. You fent up and investigated, pretending to be a miner. You got on the trail of the fact that it was in the old safe at Senor Terranova's office. You bribed a peon to help you, with a glass ring or something easily swallowed by the gullible fellow."

"How'd you guess that?" cut in the mutilated carouser.

"That's what you gave the mule boy for taking you down to the railroad station in a hurry, after you'd pulled off the trick and hidden the skull in that false bottomed water bottle which looked as though it couldn't possibly hold anything more than a hickory nut through that small opening at the top."

"You've got me!" cried the prisoner, dropping back limp on the bed and holding his head between his hands. "But how'd I work the combination on that safe which held old Cortes. I've got you there?"

"Oh, no," answered Poe with a reserved smile. "That is just as evident to me as the fact that you could not resist coming down to the carnival, picking up a gay girl and in the excitement of the dance promising to give her the chalchihuiti, the worth of which here in Mexico you probably underestimated, basing your hopes entirely on selling the skull of Cortes to the government for several thousand pesos."

"Your logic isn't half bad, old top," answered the reckless fellow, suddenly leaping to his feet and jerking out a thin stiletto with his belt buckle serving as a handle for the cleverly contrived weapon sheathed in the leather girdle that supported his trousers.

Poe, unprepared and unarmed, sprang to his feet and watched the fellow closely, nervously fingering his coat lapel.

With a maniacal glint in his slit-like eyes, he snarled, his teeth baring partly between his thin, womanish lips: "I entertained you last night by dancing like a girl and letting you knock me out, now suppose you amuse me by stepping into that snug little clothes closet behind you."

Christopher Poe did not turn to look behind him; his upper lip jerked in a sneering smile.

"Don't be foolish!" he said calmly. "You aren't going to get away."

"What do you mean!" screamed the other. "Another bluff! you can't fool me! Same line of talk you gave me about knowing how I worked that safe."

"Oh, that's too small a matter to mention. I was going to give you a chance to reform, but I guess you aren't a decent enough sort to waste one's time on."

The stocky little man twisted his womanish waist, thrust forward his full chest and leaped on Poe, the stiletto aimed for his breast.

Poe stood steady in the path of the stroke, but as the blade descended, quick as a flash he jerked the slender embroidery needle from his coat lapel and thrust it deep into the cheek of his adversary.

A scream of terror. The stiletto dropped from a paralyzed hand.

"Carbon! You dirty gringo!" screamed the thief.

Poe simply tripped him backward onto the bed from which he had leaped with the drawn dagger, he held the crimson-tipped needle before the slit-like eyes of the criminal, his hand trembling slightly with anger. "There, you fool!" Poe exclaimed with unusual warmth. "You would have it. It's your own needle. I found it where you dropped it when you pulled it out of the upper skin of your tongue back there at Senor Terranova's safe. I hope you don't think I'm such a fossil that I don't know that professional safe-openers, often aid their sense of touch by thrustiug the finest Japanese embroidery needles procurable through the upper skin of their tongues so that when the other end of the needle is applied to the dial on the safe and the knob slowly turned the sensitive tongue nerves register more clearly than the finger tips each tumbler as it drops. It's the best possible method, but when a man is using it against established law and order it would be quite worth his while to pick up his needle instead of throwing it on the floor where someone might step on it with bare feet. It was most unhousewifely of you, and you such a capable female impersonator."

THE END.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

CANADIANS RALLY TO AID OF MRS. ANNE STILLMAN

Mass of Evidence Given in Three Tongues to Contravene Evidence of Former Witnesses.

SISTER'S STORY.

MONTREAL, April 11 (Canadian Press). — Testifying in three tongues —English, French, and Indian—half a dozen inhabitants of the Quebec woods defended Mrs. Anne U. Stillman yesterday at the first Canadian hearing in the divorce suit brought against her by James A. Stillman, New York banker

By their testimony, the defence sought to disprove Mr. Stillman's charges that his wife misconducted herself at various places along the St Maurice Valley with Fred Beauvais, part Indian guide, alleged by the banker to be the father of three-year-old Guy Stillman. Much of yesterday's evidence conflicted with the testimony of witnesses for the plaintiff who previously had sworn they saw improper conduct on the part of Mrs. Stilman and Beauvais.

Conduct in North Woods.

Their conduct in the north woods during the months preceding the birth of Guy was described by the Indian's sister, Mrs Margaret Stacey, who also was employed at the Stillman's summer camp near Grand Anse

She swore that during the early part of January, 1918, nine months before Guy was born, Beauvais was helping his family move from a club near Big Lake to the Stillman camp. Earlier in the trial, witnesses for the banker said they saw Beauvais with Mrs. Stillman on the banker's country estate at Pleasantville, N.Y., during that period. Fred's sister said he did not go down to New York until the last week in January.

Fred returned to the woods in March with Mrs Stillman and two of her children, Aime and Alexander, the guide's sister said. In a few weeks Mrs. Stillman was called back to New York by the death of her father-in-law, James Stillman, one of the most prominent financiers in the country.

Where They Slept.

About a month later, Mrs. Stillman, with young "Bud" Stilman, came back to the camp, Mrs. Stacey declared. The Indian woman said that Mrs. Stillman and "Bud" occupied adjoining rooms on the ground floor of one of the houses in the camp, and that Fred had a room in the attic. Bud was there every night during his mother's visit, which did not terminate until September, two months before Guy was born, the witness said. She acted as housekeeper throughout the period, and knew that her brother was in his own room every night. One of the banker's witnesses said Mrs. Stillman's room was next to Beauvais'.

Upon cross-examination, Mrs. Stacey was repeatedly asked if she was sure she made the beds every morning.

The defence considered it had made considerable progress in battering down adverse testimony, when Herve Marchand left the stand after reporting from his reports of the boat movements up and down the St. Maurice River in the summer of 1919, that Mrs. Stillman spent only four days at her camp that season, from 30th June to 3rd July. It was reported at the end of yesterday's secret session that the plaintiff's lawyers conceded this to be a fact in a formal stipulation, although one of their witnesses, Harry Grennon, testified in December, 1920, that for fifteen consecutive days during June and July, 1919, he had looked through keyholes at the camp and seen Beauvais and Mrs. Stillman in improper postures.

Could Not See.

Then the defence began to present testimony to show that it could not have been possible for those who testified for the banker to have stood on scaffoldings and looked through windows at Mrs. Stillman during the months they swore they had done so.

Basil Montour a 78-year-old Indian mason who was working at the camp in the summer of 1919, said that when Mrs. Stillman was there, the scaffolding already had been torn down. His testimony, spoken in Indian, was translated by Captain Jocks, formerly an officer of the Royal North-West Mounted Police.

Tom White, another Indian, corroborated Montour.

Then the defence began bolstering up its charge that efforts to bribe witnesses to testify against Mrs. Stillman had been made by J. Albert Lafontaine, stationmaster at Grand Piles, described as "an agent for James A. Stillman."

George Giguerre, labourer, of Grande Anse, who has the appearance of a cowboy, testified, it was reported, that Lafontaine met him in June or July, 1920, offered him a drink of whisky, and asked him if he would like to go down to New York in an automobile He said Lafontaine declared he had recently talked to Mr. Stillman at Montreal, and had turned over two witnesses to the banker. It was about that period—in July, 1920—that Mr. Stillman sued for divorce.

Just Like Other Women.

"Do you know anything against Mrs. Stilman?" Giguerre was reported to have testified he was asked by Lafontaine.

"Did you ever have anything to do with her?" Lafontaine then was alleged to have asked, adding, "She may be a millionaire, but she's just like any other woman; you've only to grab her and put your arms around her. . . . . "

"I never tried. I didn't know Mrs. Stillman was a woman like that," Giguerre said he replied.

Oscar Fontaine and Norbet Thibault testified that Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais got off a morning train at a siding along the Valley one day in December, 1916, walked off, and came back and departed on the afternon train, headed the way from which they had come.

This conflicted with past testimony that Mrs. Stilman and the guide spent the night at a club nearby Fontaine said the club was unoccupied at the time.

Seven lawyers—five from New York and two residing in Montreal—represented the plaintiff at yesterday's hearing The banker also had special investigators and other representatives at the Corthouse. Mrs. Stillman, whose witnesses from the North Country will continue to be called to-day, had two attorneys present, and Guy was represented by his guardian, John E. Mack.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS THE CENTRE OF INTEREST

Provincial Government Will Take Up Matter of Providing Better Service.

OTHER BILLS.

TORONTO, April 10.— Legislature—Private bills wended their way through the various stages of the Ontario legislature yesterday afternoon like a procession along a well-ordered thoroughfare. There was promptness and unanimity in settling the fate of each measure, either killing it or passing it another stage in its legislative course.

The most discussion took place about standard hotels. There didn't seem to be much disagreement but that some standard hotels in the smaller towns were not models of what an inn should be and when G. Evanturel of Prescott, moved that the business tax on hotels should be wiped out, it registered interest all over the house where up to that time there had seemed to be no bill of sufficient importance to get enthusiastic about. Mr. Evanturel argued that if the hotels were taxed less they would be able to give better accommodation to the public.

It was generally agreed that better accommodation was the one most popular idea but on the other hand the question was raised by Wellington Hay, Liberal leader, that big hotels in Toronto charging exhorbitant rates should not get their business taxes remitted unless the public had some say as to the rates they should charge. Hon. G. S. Henry (York E.) was of the opinion that the municipalities should say whether a hotel should have its business tax eliminated as it was the municipal treasury that would suffer, not the provincial. Attorney-General Raney agreed with Mr. Henry's suggestion that a municipal council could give back the business taxes where a hotel was giving a service to the community. The attorney-general also suggested that a perambulating committee of the house might visit the hotels of the province during the summer and arrive at some decision as to the best steps to provide better accommodations. Mr. Evanturel agreed to withdraw his bill on the understanding that the government would take the matter up.

The reciprocal insurance bill was given third reading without opposition which came rather as a surprise as it had been intimated that the opponents of this measure which enables reciprocal insurance companies to do business in this province without putting up a deposit would again divide the house.

The following bills passed through committee of the house: To amend the constitution of Huron College; the Waterloo County Loan and Savings company; to enable Gananoque to withdraw from the jurisdiction of the county of Leeds; to enable Thomas Lindsay to practice law in Ontario; Grey county Bill; St. Thomas Bill; Sudbury Bill; Municipality of Shuniah Bill.

The following bills were given second reading: City of Ottaaw Bill; Ottawa Civic Hospital; City of London; Town of Wiarton; City of St. Catharines; City of Niagara Falls; to amend the assessment act so that municipalities of less than 100,000 can require citizens to make income tax returns as large centres already do; to amend the Municipal Act to provide for homologous lines in connection with street widenings; to amend the highways improvement act.

The bill introduced by Dr. Stevenson of London to regulate the location of gasoline tanks was killed, the house taking the view that municipalities already had the power asked for. A bill by K. K. Hemuth of Waterloo intended to give relief to aged policy holders in fraternal-insurance companies was thrown out on the ground that it would be unwise to tamper with the insurance act passed last year in this connection. It also killed a Toronto bill relative to building restrictions.

At the opening of the house Hon. Howard Ferguson asked Mr. Raney if the report were true that Alfred Cuddy of the Alberta Provincial police had been asked to accept the post of assistant to the commissioner of provincial police in Ontario. The attorney-general said the government had no statement to make regarding it and was also not in a position to state when the timber inquiry report would be brought in.

CRITICIZES NEW MAGISTRATES ACT

TORONTO, April 11—(Canadian Press). — Vigorous criticism of clause in new Magistrates' Act that permits Attorney General to name magistrate to hear cases he wants tried, was voiced in Legislature last night by H. COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to do their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes effected and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night are the best remedy to tone up the system and strength the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Honeymooners in Huff At Red Invasion of Genoa

GENOA, April 11.—The presence of the Russian Soviet delegation to the International Economic Conference has played havoc with the love-making of American and British honeymoon couples and spooners at the exclusive Hotel Imperial Santa Margherita, where the Russians are quartered.

Swarms of plain clothes detectives, armed with searchlights, crowd the corridors and semi-tropical palm garden. Ardent wooers, interrupted in secluded seats in the lobbies, flocked into the plam garden only to be interrupted in their sylvan retreat by prying detectives, who were kept busy apologizing and explaining they were under orders to search every nook and cranny for suspicious persons who might have designs on the lives of the Bolshevik envoys.

The Italian Government has forbidden the hotel accepting any new guests while the Russians are quartered there, although the old registered guests may remain.

Many indignant couples, angered by the lack of privacy, have departed in high dudgeon, notwithstanding the fact that the Russians have been quartered there only 24 hours.

At tea time, the jazz band played to an almost empty dining-room. A number of the male members of the Russian delegation and four women danced amidst the empty tables. The women were mannishly dressed and their hair was cut short with the clippers after the fashion of men.

George Tchitcherin, head of the Russian delegation, seemed tired and worn after the trip from Moscow. His 32-year-old secretary, Michael Erlich, was flustered and excited over the appearance of a number of press photographers. He complained that the guards were not strict enough.

Voice of the People

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In the editorial headed "The Chippawa Probe," you, by suggestion, favour the investigation into the alleged extravagance of the Hydro by a committee formed of members of the Legislature. Surely, sir, you also seem to be another quick change artist. When a Minister of Power was suggested to look after Provincial Hydro matters, the shout of yourself and political opponents of the Government was "Keep the Hydro out of politics." Everyone knows that the Hydro is the greatest and most serious question before the Province to-day. "The charges are serious enough against great political lights." Every member of the Legislature is more or less involved in politics, however much he would like to disclaim the fact; because we are faced daily with political propaganda. My personal opinion is that the whole controversy being carried on by Mr. Ferguson and one or two irreconcilables is chiefly politics.

True the argument is that we vote money in the Legislature to carry on Hydro projects, but this money is voted on the request of electrical engineers and experts in such construction; but since that authority is suggested as having been extravagant to the extent of fifteen million dollars, I claim, for the time being, we cannot accept their suggestion of expenditure.

Until their method of work has been investigated by an unbiased, non-political committee or commission, to commence at once, and not delay it by unnecessary talk for days or weeks, please understand, Hon. Mr. Ferguson is doing most of the talking, for what purpose can be left to the common sense of the electorate.

I am for an independent committee, free from political entanglements. This inquiry is going to be a big mans job. There are big men in the Legislature, and there are big matters in the Legislature yet to be dealt with, more suitable to the arts of politically great men.—Yours,

T. TOOMS.

Good Dispositions Bring Fairies Out, Says She

MRS. HILDA M. POWELL.

Want a fairy in your home?

Then, hearken to Mrs. Hilda M. Powell, lecturer for the English-Welsh Theosophical Society, now touring America.

Says she, all that is needed to attract fairies to anyone is a soft word or two spoken on a grassy knoll, and possibly the flaring of a green skirt.

"Fairies," explains Mrs. Powell, who's drawing crowded houses in all the larger cities, "really do exist, and they appear to anyone whose disposition is right, and who wears the proper attractive colors."

Myriads of converts are rallying round her fairy standard, influenced by the lecturer's personal magnetism, and, perhaps, by sight of a number of photographs showing the sprites gamboling on the lea.

"Fairies prefer the countryside," says Mrs. Powell, "away from the noise of big cities.

"Children, especially, are gifted, because of their innocence, with peculiar power to watch the unseen activities of sprites."

Mrs. Powell made her first stop-off in Chicago and when news of her visit and what she was here for spread, scientists were amazed.

To the doubters she exhibited fairy photographs and defied even the most expert to prove that there was any fakery about them.

"Fairies are with us all the time," she says. "But in the big cities, because of the noise and racket, their strength is weakened, and they are consequently unable to render much assistance.

"But out in the quiet of the forest and park the fairies are in full life."

Explaining why children are best fitted to gaze into the unknown fairy world, Mrs. Powell concludes by saying:

"Children dwell in a secloistered atmosphere outside the pale of wickedness, or knowledge of it. As we grow older we drop away from this environment and so the fairies get away from us—or rather we from them."

AN AID TO WEARING THIS SEASON'S FASHIONS

(Helps to Beauty)

Here is a simple unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minuts rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.

THE REBUILDING OF PIGEON LAKE BRIDGE

LINDSAY, April 11.— Mr. J. J. Thurston, M.P., has informed the Post that in connection with the rebuilding of the Pigeon Lake floating bridge he is willing and glad to work with Deputy-Speaker G. N. Gordon, M.P., Peterborough, towards procuring whatever is best for the people of both constituencies. Mr. Gordon has promised to let Mr. Thurston know when he is prepared to take the question up with the proper department.

"Purity, Above All Things."

No Sediment Found In Our Milk

WHY? Because It Has Been Clarified

What is Clarifying? It's a process that removes all sediment, leaving the milk perfectly clean.

Naturally everybody wants milk that is perfectly clean—and it is the only kind we want to deliver to our customers. We make every effort to be sure that our milk is clean right from the start—that every precaution is taken in milking, straining and caring for the milk right on the farm—and we believe we can depend fully on most of our shippers to give the milk the care it should have.

At the same time, when milk is being shipped to us from hundreds of different farms, it is pretty hard to be certain of the care each individual can gets. There is always the danger of dust getting in because the farmer forgot to put the cover on soon enough—there are lots of ways by which some foreign substance might get into milk. We do not want to take any chances that our milk might not be perfectly clean, so it all goes through the process of clarification. ....

A clarifier is a machine so constructed that when milk passes through it, it removes any substance which is heavier than the milk. In this way it removes all sediment, leaving the milk perfectly clean.

After being Clarified the milk next goes to the Pasteurizing Department.

SUSSEX, N.B., April 10.—(Special.)—Mr. L. Parlee, who lives on Broad Street here, is another of that great army of Canadian women who are always ready to say a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Every one of them has a reason.

BANTON STARTLES DRINKING DINERS PREDICTS TROUBLE

Tells Harlem Board of Commerce Public Drinking Prompts Others to Break Laws.

NEW YORK, April 11.— After considerable liquor had flowed from hip pocket flasks and quart bottles concealed in suitcases at the dinner of the Harlem Board of Commerce in the west ballroom of the Hotel Commodore, District Attorney Banton, chief guest, arose to speak about law enforcement.

Pointing his finger at the diners, Mr. Banton, stressing the necessity for unanimity of purpose on the part of citizens in the enforcement of laws, said:

'Some of these days, at some one of these dinners, you boys are going to find yourselves in pretty serious trouble. Just realize that in violating one law you indicate a disregard for all law, and the hold-up man and the burglar commit crimes because they, too, disregard the law.

"Maybe they have seen some eminently respectable citizens disregard the law and they reason accordingly. There is logic in reasoning of that sort. Just think that over."

One Man Pours Drinks.

When the District Attorney paused a man seated with five others in a far corner murmured his disgust and reached under the table. He drew out a bottle which Izzy Einstein would have said contained something stronger than tea, reached for six tumblers and arranged them in an orderly row. Without a word he poured a round of drinks. His five friends reached over, and one, with a gesture in the direction of the speaker, drank the contents of his glass.

This was Mr. Banton's only reference to prohibition, except in his remarks aobut Governor Miller. He introduced his warning in the middle of an address in which he told the members of the Harlem Board of Trade some other plain truths. He said that he could not handle the crime wave or the criminal calendar alone. The job was too big for him for Governor Miller or for any set of officials. Unless the citizenry of New York County showed that they wanted a vigirous law enforcement the District Attorney's office would fall down on the job, he said.

BETTER GARDEN TIPS

BY LUTHER BURBANK

MRS. LUTHER BURBANK ILLUSTRATES HER HUSBAND'S GARDEN TIPS.

THE GARDEN.

When you look out upon your back yard and see a pile of ashes, and old tin cans and other debris lying about — don't despair! Quite the contrary!

BURBANK

Here you have a fine start, once the tin cans have been cleaned up and dumped. The ashes are just what you want for the soil.

The average back yard can afford a space of 10 by 30 feet and the average person can easily spade and take care of such a plot.

If it is a vegetable garden you have in mind, such a space will go far toward providing vegetables for a family of three or four.

Now get a good spade, a good trowel and be sure to do a little planning on the garden's form. Straight rows between the beds are important, even though this requires a little more effort. A two-foot width is always sufficient for these, and quite frequently a foot will suffice.

Try to make the garden a family affair. Turn it into exercise, rather than into work. And by all means get the children interested. Nothing is more healthful and helpful to the child body and mind.

Then, start to dig!

The rooms were suitably decorated and arranged for the occasion, and the aprons, of which over 100 were offered for sale, were quite dainty and attractive, and of many varieties. A steady stream of purchasers kept moving in and out from the time the doors were opened at 3) p.m., till after 6 o'clock when everything was disposed of.

The president, Miss Needham, had a general oversight of the afternoon's proceedings, the apron and novelty table was in charge of Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. Kenyon, and Mrs. B. R. Misses Zeta Kenyon, Jean Burnham and Gladys Tucker attended to the candy table, and Mrs. C. Garside, Mrs. F. Fallis, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, and Mrs. P. Stinson served afternoon tea, several of the men coming in about 6 o'clock to enjoy the latter.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Boy "Mothered" By Cow; Fed, Protected Like Calf

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., April '—Now that Robert Baker, a 15-year-old product of the Chicago slums, has a job here, he is hunting for his "grandma," so he can buy her. He wants to buy her, because "grandma" is a cow.

Robert got tired of the slums and longed for the fresh air in the west. One day he saw some men loading a car with Holstein cows, consigned to the dairy department of the Sioux Falls Savings Bank. Robert induced the men to put him in a separate pen built to protect the calves from being trampled on by the cows during the journey.

Each mother cow attended to the wants of her own calf. A motherless cow selected Robert for her attentions and jealously prevented other cows from coming near. Robert got his meals just like the calves. He called his guardian "grandma."

When Robert arrived, Fred Schaeffer, in charge of the dairy extension work for the bank, got him a job.

"Gee, I wish I had money enough to buy 'grandma,'" Robert said, "because I'll bet she's the best cow in town."

Do You Want To Have A Better Garden?

LUTHER BURBANK'S BACK YARD.

NEGLECT a tiny baby and that baby's health fails. Give it proper care and the baby will thrive.

The same is true of a plant. If you don't know how to take care of a flower or a vegetable from the time it peeps through the ground, that flower or vegetable is going to die—or at least not be productive of the best life there is in it.

Luther Burbank knew this when he started out to study plant life, years ago.

IT has taken years to become master of plant knowledge But he is master!

That's why the Examiner asked him to write 12 stories about what he has learned. These stories, to appear in The Examiner daily, starting Monday, April 10, will let you in on the knowledge that will mean better gardens.

Read these stories, care for your garden accordingly, and watch for real results.

Moments Which Count

When you are conscious of the scrutiny of interested eyes which appraise every detail of your appearance, can you sit serene, secure in the consciousness that there is nothing to criticise but everything to admire?

Happy is the girl who can answer "yes" in these all important moments. She is the girl who knows that her fresh, clear skin and smooth, white neck and arms are sure to command admiration.

The girl who is not so sure of her personal attractiveness, who is conscious that complexion defects may affect her popularity, should waste no time remedying these conditions. The secret is cosmetic cleanliness, which keeps the skin free from clogging accumulations.

Once a day, do this

Once a day, preferably at bedtime, give your face a thorough cleansing. This doesn't mean a harsh, irritating scrub but a cosmetic cleansing accomplished by the gentlest possible means.

Soap is necessary, but only the mildest soap should be used. This is Palmolive, blended from palm and olive oils.

Once you experience the mild, soothing effect of its smooth, creamy lather you will recognize daily cleansing as the surest complexion beautifier.

Removal, once a day, of the accumulations of dirt, oil, perspiration and the remaining traces of cold cream and powder is absolutely essential to a clear, fresh skin.

Neglect results in clogged pores, coarse texture and blackheads. When the accumulated soil carries infection, pimples are the result.

An ancient secret

The value of beautifying cleansing was discovered long ago, in the days of ancient Egypt. It was Cleopatra's secret—whatever the embellishments she employed, they were applied after the daily bath with palm and olive oils as cleansers.

The great queen was famous for her beauty long after early youth was passed. She kept her looks with the aid of the same gentle, stimulating cleansing which we recommend today.

Blended from the same oils

Palmolive is blended from the same costly oriental oils which served Cleopatra as cleanser and beautifier. We import them from overseas in vast quantity to keep the Palmolive factories at work day and night. This is necessary to supply the world-wide demand.

This popularity has reduced price, as manufacturing volume permits economies which lower production costs. Thus we are able to supply Palmolive at a very low price.

So while Palmolive ranks first as finest facial soap, you can afford to follow Cleopatra's example and use it for bathing.

Remember that complexion beauty does not end with the face, and beautify your body with Palmolive.

Boys Calling on Co-Eds Must Go Home at 10 P.M.

ALBION, Mich., April —Girl students at Albion College who have boys calling on them in the evening must send them home at 10 p.m. except on Friday and Saturday nights, when they can entertain callers until 11 p.m. under a new set of regulations announced this week by the college administration. Other rules laid down by the administration include the following:

That evening canoeing shall terminate in time to permit the girls to keep the rule regarding social calls.

That when the members of the faculty come on the platform at chapel exercises the students shall become quiet.

That the campus flag pole shall be used only for displaying the American flag and such other flags as shall be determined by the college authorities.

That the old gymnasium bell, damag

That the old gymnasium bell, damaged in the recent gymnasium fire, shall be repaired by the student senate and preserved by the school.

The rules were formulated at a joint meeting of the student senate, the interfraternity council, the Pan-Hellenic League and the executive faculty of the college and were approved by Dr. John W. Laird, president of the college. The last one grew out of the charge made after the fire which destroyed the gymnasium that the students made no effort to put out the fire and saved nothing except the piano, around which they gathered and sang popular songs while the building was burning. The student body, it was said, was glad to see the old gymnasium burn as they believed it would hasten the construction of a new one, which was badly needed.

T-T-S

TWO HOURS DELAY

THE dawn of 1904 found the world as close to peace as it had been for many years past. Not a cloud appeared to mar the European sky, for even the War Lord of Germany was marking time, while both America and the Orient were devoting themselves to the most peaceful of pursuits—or so it seemed. True, there was the little matter of the Korean question between Japan and Russia, but the Czar had taken this into his own hands and it was apparent that he was willing to go to any lengths rather than permit his advisers to plunge the Empire into war over such a trivial point as the Japanese interests in Korea. Concession after concession had been made and it appeared to be only a question of time until the desires of the government at St. Petersburg and the exigencies of Japan should both be accomodated by a mutual and entirely amicable understanding.

Even on January 12, when Baron Komura sent his last note to the Czar, the official announcement was made at Tokio that no time limit had been set for the Russian reply and that, in no matter what terms the answer might be couched, there would be further investigations and discussions. So still not a ripple appeared upon the sea of diplomacy.

In the meantime, however, almost completely hidden from the eyes of the world by the high peaks of the Himalaya Mountains, there was progressing into Thibet a tiny expedition under the command of Colonel Younghusband which was destined to have a lasting effect upon the history of the world. The Younghusband expedition consisted of a small body of troops and two cannon, but, coupled with a mysterious delay of two hours in the receipt of an important diplomatic document, lit the fuse which led directly to the Russo-Japanese War.

At the time that Col. Younghusband started into Thibet—November 6, 1903—it was officially declared that the British move was one of peace and designed solely to protect English interests against the spread of Russian influence. In fact, Lord Landsdown stated that "the Government does not approve of this expedition" but, in spite of this, the troops moved northward through the snow, while Russia grew more and more uneasy, even going so far as unofficially to deplore a situation which might force a retaliation by the Empire of the North.

So matters stood on February 1, with Russia and England quarreling mildly about the Thibetan matter and Russia and Japan striving to reach a peaceful settlement of the Korean question. The Czar's answer to the Japanese note, forwarded, with more than usual promptness, was received in London and Paris on February 1 and its tone of conciliation was so plain that peace seemed to be assured. Russia agreed to abandon Korea to the Japanese, to open Manchuria to the consuls of the world and, in other ways, to meet the Mikado's requests more than half way, stipulating only that Japan was not to build any fortresses along the border. On the following day, February 2, Kin; Edward addressed Parliament, expressing satisfaction that the threatened disturbance of peace in the East had been averted, and then, on February 2, the world was amazed to learn that Japan had broken off diplomatic relations with Russia, alleging that the officials at St. Petersburg had delayed too long in replying to the previous Komura note, in spite of the fact that the gist of the Russian reply had been known in Tokio for twenty-four hours. But the official reply itself had not been received.

England, which found itself in the position of either having to repudiate the Younghusband expedition entirely—thus allying itself with Russia—or support the movement in Thibet and thus give its moral assistance to Japan, selected the latter alternative, though at the same time it continued to do everything possible to avert the outbreak of actual war.

However, it was too late and, on February 6, Japan declared war—just two hours before he peace-compelling reply of Russia was delivered!

Who was responsible for this delay in the forwarding of the note from St. Petersburg? Who was it that stirred the ambitions of Japan at a time when peace seemed inevitable? Who was it that so radically altered the feelings of the Japanese officials who had previously de lared that the Komura note did not have to be answered at any set time?

History—the history of written documents and official papers is silent upon these subjects, but there are those who may say that an examination of the transactions on the British Stock Exchange early in 1904 would provide the real answer to these puzzling queries.

"Who Murdered Campbell of Glenure?" will appear next in this series.

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife---Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done.

Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that make their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Was a Total Wreck

Marmion, Ontario—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half-way up. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and gave it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children and do all my housework, milk eight cows and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found the Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends." MRS. HENRY JANER.

Meaford, Ontario—"I was so weak I could hardly do anything and my back seemed the worst. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for women that I thought I would try it. I feel that it did help me. I am looking after my own home and seem quite strong again. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to quite a few friends and you can use my name if you wish to do so." MRS. H. PORTER, Box 449, Meaford, Ont.

Will Answer any Woman Who Writes

Montreal, Quebec—"I was a sufferer for three years, not able to do my housework. My husband was discouraged for I was no better and had had the doctor all this time. I was always sleepy, had no appetite and suffered with my left side. My mother in England recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped my sister, so I have been taking it. I will tell anyone who writes to me what good it has done me. I am now able to do my housework and I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly as I have great hopes for the future." MRS. HENRY MASSON, 84 Henry P.O., Montreal.

SHOVE BACK YOUR WALLS

Space! Can't you just see the cynical smile which curls the lips of the dweller in the city apartment when that word "space" is mentioned. She will probably say, "Don't talk to me about spacious rooms and interiors. It simply can't be done unless one lives in a mansion or in the suburbs."

Por woman! She does not know about the "illusion of space" which may be created in any house, irrespective of the size of its rooms. The whole secret lies in the color scheme and the arrangement of the furniture. Even the very largest of rooms will appear small and crowded if judgment and the artistic sense are not exercised in the furnishing and decoration.

The first essential in a room, whether it is large or small, is harmony. A jarring note will thrust itself upon the attention and seem to occupy more space than it really does. The room may contain a great many objects if the decorator is skilled in getting the thing what stage managers call 'atmosphere."

As a rule, dark colors have the effect of contracting spae. Hence the walls of the small room should be done in light tones. It is important to bear in mind, however, that the walls are backgrounds and as such, should be in harmony with the pictures and furniture to be used. If this fact is not kept in mind, disastrous results are sure to follow.

One woman who had heard that dark room should be filled with "perpetual" sunlight by having the walls done in yellow, forthwith had her living room papered in pale yellow. To her horror she discovered that her pictures and etchings done in dark tones of brown, seemed to jump from the walls. Her furniture, which was darkly stained, seemed hopelesly clumsy and out of place.

After consulting a skilled decorator, the room was done over in tan with undertones of gold. Immediately the furniture seem at home, and the pictures "belonged" to the walls. Harmony had been restored and with it the "illusion of space". The Sunshine was recaptured by means of golden lamp shades, in silken overhangings at the windows and in cushions and drapery.

Woman's "Perfect Curve" Found in the Sole of Her Foot

Scientists Declare It to Be the Long-Sought "Line of Beauty," Rivaled Only by the Symmetry and Loveliness Found in the Graceful Arch of a Horse's Neck

Two Classical Dancers Exhibiting the Natural Beauty of the Foot Arch.

SCIENCE has discovered at last the perfect curve—the ideal "line of beauty."

Of course, it is a "feminine" curve, for even cold science admits the superiority of woman in the realm of beauty. But where was it found?

One might have guessed anything, from the stately torso of the Venus de Milo to the slim leg of the latest dancing star. But who would ever have suspected the truth, that the curve of perfect beauty has been found in the sole of a woman's foot!

The discovery came about in a curious way. During the recent public health exhibition Dr. R. H. Gross was put in charge of a contest to determine what woman had the prettiest foot in New York.

In discussing qualifications, he remarked that "the sole of a perfect feminine foot is arched like the neck of a horse."

An artist who happened to be standing beside him when the conversation took place, was struck by the picturesqueness of the idea, and went immediately to the Metropolitan Museum to make comparisons for himself and to determine whether the statement was scientifically true.

He plotted the curves of many bare feet and many necks of horses from paintings, and afterward compared photographs of horses and barefoot women.

To his amazement he discovered that the statement of Dr. Gross was literally and mathematically true, but he discovered something much more important as well, to wit, that the line in question was the "curve of perfect beauty," which science and art have so often discussed and defined, but which has never been fully understood.

The scientific definition of such a line is "a curve which is always changing its direction, and which can never be measured at any point by a true circle."

By looking at the largest picture on this page, and following the line which is plotted from the curve of the bare female foot, you can see that it fulfils this definition.

The line is graceful, harmonious, ever changing, and no part of it, taken separately, would fit against the curve of a mathematically true circle.

For some reason, which neither science nor art fully understands, the line of the true circle, when broken into parts, is hard and undecorative.

It is only when the curve begins to deviate from the circle that it becomes "alive" and "warm" and beautiful.

By looking at the reproduction of the painting of "Lady Godiva," at the right hand lower corner of this page, you will notice that the "perfect curve" occurs twice—once in the sole of the foot, and again in the neck of the horse, in the left-hand background of the picture.

Artists and scientists are agreed that portions of this "perfect curve" are to be found in other parts of the perfect female figure—notably the lines at the ankle, the calf of the leg, the curve of the hip, the curve of the breast, the rounded forearm, and irresistible.

the line of the back at the waist and the nape of the neck. The next nearest approach to the complete "perfect curve" is to be found in the line which follows the spine, from a point just below the waist to the nape of the neck. But nowhere is it so complete as in the sole of the foot.

The perfect foot, after all, is the natural foot, and the natural foot is never flat. Flat feet are produced by various causes, but science has learned that the chief cause of flat feet is the habit many people have of turning their toes outward when they walk.

Strange as it may seem, the proper way to walk is with the points of the toes turned slightly in—"pigeon-toed," in fact.

A very "pigeon-toed" person is just as awkward as one who turns the toes out widely. The advice to walk with the toes turned in should not be carried to extremes. The perfect walk is almost straight-footed, but not quite, and the slight deviation from the straight line should be inward instead of outward.

This is nature's way. All Indians and most savages walk with the toes turned slightly in, and they seldom if ever have fallen arches or flat feet.

Dr. Taylor, writing in the Medical Journal, says that to walk correctly "the toes should be turned slightly in, with the weight resting on the outside of the foot and the knees held straight as they pass the perpendicular to the rear. The whole foot should come down as a unit and not in sections—neither toes nor the heel should be set down first."

The view that high heels, whether or not the shoes fit properly, produce malformations of the feet, is held by many experts, but their view got a decided jolt at this public health contest, when it was discovered that the prize winners of the perfect foot contest, and practically all of the contestants who had most beautiful and shapely feet, were women who wore high-heeled shoes.

One famous physician who was interested in this contest said:

"If most agitators against high-heeled shoes analyzed their true motives they would find that they want to abolish high heels not because they make a woman's foot uglier, but because they make her foot look more beautiful—because they believe that high heels, like silk stockings and powder and rouge, are inventions of the Devil designed to enhance feminine charm and make it more dangerous

"High heels, like anything else, are bad when carried to extremes, but I think that most of the people who shout against them are more puritanical than they are scientific."

This physician's statements are particularly interesting because a "war" against high heels has been raging for many months past in a number of States in the Union, and in some cases has involved proposed legislation.

A measure was introduced before the Legislature in assembly at Tacoma, Washington, last year, to prohibit the wearing of high heels on the double ground that they were immoral and physically harmful.

Women reformers in Detroit have been agitating for similar legislation in Michigan, and similar bills have been fought over in Utah and Massachusetts.

Statements extravagantly contradictory in their nature have been made by the crusaders on both sides. Dr. R. Kendrick Smith, of Massachusetts, is quoted as saying that the "whole race is slowly dying as the result of high heels," and that "eighty-seven per cent of woman's ills come from wearing high heels and that maternity is vitally affected."

Other physicians declare that the moderately high heel is of negligible harm if harmful at all, and that "more women who have worn low heels have foot troubles than those whose fancy runs to moderately high heels."

The girl who wants to trip through life with the certainty that wherever she goes she is stepping on "the line of perfect beauty" and that her own most lovely curve is in the sole of her foot, may with reasonable esthetic safety wear high heels if she wants to, but she must beware of shoes that do not fit.

It is an absolutely certain fact which no one disputes that tight shoes, too pointed shoes, and shoes which do not conform to the shape of the individual foot, cause bunions, corns, calluses, broken arches and deformed feet.

So the woman who wants to keep the foot of a Diana and preserve the "line of perfect beauty," may apparently wear high or low heels as she pleases, but must wear shoes that do not pinch.

ALL SPORTS INCLUDING FOOTBALL ENCOURAGED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Fostered For the Many, and Majority of Pupils Are Not Merely Rooters.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of Friday, April 7, appears an article entitled "Lacrosse in Public Schools-Why Not?" which contains statements that are to say the least misleading. Your article distinctly gives the impression that sport as now carried on in the public schools are intended for the few and the vast maority of pupils are rooters only. That is distinctly erroneous. Does the writer think that no games are played except those scheduled in the papers on which perhaps twenty to thirty boys participate during a season? Does he think that those are the only boys who play at school and that the rest of the boys are mere onlookers? Wherever here are ample playgrounds there are several teams in each school and those who play in the scheduled games are really graduates as it were of these various teams. All the boys have a chance to play the inter-school games simply weed out the less efficint from the more efficint and serve as a stimulous to the weak players to become strong.

The writer gives the impression that no football is played at all. That is not true. Let me give him some facts concerning the Prince of Wales school in which I am. Last fall eight teams played regular scheduled games after four each night while the playing season lasted. All boys have a chance to kick the ball at recesses. We keep two footballs on the go all the time in the fall. There have been no inter-school scheduled games in football due largely to the ever-shortening days in the fall and the uncertainity of the weather. Our games of course must be played after four o'clock on school days. There are games between schools nevertheless

Last winter six hockey teams played regular scheduled games on the Prince of Wales rink after school. It was from these teams that the team representing the Prince of Wales which played in the school league was chosen.

Now why do we not take up lacrosse more seriously There are different reasons. A boy who is not ambitious to join a game of baseball with others will not join in a game of lacrosse either. To introduce lacrosse means that the same boys who now play baseball would also be the lacrosse players. Boys who like one kind of sport are certain to like other varieties. Last spring some lacrosse enthusiasts got some public school boys to play the game. Everyone that I know of was already a baseball player and playing in the league. One might ask why were not the so-called "rooters" selected to be lacrosse players. As the lacrosse-playing season comes at the same time as the baseball season it therefore becomes a matter of selecting between games. All teachers recognize that lacrosse has merits but baseball is the general public and among the boys more easily controlled and less dangerous to athe grounds as in door balls can be used at recess for practice and the elimination of danger is very important with several hundred pupils on a playground There seems therefore no good reason for displacing baseball by lacrosse since there is little chance of playing both games concurrently and making both a success. To introduce lacrosse to the exclusion of baseball would lead I fear to fewer players and more "rooters."

There is another item that must not be overlooked. It has been very difficult to finance public schools of late. We get a grant from the schoolboard for sports, for which we are very thankful indeed, as it is of great assistance. Just the same the games of football, hockey and baseball, each in their respective seasons cost very much more than the grant. This is a strong factor in deciding the teachers against the introduction of a game that must be played, partially at least, at the expense of another one.

Now I would not have the general public think that the teachers have some spite against lacrosse. That is not the case at all. The whole resolved itself into a matter of expediency. Grounds are not sufficient for both games to be played at the same time at any school; the same boys who now play baseball would become lacrosse players; the boy who won't play baseball won't play lacrosse either there is additional expense with little compensation; and there is the greater difficulty of controlling and refereeing lacrosse matches. As to the character building, both games have merits and deficits. Baseball seems to have got precedence over lacrosse because people like it better; if lacrosse was much desired there would not b such difficulty n introducing it; people play the games they like best.

I hope that I have made it clear that there is no prejudice among teachers against lacrosse and that those who are trying to promote the game will see the difficulties in the way which might easily have ben explained to them had they come to us. At a recent meeting to discuss sports for the spring, Dr. Sutton was to have been present to have discussed lacrosse with the teachers. He was not there. What right then have those interested in lacrosse to insert articles in the newspaper when their representative did not keep his engagement with the teachers?

I do hope that Mr. Dick still wishes to present some footballs. I did not know anything about his offer but sincerely hope that in the distribution he will not forget the Prince of Wales school. He will be received with great enthusiasm if he brings along a ball and his reception at any other school would be equally enthusiastic.

While this letter is written on my own intiative, it is really a summary of the ideas expressed amongst the teachers at various times and some of the teachers know its contents.

Hoping that this letter will be inserted in a similiar position to the other article, I remain,

Yours truly,
F. E. KERR.

New York Players Do Not Agree With Their Owner That Cleveland Club Will Not Be Dangerous During Coming Season.

BY BILLY EVANS.

In making their pre-season predictions most of the baseball experts express the belief on the fact that the Cleveland club isn't going to be very dangerous the coming season.

They base their belief on the fact that the pitching will falter. There also seems to be a feeling thaot Speaker is having trouble with his legs, despite report from the Cleveland training camp to the contrary.

If Speaker should be unable to play regularly there is no question but that the club would lose of its punch. Speaker's presence is very necessary for success.

Col. Ruppert, part owner of the New York Yankees, generally picked to repeat, was recently quoted as saying thaf Washington and St. Louis would furnish more opposition for his club than Cleveland.

That is the opinion of one of the owners of the Yankees. However, it seems that the New York players do not entertain the same opinion

Recently a straw vote taken among the Yankees as to which was the team they would have to beat in order to again win the American League pennant. Cleveland, St. Louis and Washington were the three clubs included in the balloting.

A majority of the players picked Cleveland as the most dangerous club. St. Louis was a second with Washington third.

It was the consensus of the New York players that all three contenders lacked the consistent pitching the Yankees feel they are certain to get.

While most of the Yankees feel that McInnis will greatly strengthen the infield, yet they believe Smith will be missed in the outfield.

It so happens that against New York Smith has always been a Babe Ruth, so it is only natural for the Yankee players to feel that he will be greatly missed. To a man they the glad that he is with Boston, not Cleveland, particularly Bob Shawkey.

Despite all the critics' and owners' opinions the Yankees regard Cleveland as the most dangerous contender.

Look Him Over

The following is clipped from The Port Hope Guide and tells its own story:

Oshawa warts all particulars about Port Hopes 'pitcher from Jersey City. Listen to this from the Oshawa Reformer:—

"Port Hope Central Leaguers have the fans guessing at last. Inquiries are being made on every hand as to who the Jersey City Skeeter is who has located in Sandy Lockington's settlement. It is rumoured that he is a high class twirler and should fit in nicely with the Port Hope crew. An annoucement by the Guide regarding the new man would be quite in order now"

Well, the Jersey City man is 5 ft. 11 in. tall, weighs 182 pounds; rather attractive looking; dark eyes, dark hair, brush cut. He can whip them over the plate with so much speed that the old ball looks like a pea. If our Oshawa friends are desirious of any more information about our Jersey City import then he will furnish it in person on May 24th when our team makes its bow in Oshawa.

Next to Baseball, Fishing

During the spring training in the south, golfing and fishing are in most favor with the ball players.

A great many athletes are golfers. Most of them are fishermen. The state of Florida, where a number of the teams trained, offers ideal fishing.

Meadows and Smith now include some fishing stories in their sport repertoire that overshadow any of their baseball lore.

THE BIG BOSS

Lacrosse Then and Now

In recent editions of several Canadian papers have been printed group pictures of lacrosse teams in England, One can hardly help expressing admiration at the nifty suits these chaps are wearing, and the fine way in which they expose their knees and arms to the butchers who are always to be found on the lacrosse teams of this country.

To-day the average lacrosse player in Canada wears quite a set of armor. 'Twas not tons a few years ago. When the lads of Western Ontario took to the game about twenty-five years ago, they used to get rigged out in a pair of short pants, a light sort of a sweater, and some of the more particular had a pair of gloves now and then. But there were bare arms and bare knuckles, and bare legs, and, oh boy, what fine targets they did make, Many a lacrosse player used to nurse a sore and bruised thumb all through the season. Many of the old-timers preferred the bare hide. They claimed that on a hot day when they had a couple of clashes, and were cut open a bit and had some sand and dirt rubbed into the cuts, they could play a better game than they ever hoped to do in fair weather. It must have been in this state of mind that the grand old saying got its start, "Never hit twice where once will do."

We can well recall lacrosse games in Forest, Exeter, Parkhill, Stratford, St. Marys and other towns around here where the only man on the team who had any extra padding would be when an overly-thoughtful goalkeeper would wear a couple of sweaters or a pair of mitts much the same as a man wears in a harvest field.

Then later on, it must have been when the pros started to get into lacrosse, the armament appeared. First a strip of horse collar padding up and down the arms. Then some more of the same material across the shoulders. Then a pair of gloves that a nine-inch shell couldn't make a scratch on. Followed by a headgear that carried a pad in the top that wouldn't cause the hair of the player to be mussed up if the grandstand topled over on top of him.

So there you have the lacrosse player of to-day, armed and decorated so that it takes a mighty good player to figure out where he can hit him to put him out of the game quick.

No doubt these thinly clad Englishmen will come to it some time or other, at least they will if they ever come over the briny and start to play games in this country. Then surely will come the scramble for the tin hats.—London Advertiser.

DEMPSEY SAILS FOR ENGLAND TO-DAY.

Continues the Custom of Heavyweight Champs—Not Much in Way of Fighting Expected.

NEW YORK, April 11.—In his invasion of Europe, Jack Dempsey, who sails on the Aquitania to-day, will be emulating the habit which most of the American world heavyweight champions have become addicted to since John L. Sullivan took England by storm.

The Dempsey party will land at Southampton and proceed to London by rail to look around, Jack Kearns, the champoin's manager, has no definite plans, but from a perusal of the passports the group is carrying it appears that none of the numerous lands of Europe is likely to be missed.

At his hotel yesterday, witnessing the packing of his wardrobe, the world's heavyweight champion said he is more apprehensive of sea-sickness than of any fighting that may be offered. Manager Kearns, Joe Benajmin, Pacific Coast lightweight, and friend of Dempsey, and Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's secretary, make up the party.

John L. Sullivan, James J. Jeffries, and Bob Fitzsimmons were heavyweight champions who made similar trips, though for Fitzsimmons, born in Wales, it was a return journey. Sullivan created the precedent. None of these trips is remembered for the important ring bouts they produced.

One of the earliest animals to be domesticated was the camel.

GOLF HELPS THE BATTING IN BASEBALL

As a Result,—Babe Ruth Expects to Equal, If Not Surpass, His Home Run Record.

TRAINS THE EYE.

CHICAGO, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Golf helps the baseball batting averages, according to leading hitters, and Babe Ruth, of the New York Americans thinks he may be able this year to equal, or even surpass, his home run record of 59 by reason of the alertness of vision gained on the golf links.

Carl Mays also expects to raise his batting average from .343, having reached that ratio from .320 since he took to the links between diamond contests. Other high average batsmen agree that, while the golf stroke is different from that with the baseball bat, especially in that the baseball is moving rapidly in an uncertain line and the golf swing is at a stationary ball less than two inches in diameter with a small club head on an elongated shaft, it trains the eye to a greater keenness to meet the wiles of the expert pitcher.

In golf the player must stand still, and, although he twists the body and rotates the hips, his eye must be glued on the ball so that his head cannot be moved during the upward and downward swing if he hopes to get a long, true shot. In addition to the immobility of stance and head, the rightly-timed golf shot must be played with all the rest of the body and the arms relaxed between these two pivots. Even the grip must not be too tight, and there must be a snap of the wrists at the impact of the club with the ball.

In baseball, the swing is at a rapidly-moving, considerably larger ball with a bat that has a longer hitting surface and which is thicker than a golf club, although having a rounded face. Many batters step into the ball and grasping the bat tenaciously strike with all their body as well as their arms. There is little of the rather slow and deliberate back swing of golf, but the forward stroke in some ways resembles the well-timed sweep of the golf club, according to men who have played both games.

Lack of practices appears to be the main reason why Ruth and other star batters do not play par golf; but they do not play a "duffer" game of golf.

Although he has played golf regularly only two years, Babe Ruth has driven 250 yards many times, and once, he declared, he sent a golf ball 325 yards, which is better than the average of such players as Francis Ouimet and Evans. In fact the record is barely more than 400 yards. On the diamond Ruth's longest hit was 507 feet, or 169 yards.

Carl Mays, the star pitcher of the New York Americans, who has been playing golf only a little more than a year, has made a mid-iron shot of 273 yards. He accomplished the shot last winter on his home course at Springfield, Mo.

Waite Hoyt, another Yankee pitcher, drives a longer golf ball than any other baseball player, his friends say. Ty Cobb, premier batter of America for several seasons, is rather erratic at golf, although he hits a fairly long ball on the links, and is accurate at approaching.

As regards score, the baseball golfers do not so badly, for Ruth boasts a score of 76, unofficial, on a Los Angeles course, and a number of rounds in 80. His average was about 90, eighteen holes, he said.

Mays' memory of his scores places his lowest at 73, which would be par on many courses, although his average is considerably higher.

"The home run swing does not bother my golf stroke," said Ruth, "except insofar as it keeps me off the golf links by its obsession during the baseball season."

Woman Hits 'Em Like Ruth

The baseball used in the majors last season was a mighty lively article, but it is a joke when compared to the little golf ball.

One day last summer Babe Ruth hit a fast one and set it far up into the right-center bleachers a the Polo grounds.

It was a terrific wallop. The fans in New York are still talking about it. The ball travelled 460 feet. Of course there is no telling how far it. The ball travelled 460 feet. Of the bleachers been in the way.

In golf drives of 460 feet are mere piker efforts.

Miss Glenna Collett, 20-year old golfer, who has been creating such a stir in the south, is shown in the insert of the picture.

Miss Collett has been averaging from 250 to 275 yards in practice rounds on Florida courses. On one occasion her drive totalled 307 yards or 921 feet, twice the distance of Ruth's record drive at the Polo Grounds.

What Billy Evans Says

John J. McGraw, who ...ver went to college, has a strong preference for college ball players. Other managers in the major leagues are acquiring the same preference.

Years ago a man coming into baseball from the college diamond was under a severe handicap; today he has an advantage.

There is something about a college player that distinguishes him from the graduate of the sand lots; several things, in fact.

There is an eagerness about the collegian, a willingness and earnestness that does not appear in the recruit of sand-lot training.

Professional ball players, after a few years in the minor leagues, run to type. This type is easily distinguished.

... of all the former sand-lotter has learned to disguise his weaknesses. This is an act of self-defense, the law of the sand lot. If he realizes his faults he does not set about to correct them, but to cover them.

COLLEGE PLAYER IS ANXIOUS TO CORRECT HIS FAULTS.

Here the college-bred player differs. He has been trained at school to seek knowledge. He has been impressed with his faults. He has been made to feel that there is a great deal in the world that he still has to learn and that he is merely developing. He has been schooled to ask questions and seek information. This is the college type, a direct aithesis of the sand-lotter. The collegian under a shrewd major league manager is like soft clay in a sculptor's hands. He can be modeled. The professional of three or four years' experience is already molded, hardened. He has been demolishd, softened and remade.

Managers can develop collegians, model them after a correct standard. The collegian is willing and eager to learn, understands, because of the training he has received at college, and is quick to grasp instructions. He rarely has to be told twice what to do.

MANAGERS LIKE THE SPIRIT ALL COLLEGE ATHLETES SHOW.

Collegians are more attentive at practice than sand-lot recruits. There is apparently more ambition in the collegians than in the average recruit. The collegian has enthusiasm for his work and is aggressive; few non collegians are.

The spirit of play is taught in the college follows the collegian into professional baseball. He goes into the thing with a wholesome delight and enthusiasm and managers like that.

More and more, managers favor the collegian. and it is only fair to the student body that colleges soon take some steps by which a student will be enabled to earn his tuition and board playing baseball during the summer months without ruining his amateur standing. This is contrary to the amateur code, but in accordance with common sense and just reasoning.

Lacrosse

Patrons Overlooked.

Some of the city league teams should have lined up in their lists or officers, Mr. E. S. Martin, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal and Mr. Jas. Skinner, the local uptown C.P.R. agent Both these gentlemen are old lacrosse players. and not so very old at that but they belonged to the generation in the heyday of Canada's national game and they played it because it appealed to them, and not for money. Those were the days of the simon-pure amateurs when every man bought his own stick and outfit, and that is virtually the basis upon which the game is being revived. Some latitude is being followed in propagating the local league in which it is likely that some of the youngsters may be supplied with sticks. For the present, however, no provision has been made for any such distribution, but each of the city league clubs are taking up subscriptions from which the eqipment of their teams will perhaps be partly met .

Mr. Martin learned the game in about Brantford and Brampton and played many a game with the famous Tuscororas of the nearby reserve: C.. the Pacific Coast he was later indentified with the New West minister team. The exactions of the extensive business of the Bank of Montreal in this city did not prevent Mr. Martin from taking some what more than a passing interest in sports, and any progress lacrosse makes will doubtless please him as much as it will please the many other old timers in Peterboro.

Mr. Skinner broke into the game at Owen Sound and played on the old intermediate champions. Last year he and Mr. C. S. Cummer. manager of the local branch of the Merchants Bank, carried a lot of the load of helping the game through its most trying year To Mr. Skinner must be given much of the credit of the inspiration that tided the intermediate team through a trying season and set a good example for the juniors. Johnnie Sutherland was the special guiding star of the juniors. And the results are amply justifying their faith in the boys who were attracted to it.

Stathconas and Athletics have already received their supply of youth's sticks for the city league gamse.

CRESCENTS COME IN.

South-end Team for City League Oraganized with M. H. Halpin President.

The lacrosse team that will represent the south ward in the City League chose the name "Crescents" at a meeting held last night in the basement of the church of the Sacred Heart. The colors they selected a week ago, are red and white. A lot of the boys were present and the old guard produced M. H. Halpin, A. J. Rose, R. J. Begley and Jack Creighon Dr. Sutton, president of the parent lacrosse Club, dropped in for the latter part of the meeting, gave a short review of the preliminary work that has been done this season and also urged the boys to remember the welfare of the game in their play. He especially hoped that the same fine sprit that bound the unior O.A.L.A. team together last year would be as strong as ever, and also that a good juvenile team would be rounded up for the district games.

The officers elected were—
Patrons—Mayor Taylor. Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Rev. J. F. Chapman, H. B. Rye. W. Grady, E G Taylor and G. H. Popham.
Hon. Pres.—J. J Howden.

Stop "doing" rehumatism.
It's pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in 50 requires internal treatment. AT THE GRAND.

A MASTERPIECE.

In many respects William H. Kibble's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the most important of the season's productions. In the first place it serves to exploit the masterpieces of two of Europe's noted artists, i. e. Ralph Brunt's elaborate painting entitled "The Celestial City" and Martz Verion's picture of the New Orleans slave mart; and secondly it has brought back into prominence the memories of that grand old lady, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and serves to reveal the beautiful lessons really to be learned by careful attention. Second to the Holy Book does "Uncle Tom's Cabin" rank as a sacred instructor. The pulpit has endorsed it as a moral teacher worthy of mankind's support, while the Board of Education in many of the large cities has encouraged scholars in witnessing the worthy dramatization of the story that was instrumental in making our country religious, free and happy. Like a poorly composed book, there are many versions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" now being forced upon the public under embossed covering, which are detrimental to the greatest degree. They are usually short-lived, for the people of today are not to be hoodwinked as easily as those of not so many years ago. It is a known act that Wm. H. Kibble possesses the original version of Mrs. Stowe's story. and that it has been unanimously accepted by the press, pulpit and public of America and England. The Kibble revival will be brought to the Grand Theatre, Saturday, April 15, matinee and night.

AT THE REGENT.

CAMERA SKILL IN "SILK HOSIERY" IS AMAZING.

Exceptional Photography Feature of Enid Bennett's New Photoplay.

The amazing skill of the artist's and artisans of the modern motion picture studio is evidenced in the unusual prologue, as well as in a number of other scenes, in "Silk Hosiery," starring Enid Bennett, which will be shown at the Regent Theatre to-day.

In the prologue, Enid Bennett, in the role of Marjorie Bowen, a modist's model, is seen day-dreaming amid huge volumes of romance and fiction. The books are six feet high and by means of clever photography, the characters materialize from between the covers, and trip before Miss Bennett like romantic heroes of old. The exaggerated size of the books, the diminutive characters, and the life-sized figure of Miss Bennett appearing on the same film make an interesting study of contrast, and a still more interesting achievement of photography.

"Silk Hosiery," written by Frank M. Dazey, was directed by Fred. Niblo, under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol was well filled last evening for a pleasing programme that includes a chapter from the Ruth Roland serial, a very funny comedy, a feature on the style of the modern problem play, and a soprano vocalist from Toronto.

Gloria Swanston has some wonderful gowns in "Her Husband's Trademark," in which, as Lois Berkley, she unknowingly helps her husband, a Wall street adventurer, to carry out his money-making schemes. Luxurious New York settings alternate with backgrounds staged in a Mexican hacienda, where a dusky swain serenades his sweetheart to the sofe measures of "La Paloma," played very effectively by the orchestra. Here, in the moonlit patio, Lois wanders with Allan, the millionaire oil-owner whom her husband desires to fleece, and here comes later General Lopez, the Mexican bandit. A fierce hand-to-hand fight through the house follows, with a thrilling escape by the two from pursuing riders.

Jimmy Aubrey has an exceptionally funny comedy in "A Charmed Life," where lovely damsels, a Bowery dancing joint, a snake, and a delirious novel, complicate life through several fun-producing reels.

"White Eagle" sustains the interest of its audiences, with its innumerable thrills. The masked rider appears once more in this allotment, and rescues the heroine in the nick of time. An added attraction for this week at the Capitol is the singer, Flora Shaw. With an attractive personality and pleasing soprano voice, this vocalist rendered two pretty numbers last evening.

ROSE OF WASHINGTON SQUARE.

It is not often that the author of a musical comedy makes the leading female role so appealing he has to change the name of his play and call it after his heroine, but that is just what Thos. Hardin did in writing the book. "Rose of Washington Square," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House next Easter Monday, matinee and night.

Mr. Hardin originally called the big musical success "Everybody's Sweetheart," but when the show opened in Washington previous to its metropolitan engagement it became Rose of Washington Square, which is the nick-name for Cynthia Hickman in the play.

Theatre-goers everywhere are evidencing the same enthusiasm that obtained in New York and the production is playing to capacity nightly. It has a charm all of its own, quite as distinctive as "Irene," "Sally" or "Mary" but in a different setting. Mr. Hardin has gone to the North Carolina mountains for his inspiration and the first act shows the exterior of a poverty stricken mountaineer's home near Asheville, N.C., a rugged but beautiful scene. The unusually clever and sensible lyrics are by Hugo Myers and the tuneful rollicking score by Leo Edwards. Rose of Washington Square is all a musicad comedy should be.

AT THE ROYAL.

"From the Manger to the Cross," shown last night and repeated tonight at the Royal, is something absolutely unique in motion pictures. This wonderful story in pictures has never been excelled in the history of motion photography in its reverential handling of a sacred subject, in its scenic fidelity, nor in its careful characterisation of the leading parts. This picture was one of the hardest to produce that actors ever engaged in, as every little detail in locations, costumes, "atmosphere," deportment and action had to be carefully studied and as faithfully presented as was consistent with a subject so dear to the hearts of all Christian people. From start to finish of this long, sacred picture there is not one single suggestion of levity or an actor's desire for "holding the spotlight." The picture is simply the life of Christ, as noted in the title, told in art instead of words. Every foot of this marvellous picture was "shot" right at the places made famous by the New Testament. Some of the world's most profound thinkers, most famous theologians, most deeply read historians, and the most noted costumieres were engaged before and during the production to ensure absolute perfections in detail. The picture covers nearly every incident in the life of Christ as told in the Gospels, including his progress from infancy to the end of his worldly career.

This picture should be seen by everyone who has read or heard the New Testament. It is a wonderful sermon, as well as an intensely interesting work of art.

Then there is a very interesting photodrama, by O. Henry, called "The Church with the Overhung Wheel." A pretty story that shows a photodrama can be deeply interesting without one single love scene. Again, the pictures of Rideau Lakes is an interesting example of the beauties of Canadian scenery.

"Outwitting the Timber Wolves" is a very clever picture, showing how two lads succeed in trapping and catching alive that curse of the settler, a big timber wolf.

There are two good comedies, "The Matinee Idol" and Larry Semon in "Home Sweet Home."

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND HANDS

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters.

My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

BIBLE STUDY EXAMINATIONS FOR "Y." JUNIORS SATURDAY

On Saturday of this week the Bible Study Examinations of the Y.M.C.A. Junior Department will be held in the Association building. The examination is open to all members of the department and covers the course which has been covered during the winter season "What manner of man is this." Interest is quite keen on the part of the Junior members and many are out to capture the special recognition which goes to all candidates averaging 60 per cent. The paper has been set locally and for this year the local papers will not be entered in the Mills Trophy Competition as will probably be the program for the next session.

OBITUARY

OLIVE DUNKLEY.

Olive Dunkley, one and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunkley, 525 Romaine Street, died at 6.30 p.m. yesterday. The funeral took place at 11 a.m. to-day to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. W. E. Morrow, of Park Street Baptist Church, officiating.

BERT MASHON.

The death took place suddenly in Toronto last evening of Bert Mashon, manufacturer of that city. Mr. Mashon was the husband of Lizzie Rombough, formerly a resident of East City, but who has been residing in Toronto for some years. Mr. and Mrs. Mashon have been visitors to Peterborough on a great many occasions, the guests of Miss Morgan, Mark Street.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW.

Eugene Rex, eldest son of Mrs. C. Rex, 624 Union street, died at nine a.m. yesterday, after a lingering illness. Deceased was twenty-four years of age and was born in this city. A wide circle of friends will learn with regret of his death. His father, Charles Rex, died last June.

He is survived by his wife and two small children, also his mother, one brother Donald, and two sisters, Mrs. Coley of Toronto, Mrs. Thurston of Bobcaygeon.

The funeral will take place Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. J. R. Webb of Murray street Baptist church, officiating.

MRS. LABELLE LETELLIER.

Yesterday afternoon, 10th April, at 3 o'clock, there passed away at 27 Crescent Street, one of Peterborough's oldest and most highly respected residents, in the person of Mrs. LaBelle Letellier, at the age of 68 years.

Owing to the fact that she belonged to one of the first French families to come to Peterborough, she had formed a host of friends, who sincerely sympathise with the family in their bereavement. Her even temper, her generous spirit, and her faithfulness to all who knew her, has left for her naught but tender memories in the parish where she lived.

She was predeceased fifteen years ago by her husband, Achille Letellier, but is survived by one son, Doctor Adolphe Letellier, Seneca Falls, U.S.A., also two brothers, Louis and John, both of Peterborough.

The funeral takes place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock to the Sacred Heart Church, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for burial.

COSTLY POSTAGE STAMP.

PARIS, April 11.— (Canadian Press.)— A one-cent postage stamp recently sold for 300,000 francs here. It was from the collection of M. Ferrari de la Renautiers which was placed on sale and was a British Guiana stamp issued in 1856. The price set a world's record for a single stamp. Six U.S. stamps issued in 1846 sold for an average of nearly 84,000 francs each.

ANCHORED THE WHISKEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Customs inspectors have discovered another manner of hiding whiskey on incoming ships. They have located and confiscated 224 bottles of Scotch whiskey tied to the anchor of the steamship Melvilel Dollar.

RUSSIANS RETURN HOME.

SEBEZH, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—One hundred and forty-nine Russians from America, 43 of whom are accompanied by their wives and children, comprising the first contingent of more than 2,000 from Canada and the United States who plan to return to their native country, have just had their first view of their new promised land under Sovietism, which they left under Czardom. They are waiting instructions from Moscow as to where they may settle.

They brought 400 tons of agricultural equipment, which will be used in teaching peasants modern soil cultivation. The unit will be given land which will be virtually theirs, and it is expected they will organize a Soviet wherever Moscow officials decide to send them, which will be in some section where land is plentiful.

The unit landed at Libau and passed through Latvia, several Soviet officials accompanying the travellers to their destination. There were several hours of delay at the frontier, after which the new-comers passed the border, where they were most cordially greeted by officials from Moscow. They then started on their journey, full of anticipation for their hopes for Utopia.

CONSISTORY POSTPONED

ROME, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—According to a reliable Vatican source the consistory which was to have been held this month or in May will be postponed until Autumn. In fact it is added, Pope Pius has decided to appoint by brief his successor as Archbishop of Milan. This appointment would have been made at the consistory if it were held in the near future.

Reports that a Papal Encyclical was to be delivered at the consistory are described as "unfounded" as the Pontiff has not communicated his intentions on the subject to anybody, not even Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State.

AMERICAN INTERESTS FLEECE FISHERMEN.

OTTAWA, April 11. — (Canadian Press). — W. J. Ward, Progressive member for Dauphin, Manitoba, complained in the House of Commons last night that fishermen on Lake Winnipeg and Lake Minedosa were at the mercy of American interest, who "fleeced them at both ends."

NEW CATTLE MARKET.

BUENOS AIRES April 11.—(Associated Press,)— Cattle and other live stock will be bought and sold for future delivery at a market which a newly organized "Exchange for the Quotation of Argentine Products" proposes to establish in Buenos Aires. There will also be, however, spot quotations representing cash sales of real animals.

TO BOMB RIOTERS.

LONDON, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—The Rome police, according to a recent announcement, have decided to use bombs against riotous crowds. The authorities declare the bombs, which are a new invention, are harmless and will simply produce a blinding flash, enabling the police to handle the crowds more easily.

The entire Italian press has strongly condemned the plan, pointing out the likelihood of panics resulting from the explosions, and demanding the use of other methods, such as firemen's hose.

A very pleasant and informal social evening was given last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Routley, Stewart Street, being the second of a series held under the auspices of the Flower Committee of Murray Street Baptist Church. The evening was very successful, with an attendance of over 125 people, and was made enjoyable by a varied musical programme. Mrs. F. Hills, Misses Connie Lewis and Grace Webber gave instrumental selections; vocal solos were rendered by Misses Lillian Eastwood, Florence Scott and Evelyn Bentley; and readings by Mrs. J. A. Morgan, Misses Mabel Darling, and Marjorie Ingall. Mrs. Routley and Mrs. J. R. Webb received the guests, with Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle and Mrs. J. B. LEADERS IN INDIA PAID BY GERMANS

But Natives Are Not Really Disloyal to Britain — Textile Boycott Complete.

LOSS OF TRADE

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 12. — (Canadian Press).—That the boycott on English cotton goods in India is complete and that British textile manufacturers are now turning their attention towards the development of trade with China was the statement of H. E. Beney, of London, who arrived in Vancouver yesterday morning on the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company's liner "Empress of Asia" after an extended tour to the Orient. While the natives of India are not disloyal and were most keen to pay their respects to the Prince of Wales on his recent visit there, they are absolutely under the rule of their leaders, many of whom are paid by German interests, stated Mr. Beney.

No British Goods.

No British cotton goods have been bought by them for some time past, as the natives are now weaving their own material by hand and by looms imported from Germany, and it is feared that the Lancashire mills have lost their trade for a considerable time at any rate.

The enormous field in China hitherto undeveloped, however, will more than repay the British manufacturers for their loss of trade with India, and they are now exerting every effort to increase this business. Mr. Beney suggests that Canadian manufacturers would do well to pay more attention to these.

EASTER SERVICE AT LOCAL Y. W. C. A.

A brief Easter service was held at the Y.W.C.A. last evening, from 7 o'clock to 7.30. The meeting was opened with a hymn, followed by prayer and reading by Rev. Harold W. Young, who gave an eloquent and helpful discourse on "The Meaning of the Cross." Taking its threefold significance (1) as a direct result of sin, (2) its example of absolute loyalty to duty, (3) its wonderful demonstration of Christian love, Mr. Young enlarged on the application of its lesson to our own daily lives. The meeting closed with prayer and benediction.

CLAIM EAST IS CANADA'S BEST ASSET

Peterboro' U. F. Y. P. O. Win Decision on This Contention From Lakefield in Debate.

POINTS AT ISSUE

The Peterborough branch of the United Farm Young People of Ontario held quite a lively meeting in their rooms on Simcoe Street last evening.

In the absence of the chairman, Mr. Harvey Webber filled the chair very acceptably. The meeting was opened, as usual, with the singing of "O Canada," and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting. This was followed by the contest, "A Floral Wedding," which tested the extent of one's knowledge of flowers.

Debating Contest.

The main feature of the programme was a debate between Lakefield U.F.Y.P.O. and Peterborough U.F.Y.P.O. Mr. Dick Graham and Mr. Fred. Crowe proved to be debaters of considerable merit, and debated ably in the affirmative for Lakefield. Mr. Carl Wilson and Mr. James Petrie, for Peterborough, upheld the negative side, and produced many facts and figures to prove their points. The topic was: "Resolved that Western Canada (west of Ontario) has contributed more to the prosperity of the Dominion during the last fifty years than has Eastern Canada."

The Affirmative.

The affirmative side first spoke of the time in the reign of King Edward, when, in England, the West was proclaimed the granary of the world. This, the debater alleged, started the flow of immigration to Canada. But the immigrants did not stay just along the coast of Eastern Canada. They pushed their way into Canada, and straight through to the golden West.

A few of their points were as follows:

At the Chicago Fair the West took 60 per cent. of the prizes, while the East only took 40 per cent.

Tropical fruits are grown in the West, besides the vast quantities of apples, peaches and other fruits. Tropical fruits do not grow in Eastern Canada.

The lure of the West, caused men to build the C.P.R. and the C.N.R They lived in the East, but they glimpsed a golden future for the West. And it was this that caused them to invest their money and their money and their energies in building these railways, which have built up both the East and the West. This building up of the West caused the East to develop.

In the fishing industry British Columbia has exceeded Nova Scotia since 1905. The East catches her fish in waters that are not included in the Dominion of Canada: Namely off the coasts of Newfoundland Ontario cannot compare with Manitoba in the rapidity wih which it has developed. The West to-day, is a land of prosperity, with a climate unexcelled, in any part of the world. The mineral springs lure the Easterners, and in the mountains, conditions exist that create a second Switzerland.

Population Increasing

The population of the West is increasing so that no comparison with the East is possible.

The Golden West

The second speaker for the affirmative hailed Western Canada, as the golden West. The land of gold, golden wheat, and golden sunsets. Canada is the second country, in the world, in the export of wheat. Most of this is grown in the West, and for this, the St. Lawrence Waterway is being built, so that cost of production will be lessened. The West also ships livestock in

TREASURE SEEKERS STORM HISTORIC MANOR TO UNCOVER PIRATE GOLD

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 12.—The lust for gold!

It has led an army of treasure seekers, from all over the country, to the isolated plantation of Miss Elizabeth Brandon Stanton, eight miles from Natchez.

For in the vicinity of Windy Hill Manor, the Stanton home, where Aaron Burr was concealed following his fatal duel with Alexander Hamilton back in 1807, a treasure was buried by the pirate and robber gangs who played a thrilling part in the early history of Mississippi.

Miss Stanton is historian of the Colonial Dames of America, and is widely known as an authoress. Her family lived at the Manor for years.

Guards on Duty.

Guards are now on duty to prevent the treasure from being removed without being shared by Miss Stanton.

Recently Miss Stanton, who with her sister, are the only white persons on the estate, announced, through a New Orleans newspaper, that she would share fifty-fifty with any reliable treasure seeker who could locate the long buried treasure.

And treasure seekers came. Also a flood of mail inquiries. Oil prospectors from Louisiana and Texas soon were at work. A northern Ohioan agreed to bring on machinery for treasure hunting.

Miss Stanton finally requested protection from Sheriff P. W. Mulvihill, when one band of men squatted on her land and worked by torch at night, digging great holes in the ground near dagger carved trees. They had refused to leave at Miss Stanton's request.

It is believed this band dug up something of value before they were driven off. Servants report seeing them carry away a cask.

Arrow Is Key.

Charts, showing where the long-hidden treasure is hidden, are believed to be in existence, but never have been found.

About a mile from the Stanton home, and carved in the bark of an old oak tree, is a dagger pointing downward, with an inscription reading, "It is here." Below this is some unintelligible carving, apparently cipher.

And so, with the aid of these tips, treasure seekers are tapping the soil surrounding Windy Hill Manor.

Wire Briefs

GENOA, April 12. — (Canadian Press).—The Russian Soviet delegation to the Economic Conference is staggered and amazed at the sweeping political changes in the Soviet government suggested in the report of the Allied experts on Russia, now before the sub-commission entrusted with formulating plans for Russian reconstruction. Lenine Trotzky, Chitcherin and other Bolshevik leaders have repeatedly said that the recognition of Russia's old debts would be the subject for negotiations looking for recognition of the Soviet Republic.

He declares that the Government has an equal right for their support with those who are opposed to the Government in the Legislature, whether they be members of the Grain Growers' Association or not.

GOOD WORK BY LOCAL CHILDREN'S AID GROWS

Twenty-One Little Ones in Shelter During March—Four Taken In, Six Sent Out.

A NEW MEMBER.

The Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afteroon in the board room at the Chamber of Commerce.

The matron's report showed a total of 21 children in the Shelter during the month of March, with 4 brought in and 6 sent out, 1 child with chicken pox and 1 with tuberculosis. The agent's report gave applications for children, 13; returned to parents (not wards) 2; children made wards, 2.

There was considerable discussion arising out of the report with regard to the children affected with contagious diseases. The child with chicken-pox is almost well, but the tubercular case, described as "a tiny tot," a little girl whose condition is very serious, has now been removed from the Shelter and placed under the care of her father, who has promised to look after her properly. On the advice of Dr. King, steps will be taken to re-paint and re-paper the room where she was confined. In the opinion of several of the members, a very necesary convenience at the Shelter, is an isolated room for the contagious cases which occur from time to time. One of the ladies referred also the lack of playroom accommodation for the children within the house, where they are compelled, by reason of lack of space, to play in the wash-room, one child recently having cut its head severely on the sharp edge of the electric washer.

Help Support Infant.

The consideration of the case of an infant at Apsley, whose mother is dead and whose father is unable to care for it, was reported on by Mr. Malott. A home has been found for the baby, with people who are willing to look after it in the proper manner, for the sum of $7.50 per month for six months, and $10 per month thereafter for the balance of two years' time. The father will pay $2.50 of this amount for the first six months, and $5 per month for the remaining period. The Children's Aid Society was asked to contribute the balance of $5 monthly for the two years, it being considered undesirable by the Board to take infants of less than two years into the Shelter. It was decided to contribute $5 per month for six months, and then get a report on the case. Mr. Malott said that the child would be under the supervision of the Children's Aid Society, and of Mr. Hall, the Methodist missionary at Apsley.

Rotarp Club Helps.

The Rotary Club has expressed its desire to assist in the case of Everett Carruthers, a small ward of the Shelter, whose feet are badly deformed, the front part of both being entirely lacking, with only a heel on either foot. Mr. Powell reported that shoes with cork fronts to remedy this defect were of little use, as they

THE PASSOVER

The Feast of Unleavened Bread or the Passover, commences at sundown to-night, and will be observed by the Hebrews of this city in a fitting manner.

During the Passover, which lasts a week, they will abstain from eating leaven in apy form, and in its stead will use Matzoth. The significance of the Passover is felt by all Jews.

"It is the anniversary of the birth of the Jewish nation. You know there are some Jews religious and some not so religious, but they all celebrate the Feast. It is a national holiday," said a prominent member of the congregation to-day.

In the week's holiuay there are four impotrant occasions, the first two nights and the last two. These are known as 'Seder" nights. Their intent is to unite memoers of a household about the festive board, and there read together the ritual compiled for the occasion, and known as the "Haggadoh." This liturgical composition recites the chief events of the exodus of the Children of Israel from Egypt, with many a quaint song and story.

Passover reaches back to remote antiquity, when it was observed by the Hebrew tribes in the dawn of history as an agricultural festival incident to spring. At an early period in the history of these tribes they attained a degree of self-consciousness and associated historical events with their career. The exodus from Egyptian bondage was commemorated in this Pesach feast. An entirely new content was invested in the feast, which became a message of freedom and a memorial of deliverance from slavery and oppression.

IRISH CONFERENCE.

DUBLIN, April 12 (Canadian Press). — The people of Dublin in general have received the news of the proposed conference between the Collins and DeValera factions with feelings of relief, as there had been much apprehension of sinister developments at the Easter anniversary of the Sinn Fein Rebellion of 1916.

Miss Marion O. Drought, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Drought, 1411 Howard avenue, was married to James A. Catchpole, formerly of Peterboro, Ont., last evening at their newly furnished home, 1135 Summit Place, to be occupied by the young couple. Rev. Albert E. Legg, D. D., pastor of the Central M. E. church, performed the ceremony. Witnessed by the members of the immediate family and friends of the bride and groom.

A. Mesley Asphyxiated At the Local Gas Plant

Was Making Some Repairs in the Plant When He Was Overcome—Was Not Missed for Some Time.

FIRST FATALITY

Alfred Mesley, employed at the gas works as a machinist and well-known in the city through his affiliation with the Trades and Labour Council and his ready support of every movement for the common welfare, was asphyxiated this morning while at work in the gas purifier. His body was found by Robert Morrison, assistant fireman about 11 a.m. Mr. Mesley was last seen around the plant about nine o'clock His disappearance was not noted, however, for sometime and the employees were not uneasy as Mr. Mesley in making repairs in all parts of the plant was often not seen for hours. Mr. Morrison, however, after he had finished his lunch at 11 o'clock, resolved he would make a thorough search for him. He found the body on the floor of the purifier with the head laying part way over the open pit.

Beside the body were the tools Mr. Mesley had been using in repairing a valve in connection with the purifying process. When overcome he had evidently been putting a packing in to close up the open space. It is presumed by the employees that in making his rounds this morning he discovered the leak in the valve and started in to repair it. He was seen going into the room between eight and nine o'clock so that he may have lain in a unconscious condition on the floor for sometime, as the purifier is in a separate building at the rear of the main building on the second floor and is visited only when repairs are being made or work done.

Signs of Life

The air in the purifying room was unusually charged with gas but not to such an extent that a person would immediately be suffocated on entering. It was thought, however that working as he was directly over the leak, Mr. Mesley would be more subject to asphyxiation. When found by Mr. Morrison the body seemed lifeless but Dr. Malcolm McCulloch arriving in a few minutes pronounced a slight heart action. First aid was rendered and the pulmotor was used but to no avail. After a half-hour's vain efforts to revive the heart action, Dr. McCulloch pronounced life extinct.

This morning's fatal accident was the first tragedy at the gas works, Superintendent Harry Beal said this morning. Mr. Mesley had beeen employed by the Hydro-electric Power Commission, about two years. He was a stationary engineer by trade and general all-round handy man. He worked for a number of years at the Quaker Oats company and at the time of the disastrous fire in December, 1916, narrowly escaped death in the flames.

Mr. Mesley was born in Trenton. He had resided in the city upwards of twenty years, living in East City most of that time. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Wyatt, and Marjory at home and one son Milton, 12 years old. Deceased was connected with the Masonic Lodge and was a Methodist in religion. He was active in labour circles, serving as President of the Trades and Labour Council in 1921. Public movements of a worthy nature received his full support and in this connection it is recalled that he was greatly interested in the Old Home week planned to be held here this year but finally abandoned.

Leaders To Hold Peace Gathering

BELFAST, Ireland, April 12 (Canadian Press). — The peace conference between the leaders of the Republicans and the Free State will open in Dublin tomorrow afternoon, it was announced to-day.

Sir Basil Brooke, commanding the Fermanagh Specials, crossed into Free State territory at Black Lion, near Belcoor, and conferred with the rival leader.

The interview was harmonious, and they agreed to withdraw their forces a short distance from the border line to avoid a clash.

Any infringement of the pact will be severely punished.

A truce was declared yesterday between the Ulster Special Constables and the Free State troops, which have been in menacing proximity along the Fermanagh border between the North and South of Ireland.

Lloyd George Will Propose A New Scheme

GENOA, April 12 (Canadian Press). — Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain is expected to propose at the earliest opportunity, probably at to-morrow's sitting of the Commission No. One of the Economic Conference a pact or undertaking that no nation shall attack another, thus abolishing the possibility of war for the duration of the pact, Reuters correspondent to-day says he has learned.

BREWING HOME-MADE BEER

How many people in this city are brewing their own beer? The Examiner asked this question of W. H. Buller, Collector of Inland Revenue to-day, and he said that at least one hundred persons had sent in notice of their intention to do so. At any rate a great number of notices have been sent in to Robert Hall, Collector of Customs, during the last year or so and it is a fact that some housewives in the city are becoming quite proficient in the brewer's art.

At a recent meeting attended by an Examiner representative, a man who was speaking in defence of those who love a schooner, shouted at the top of his voice, "I'm making it and I don't care who knows it. You can do it, too." At this frank admission the meeting cheered and it is a safe bet that afterwards the candid one was besieged with requests for his recipe.

In some cases it is claimed neighbours have objected to having a minature brewery next door and complaints have been made to law enforcement officers "about a still." Investigation has invariably revealed that the people who revelled in the industry so obnoxious to people on the street, were protected by law.

So long as one sends in a notice to the nearest Collector of Customs the way is clear for anyone to try their hand at producing something stronger than two and one-half per cent. Section 191 of Chapter 51, of the Inland Revenue Act covers the home-brewer in these words, "Utensils used by any person solely for the purpose of brewing beer for the use of himself and his family and not for sale are exempt from the provisions of this Act providing due notice of the possession thereof and of his intention of using them for the above mentioned purpose is given to the nearest Collector or to the Department at Ottawa; and beer so brewed shall not be liable to any duty under this Act, nor shall any license be required by any person so brewing for his own and his family's use."

POLICE PICKED UP COAL DUST TWINS

Although they did their best to efface the marks of travel, P. C. Carey early this morning, at the C. P. R. Station, felt it his duty to take charge of Richard Cooke and Albert Kirby, who have been wintering in the Capital, and only came west to-day. They rode on the rear of the train, and, according to the police, were regular coal dust twins. This morning they told Magistrate O. A. Langley, when they were charged with vagrancy, that they came here to work. The Police Chief said, judging by the tools he found on them, they came here to work at breaking into houses. Cooke had pliers, a screw driver and other tools useful in petty burglaries, so the Chief asked for a remand to look up their records. This was granted.

MINORITY TO OPPOSE THE TARIFF BILL

The United States Senate Group Says It Will Increase the Cost of Living.

LINES OF ATTACK

(By Carl D. Groat—United Press).

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The new Tariff Bill will be fought by the minority as a "gold brick" to the farmer, as a sure source of raising the cost of living, as the highest tariff ever imposed and as a deterrent to the needed world trade rather than a help to American business.

It will be fought by Senator Lafollette as the "wildest tariff" ever written.

It will be fought by the House as "a breach of faith" on the part of the Senate Finance Committee Republicans, who put in foreign valuation after promising the Ways and Means Committee to use American valuation.

This is the outline of some of the cyclonic disturbance boiling up today in Congress in the wake of the introduction of the Senate bill.

Quite aside from these general lines of attack there will be a sniping line within the Republican army itself, for many members are disgruntled at the rates for one reason or another. The "tariff bloc" highly gratified with most of the rates, especially on farm products, has already started a move for higher vegetable oil duties because of competition with home animal fats and butter.

Many schedules are due for a big outburst. Hides and shoes will be the centre of the largest attack.

The minority fight on the measure is taking shape, following a preliminary conference of democratic members of the Finance Committee.

The United Press was informed afterward that the tariff experts employed by that group regard the bill as the highest ever written.

Senator Simmons gave some indications of the minority plan of attack when he declared that, in his opinion, "the bill will most certainly greatly increase the cost of living."

BROTHER CONFESSES.

MONTREAL, April 12 (Canadian Press). — Found guilty on a serious charge on 28th September, 1920, Emile Lorain was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

This morning his brother Joseph surrendered himself to the police, and confessed he had committed the crime. Joseph Lorain was committed to jail pending an inquiry into his confession.

Motor Melodies

Vol. I. No. 12 PETERBORO, APRIL 12th EXTRA

PETERBOROUGH, April 12.—All arrangements for the MOTOR SHOW are running as smoothly as if set to music, like the rhythmic purr of your motor when taking an easy grade.

Every inch of space is already taken, and more could easily be used if only it was available. The Dealers are planning Exhibits that would do credit to the Motor Show of some City many times the size of Peterborough, and there are in addition SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS that alone would be worth more than the Price of Admission.

A Regular Programme of Vocal and Instrumental Music will be given Each Evening, and you may also see your own section of country in miniature, in the shape of the Kawartha Lake District Exhibit, which was put on at the New Motor Show, and has been brought on for the express purpose of being shown here.

At the MOTOR SHOW you will spend one of the most enjoyable Evenings of the Season, and you will also be helping some Pale Little Cripple that has never had a fair show to make the grade toward future Health and Happiness.

BANKS'

Overland 1920 Coupe Bargain

HIGHWAYS SUPERINTENDENT'S OPINION.

Mr. Fred McDougall Regina, writes: "I purchased one of your Overland Model Fours from the Ryan Motors, Ltd., on 1st May, 1920, and I am pleased to be able to write you this letter telling you that I have had the very best of service from this car.

"I have driven the car over nine thousand miles, and I feel that I am safe in saying to you that the car has averaged over twenty-six miles to the gallon.

"I have had exceptional mileage out of the tires, having run them over nine thousand miles.

"I have no hesitation in recommending this car as a car of economy, easy riding, and roadability. My work has been hard as I am District Superintendent of Highways, and I am using this car in a country where road conditions are not at all ideal."

ASKS HOUSE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CHIPPAWA

Resolution Is Presented Naming Nine Members to Serve and Raises a Storm of Debate.

FOR AND AGAINST.

TORONTO, April 12— The sensation of the house yesterday afternoon was a resolution offered by Mr. Ferguson, calling for a commission of the house to investigate the expenditures on the Chippawa Canal project.

Mr. Ferguson's resolution after citing the charges made against the hydro electric commission by Hon. D.. Carmichael, minister without portfolio, asked that a committee of the house be appointed 'to inquire into and report to this house be appointed 2 upon the estimates and expenditures made in respect to the Chippawa Power development, such committee to be composed of Hon. Manning Doherty, Hon. F. C. Biggs; W. A. Crockett; C. D. Sewell, W. H. Casselman, R. Cooper, W. R. N. Sinclair W. F.. Nickle and A. C. Lewis.

The amendment expressed the confidence of the house that the government would conduct a full, impartial and expert investigation into the estimates and expenditures, relative to Chippawa, of the Hydro Electric power commission and a report as to facts and findings should be submitted to the legislature.

Mr. Ferguson asked the Premier if the report was true that a commission to probe Chippawa had already been appointed, Mr. Drury replying that it was not true..

The Conservative leader proceeded to criticise Prime Minister for what he termed a "sharp turn" in fact a complete "handspring" in regard to the investigation of the Chippawa project, first being strongly in favor of a committee of the house and so urgent that it be under way without any delay, to be followed by an equally firm stand against a house committee and in favor of a royal commission. "I would like to know who got the ear of the Prime Minister and caused him to change his mind?"

Mr. Ferguson claimed that the committee named in his resolution was the one actually selected by the Prime Minister with the addition of the member from Dundas. He argued that a committee of the house should investigate this question. "The people's representatives should deal with the people's affairs. The Premier's attitude was right when he put himself on record in favor of a committee of members of this house. The Premier's attitude to-day is wrong in placing the inquiry into this great enterprise, the largest public ownership enterprise in the world into the hands of a commission hand-picked by himself." He said he was convinced that the commission the Prime Minister would appoint would let no opportunity slip to take a slap at public ownership.

The Chippawa accounts had been placed in the public accounts as brought down to the house and the government's proposal would indicate that the public accounts could not be probed by the unprejudiced open minds of laymen of the legislature, but the whole question was to become a controversy between scientific experts. He thought the best way to get the members of the house acquainted with hydro matters was to have them sit in an investigation. The report in any case has to come before the legislature for disposal and they would be in a much better position to deal with it after hearing the proceedings of the investigation. He did not believe ten per cent. of the would read the evidence if it were placed before a Royal Commission.. "I venture to say I am the only man in this house who has read all the evidence submitted before the Timber inquiry. If there is a Royal Commission in this instance I hope the government will consent to have the evidence printed so that I might have a precedent for having the evidence before the timber commission printed."

Mr. Ferguson claimed that the government's present stand at the Chippawa probe had bee laid before the government supporters and they had been whipped into line to vote for the government's policy. He said Premier Drury had been offered a position at Ottawa and had refused only on the understanding that his followers in the house would give him united and consistent support. He was making them live up to their promise on this occasion.

Hon. Manning Doherty in moving the amendment said he did not think a true friend of hydro and public ownership in the house would support Mr. Ferguson's resolution. "It is because we are true friends of hydro, true friends of public ownership and because we are eager to re-establish the confidence of the people in this great project in which this government has

RECEPTION FOR LARKIN HELD AT CANADIAN CLUB

Sir Hamar Greenwood, Native of Whitby, Presided at First Public Appearance of the High Commissioner.

DUKE OF YORK.

LONDON, April 12.—(Canadian Pres.)— Hon. Peter C. Larkin, the new High Commissioner for Canada in London, was given a splendid reception at the Canada Club dinner here last night. The dinner had been arranged as an occasion for the High Commissioner to make his first public appearance in his official capacity, and it was a great success. Mr. Larkin was deeply touched by the good will and spontaneity of the greeting extended to him. Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, who was born at Whitby, Ontario, very happily presided at the banquet. His Royal Highness the Duke of York was one of the guests.

The Duke of York, responding to the toast to the Royal Family, said: "There are many aspects of my brother's work which I do not altogether envy but some of his experiences I confess arouse in me that emotion. I have in mind the remarkable visits he paid to the sister Dominions, particularly to Canada. I say particularly to Canada because Canada is the only Dominion I have so far had the good fortune to visit. I had the good fortune after the armistice to visit Canada overseas when I was entertained by General Currie at his headquarters. The most vivid recollection of that visit remaining with me is not the spirit of conquered Germany nor the triumph of the British Empire, but the wonderful hospitality of my hosts and the the amazing quantity of apples imported from Canada of which we ate large numbers.

"What I have seen of your great country fills me with a desire to see not only more of it but all of it at no very distant date, and to know as intimately as possible the nations making up the comprehensive brotherhood of the British Empire."

Churchill Absent.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, in proposing the health of Mr. Larkin, said that Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the Colonies, had asked him to express his sincere regret that he was unable to be present. Mr. Churchill, added the chairman, had already met the new high commissioner. Continuing Sir Hamar said:

"Mr. Larkin comes to London to speak for the Dominion of Canada in the councils of the British Commonwealth. Even in my time the position of high commissioner has year by year advanced in importance and power. It always strikes me that too much importance is perhaps attached to the representatives of foreign countries and too little to the representatives of the great dominions. Mr. Larkin's presence here to-night makes me hope the time is not far distant when the Canada club will welcome at their table the first high commissioner of the Free State of Ireland. The British government has made peace with Ireland; it is for Irishmen to make peace in Ireland."

Rt. Hon. Edward Shortt, Home Secretary, supporting the toast in a genial speech, admitted that he had not visited any of the Dominions.

"When I hear you say 'shame'," he added, "I reply that I am a son of a British country vicarage where there is any amount of fun but no money and when you go to the bar you have either no money and plenty of leisure or plenty of briefs and no leisure."

Larkin Responds.

Hon. Mr. Larkin, responding to the warm words of welcome from the chairman and hearty applause of the gathering, expressed his gratitude at the manner in which he had been received. He also took occasion to mention the pleasure it had given him to learn of the friendly feelings manifested by the Canadians resident in England upon hearing of his appointment as High Commissioner.

The position of Canada after the World War might well be envied by any other nation, Mr. Larkin said. Touching on the Canadian representation in London, the High Commissioner said he was rejoiced to see so many provincial agents-general working together here harmoniously. What affected one Province affected the whole Dominion, he added. "We will not allow personal am-

RUSSIAN PLAN IS ANNOUNCED AT GENO CONVENTION--COMMITTEES

GEOA. April 12. Canadian Press. —The Economic Conference's Commission on Russia is presided over by Premier Facta of Italy, the commission on Finance is headed by a British delegate, the commission on Economics by a French representative, and the commission on Transport by a Belgian delegate.

Japan declined to preside over any commission on the ground of being so distant from Europe that she prefers to let the work of the commissions to be directed by Europeans. The various commissions yesterday decided that when dealing with questions affecting countries not represented on the personnel of the commissions, representatives of those countries will be invited to participate.

The scheme which the Russians will submit to the conference, according to the Exchange Telegraph correspondent, is divided into three parts, first, liquidation of past debts. second, resumption of relations with Europe; third, re-establishment of Russian production.

It is agreed that the Soviets will recognize fully the debts of the old regime, but it is pointed out that it will be utterly impossible to pay them. The debt to France alone is 14,000,000.000 gold roubles; hence a moratorium will be necessary. If the allies demand indemnity for war damages from Russia. Russia must demand indemnity for damages cased by the Kolchak, Denikin and Wrangel offensives.

The Russian delegates recognized that to secure foreign capital, Russia must insure prop r relations and ample guarantees. The dele gates, therefore, will submit to the Conference a new judicial code which they have prepared, covering foreign capital and property and individual rights in Russia. Russia does not intend to grant unlimited concessions of her soil or the great elementary industries which belong to the state, but will widen the field of the State rights in granting concessions in mines, factories, forests and cultivatable land under full legal guarantees. which are now being being prepared, including provision for settling disputes arising between Russians and foreigners.

The plan provides for similar concessions and guarantees for the resumption of commerce, the State, however, retaining control of its monopoly in combustibles and raw materials. But the entire State control, even in this, is reducible as normal relations are increased. The plan further provides for disarmament provided it is met by reciprocal efforts on the part of oth r States.

BARTHON GIVES FRANCE'S STAND ON DISARMAMENT

NEW CHALLENGER HAS BEEN LAUNCHED

ESSEX, Mass., April 12.—(Canadian Press.)— The trim schooner Henry Ford, built to fish out of Gloucester and as a possible challenger for the North Atlantic Fishermen's Cup, now held by the Canadian Bluenose, was launched here yesterday.

The Henry Ford is somewhat smaller than the schooners Puritan and Mayflower, which may eb her competitors for the right to challenge the Canadian defender. She measures 138 feet, eight inches, over all and has a 26-foot beam with a 12-foot depth of hold.

Refuses to Discuss the Question Where Neutral Countries and Former Enemies Are Arbiters.

HORROR OF WAR.

GENOA, April 12 (Canadian Press). — Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation to the Conference, in an interview yesterday regarding his verbal tut on Monday with George Chitcherin, head of the Rusisan delegation, over the question of discussing disarmament, declared that France would not discuss disarmament "at a conference where neutral countries, and especially her former enemies, will act as arbiters."

"If France discusses disarmament," he asserted, "it will be with her Allies and friends."

The correspondent asked M. Barthou for a statement of France's position, to which he replied:

"Let us have no misunderstandings about France's attitude. It was voiced clearly by me at the outset of the Conference, and I hope our American friends will not misinterpret France's position. France cannot discuss disarmament at Genoa, because it occupies no place on the agenda.

"The agenda of the Conference was definitely fixed at Cannes, which likewise excluded questions like treaties and reparations. It would be pure madness to deduce that France is militaristic, as some of her enemies allege, for if any country has learned the horror of war, it is France, which suffered srom the war more than any other nation, and which now finds her land impoverished and the flower of her intellectual manhood removed. She is burdened by taxes higher than any victorious nation has ever borne in history."

M. Barthou said the Washington

YOUTH WILL STAND TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

Geo. McConnell, 18 Years Old, Accused of Stealing $4,915 From Bank.

BILLS FOUND.

MONTREAL, April 12.— (Canadian Press.)—George McConnell, 18 years old, was yesterday committed to stand trial on a charge of stealing $4,915 from the Royal Bank of Canada. He was arrested April 1, following an alleged attempt to obtain bonds from the local stock-broking firm of Oswald and Drinkwater. A roll of bank bills was found under the counter of the broker's office and several thousand dollars was later discovered in a belt about McConnell's body.

AGNES MUST NOT DESERT OTTAWA NOW

Elected to Represent the People, Not to Run About Country Making Speeches

MAKES STATEMENT.

OTTAWA, April 12.—Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., has decided not to attend the pan-American congress of women to be held in Baltimore from April 20 to 29

"I could not conscientiously absent myself from parliament for almost two weeks during my first session. I was elected to represent Southeast Grey, not to run about the country making speeches, much as I should like to have the benefit of meeting the women who will participate in the Baltimore gathering", Miss MacPhail said yesterday.

"I am leaving for my fathers farm this evening and shall spend the whole Easter vacation there with my parents. I am really very tired. Being a member of the House of Commons is a strenuous life."

Lady Astor member of the British House of Commons, will be resent at the Baltimore gathering. In addition to sending credentials the organizers have written Miss MacPhail several letters urging her to address the representative women who will be there.

STRANGE TALES TOLD OF EFFECT HOUSE SHORTAGE

Serious Situation Exists in London, Where It Is Almost Impossible to Get Accommodation.

SOME STORIES.

LONDON, April 12.— (Canadian Press.) — Remarkable stories concerning the house shortage in London were told yesterday in the Bow St. County Court during the hearing of a batch of possession summonses.

One man said he had packed his family in one room while he slept in a shed in the garden throughout the winter.

A woman said it was now customary to read the obituary notices and then enquire at the house whether the death meant accommodation for a lodger.

Another man told the court he had been married two years, but had never lived with his wife because his landlady refused to have her in the house.

A new employment for commercial travellers was revealed, namely seeking houses and rooms for clients on commission.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

ST. CATHARINES, April 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Chas. and Jessie Ford, brother and sister, aged 25 and 18 years respectively, were before Judge Livingstone at Welland on conviction of incest. Charles will go to Kingston for 5 years, but the girl, although sentenced to two years, will be held in Welland for several weeks because of her condition. Their home is at Ridgeway.

GENERAL WILSON'S CONDITION IS FAIR.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 12. —(Canadian Press.)—The condition of Major General B. W. Wilson, of Montreal, ill with pneumonia at a hotel here, was reported "fair" last night. He is under the care of three physicians.

SITUATION IN MANITOBA IS UNCERTAIN

United Farmers Have No Official Leader and the Liberal Ranks Are Split Over Norris.

JUNE ELECTION.

WINNIPEG, April 12 (Canadian Press). — The Manitoba political situation is full of uncertainties, and it is improbable that a settled basis of leadership and responsibility will be reached before the Provincial election in late June or early July.

The Norris Government, which secured power originally through a victory of the Liberal Party, fought the 1920 elections as the Norris Party, without use or the word "Liberal." There is a Provincial Liberal organisation which promises to be heard from in the present campaign, and it has been suggested that there is a movement in foot which seeks to have Premier Norris contest as the Liberal Provincial leader the campaign which is just opening. Should this not be accomplished, there is a movement on foot which the general situation will be complicated further by the nomination of Liberal candidates in opposition to the Norris administration, but political observers claim that as such a course would be to the advantage of the organised farmers, some way around it is likely to be found. Mr. Norris' leadership is not disputed, and while some people think that he will go to the Federal House if his Government is defeated there seems to be no doubt that he will lead his party personally in the present campaign.

The general opinion is that the United Farmers of manitoba will not chose a political leader—who would possibly be the next Premier —until the election s over. There is no machinery in existence for making such a selection, and while many names have been mentioned, there is no means of making certain that any one of them would be acceptable to the general membership.

After the election, the successful and defeated Farmer candidates will confer on the leadership, as they did in Alberta last year under similar circumstances.

C. H. Burnell, President of the United Farmers, and his executive will give a general direction to the campaign consistent with the complete autonomy possessed by each constituency organisation. If the leadership falls among those whose names are being discussed, most generally it will go to Robert Forke, M.P., for Brandon; Norman Lambert Secretary of the Council of Agriculture; President Bracken, of the Manitoba Agriculture College; or George F. Chipman editor of the Grain Growers' Guide.

There is an inclination to discount rumours of a possible fusion or coalition of the Norris and Farmer parties before the election; and at the same time a feeling that if the election returns several minority groups, Farmer and Liberals may get together for a working alliance for the prevention of the experiences of the past two sessions.

RAILWAY STATEMENT IS PRESENTED TO THE HOUSE

CANADA'S GREATEST PADRE RECOVERING.

QUEBEC. April 12.—(Canadian Press)—Rev. Canon Scott, famous padre of the Canadian expedtionary force in the great war, was operated on for appendicitis at the Jeffery Hale hospital Monday. It was reported that the operation was successful and that the padre is doing very well.

FIELDING TABLES CHARTERED BANK SHAREHOLDERS

In Interests of Economy Lists Are Not Printed — Done Up in Three Bundles.

MUCH CURIOSITY.

OTTAWA, April 12.— (Canadian Press.)— When the House opened yesterday afternoon the eyes of nearly all of the members were attracted to the desk of Hon. W. S. Fielding, where three huge bundles done up in brown paper were reposing. Various guesses as to the contents of the bundles were set at rest when Mr. Fielding rose to table the list of shareholders of the chartered banks in Canada, together with a statement of unclaimed balances in the chartered banks and also a statement on the Quebec Savings Bank. The three bundles were then placed on the table by one of the pages. Mr. Fielding explained that until a few years ago, it was the practice to have these papers printed for the use of Parliament. Then, the Government decided in the interests of economy to dispense with this practice. "As I do not wish to depart from economy," said Mr. Fielding, "I am following the practice of tabling the papers in this form."

Hon. W. C. Kennedy Shows An Improvement of $20,000,000 Over Cost of Operation in 1920.

ONE CONTROL.

OTTAWA, April 12 (Canadian Press). — It was a crowded and closely attentive House which followed the Hon. W. C. Kennedy, Minister of Railways, as he presented his first railway budget yesterday.

His story of the year's operations was told in two chapters: In the first, he dealt with the Canadian National Lines; in the second, with the Grand Trunk. Of the National lines, he had a more optimistic statement to present than was presented by the Minister of Railways last year.

In operation, there had been an improvement of twenty million dollars in comparison with the year previous, and that despite the slump in trade and decline in traffic. But fixed charges were higher, bringing the total deficit on the National lines to $56,673,935 as contrasted with $67,505,059 in 1920.

Now comes the Grand Trunk. The Grand Trunk has been under the control of the Dominion Government since last May, although operated by a board distinct from that of the Canadian National Lines. And to the loss of the Canadian National has to be added a net loss including fixed charges) of $15,672,299 on the Grand Trunk or a total loss on the Canadian National and Grand Trunk together of $72,346,254. In 1920, the loss on the two systems combined was $74,032,302.

Briefly, the financial standing of the Grand Trunk alone in the last two years may be summarised as follows:

	1921	1920
Fixed Charges	$19,245,583	$14,025,637
Less Net Income	3,573,284	7,498,394
Net Loss	15,672,299	6,527,243

When Will There Be A Disarmament of Dining Tables?

Suppose everybody would recognize the fact that there's no gain but much loss in keeping up hostilities with the stomach!

Suppose the ancient aggravation of improper food on indignant digestive organs should be settled with guarantees of sensible diet and tranquil digestion!

The saving would be beyond all possibility of counting.

Yet millions go on declaring war on the stomach and accepting war in return—loading up on starchy, heavy, unbalanced and highly-seasoned food at breakfast or lunch—and wondering why comfort, happiness and efficiency are out of reach.

Grape-Nuts makes a friend of the taste and an ally of the stomach.

There's a charm and satisfaction to this delicious food which prompts appetite to say, "There's a meal!" and digestion to answer, "Thank goodness, here's peace at last!"

Grape-Nuts is the perfected nutriment of wheat and malted barley—sweet, crisp, and wonderfully nourishing. It digests quickly, and provides the necessary elements, including the vital mineral salts, for body, nerve and brain.

Order Grape-Nuts from your grocer today, and let a delighted taste pass a treaty of peace along to an enthusiastic digestion and assimilation.

THE CHIPPAWA PROBE.

Mr. Tooms, M.P., remarks that The Examiner qualifies as a quick-change artist because, while opposed to the appointment of a Minister of Power, it has expressed a belief that the probe into the Chippawa project might better be entrusted to a committee of the Legislature than to a separate commission. There is a lot of difference between the two, however. The creation of a Department of Power brings the whole Hydro question permanently into politics. That result does not follow the investigation by the Legislature of charges made by a member of a commission appointed by the Legislature itself. The Examiner favours an inquiry by the Legislature, because it believes that such a method would be quicker, more economical and at least equally satisfactory in other respects. The amount of money spent by the Drury Government on commissions has already reached a surprisingly large total, and the Chippawa probe need not add another huge sum to that total.

A DESIRABLE IMPROVEMENT.

The proposed opening at Cricket Place in East City through to Mark street seems a step in the right direction. Streets with a dead end are a detriment to a community, and sooner or later there is always an agitation to have them opened up. In the case of Cricket Place, it is wisdom on the part of the City Council to undertake this improvement now before the land required for the extension of the street is built upon, and the cost of the enterprise is thereby greatly increased. The converting of this street into a through thoroughfare will not only benefit the citizens who live on Cricket Place, but will be of value to the whole district. It will be remembered that this improvement was one of the planks in the platform of the Fifth Ward Ratepayers' Society when that organization was in existence. The members believed that the extension of Cricket Place was a forward step that should have been undertaken long ago. They did not succeed at that time in securing the carrying out of the scheme, but are doubtless glad to know that it is being undertaken now. There are fortunately not many "dead ends" streets in Peterborough, and it is desirable that this one should be altered now before the cost of the work becomes prohibitive. It is an improvement that will be appreciated by the residents of the northern half of the ward across the river.

THE PROVINCIAL POLICE.

Major-General Victor Williams, well known in Peterborough, who has been appointed Commissioner of the Provincial Police of Ontario, is undertaking his duties in a proper spirit, and it is to be hoped that he will be given a free hand to carry out the reforms he doubtless has in mind and to convert the Provincial force into the organization it should be. "I'm determined that the Provincial Police will be a credit to the Province, and every man in it will have to be proud to belong to the force," declares General Williams, and the people of Ontario will wish him success in his endeavour, applauding at the same time his statement that the efficiency of a police force consists not so much in the number of arrests they make as in the amount of crime they prevent. Unless The Examiner is very much mistaken in its ideas about General Williams, the Provincial force is due for a thorough re-organization and for a new conception of discipline and the meaning of esprit de corps. At the same time it is likely that the use of "spotters" in connection with Ontario Temperance Act cases will be to a great extent discontinued, with General Williams at the head of the Provincial Police. It is difficult to imagine him countenancing such cattle in connection with the work of his department, and there will be much disappointment if there is not a remarkable change in this respect under the new regime.

PARK VANDALS.

The common carelessness of a number of indifferent citizens has resulted in much damage being done in Victoria Park, and it begins to look as if the City Council will have to follow the custom adopted some years ago of closing the park during the winter months and keeping it closed until the ground is thoroughly dry in the spring. The grass along both sides of one of the main paths through the park has been completely destroyed by being tramped on by people who persisted in taking a short cut and straying off the path whenever the latter was too wet or too muddy to be travelled over in comfort. It has been necessary, as a result, to re-seed this whole strip. Seeding has also had to be resorted to to efface a straggling path worn across the middle of the lawn. All this damage is the result of a thoughtless device to save a few steps, and the blame is not to be laid entirely upon the children, for many of the foot-marks are those of adults who might surely be expected to exercise common sense. For the sake of the appearance of this beauty spot, it might be as well to prosecute a few of the offenders as a warning to the public that every citizen has a responsibility in regard to the care of the city's property. And if this does not have the desired effect, the old barbed wire barriers should be placed in position around Victoria Park during the winter and until it is safe to entrust it to the mercy of the community in the spring.

WELL, WHY NOT?

Agnes MacPhail has been out of the House of Commons for a few days, but in the meantime has been addressing a meeting at Peterborough, says the London Advertiser.

Unless she has been misquoted—and nearly every person claims such to be the case now when it is embarrassing to face the facts—she made some statements that would set the heather on fire were she to repeat them in the House.

No. 1—There are some men sitting in the Progressive Party who are the best Grits and Tories you ever saw. The sooner you get rid of them the better.

Now, then, let's change the scene to the floor of the House, and let the member for S.-E. Grey arise in her front seat and make this charge.

Honourable members would say: Names! Names!

Then would she turn and point the finger here, there, and thither, and say: You, and you, and you.

The House needs a little dynamite like this now and then.

Miss MacPhail proclaims her admiration for the Progressive leader, Hon T. A. Crerar, by stating that "of all the great men in Canada, I think J J. Morrison is the greatest."

By all means transfer some of this heroic candour to the floor of the Ottawa House. The place is sadly in need of it.

CANADA AND THE CONFERENCE.

Canada is profoundly interested in the success of the Genoa Conference. Our recovery of pre-war prosperity depends, like that of the United States, to no small degree upon the rate of recovery in Europe. The American Government is forbidden by the narrow nationalism of certain sections of its population—which exercises a political power out of all proportion to their knowledge of the issues involved—to take any real part in this conference which means so much in dollars and cents to its own people; but Canada will be at the conference table and will be able to contribute to the common store such intelligence and recuperative force as it may possess.

Lloyd George will have one great advantage in dealing with Poincare instead of Briand. Briand always made any bargains which seemed wise to him with the uneasy sense that the Chauvinist Poincare would attack them as "betrayals of France." Poincare was the ultra-Nationalist operating on the "right" wing of the Moderate Briand. But now that Poincare is himself the responsible representative of France, he can bargain with a free conscience; for there is no important public man—Tardieu being a negligible quantity—who is likely to assail him from the "right" as a betrayer of the Republic.

No one need be surprised if Poincare goes farther toward conciliation than Briand ever dared to do. The imperious condition of distressed Europe will drive him, as it is driving all European statesmen, with an accelerated speed toward compromise, co-operation and common action. What Europeans have to realize is that they are a good deal more than three men in the same leaky boat, not to speak of the dog—whether we think the latter ill-favored canine is a daschund or a Russian wolf-hound. The boat may have national compartments, but they are leaking badly. None of them can be allowed to suffer complete submergence with entire safety to the rest.

* * * *

The French have the clearest minds in Europe, if not in the world. They have accustomed themselves for centuries to think without blinkers. Their reward is a clarity of vision toward whatever subjects they take up. And there never was an occasion in their history when this wonderful power to see things whole and plain could stand them in better stead than today.

As Lloyd George has intimated, France will make a capital mistake if she permits herself to appear before the angry eyes of the British workman as the chief obstacle to his getting a job. The British unemployed are being told daily that their trouble is due to the inability of Continental Europe to purchase and pay for the goods they otherwise might be hired to make. And this is the simple truth. A large part of the old market of British industry is today without money enough to keep food in its stomach.

The reason why the British Government has persisted in getting the Genoa Conference together, in the face of opposition from all sorts of people, is just this necessity to re-establish markets which will once more enable British industry to extend its pay-rolls. We may camouflage our concern under nobler phraseology; but hunger is the basic motive-power beneath our insistence and perserverance. Gradually the British wage-earners are realizing this fact. They are looking to Genoa with eagerness and anxiety. And woe be to any politician, public man or people who block the way to returning prosperity in Europe and the revival of industry in Britain.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

Dr. Hastings of Toronto declares the women should leave off their talcum powder. But they've simply got to wear something, Doctor.

Genoa good reason why the United States should not be represented at the world conference?

Col. Lennox seems to have been more successful in spotting the spotters than his leader has been in hide hunting.

Illegal fishing is said to be going on as usual. The protection is inadequate, and until the system is improved it is idle to look for results.

The Welsh wizard seems to find the Genoa Conference as pliable under the spell of his oratory as is the British Parliament.

The announcement that the Isolation Hospital may be closed for the summer is welcome inasmuch as many people had begun to think that it would never be closed.

LITERARY GEMS

MEN ARE RESPONSIBLE.

Men are not responsible for their actions, but for the effect of their actions upon others. "No man liveth to himself." There is an exaggerated idea of "personal liberty" current in our day that is calculated to deceive men on this point. Paul met the same by saying: "All things are lawful for me, but not all things are expedient. All things edify not." Life's liberties must be tested by the effect their exercise has upon others.

March

"With the eventful element of calm"—
I note the words—eventual—and calm;
The picture they evoke brings no surcease
Of the hot sorrow surging in my heart.
When did the one I grieve for long for peace;
When was his questing spirit ever calm;
How could he savor joy from strife apart?
He loved the tossing sea,
The storm's loud crash;
The strife of tree limbs
When the wind rode high;
The driving torrent
And the lightning flash
And the wild tumult
Of the storm wracked sky.
No long eternity of painless rest,
No brooding calm within a peaceful vale;
In Heaven for him, there must be hills to breast
And winds to buffet like a mad March gale!

Chapter X.

My Next Extravagance

Did you do any more shopping today, Peggins?"

I sat up on Jack's knee and prepared to confess. Perhaps I had been wreckless. considering what the davenport cost.

"I did! Something all for myself—that I've wanted all my life!"

"What?"

"Guess-"

"How can a man guess what a girl has wanted all her life" laughed Jack. "Show me, Peggins-"

"There-"

From my blouse I pulled a string of pearls; of course I mean pearl beads

"Beads!" You've wanted those things for years? Well, I'm glad they're yours at last, my dear-! Again may I inquire—how much?"

"Twenty-five!"

"Twenty-five cents? Why wait for years?' A hug ended this question.

"Dollars!"

"Twenty-five dollars for beads? You don't mean it!'

"But these are not ordinary things I bought them at Barnick's."

"Are you saying that the best jeweler in town sells mock pearls?"

"He has to. They're so fashionable! And look at mine! As lovely as the gem in my ring'

Carefulyy we compared the genunine and the false pearls.

"Can't see the least difference!" Jack admitted. "Synethtic—and as good as that? Marvelous! Charged, too?"

"No sir! Paid for! And oh, Jack! I just adore them! Why, they look a lot prettier than they seemed in the shop"

"They look good to me, too! Synthetic—and I cant detect the difference!" he repeated. Then, with a kiss. "I'm glad you bought them!"

"I adore them! And I had a wonderful time shopping today—thanks to my hubby"

"Good enough time to last a month, Peggins?"

"Why—I was going down town tomorrow.. We do need more dishes awfully. I've found some wonderful Wedgwood. If we're going to give a few little dinners our present table equipment is pretty scant.

"Now, is it? I thought we had wedding presents to last a century A man doesn't know much about such things. But Peggins, dear, if we can possibly get along I wish you wouldnt 'shop any more this month!"

"Oh-h-! Why not—now I can get things charged?"

"Because I like to pay all bills before the tenth. Each month. I'm proud of my credit. Every man ought to be. So I never abuse my credit. See, dear? I'd hate to have any bill run. And Peggins, you'll admit, this furniture will have to run, unless I dig into my savings!"

"But I expected we'd pay it little by little! Of course, if you say so, I'll let the dishes go for a while. Although Bonny Tearle, and some other girls, who have everything. are coming to lunch with me this week—and it would be nice to ave that darling Wedgwood!"

Grain, Cattle & Produce Markets

Strawberries from Louisiana, a deeper red than their pale forerunners, some weeks ago, are plentiful in the fruit stores, at 30 and 35 cents for small boxes, and asparagus is in, in neat little bundles for 20 cents each. The grape-fruit, by reason of its scarcity and waning-season aloofness has soared perceptibly in price.

Butter has taken a long jump upwards of five cents a pound for the creamery, and will doubtless remain on the ascending scale for two or three weeks to come. Fish also, because of the warmer weather, is 'going up' and, although the local meat retailers have not increased their prices, Toronto abattoirs are firming up a little at a half-cent raise. The price of live hogs has advanced another quarter dollar over last week's quotation.

Maple syrup is abundant in the stores, at 70 cents per quart, or $1.35 for a half-galion, and sugar is 25 cents a pound. In one of the Charlotte street groceries, a novelty is Roquefort cheese, with its yellowish-green complexion encased in silver wrapping, at $1.00 a pound. This cheese in war time brought something around $4 a pound.

Conference had limitation of armaments definitely on its agenda, and that France had explained her position there relative to land armaments.

"It is true," he continued in his vigorous manner 'that some Americans find difficulty in comprehending France's position on armaments. Yet, it all seems so perfectly clear to us. Recently we reduced our military service to eighteen months, and we hope to reduce it still further. God knows, we should like to reduce it now to one year or less, but the Government of France must think of the vital interests of France, or it would be disloyal to the Republic.

"The United States helped us gallantly before she formally entered the war Then her gallant troops fought heroically alongside the soldiers of France — and then America left us. We must go on alone. We must protest ourselves in order to obtain fulfillment of the Treaty of Versailles so vital to our existence and we must protect ourselves against the Germany of the future, which already dreams of vengeance.

"As Mr Lloyd-George has said, the question of disarmament is already before the League of Nations. At the outset of the Conference he vigorously stated the standpoint of France. It should not be deduced from his statements that France is opposed to disarmament, which she desires more than any nation in the world. Our present business is to reorganise Europe, establish a basis for a durable peace, and reconstruct Russia.

"If the Russian delegates accept the conditions absolutely necessary for the future safety and prosperity of Europe, then there naturally comes at the end of the Conference, the question of granting the Russian Government de jure recognition. For the present our army is at the minimum compatible with the interests of France and the interests of all Europe. When the proper time comes, France will be the first to extend still further the recent reduction in her military force.

"Such is France's position, imposed by relentless necessity and justified by reason and logic. And I believe the American people will understand that position."

bitions, or any narrow sectional aims to obscure our view of what is going to be for the best interests of Canada as a whole," he said.

Speaking of the suggested new Dominion of Canada offices in London, the High Commissioner said, he might even take temporary quarters that were more centrally situated than the present offices. He referred to Canada's position in the following words:

Canada's Position.

"Canada's relations with Great Britain, on the one hand, as the Motherland of a large proportion of Canada's people, and with the United States, friendly neighbors, on the other hand, has placed Canada in a position of peculiar influence and responsibility to interpret to each other and link them together in brotherhood for peace and prosperity."

Other Speakers.

Other speakers at the dinner included: Rt. Hon. William Adamson, M.P. for West Fife, former chairman of the Parliamentary Labor Party; Sir Edmund Walker, Toronto, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; and J. G. Colmer, who assisted at the opening of the Canadian High Commissioner's office in London about forty-one years ago, and was secretary in the office from 1881 until 1903.

LIGHTNING STRUCK APSLEY RESIDENT.

William Weisse Escaped Serious Injury—Apsley News.

APSLEY, April 12. — A heavy thunderstorm broke over the village on Friday evening. William Weisse received a shock from the lightning which threw him to the ground but beyond the shock to the nerves he received no serious injury.

Bad Roads.

The roads in the vicinity are in a shocking condition the worst they have been in years, travelling being almost impossible. The long swamp is again flooded and impassable, in spite of the assurances made last year that this annual rampage had been overcome.

Drive of Logs.

The drive of logs down Eel's Creek from Apsley has begun, John Coones being again as last year in charge of the work. A drive is also going from Jack's Lake to Peterboro, George Johnston having the contract.

Sugar Making Over.

Maple Syrup making is about over. It has been a good season, many making from 20 to 50 gallons. As the price is $3 per gallon the proceeds make a snug little sum for the settler.

Holy Week.

This being Holy Week service is being held every evening in St. George's Church. On Good Friday a lantern service will be held.

Personal Mention.

Newton Downer is very sick with pneumonia. Medical aid was phoned for to Peterborough on Saturday, and after a strenuous journey over the almost impassable roads a doctor and a nurse arrived at 2 a.m. on Sunday, the doctor starting on the return journey at 8 a.m.

Mr. Joe Wilson arrived on Monday from the States to visit his father, Mr. Andrew Wilson, who has been sick for some time and whose condition is causing grave anxiety.

Mr. Tom Lean, who resides n British Columbia is visiting relatives here after a long absence from his home town.

Mr. Duncan, who worked for a short time last fall in the blacksmith business, has returned, and is again working in Will Scott's old stand, which it is understood has been taken over by Vernal Windsor.

Several changes and deals in real estate in and around the village are imminent. Anything of the kind is eagerly welcomed as likely to break up the stagnation which hangs like a pall over the place.

Walter Couch and Stanley Johnston have left to take positions on farms near Lakefield.

Born, on Monday, April 10th. to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, a son.

TRUE BILLS FOUND AGAINST FOUR MEN.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 12.—(Canadian Press.)— True bills were returned yesterday by the Grand Jury at the spring assizes in the case of four foreigners charged with attacking Constable Norris at Port Weller seven months ago.

The entire time of the court was consumed yesterday afternoon with hearing further evidence in the suit for damages against the Dominion Canners on account of five bricklayers who claim to have contracted typhoid fever while drinking from a well on company's property at Jordan where they were working. Dr. Chas. Anderson, provincial bacteriologist, testified that he had examined the well and found colon bacilli in the water. The case will be continued to-day.

RAIDS MADE BY IRISH FORCES.

DUBLIN, April 12.— (Canadian Press).—Home Minister stated last night that raids are being made on Republican as well as provisional Government courts, which indicated same forces were acting against both with object of disestablishing law and order.

IMMENSE TREASURE.

KIEV, Russia, April 11.—(Canadian Press.)— The treasure within the Kievo-Pechorskaya Lavra monastery here, if converted into cash, would buy sufficient to sustain the entire famine stricken population of the Ukraine and Black Sea districts for some time. Premier Lenine has been so informed by M. Serafimov, Ukrainian Deputy Minister of the Interior, who was appointed to superintend the confiscation of the treasures in Kiev's churches and monasteries under the recent Soviet decree.

M. Serafimov declares in his report that among the monastery's treasures are two mitres which were appraised in 1870 at $25,000,000. They are of pure gold, weighing several pounds each, and are studded with large diamonds of exceptional whiteness and other jewels.

The Monastery was founded in the 11th century. Before the overthrow of the Czarist regime it was visited by 250,000 pilgrims annually. It has twelve conventual churches.

ASKS HOUSE COMMITTEE

full confidence that we refuse to throw it into the arena of party politics as it would be with a committee of the house. It is for this reason we are urging a Royal Commission to conduct the inquiry. Hydro never before had behind it such strong supporters as the present government. This government is determined that public ownership shall be so directed that it shall be safe, that it shall be permanent and shall succeed."

A. C. Lewis (Toronto N.E.), went into history of hydro and the Chippawa project from its first inception and in a lengthy speech raced it up to the present day maintaining that when the full nine units were installed, it would cost about $78,000000 or approximately $20 per horse power. This was only $20 a horse power more than the cost of power developed at Niagara before the war. He defended the increase of the expenditures over the $55,000,000 estimates of a year ago. He had been an ardent supporter of hydro since it was first initiated, he said and thought it was an insult to Sir Adam Beck to have an inquiry at all but since the committee had been attacked in the house, he thought a committee of the house should go into the charges. He was named as one of the committee and was prepared to give all the time necessary to ensure a thorough investigation.

R. L. Brackin (Kent West,) said Mr. Lewis' speech was the very best example to prove that a house committee could not give this inquiry a fair judicial hearing. Here was one of the proposed members who said it was an insult to have an investigation, an enthusiastic supporter of hydro and Sir Adam Beck, to probe a question which he was supposed to approach with an unbiased mind. He claimed it would be impossible to name any committee of the house of which the members would not be biased. He therefore supported the Royal commission.

E. Watson (Victoria N.) accused the opposition particularly the Conservatives of circulating absolutely untrue statements that this government was opposed to public ownership. The government was behind public ownership and behind hydro. He favored a commission. ported a house committee claiming there would be more real politics in a Royal Commission than in a committee.

R. R. Hall (Parry Sound) supported a commission and M. M. Macbride (S. Brant), a committee.

RAILWAY STATEMENT

of prime importance to make, namely:

1—That the Canadian National Lines and the Grand Trunk are to be placed under the unified control and co-ordinated management of one board of directors. The new board will automatically abolish the present Canadian Northern Board and the Canadian Grand Trunk Board.

2—That the new board will be asked to advise on division on the huge mileage of the National system into units, each with its own headquarters and under the direction of a general manager who will be subject to the general lines of policy laid down by the Board at general headquarters.

3—That the House is to be asked, in view of the fact that suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement terminates on 6th July, to appoint a special committee to study freight rates, with power to summon the executives of the various railways. It will then be for the Committee and the House to take such action as may be deemed advisable.

4—That the work of co-ordination would be supplemented by an investigation of the financial affairs and business methods generally of the railways passing under the control of the new board.

One remark of Mr. Kennedy's was applauded on all sides of the House—that the total amount to be voted for railways in the fiscal year which has just opened is $97,220,000, compared with $179,065,760 voted in the year previous.

Corner Turned.

In the brief discussion following, Righ Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, observed that the corner had been turned in the National Railways. The statement was gratifying and a tribute to the management instituted by the late Government. He regretted, however, that the present Liberal administration had delayed the work of unification with the Grand Trunk, and wondered what good would be accomplished by the promised Parliamentary Committee on Freight Rates.

"The announcement of the Minister," charged Mr. Meighen, "is nothing but an admission of bankruptcy."

ROYAL ENGAGEMENTS.

BRUSSELS, April 11.—(Canadian Press.)—It is expected the engagement of Prince Leopold, heir apparent to the Belgian throne, to Princess Yolando, eldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy, will be officially announced in June or July next, when the Italian royal pair repay the visit which has just been made to Rome by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, accompanied by Prince Leopold.

Some of the newspapers here declare the announcement is impending of the engagement of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy to Princess Marie Joe, daughter of the Belgian sovereigns, the former seventeen and the later fifteen years of age. This, however, is considered premature.

MUST REORGANIZE U.S. COAL MINING.

Put Business on a More Stable Basis.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (Canadian Press). — No one here can foresee the outcome of the great strike in the coal fields. Already the strike has resulted in the renewal of agitation for Government ownership and operation of the mines in the United States. It is impossible in the present state of opinion in Congress to get legislation for Government ownership and operation. Nevertheless, there are evidences of a growing sentiment in the country and in Congress to the effect that the coal mining business will have to be re-organised and put on a more stable and satisfactory basis, or else the mines will have to become public property.

Senator Borah has declared this view in the Senate, and he is receiving great numbers of telegrams and letters approving his stand. Feeling that there is profiteering in coal at public expense is widespread, and there is a noticeable disposition in Congress and in administration quarters to blame the operators for the present state of things. In Congress, the bituminous operators have been openly criticised for not meeting with the miners in accordance with their contract.

What is likely to happen, if the strike is prolonged and the public begins to suffer from lack of fuel, is the enactment of legislation by Congress for strict regulation of the coal industry While Congress is not ready to go to Government ownership and operation, it would not require much urging for it to enact regulatory legislation In the last Congress powerful sentiment for such legislation developed.

Congress would prefer not to enact regulatory legislation if it can be avoided. The present Congress is filled largely with representatives who dont want to see any interference with business. On the other hand there is a Congressional election approaching, and if public sentiment should become aroused to the need of legislation and forceful Government action, there is little doubt that the administration and the Republican leaders in Congress would respond. Some influential Republicans in Congress have already found fault because the President before the strike opened did not call the operators and miners in the bituminous field together and insist on a settlement. The moral effect of such action would, as many in Congress say, be difficult to resist. The House Labour Committee have taken steps to bring about a conference of the operators and miners.

The strike has directed renewed attention to the possibilities of development of the Alaskan coal fields. More or less talk is going the rounds about heavy importations of coal if the strike continues, but for the present the domestic supply is such that the problem of getting coal from outside the United States has not become acute .Should the strike go on for six weeks or two months, there will be serious shortages in some quarters, especially among public utilities.

CHIPPAWA PROBE DEBATE ENDS UP IN A DIVISION.

The Ontario Government Sustained By a Vote of 53 to 33.

TORONTO, April 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Early this morning debate on the Chippawa probe ended with a vote of confidence in the Drury government. Division showed a vote of 53 to 33 in Government's favor. The vote was taken on an amendment by Hon. Manning Doherty to resolution submitted by Hon. George Howard Ferguson calling for probe by a committee of the Legislature and was worded to give the government complete discretion as to what kind of investigation it would undertake, but Premier Drury made it clear that it would be a Royal Commission of experts, and that it would not only inquire into past expenditures in Chippawa and other Hydro undertakings, but would advise the government in its future policy as to terms and conditions of sale of power, development of new power and management of existing development.

Shareholders Want Findings of Board of Arbitration Set Aside As Unfair

LONDON, April 12.—(Canadian Press.)— No appeal in the Grand Trunk Railway matter has been entered for the next term of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Consequently it will be impossible for the appeal to be heard before July. The Grand Trunk Railway shareholders decided last September to appeal to the Privy Council against the award of the Board of Arbitration regarding the value of the Grand Trunk stock, and leave to make such appeal was granted on December 21. The award in question was to the effect that the common and preferred stocks of the Grand Trunk were valueless.

Bringing Back the Beauty of Egypt's Mummy Princesses

Modern Beauty Parlor Methods Being Applied to Make Ancient Mummies Look Just as They Did When They Were Buried Centuries Ago

Scientists Expect to Perfect Their Methods So That the World May Know the Charms of Cleopatra and Other Egyptian Beauties

Miss Campbell at work on the shattered mummy which she reconstructed by utilizing modern beauty parlor methods

SOME day soon the world may know just how Cleopatra and the other famous beauties of ancient Egypt looked—how their rosy lips curled, their chins dimpled and their skins glowed with the fresh bloom of youth—how they reached, in face and figure, the wondrous charm that enabled them to wield such power over the hearts of men.

From the beauty parlors and the operating rooms of the specialists in facial surgery science has recently learned a way to reconstruct the mummified bodies that have come down to us from the Egypt of 2,000 and more years ago and give them a most remarkable semblance of life.

Just as the beauty surgeons remove the marks of time from the faces of living women and make them look as they did in their youth, so skillful experts now treat the shrunken, shriveled bodies of mummies and give us an almost perfect image of what they were like when they walked the earth in all the allurement of womanly flesh.

The mummy of Cleopatra is yet to be found, but any day now one of the archaeological expeditions that are continually searching for precious relics of the past along the banks of the Nile may bring it to light. And when it is discovered science has the means for restoring it to a condition that will enable the world to see just what was the charm that held Marc Antony and so many other men fascinated.

This remarkable discovery of a way to make the mummies which ancient Egypt left for the world to wonder over look like the men and women they once were is the result of what is now felt to have been the very fortunate accident that overtook a mummy en route from Cairo to the Philadelphia Commercial Museum.

This mummy was that of a high priestess who lived in Thebes some time in the Ptolemaic period, approximately 300 B. C., more than 2,200 years ago. That she was a great personage is revealed by the fact that her face is painted white instead of red or bronze, as was the custom with those of lower degree. She is the only white-faced mummy in the United States and the second of the kind ever uncovered by the indefatigable Egyptologists.

This rare treasure was most carefully packed for shipment to this country, but the voyage across the Atlantic proved rough, and in some way the box containing the mummy was badly smashed. When it finally reached Philadelphia the archaeologists at the Commercial Museum found to their intense regret and dismay that the mummy's head had been broken from its body, the face caved in and most of the skull reduced to hardly recognizable fragments of dried flesh and bone.

What could be done? Was there no way of restoring the white face and head of the precious priestess of Thebes?

It was a woman—Miss Isabel Campbell—who finally solved this difficult problem to the great satisfaction not only of the museum authorities but of Egyptologists the world over.

For a long time Miss Campbell had been wondering if the methods used by beauty specialists in "undating" women's faces and by great surgeons in restoring the features of war-wrecked soldiers could not be employed with mummies which had been damaged by the ravages of time or some unlucky accident. Here was her opportunity to put her ideas to the test.

She succeeded beyond her fondest dreams. She did more than restore the mummy to the condition it was in when it left Cairo—she actually made the little priestess look quite as she must have looked on the day she died, more than twenty centuries ago.

Gerome's famous painting of Cleopatra, the siren of ancient history, whose beauty science hopes to reconstruct

An Egyptian princess of antiquity whose features are not unlike those of the mummy of a high priestess which Miss Isabel Campbell of the Philadelphia Museum has made to look as she was when she died

Leaving the mummy's trunk and limbs in the museum's "morgue," Miss Campbell had all that was left of the head removed to the beauty parlor and operating room which she had arranged especially for this purpose. For a model to guide her she took the painted picture of the priestess as she had looked in real life, which appears, according to the almost invariable Egyptian custom, on the outside of the mummy case. The most careful measurements were taken of every detail of this picture.

The first step in the work of reconstructing the mummy's head was patiently to piece together the broken fragments. Then soft wax was applied to the inside of the face and head. Working this with skillful fingers, as sculptors do their clay, the caved-in portions were rounded into just the shape which the picture showed them to have taken in life, and all the cavities left by centuries of shriveling in the tomb were filled in.

Next the chin, which had been crushed in until it was even with the neck, was built up. And finally a nose, carefully moulded along the delicate lines shown in the picture, was fastened into place.

What Miss Campbell and her numerous assistants had achieved when this was done was an accurate duplicate of the living face, as far as shape and the general arrangement of the features went. But it was a dull, colorless, corpse-like countenance, marked by many unseemly wrinkles and other blemishes. These defects were remedied by much the same cosmetic treatments that this Theban maiden must have used when seated at her dressing table 2,200 years ago.

Her face was whitened, her lips were rouged and her eyebrows darkened. Even the dimple in her chin received a touch of paint to accentuate it.

In fact, the whole process of beautifying the priestess resembles very much the process women go through when the beauty parlor experts massage their faces, whiten their skin, lengthen and darken their eyebrows, make a dainty red bow of their lips and in other ways try to render first aid to Mother Nature.

To-day a mark of feminine beauty is a long curved eyebrow. So it was in ancient Egypt. To-day red lips and white noses are the ultimate in picturesque facial decoration. So they were when this priestess lived. To-day it is the custom to display the ears. The ears of the priestess are nothing if not prominent.

After the beauty treatments on the face of the mummy were completed and the head had been joined to the trunk, Miss Campbell turned herself into a modiste and started work on the painted dress, which had also been seriously damaged.

The dress they put on the priestess when they laid her in her tomb is completely covered with symbolic designs and characters whose meanings are not understood.

All this patient, painstaking work of reconstructing the mummy required many months. When finally it was done, the Philadelphia Commercial Museum possessed what is undoubtedly one of the most interesting and valuable relics we have of the life of ancient Egypt. It is more than a mummy—it is a woman's body reproduced with such fidelity to life that it is hard to believe it is not a living, breathing thing.

The Egyptian embalmers knew how to prepare a human body so that a dried, withered semblance of its living self would remain for countless centuries. And now modern science has found a way of taking up their work where they left off and transforming their mummies into realistic images of what the men and women of those ancient times were like.

According to Dr. William Powell Wilson, noted archæologist and director of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum, the original embalming of the priestess who has become the object of such widespread scientific interest was an even longer, more complicated and expensive process than her restoration has been.

After the priestess had been pronounced dead her body was taken to the embalmers. They first removed her brain through her nose, took all the organs from her body and filled the cavities with spices. Then she was placed in a bath of natron, which was a salt solution of sodium carbonate.

After seventy days the body was removed from this "pickle" and tightly wrapped in yards and yards of linen cloth soaked in resin. Then her shroud, resembling a linen bag, was put on and she was ready for her outer covering or mummy case. This case was also made of heavy linen and fitted tightly to the figure.

A likeness of the lady was painted on the face of the case and strange designs, all meaning something of great importance at the time, were painted on the entire surface of the wrapping from neck to feet. The mummy was then placed in the stone coffin, where it remained until the archæologists stumbled on it a few years ago.

Cantata "Olivet to Calvary."

The cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by Maunder, presented by the choir of the Methodist church, augmented by other leading musicians of town, and under the direction of Mr. R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.O., was, as anticipated, an unqualified success. The choruses were most pleasing because of their precision of attack, the careful modulation, carrying the audience into the spirit of the scene. Mr. Fred Hanmore of Wingham, who has taken the baritone solo parts of this well known cantata in leading cathedrals of India and England, capitivated his hearers with his rich mellow tones and clear enunciation. Mrs. (Rev.) J. E. Glover, always a favorite with Campbellford audiences, was heard in her usual sweet voice. Mrs. Welsh, Miss Nellie Hoover and Miss Hilda Cowell, in clear sweet voices, also took their solos with much credit to themselves. Mr. George Lucy, tenor soloist, rendered his parts in clear, rich voice, which was thoroughly appreciated by the large audience present.

After the programme, the members of the choir and friends were entertained to very dainty refreshments by the Ladies Aid. A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Dr. H. O. Richardson and seconded by Mr. Walter Lowe, was tendered the ladies for their kind hospitality, Mr. Hanmore for his able assistance, and Mr. Cowell for his painstaking efforts in making the evening's entertainment such a most decided success.

Widows Organize League To Protect Their Interests

MRS. FRANK TOWNSLEY BROWN.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

Chicago, April 12.—The widow's mite shall become the "widow's might."

That's if a group of women, headed by Mrs. Frank Townsley Brown, here have their way.

They are forming a national organization to be known as the "Widow's Protectional League."

Mrs. Brown, possessed of large wealth, is president.

Many Objects.

Objects of the movement are:

To see that women get back alimoney

To aid them in matters pertaining to the collection of estates left by husbands.

To wage relentess war against lawyers who prey on widows ignorant of the law in collection of estates.

To clean up the country's morals.

To remove the prefix "merry" from the untarnished name of "widow."

To uplift womanhood.

To affect a cure for flapper silliness.

Membership is not confined to widows only. Any woman may join free.

The league will have three committees in constant session—a legal executive and investigative.

Aid will be given free upon request at headquarters or by correspondence. Mrs. Brown and other wealthy charter members devoting their spare time and funds to furthering the cause.

"I got the idea for the league's start," says Mrs. Brown, "shortly after my husband died.

Property Tied Up.

"He left me a large estate, but a lawyer tied up my property for three years. In the meanwhile I was thrown into a state of poverty.

"Had I known, or had he told me, that there was such a thing as a widow's mite at law — a sum of money to be given a widow pending the probate of her estate—all my sufferings would never have been.

"Other women I know are in a similiar predicament today. It is for these and for others who need our aid in any way that we are organizing."

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as? indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments, and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Women Declare Independence of Old Parties —Will Now Back Themselves

BY ROY GIBBONS

OAK PARK, Ill., April 12.—Mule and elepant, creatures emblematic of the two old political parties, the G.O.P., and Democratic, are soon to have another animal to contend with—mayhe a cat—a big, purring Angora.

Puss may get on the ballot as caricature representative of the "Roosevelt Progressives' an organization formed here by nine town mothers for the purpose of pushing women candidates into public office on the strength of feminine votes.

Declaration of Independence.

Organization of the "Roosevelt Progressives" reads like some modern feminine version of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Headed by Mrs. Nellie Tupper McGrath, the nine charter founders departed from their household cares and gathered about an indignant round table were they decided that the time was at hand to make of woman something more than a mere political "catspaw and pawn."

MRS. NELLIE TUPPER McGRATH.

We are sufficiently strong now" says Mrs McGrath, "to enlist our support behind worthy women who wish to seek their careers in public office.

"The insufferable crudeness of male politicians has forced us into our move, for they have evidenced most patently, that what favors they cared to bestow upon women would be merely the unwished for minor portions.

"The Roosevelt Progressive Party" stands for all the true principles of Americanism such as were inculated by the former president.

Let Best One Win.

"It has neithe party affiliation nor prejudged choice. Our motto is simply this: Let the best one win.

"We have th ballot and suf frage necessary to permit us to stand on our own feet.

"Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of their party."

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is hard for to keep the children from taking cold, they will run out of doors not properly wrapped, or have too much clothing on and get overheated and cool off too suddenly, they get their feet wet kick off the clothes at night; the mother cannot watch them all the time so what is she going to do

Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs or colds, but on the first sign should procure a bottle of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

It is pleasant and nice to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time, and thus prevents bronchitis, pneumonia, or perhaps consumption getting a foothold on their system.

Mrs. E. Smith, 288 Victoria Ave., North, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have three children who have had very bad colds, due to change of climate. I have tried different remedies, but I seem to get the best results from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have no difficulty in giving it to them as they like it. I always have at least one bottle in the house."

Price, 35c. and 60c. a bottle at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRICE OF TEA HIGHEST IN YEARS

During 1920 so much more tea was produced than was required throughout the World that the market dropped to a comparatively low point. So serious was the position of the grocers in India, Ceylon and Java that they agreed to produce 20 per cent. less tea during 1921. The result was that less tea was produced than was required, and now all surplus stocks have pretty well been exhausted to fill the deficiency. Prices in the last four months have steadily advanced until the market to-day is at a level as high as was ever before reached even during war years.

I shall deal separately with asparagus because here is a plant that is all too frequently left off the lists of plants for the back yard garden, writes Luther Burbank in the Detroit News.

CLAIMS EAST IS CANADA'S BEST ASSET

larger quantities than Eastern Canada. So while the West leads in wheat, livestock, pulp wood, gold, coal, steel and poultry production, the East (so the debater contended) leads in practically nothing except nickel and that, (nickel), was only discovered when the growing future of the West created a demand for railways.

Here, the debater touched on the West's production of timber, and showed how the superior method of handling it in the West, reduces much of the cost of production here

He also touched on he vast resources, of gold, coal, and steel, in the West.

The Negatives

The negative debaters here followed with their best to disprove these statements, their main points in argument being as follows:

The basic industries of Eastern Canada, such as agriculture, mining, fishing and lumbering, with their various industries were first compared with those of Western Canada.

The Eastern provinces exceed the West in field crop production. In 1918 Ontario's field crop production was greater than that of any other province in the Dominion, and exceeded, also, the production of the largest prairie province, by 65 million dollars. In 1921, the total value of the field crops in the East was 150 million dollars more than the value of those in the West, in the same year.

The east leads in the number and value of live stock. Statistics prove that the value of live stock in the east in 1920 exceeded that of the west by nearly 200 million dollars.

An important industry in Eastern Canada is the raising of sheep and the production of wool. The largest areas of land suitable for sheep raising are found in Ontario and New Brunswick. Also, the wool from sheep raised in Eastern Canada is of a finer quality than that produced in the west, and hence, commands a superior price.

Larger quantities of butter and cheese are made in Eastern Canada. For this industry there are seventeen times as many factories in the east as in the west. Statistics proved that in 1920 Eastern Canada produced more than 170 times the amount of cheese produced in the west, and three times as much butter.

Prince Edawrd Island claims more than half the fur farms of Canada. And, in Eastern Canada altogether there are ten times the number of fur farms than there are in the west. During the past year the numebr of farms in Eastern Canada has been greatly increased.

Lead in Fruits.

The Eastern provinces lead in the production of fruit, producing 75 per cent of the fruit grown in the whole Dominion.

In the spring of the year, maple syrup making is an important industry, in Eastern Canada. This cannot be produced in any of the provinces of the west, owing to the absence of maple trees. The value of maple syrup produced in Eastern Canaad is estimated at two and a half million dollars annually. This in itself is a great source of revenue. The east also exceeds the west in the lumbering industry. According to reliable information, the value of timber produced in the east for the past thirty-six years is estimated as being about three times greater than that in the west.

Fish Industry.

In the past fifty years, Eastern Canada has produced four times as many fish as Western Canada. The east leads the world in the production of superior quality oysters. Besides these there are the great fresh water fisheries of the east.

Eastern Canada produced 90 per cent. of the world's nickel, 88 per cent of the world's asbestos, 90 per cent. of Canada's petroleum, 80 per cent. of the world's cobalt and practically all of Canada's supply of salt, besides corundum, chromite, fieldspar, graphite, gypsium, kaolin, magnesite, mica, pyrite, talc, barytes, silver, arsenic, gold, coal, copper and iron, in smaller quantities.

Hydro-Electric Power.

The great power of Eastern Canada is Hydro-Electric. A conservative estimate of the power of the St. Lawrence, places it as being equal to 20 million tons of coal annually. The coal miners of the west may go on strike and the colleries may be closed, but Eastern Canada has a power that will never strike, and will therefore never hinder industry or inconvenience the people.

Western Canada did not begin to contribute to the prosperity of the Dominion until about 20 years ago, and so many of its industries are not developed yet, and so are not of any practical value to the Dominion. Whereas Eastern Canada has been contributing for the past 50 or more years.

Educated Men.

The native born settlers of the West have come from Eastern Canada, and many of the teachers, ministers and people of note who are in the West, are either graduates of Eastern colleges or were born in the East. The Fathers of Confederation were Eastern born and true statesmen. Then also Sir John A. Macdonald, Laurier, Borden, Meighen, Rowell, Fielding, Dr. Michael Clarke and the Hop. T. A. Crerar are products of the East.

The leader of the opposiiton was here given five minutes for the rebuttal.

The judges then gave their decision in favor of the negative for Peterboro U.F.Y.P.O.

Mr. Fred Crowe gave a most acceptable recitation, "The Cow Juice Cure," by Robert Service.

Next Debate.

Mr. A. Simpson and Mr. W. Brown were appointed to debate at the next meeting. This debate will be against Rush Point U.F.Y.P.O. on the subject, "Resolved, that the city depends on the country more than the country depends on the city."

After the debate the members will be the guests of the U.F.O. at the W.O.W. Hall.

Mr. Carl Wilson and Mr. J. C. Petrie most kindly volunteered to go to Rush Point and Havelock on Thursday and Friday and debate.

Before closing the congratulations and good wishes of the U.F.Y.P.O. were extended to the club leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Shields, this being the occasion of their wedding anniversary.

The next meeting will be held on April 18th.

BETTER GARDEN TIPS

BY LUTHER BURBANK

MRS. LUTHER BURBANK ILLUSTRATES HER HUSBAND'S GARDEN TIPS.

THE SOIL.

Spade your ground early!

This is of vital importance. Remember that texture in the soil is probably as important as all the other things put together.

BURBANK

So spade your ground early and let it rest. Work in a little stable manure and some sifted ashes, or leaf mould is good. But let the ground rest! I stress these points for this reason: with your soil once loosened and ready, the air should be allowed to get in. This gives the soil life. Soil needs air just as do humans. The air MUST get down and be ready for the young roots. A little time is necessary for the soil to get the full advantage of the air.

Too many beginners turn their soil and immediately start to plant. Don't begin making use of the earth the moment you have turned it over.

Give the soil a chance and your garden will be the better for it.

To-morrow Burbank discusses "Plant Needs."

The Deatn of Francois Gamain

Among the hobbies of the ill-fated Louis XVI. was a passion for making the most complicated locks and experimenting with various kinds of secret doors and sliding panels, possibly because of a premonition that the time would come when some unsuspected means of escape might save him from his enemies. This passion for constructing locks dated back to Louis' youth, when he took lessons from Francois Gamain, son of the court locksmith and one of the most expert workmen of his kind in Europe.

On November 19, 1782, when the king had been a prisoner for more than three months, Gamain went to Minister of the Interior Rolland and informed the latter that he had made a secret iron cupboard at the Tuileries for Louis and offered to point out the location of the door, though he was ignorant of the combination which would open it. But just as the locksmith indicated the hidden vault—which later proved to contain documents which the King had had no opportunity to destroy and which were destined to swing the balance of fate so sharply against him—Gamain fell forward unconscious and it was some hours before he could be resuscitated. When he finally regained consciousness he told a strange, but apparently well authenticated story, alleging that on May 23, 1792, he had finally closed the iron door on which the King himself had prepared the combination.

The night was warm, Gamain said, and when he had completed the task Louis gave him a glass of wine which stood on a table nearby. Also, the Queen had insisted that he take a piece of cake which she proffered, but which he merely slipped into the pocket after drinking the wine. On reaching the Champs Elysees, Gamain was seized with an intense pain and a rich Englishman, who was driving by at the time, took him home in his carriage, stopping on the way at a shop in the Rue de Bac for an emetic which only partially relieved the locksmith's intense agony.

Upon arriving at the home of the Englishman, the latter immediately summoned two physicians who worked over the apparently dying man and finally succeeded in saving his life, although Gamain was bed-ridden for several months. The cake, which was found several days afterward in his pocket, was given to a dog which immediately dropped dead, and it was not until November that Gamain felt physically able to present his story to Minister Roland.

That the locksmith's story of his strange encounter with Louis and the Queen of France was given credence at the time is evident from the fact that the Convention ordered the details of Gamain's recital to be published and conferred a pension of 1,200 francs upon him. This he drew until his death in 1795, due, according to the attending physicians, to a completely wrecked physical condition which supeared to have been caused by the action of some powerful poison.

Paul Delacrois, who conducted a lengthy investigation of the matter in 1838, came to the conclusion that Gamain had really been poisoned, but by an over-zealous servant rather than by the King, while Louis Blanc held that the evidence was insufficient either to acquit or condemn the King. It is pointed to as a suspicious circumstance that many of the principal documents in the case are not to be found and appear to have been taken from the archives at the time of the Restoration, but the most probable explanation is that the order of the Convention for printing these was never carried out. Moreover, the reports of the two deputies assigned to the case were so muddled and defective that it is practically impossible to state whether Gamain's accusations were true or false. But the fact remains that the secret hiding place which he pointed out to the Minister of the Interior proved to contain documents which were damning to the cause of Louis and that the locksmith himself undoubtedly suffered from some strange malady which at least resembled the ravages of a powerful poison. Whether this had really been administered by the king or by one of the court servants is destined to remain among the unsolved problems connected with the Revolution and the events which immediately preceded it.

"The Mystery of Robert Emmet" will appear next in this series.

Men and women are so fundamentally different. Impersonally we all acknowledge the fact, yet when we get down to personalities few of us act upon our knowledge of it. It is undoubtedly due to this lack of perception that so many marriages fail. Each man and each woman judges the other by his or her own standards and feelings in the matter. Naturally, there is trouble. If a man could realize that it is the little things that appeal to a woman and if he would stop just once in a while in his mad hurry to earn a living and show her just some little attention even though it may seem foolish to him, to her it means all the difference between heaven and a very mundane existence. The woman in turn should realize that a man does not see the smaller things and her constant endeavor to bring his attention to things which really matter very little to him seems to him like nagging. If both one could establish this fundamental difference firmly in their minds and make up their minds to be more tolerant with each other, probably a great deal of unhappiness would be avoided.

Pleasure is a good thing and may not with safety be slighted. But when given first place it is debasing and elusive. Business is good and demands the best powers of most of us. But whatever be the reward, we cannot afford to be its slaves. Fortune indeed is the man who can master his desires and strike a happy medium between business and pleasure.

Real achievements come through focused energy. Do not scatter your talents and energies carelessly about over any number of trades and vocations. Focus your energy on the thing you wish to achieve and let nothing divert your interest from the main issue.

There is nothing so easy as to get behind with your work and once you are behind there is nothing so difficult as to get ahead of it. But the really careful man is the one who pushes his work rather than allowing his work to push him.

Why will some people continually worry about things that may never happen in the future and let their present affairs get into such a mix-up that some one else has to worry to get them out.

Whales are believed to live 400 years.

Your Employees

THEIR HOMES AND DEPENDENTS

A Message to Employers

Group insurance is an investment in human nature that pays—

It protects your employees and their dependents—

—bringing each home into closer touch with your business—

—relieving the distress of widow and children, free from the stigma of charity—

—and developing better interest and co-operation as employees see the benefits paid to their fellow-workers.

The employee who knows that his firm is protecting his family from distress in the event of his death or disability has a load lifted off his mind.

He feels more like planning ways of doing his work better, of suggesting ideas for improving the output or the product—and so increasing his own earnings by cheerful co-operation with the management.

He has some of the load lifted off his purse too, so that his wages go farther for his regular expenses.

Our suggestion is that you buy Life Insurance, wholesale, for your employees, at group rates which are very low, and thus drive away the spectre of want from the widow and children—through Canada Life Group Insurance, which many, many times will be found to be

Their Only Protection

And not merely the only protection—but with many, the only possible life insurance with total and permanent disability benefits—because Group Insurance is obtainable without medical examination of the individual.

Thus there is created a strong tie of sentiment and interest between the employee, his family and the Business he works for.

Considering its low cost and its far-reaching effects, Group Insurance is one of the cheapest and greatest benefits that any business can have bestowed on it today.

We know all this to be true from the evidence of how Group Insurance works out with hundreds of firms all over North America.

It is indeed "a dividend-paying investment in humanity."

SPOOKS GUIDE ARTIST'S BRUSH

Former Michigan Woman Dentist Startles Scientists With Her Paintings.

NEW YORK, April 12. If the dead can act through the living, if the art which inspired the hand of a master craftsman still survives when his body is dust, then the strange story of Flora Marion Spore may prove a veritable link between this material universe and the land of shadows.

This picturesque young woman from Bay City, Mich., who never took a drawing lesson in her life never gave the smallest indication of artistic talent, is now producing at her studio, 50 Morton Street, remarkable pictures in oils, as she will tell you, under the control of a group of artists long since dead.

She will tell you that whatever fails to please you in one of her canvases may be her imperfect transmission of the instructions which come to her in spirit messages, but that line for line, color for color and symbol for symbol, as these dead masters dictate, her hands fulfil the bidding. They call for the paints and for the subjects. She repeats like a child the mystic significance of her picture, as given by the designers.

Consults the Spooks

How she accomplishes it she can not say, but she will show you her work and wield her brush in your presence, even consult her shadowy counsellors.

Miss Spore, in short, is a case of sufficient interest to attract the close scrutiny of Dr. W. Franklin Prince, of the American Society for Physical Research, now investigating a haunted house in Canada.

Flora Marion Spore was born in Michigan, of Dutch origin on her father's side, and on her mother's of an old English naval family. The girl became a student at the University of Michigan and at the time when things began to happen she was a dentist in Bay City. Her father was a retired railroad man. In May, 1919, Mrs. Spore died.

Greatly affected by her mother's death, for three months Flora Marion was broken in health. She found no consolation in her church, but never attended any seance. It was the chance visit of a friend who brought her Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's articles on what he effected through a ouija board that aroused her.

Ouija Started It

She bought a ouija board and immediately the messages began. Not from her mother, as she first supposed, but from an older sister. They told her to build up her health and to keep well and happy. Soon she was ordered to discard ouija for planchette and was obliged to [illegible] one. The pencil which first wrote voluminously presently brought her the first suggestion of her artist's work.

The girl told a reporter how the question had come:

"Don't you want me to draw the pretty things I see, flowers and landscapes and bugs and birds?"

Obediently she obeyed and drew what she was told.

"I thought my mother had been studying drawing over there," she said, "but she told me that she had met a number of artists." Presently Miss Spore was told by her control to give up the planchette and use only her hands. Since then she receives her messages mentally.

Dreams Always Queer

As soon as the messages become regular Miss Spore says she wrote to Prof. Hyslop. Planchette was then relating what the housekeeper did when she went shopping or in what cupboard she would find a gown had slipped from its hook. Through her different experiences she kept the professor advised and arrived in New York with her first water-colors to show him, only to find he had died the week before.

It was then she met Dr. Prince. Dr. Prince, she says, asked her to keep records for him and to send them. She said she sent among other things 45 dreams. Her dreams from childhood have always been "queer"; she has always known certain events before they have happened. She arrived here last December and is working, under her controls, to turn out enough pictures for an exhibition in June. She has just begun on faces, which is her controls' latest decree.

The doctor calls upon her frequently, Miss Spore says, and brings strangers, whose names she does not know.

Sometimes she holds a closed letter in her hand and reads it for him.

Her pictures are characterized by singular abnormalities. Her huge baskets of fruits show you oranges and bananas and tropical grapes heroic in size, and all her work has the aspect of being superimposed. Dore, Peregrineur and a Chinese artist are the chief among the controls. The Chinese influence is perhaps the best. Among the symbolic paintings is the "Ship of Death" led by a star.

GOOD WORK

became shapeless and bulgy in a short time. The Rotary Club had suggested having feet made for the boy.

Dr. King said that the placing of feet on the child at this time would not be feasible, and that the opinion of an orthopedic surgeon should be consulted in the first place. The Rotary Club intend to invite two of Toronto's most eminent orthopedists to address them here in the near future, when an examination will then be made of this case, and an expert opinion given.

Sundry Business.

The secretary, Mr. John Edgar, was instructed to forward a letter of condolence from the Board to Mr. C. S. Cummer, treasurer of the Society, whose sister died recently.

A letter of thanks will be forwarded to Dr. F. C. Neal for his gratuitous services in connection with examination of the tubercular child at the Shelter.

The appreciation of the society was also expressed for the kindness of Mr. W. Lawson, of Heintzman Hall, for his kind offer, made some time ago, of four new records monthly for one year, to be used at the Shelter. Mesdames Hodgson, Fanning and Darcy were appointed a committee to select these records.

A new member, Mrs. H. W. Darcy, was welcomed by the Board yesterday. There were present at the meeting, Rev. F. E. Malott (chairman), Mesdames Gibbs, Knox, Welsh, Hodgson, Kimberley, Stocker, Fanning, Darcy, Messrs. Edgar, Powell, Stocker, Cowan, Cummer, and Dr. D. C. King.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 12 — Oils were the strongest features at the opening of to-day's stock market in response to further advance in the prices of refined products. Barnsdall "A" rose 2 points and Pac. and Standard Oil of California gained large fractions. Steels, equipments and coppers were better; Crucible, Amer Car and Butte and Superior scoring one point gains. American Car increased its gain to 2 3-8 points within the first 1-2 hour but the market became slightly irregular on heavy selling of Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums.

Outside of foreign oils market broadened and strengthened during the forenoon. Call loans eased from 4 1-4 to 4 per cent. in second hour. In addition to American Car, other equipments, especially Baldwin, American and Lima Locomotives, Pullman and New York Air-Break weer outstanding features at one to three point gains; Electric Storage Batteries rose 4 1-2 points, and motor specialties were appreciably higher, Independent Steels were represented by Crucible, Colorado Fuel, eRpublic, Vanadium and Nova Scotia at one to two point gains.

Advantage was taken of the buoyancy of the general market to unload large amounts of Studebaker, United States Steel, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio and Lehigh Valley, all of which dipped under yesterday's final figures. Meanwhile the inquiry broadened for other shares, with numerous specialties showing advances of 2 to 4 points. Nova Scotia Steel, American Tobacco, Amer. Radiator, Amer. Sugar Marine Pfd. and British Empire Steel second pfd. at advances of 2 to 4 points indicated the breadth of the demand.

Oats started at 1-8c. decline to a like advance, July 40 1-8 to 40 1-4 and then hardened a litle for all deliveries.

Mark Street Held An Entertainment

The lecture and concert held in Mark Street last night was an unqualified success. The attendance was so large that chairs had to be brought into the aisles, and the large audience were delighted.

"The Fun of Being an Irishman" was a real "hit," and Dr. Snider made his way right into the hearts of the people in about one minute, by one sentence or question, viz., "Those of you who think I am better looking than your pastor, please smile," and the crowd did smile with no uncertain sound—there was a reason.

Wit, wisdom, and philosophy characterized the lecture throughout, and Dr. Snider will always be sure of a crowd when he comes to this city in the future.

The entertainment was under the auspices of the Mission Band, and was managed most efficiently. The superintendent, Mrs. Rev. Ross, thought it best to combine a concert and lecture this year, rather than a full literary and musical programme, as in other years, and the venture was crowned with success. The night was ideal, and the people gathered from all points of the compass.

Toward the close of the program, Mrs. Rev. Ross was invited to the platform, and presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by Miss Jean Thorn, representing the love and esteem of the Mission Band, and the appreciation of its members for the earnest and successful efforts of the Superintendent in training the boys and girls to render such an excellent concert.

Many very kind things were said of the numbers presented on the concert programme, and nothwithstanding the fact that the children were prevented, by an undue amount of school exercises, from attending practice, the youngsters distinguished themselves. We desire to thank the citizens for the splendid response to our announcement of the lecture and concert.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

OTTAWA, April 12 (Canadian Press). — The advisability of the Federal Government instituting the system of old-age pensions will be debated in the House of Commons. Dr. J. E. MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS and you will enjoy the best of health.

Mrs. Frank Wilsey, R. R. 2, Belmont, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with constipation for nearly two years. I had bad headaches, faint and dizzy spells, and would bloat terribly. I was nearly discouraged for I had tried so many things that gave me no relief. My mother got me a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and told me to give them a fair trial. OPPORTUNITY

Master of human Destinies am I,
Fame, Love and Fortune on my footsteps wait
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and Seas remote, and passing by
Hovel and Mart and Palace soon or late
I knock, unbidden, once at every gate.
If sleeping, wake! If feasting, rise before
I turn away! It is the hour of fate
And those who follow may reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save Death. But those who dou bt o hesitate
Condemned to failure, penury and woe
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore:
I answer not, and I return no more.
—Ingalls.

Careful, painstaking work seems pretty tough for the youngsters but before they have passed half way through life they will thank the mothers and fathers who required it.

Mrs. Sherman Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lake, Michigan.—"About one year ago I suffered with irregularities and a weakness and at times was obliged to stay off my feet. I doctored with our family physician and he finally said he could not understand my case, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After I had taken the first bottle I could see that I was getting better. I took several bottles of the Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and I am entirely cured of my ailments. You may publish this letter if you wish."—Mrs. M. SHERMAN, Route 2, Lake, Mich.

There is one fact women should consider and that is this. Women suffer from irregularities and various forms of weakness. They try this and that doctor, as well as different medicines. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and Mrs. Sherman's experience is simply another case showing its merit.

If your family physician fails to help you and the same old troubles persist, why isn't it reasonable to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound?

THIRTY THOUSAND ISLANDS OF THE GEORGIAN BAY.

The Georgian Bay, that great arm of Lake Huron, has become a favorite summer playground with residents of Canada and the United States. In this magnificent bay are more than 30,000 islands—islands crowned with vegetation that seems as fresh and captivating as though it were the morning of creation, islands peeping out of the blue depths of crystal like water and covered with moss, islands of all shapes and sizes. There are, in fact, 48,000 islands marked on the government charts, and even that figure does not include many very small islands. The principal gateway to the 30,000 Islands region is Midland, Ontario, 101 miles north of Toronto. The Grand Trunk has issued a publication with good map, and telling you all about it. A copy can be had for asking. Apply to any Grand Trunk Agent, or C. E. Horning, D.P.A. Toronto, Ont..

TWO MONTHS IN JAIL FOR HARVEY TOWNSHIP MAKER OF HOME BREW

Michael Pearson Fined $200 For Having Illicit Still — Attempted a Defence That Apparatus Didn't Belong to Him.

Used It At Neighbors.

For possession of an illicit still, Michael Pearson, of Harvey Township, was fined $200 and costs of $35.85, to be paid forthwith, or in default of payment, was sentenced to two months in jail by Magistrate Langley in the County Court Tuesday afternoon. He offered as a defense that the crude distilling apparatus shown in court belonged to his two sons-in-law, Thomas and Charles Quibel, who are now in jail undergoing sentence for offences against the O.T.A.

Pearson's six-year-old daughter was recently placed in the Children's Shelter. It was intimated that Pearjail.

Joseph Wearing conducted the prosecution and J. A. O'Brien represented defendant.

Frank Freeburn, laborer, living in Harvey Township, said he had known Pearson for some time.

Witness identified the exhibited utensils, a milk can, and a smaller one about one-third its capacity; also a piece of lead pipe, presumably used as a syphon.

He had seen them, he said, on March 28.

"Michael Pearson and his stepson brought them to my place that day," said Freeburn. "They brought the stuff over to my place. Pearson said his stove was too small or something was wrong that they couldn't boil."

Mr. Wearing—"What was in the cans?"

Witness—"Stuff of all kinds."

Mr. Wearing — "The word stuff doesn't mean anything."

Witness—"I understand the stuff was to make liquor."

Freeburn said Pearson told him he called it a mash, and he was going to make home brew.

"Or a mess," remarked Mr. O'Brien.

Witness briefly described how the mixture was boiled and the steam was run off through the piece of pipe and when distilled dripped into another can. The process continued about five hours.

Freeburn said he went to bed. He couldn't stay up all night. Pearson gave him a cupful of the decoction.

"It had a hot, fiery taste, and wasn't very nice," Freeburn testified. "I saw raisins and cut up potatoes in the mash. I told them to take the things away when they were through. If the things were found there I'd be as bad as they.

Excise Officer.

William Buller said he and Constable Moore and Inspector Stewart had found the large can in the bushes behind Pearson's house, and the smaller one at Freeburn's. The pieces of potatoes and the odor off the can convinced Mr. Buller that the can had contained a mash used for making liquor.

Mr. O'Brien argued that there was no standard smell of mash, that sour milk or other sour contents might have left the same smell.

Mr. Buller contended that he knew the bouquet of mash, and considered himself an expert on home brew.

Denied Ownership.

Pearson, who was called next, said he had taken the cans to Freeburn's at 8.30 p.m. and left the next morning at 8 o'clock. He denied ownership of the outfit, saying he had nothing to do with it except having helped carry it to Freeburn's.

Defendant also said he had not helped in boiling the mash, and also denied that he had told County Constable Moore he had helped boil it. He admitted having given Freeburn a cup of the product.

Pearson told Mr. Wearing that his stepsons had been previously brewing at home, but that he had not been engaged in it.

"I had enough to do looking after my little girl. There was no use asking my stepsons not to make it. They never did anything I asked them."

Pearson said he had not helped in the boiling at Freeburn's, but had slept on the floor near the stove.

Evidence Ruled Out.

Mr. Wearing called County Constable Moore to give evidence in reply to the effect that Pearson had told the constable he had helped boil the mash at Freeburn's. Magistrate Langley ruled against this evidence offered as reply.

In imposing sentence Magistrate Langley pointed out that the law was not restricted to exclusive possession of the forbidden apparatus. Pearson was one of a party who had been engaged in an illicit act and should therefore be found guilty.

SAY MILITARISM IS DEAD FOREVER.

Spirit of Democracy Has Humbled Germany.

COPENHAGEN, April 12.—(Associated Press.)—Philip Scheidemann, leader of the German Democratic party, while here told the Associated Press that German Militarism was dead for ever. The spirit of democracy had levelled Germany to that extent that the German republic could easily withstand any reactionary assaults.

Foreign countries, he said, exaggerated the political importance of the power of the German reactionaries. The Communists were no real danger, either. They were only gradually groping their way into the German trade unions "in order to learn their political manners."

Discussing the relations of Germany with Russia, Herr Scheidemann said the German Government had negotiated with Karl Radek, Russian Soviet agent in Berlin. He expressed the opinion that the murder of Count Mirback, for which no apology had been received, presented no real barrier against the two nations arriving at an understanding.

HOME RULE ALL ROUND, THE TALK.

Autonomy For Scotland and Wales Advocated.

LONDON, April 12.—(Associated Press).—The birth of the Irish Free State has led to renewed talk in some quarters of "home rule all around," that is, autonomy for Scotland and Wales as apart from England proper.

Home rule for Wales had already entered the range of practical politics, says an article in the Pall Mall Gazette.

Hitherto there have been among Welsh politicians two schools of thought. One has urged the setting up of a Welsh secretaryship similar to the office of the Secretary for Scotalnd, so that Welsh administration may first be disentangled from English affairs, the other favoring a comprehensive home rule scheme without any preliminaries.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, himself a Welshman, has hinted that he would look with favor on a comprehensive home rule measure.

This prompted the Welsh National Party at Westminster composed of all the Welsh members of the House of Commons—to draft and adopt a home rule scheme as the basis of a measure to be introduced in Parliament at the earliest opportunity.

This has, in turn, fired the Scottish members who at a party meeting have appointed a Committee to confer with the Welsh members with a view to joint action.

Under the Welsh plan the imperial parliament would reserve its powers on questions affecting the crown, peace and war, foreign affairs, regulation of trade and industrial legislation and postal and other communications.

To a Welsh parliament would go control of local government, judiciary, agriculture and internal commerce. Restoration of the ancient office and title of Lord President of Wales is proposed. To save the Welsh rural areas from domination by the great industrial population of the south, the Welsh parliament would include an Upper house, consisting of two representatives of each county and county borough and two from the national University of Wales.

There is some opposition to the plan even in Wales, but the proposals come nearer to meeting the aspiration of moderate nationalist Wales than anything that has hitherto been advanced. Though there is little likelihood of immediate legislation, belief among the Welsh members that the principality is within sight of a parliament in Cardiff is firm and general.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

HOME CIRCLE

NEW EVERY MORNING
By Susan Coolidge

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new.
You, who are weary of sorrow and sinning,
Here is a beautiful hope for you—
A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over,
Tasks are done and tears are shed.
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;
Yesterday's wounds which smarted and bled,
Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is a part of forever
Bound up in a sheaf which God holds tight;
With glad days, and sad days, and bad days, which never Shall visit us more with their bloom and their blight,
Their fullness of sunshine or sorrowful night.

Let them go since we cannot relieve them,
Cannot undue and cannot atone:
God in his mercy receive, and forgive them!
Only the new days are our own:
Today is ours, and today alone.
Every day is a fresh beginning;
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,
And in spite of old sorrow and older sinning,
And puzzles forecasted, and possible pain
Take heart with the day and begin again.

People who live in the city are fond of discussing the advantages of city life. It is true the city has many advantages which are not compatible with the small town, such as large libraries, museums, theatres, advanced educational institutions, and often times advanced business opportunities. However, these advantages all concern themselves with adults, and have nothing to do with the children. In fact, to our mind, the city holds only disadvantages for them. A child's life in the tenements is, of course, indescribable in its misery. But take the average man of modern means. What opportunities has his child? It is only an occasional home in the city that can claim even a grass plot in front of it. Beyond that tiny square of green are the myriad trucks and automobiles. He receives no better schooling than the average small town can give him, and since the schools are so large, he never gets the personal contact with his teacher and his school-mates that means so much to the growing child. The country, with its green fields, pure air, and care-free atmosphere is the place to bring up the children. In later life, if they should go to the city and observe the childhood there, they will be glad their own childhood was spent in the country.

Good breeding is such an intangible quality that many times we are apt to consider it unimportant, yet how quickly we notice the lack of it. Good breeding is a term which seems at first difficult to define. To many people it means an the elaborate points of etiquette which the modern social life gives us, but this is not true. A person who has a great deal of money may be able to buy his way into any social circle in these days and soon become accustomed to the "mechanics of good breeding," but these mechanics put on as a veneer only serve to emphasise his lack if the lack is there.

Good breeding like good manners, spring from an unselfish heart. The well bred person thinks of others before himself in every small thing. Do this and you will never go wrong. The "mechanics", or laws of etiquette will come to you naturally for most of them are built on this principle of unselfishness.

Difficulties only seem great because of our lack of perspective. Just at the time they may seem pretty hard to pull through, but as soon as we are able to get a little distance away from them they look much more simple.

From different parts of the country come reports of such names as "Royal Wedding Hill," and "Princess Mary Shaw." Innumerable Harrys', Marys, Mary Alexandras', and so on figure in registrations of the past two days.

Painters and sign writers testify to a mild boom in their art owing to the many changes in signs and names of shops, bungalows, houseboats, houses, etc., in order to give them a "topical" touch.

Inns in all parts of the country are being named "The Princess Mary," or "The Lord Lascelles," as substitutes, according to reports, for German or other names that have survived the war.

Preparations for the coming season at seaside resorts, include the labelling of bathing huts with such names as "Maryland", "Maryville," and "The Princess."

Mediterranean is the bluest of all the seas.

Saccharin is 300 times as sweet as cane sugar.

Don't laugh at a man whose intentions sound far too grand to be achieved by him. Our achievements usually are less than our intentions so it's a wise man who aims high.

The person who never makes a mistake never makes anything. Success was never achieved without some risks and once in a while a risk is bound to fail.

There are too many people in the world who laugh all the way home and stop as soon as they reach the door.

If you want to be a successful married couple, do not herald the sacrifices you make to each other's tastes, habits and preferences.

There is no condition in life so low but one may have hopes, nor none so high but may have fears.

Never deceive for a heart once misled can never trust whole again.

Right thinking means right living, and right living means good health.

Cleanliness is better than all the disinfectants known in science.

BIG LEAGUE AWAY TODAY

Weather Forecast Favorable to the New York Fans—To-Day's Hurlers

NEW YORK, April 12.—(Canadian Press).—Warm weather, but overcast skies, ushered in the baseball season of 1922 here to-day. Weather forecasts, however, brought cheering assurance to the fans of Manhattan and Brooklyn that the elements would not mar the big day of the year for those who went to the Polo Ground to see the National League teams of the two boroughs begin hostilities.

Douglas or Nehf were the pitchers considered as most likely to face the barrier for the Giants, while Dutch Routher, whose work had shown remarkable form, was looked upon as the hurler for Brooklyn.

New York was without the services of Frisch, second baseman, who was sent home from the south with an infected foot, but his place was taken by Rawlings, who played a star game in the world's series last fall. Brooklyn presented her strongest line up. High, the new dodger shortstop, and Deberry, a catcher, new to the Brooklyn uniform, were the strange faces in the outfit commanded by Wilbert Robinson.

The New York Yankees were in Washington to open the American season. Babe Ruth went to the Capitol City with his team mates, but had no hope of getting into the game, as the sentence of suspension passed on him by Judge Landis was holding firmly.

GROVER HALPIN.

All the teams are supposed to present their personnel at the meeting on Thursday night.

MAJOR LEAGUE BALL MAKES ITS '22 DEBUT TO-DAY.

Another Long Pennant Chase Starts With Fitting Ceremonies and Band Concerts.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Major League baseball will make its 1922 debut this afternoon, provided the weather man has been properly placed in advance.

In the National League, the New York Giants will entertain the Brooklyn Superbas at the Polo Grounds in this city; Boston will appear against the Philadelphia team on the latter's field; Pittsburgh plays at St. Louis, while Chicago will open up against the Reds at Cincinnati.

American League combinations are the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox who meet in Boston; the New York Yankees and Washington Senators who meet in the United States Capital; St. Louis will be a Chicago and Detroit at Cleveland.

The ceremonies which will mark the beginning of another long pennant chase will include traditional flag-bedecked stands band concerts, parades of rival teams and the official throwing out of balls.

From all the centers of to-morrow's baseball activitiy come tales of unusual and urgent demand for tickets, and it is likely that, given fair weather, the opening games of the season will set new attendance records. The case of the New York Giants is an example of the interest being shown in these initial contests. For several days past it has been impossible to purchase a reserved seat or box in the huge base ball ampitheatre at the Polo Grounds, notwithstanding its seating capacity of more than thirty-five thousand spectators.

President John A.. Heydler, from the National League headquarters in this city, has been planning for the various official details incident to the beginning of another baseball season for some weeks, and the assignment of umpires and other arrangements have been completed. Umpires O'Day and Hart will officiate at the New York-Brooklyn game here; Rigler and McCormack at Philadelphia; Quigley and Moran at St. Louis, and Klem and Sentell a Cincinnati. Umpires Emslie and Pfirman will be held as reserve officials, one in the East and the other in the West.

BILLY EVANS SAYS—

There are some who believe in always standing pat in sport.

If everybody was tat way none of the various branches of sport would make much progress.

Improvement can only be brought about by experiment. If some suggestion that seems worth while is made to improve baseball, football, or any other sport, it must be given a trial before its value can be determined.

When the foul strike was inaugurated in baseball it was ridiculed. It was a bold experiment. Many claimed it would make a joke out of the game. Yet the foul strike rule has done much to speed up the national pastime.

The coming of the forward pass in football was ridiculed even more than the foul-strike in baseball. Old timers said it was turning the gridiron game into an outdoor basketball contest.

It was a mighty daring experiment yet no one rule has tended more to popularize football than one that governs the forward pass. It opened up the game gave the spectators a chance to more closely follow the action.

Football began to make rapid strides in popular favor directly after the introduction of the forward pass.

FOOTBALL RULES COMMITTEE HOPES CHANGES WILL IMPROVE THE GAME.

Recently the football rules committee made a number of minor and several rather important changes.

For years football coaches and experts have agreed that goal after touchdown was not a worthwhile feature It didn't prove anything.

Last year I saw football game which started under ideal weather conditions. In the first 10 minutes of play a fumbled ball permitted a player to run 75 yards for a touchdown. It was a fluke play, a break in the game. The goal was easily kicked.

Shortly after the start of the second period it began to rain. In that period the team that had been scored on made 85 yards on straight football, only to have the whistle end play on their opponents' five-yard line.

In the third period the team that had been scored on worked the ball inside of their opponents' 20-yard line on three occasions, but for some reason or other failed to score, either a fumble or a penalty.

In the final period with the field ankle deep in mud, the team that had been scored on finally worked the ball over the line. That made the score 7 to 6. It was necessary to kick the goal to tie.

TRY FOR GOAL WAS MADE UNDER UNFAVORABLE C[illegible]

The first goal had been kicked under favorable conditions. Now the kicker was called upon to try for a goal with a mud-soaked ball, shoes covered with mud. and the field in terrible shape. His effort failed dismally.

After outplaying their opponents throughout, the game was lost by a one point margin, failure to kick the goal after touchdown.

This rule has now been changed, a scrimmage play has been substituted, in which the team scoring the touchdown has one down to pull something. It seems that such a play should carry a big thrill.

Here is what Coach Robert Fisher of Harvard has to say about a few of the changes:

"I believe the rules committee made a mistake in passing the new rule that if a player was taken out of a game because of injuries he could not return in the same half.

"I feel that under the new rule players will be allowed to continue in the game by the coaches and trainer until convinced it is absolutely necessary to take them out, rather than withdraw them for observation.

"Relative to the scrimmage play after touchdown, I feel it will merely result in the perfecting of drop kickers.'

Girl Is A Versatile Athlete

BETTY SCHENKEL PLAYING BASEBALL AND BASKETBALL

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Out of an ambition to equal the athletic deeds of her two younger brothers Betty Schenkel of Philadelphia has developed into probably the most versatile and accomplished all-round athlete in the world.

Miss Schenkel is a bright attractive little brunet, who just naturally and without artifices whatever completely conceals her extraordinary athletic prowess

Now it may be true for mere man, that he is a "jack of all trades" he is 'master to none' but this axiom does not apply to the girls and women as exemplified by this remarkable Philadelphia girl athlete.

She excels in 17 branches of sport. While none of her feats stand out as records, still all her accomplishments compare very favorably with the girls' preparatory and collegiate records.

Here is another remarkable fact about this athletic wonder. She is not the daughter of wealthy parents, and she does not winter in Florida or summer in Newport.

On the contrary, she works for a living and is busy every day from 9 to 5. She is a clerk in the office of the superintendent of car service of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia.

Miss Schenkel has been interested in athletics since a child. She starred in school athletics, and when she graduated from high school and went to work she kept up her athletic activities.

In her home Miss Schenkel has enough silver cups, medals, badges and certificates to establish a first-class museum.

Raybestos Boys Take Two From De Laval.

There was quite a glare at the alleys last night when the Rays began to shine, coming in with two close wins, which had both teams working hard. The Separating lads sure did do a lot of separating from the old four pin. They found it very elusive and failed to tag him at times they needed him most. Capt. Ray said that he always did say that his boys would get into form, and by last night's results they sure do show that the kinks were coming out of their arms slow but sure. For the "farmers' friends," J. Murray was high man with 600. J. Russell, of Rays, staged a come-back with 581. Following are the results:

McTIGUE-O'DOWD BOUT.

MONTREAL, April 12.— (Canadian Press.) — The bout between Mike McTigue, of New York and Halifax, claimant of the Canadian middleweight boxing title, and Mike O'Dowd, scheduled to take place here next Monday, has eben postponed for 14 days unless the men fight under the promotion of Tommy Conway, local fight impresario.

Mr. Conway appeared before the Montreal Boxing Commission yesterday and claimed that McTigue has broken contracts entered into with him earlier in the season.

These contracts covered a series of ten-round bouts with Augie Ratner, Johnny Howard, Mike O'Dowd, Lou Bogash, Roddy MacDonald and Soldier Baartfield.

The Commission thereupon decided that, if Conway would sign up any of the above within a period of 14 days to fight here with McTigue, the latter must meet them before he will be allowed to meet any boxer in this city. After the 14 days has expired, the contract if unsigned by any of them, should be deemed to be null and void, and McTigue will be free to box whom he wishes in Montreal.

Golf Facts

Q.—Is a player allowed to ground a club on the slope of a creek bank, if it is covered with grass?

A.—Yes unless the banks come within the limits of the hazard as marked by the club. It is the duty of the green committee to mark the limits of any hazard where confusion over such points is likely to arise.

Q.—What are the distance limits for caiculating the par of a hole?

A.—Holes up to and including 250 yards are par 3; 251 to 445 yards inclusive, par 4; 446 to 600 inclusive, par 5; over 600, par 6. Peculiar conditions of the terrain may, however, alter the above.

Q.—Is a player allowed to move his ball on a putting green, where over-watering of the green has made the surface unusually wet and heavy between the ball and the hole?

A.—Yes, this is covered by the rule on casual water. The ball may be lifted and placed, not nearer the hole.

Q.—Where a ball stops in a water hazard, so that the player can play it though it is covered by the water, can the player permit his club to touch the water in addressing the ball?

A.—No. If permitted to do so, he might stir the water so as to change the lie of the ball.

Q.—Is it permissible to smooth or press down a worm cast on the putting green, if it lies in the line of play?

A.—No, it must be either lifted or scraped away.

ENGLISHMEN GO DOWN TO DEFEAT.

U. S. Lacrosse Team Victors Second Time.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 12. — (Canadian Press).—For the second time within four days, the Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team yesterday met defeat at the hands of a United States combination when the team of the Mount Washington Club beat them, 7 to 2. The Englishmen were fresher and stronger than on last Saturday, when Johns-Hopkins University defeated them for the first time in their American tour, but the defence and attack of the Mount Washington Club men were too much for them.

Shocker is an ideal name for a pitcher particularly when he has the ability possessed by the crack twirler of the St. Louis Browns to turn such a trick.

Reports from the south say that Manager Cobb of the Detroit team is paying special attention to baserunning this year. Which recalls the old remark that you can't steal first base.

Commissioner Landis is certainly stealing a lot of Ban Johnso's thunder. The judge breaks into print daily from some southern training camp and usually draws the big type once reserved for Big Ban.

Johnny Kilbane who is the only user of the kick punch in the fight game may find plenty of opposition in Paris where that style of boxing was once in vogue.

Terms For Use Of Rixerside

A number of important matters were considered by the Executive of the Peterborough A.A.A. at a meeting held last night, one of them being the terms for the several sports organizations for the use of Riverside Park. Representatives of the Peterborough Baseball Club were heard. A resolution was passed that for local scheduled games the percentage of receipts, after deductions for amusement tax, be fifty per cent. to the clubs and fifty per cent. to the P.A.A.A., and that for outside schedule games the percentage be seventy-five per cent. to the club and twenty-five per cent. to the Association, after deductions for amusement tax. The Park committee of the Association were given power to make terms for exhibition games. This commitee will consult with the clubs in making arrangements for exhibition contests. Under these terms, the clubs will receive a higher percent age of receipts than was granted them in former years.

The Park committee were authorized to engage a caretaker for the grounds, who will give his full time to the work. It was estimated that the rental, caretaking and incidentals would mean an outlay of $1500 for the season.

Minstrel Show.

T. A. MacDonald reported that good progress was being made by the P.A.A.A. minstrels. It was decided that two presentations of the show be given at the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday, May 11th and 12th. H. A. Cranfield was appointed chairman of the Ticket committee.

Boxing Championships.

Reports were received on the arrangements for the city boxing and wrestling championships to be held at the Grand Opera House on Monday and Tuesday, April 24th and 25th, entries for which close on Tuesday, April 18th at 8 p.m. Already many entries have been received and the competitions give promise of much success.

Lacrosse

The up and coming figure of lacrosse was hit fore and aft in yesterday's issue. The frontal attack wasn't heavy, but it was conspicuously placed on the front page in the statement of some citizen who apparently had been solicited by one of the active and ambitious youths for a donation for his particular team. He was evidently peeved, not by this modest appeal, but by the fact that it was just another added to the importunities that have been raking the city recently for funds. It was the last straw, but it was only a straw, and when the gentleman realizes that the boys are contributing out of their own money to rehabilitate Canada's one-time national game he will probably make a voluntary grant which will then be doubly acceptable, although by that time the necessary expenses estimated for the launching the the season's activities will doubtless be fully provided for.

The other broadside was from this qaurter in the overwhelming letter from F. E. Kerr. He stood the rather reckless figure in the corner with his face to the wall and with the general effect that might have been expressed in such a postscript as "Now will you be good." Mr. Kerr's assumption was correct. The opinion that most of the boys who were mere spectators at the baseball games was formed from watching the inter-school league, and now that the explanation has been given, Mr. Kerr may feel that lacrosse is a little envious of baseball's complete capture of the school boys' play time; that it feels it should not be entirely friendless, and in that feeling perhaps carries its special pleading slightly over the mark. His interesting comments leave little hope that the old game will soon take hold in the schools, but the prospect is still comparatively encouraging when it is remembered that two or three years ago lacrosse was considered beyond recall or recovery.

The two city leagues successfully handled this year, will be development enough for one season. Certainly any attempt to force the game on either school boys or the older youths would be a serious mistake.

The Toronto "Telegram" makes the following reference to the only eastern candidate for the O.A.L.A. Council:

"Pat' Kelly, of Campbellford, is a real overseas veteran in point of war service and honorable scars. "Pat" learned lacrosse at Markdale, from which point he enlisted. On returning from the front, broken in health, he decided to locate in Campbellford, where his lacrosse experience was readily available to the eastern moguls, and he has done much good work in getting the youngsters to take up the game. "Pat" carries a silver plate in his head, also one in the right knee—and which will prevent him from defending the flags this season.

AT THE GRAND.

LIFE OF HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

Harriet Beecher was born at Litchfield Conn., in 1811. She came of a family which achieved a large reputation. Her father was Lyman Beecher, a militant clergyman, and her best-known brother, Henry Ward Beecher, was one of the preacher-orators of his time In 1836 she was married to another clergyman, Calvin Stowe.

Her inheritance and her sympathies were all toward the cause of anti-slavery. Her life in Cincinnati, on the borderland of free and slave territory, gave her an insight into the peculiar institution such as few northerners possessed. The wife of a poor minister, occupied with the care of a large family, with little literary training, she seemed the last person to electrify the world and achieve a lasting historical importance. Yet probably none of the great names associated with the cause of anti-slavery did more to force the issue than the minister's wife. In 1852 there issued from Brunswick, Me., where her husband had become a professor at Bowdon College, the famous "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—within five years over a half million copies had been sold. How many million people have since read the book or seen the fast variety of plays based on it no man can tell.

Mrs. Stowe wrote later "Dred," "The Minister's Wooing," "The Pearl of Orr's Island," "Old Town Folks," and other books, but "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was her great work. It was written with knowledge of the subject and with a noble purpose; the sincerity of the author and a spark of native genius created an effect that few other books ever attained; the scene is true of life; the characters have remained alive long years after the circumstances whch gave them birth have passed away. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is part of the world's history of the struggle for freedom.

William H. Kibble's mammoth production of the immortal American drama. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the most correct and impressive scenic production of the late Harriet Beecher Store's everlasting legacy to posterity ever seen in America, the only version that has been accepted by the pulpit as a moral instructor, will be presented at the Grand Opera

"ROSE OF WASHINGTON SQUARE."

Thos. Hardin, author of the sensational musical comedy success sponsored by the Astor Producing Company, which is underlined for presentation at the Grand Opera House Easter Monday, matinee and night, has done the unusual thing in that he has written a musical play with a consistent and appealing story. This play, even without its many tuneful melodies, would hold interest because of its dramatic values. Sprinkled as it is with charming lyric numbers, and given a setting which is that of near opera, its conspicuous success is not to be wondered at. The music is by Leo Edwards, and the lyrics by Hugo Myers. They worked together for good purpose, for all the numbers fit in perfectly and the thread of the plot remains unbroken despite the musical interruptions.

AT THE ROYAL.

THE BEGINNING OF A NEW SERVICE

The manager of the Royal, who always keep his eyes open for what may best please the patrons of this theatre, has succeeded in securing the first run pictures of the celebrated First National Incorporated productions. This is saying in the fewest words that the Royal has secured a service that leads the world.

THE MAPLE LEAF TRIO.

One of the many features with the big Musical Hit "Rose of Washington Square", Grand Opera House, Easter Monday, mat. and night.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday we have this company's masterpiece in photoplays, called "The Wonderful Thing," which is a piquant and splendid comedy-drama feature in seven reels, with Norma Talmadge, supported by an all star cast, in the leading role. In the cast appears Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, a wealthy New York society woman, who startled her friends of the 400 by forsaking her world of wealth to enter the moving picture world. The plot is an exciting one that revolves round a wealthy young man who forged a friend's name. The William Fox feature is called "Little Miss Hawkshaw" and presents dainty little Eileen Percy in the leading role of Patricia and in the dual role of Patsy. The story is that of a New York waif, the daughter of an Irish baronet, whom a chain of circumstances had impoverished. She gets a hint concerning her father's rank and former wealth in Ireland and plays the part of amateur sleuth so successfully that she re-established her father in his former proud position and becomes "Lady Patricia." There are two big sparkling comedies, which include a First National called "The Skipper Has His Fling." This is one of the best of the irresistibly funny Toonerville series and it's a crackerjack. Then there is a Sunshine comedy called "Please be Careful." This is a cornucopia of fun that pours out laughter at the rate of one a minute. A well balanced and wholly interesting programme.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The feature picture presentation starting to-morrow, matinee and night, will be a Wm. Fox super special production, "THE LAST TRAIL." Flora Shaw in vocal selections. Just the usual Capitol prices for this big programme that excells all others.

Another Zane Grey Story on the Screen.

William Fox, who has produced on the screen with singular impressiveness several of Zane Grey's stirring stories of western life and adventure—notably "Riders of the Purple Sage," and "The Rainbow Trail" with William Farnum—has filmed another of this famous author's stories, "The Last Trail," directed by the well-known Emmett J. Flynn, will be presented as a special production at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow. The leading male role is assumed by the stalwart Maurice Flynn, recently made a star, while the dainty Eva Novak has the feminine lead, and the statuesque Rosemary Theby appears in a prominent part.

The story of "The Last Trail" is built upon the operations of a lone bandit known as the "Night Hawk," and contains intensly dramatic situations, threaded by a love romance unusual in its development. The great climax at the close of the story involves the criminal breaking of a big dam on the mountain and the consequent flooding and destruction of a village far below. The making of these scenes—for which both village and concrete dam were constructed—is said to have been a task involving large expenditure of time, labor and money.

MISS DU PONT COMING IN BIG SOCIETY PLAY

Beautiful Leading Woman of 'Fool ish Wives" to Be Seen

Miss Du Pont's fourth Universal starring vehicle will be on the screen of the Regent Theater tomorrow. Since her performance in the leading feminine role in "Fool ish Wives", which brought stardom to her, Miss Du Pont has gained popularity in Universal special attractions, proving that long experience is not a necessary prelude to starring work before the camera. Her natural type of blonde beauty is appealing and her lack of affection of frills is her chief charm

"The Golden Gallows" is the name of the picture in which she comes to the Regent Theater.. It is a story of theatrical life, featuring the experiences of a chorus queen when her inheritance of a fortune from a man who was merely an "admirer" brought the censure and scorn of all her friends upon her.

Victoria Galland wrote the story for a widely read magazine and when it was purchased by Universal, Paul Scardon was assigned to direct.

In the cast Jack Mower will be seen opposite the star. Edwin Stevens and Elinor Hancock, well known on the stage before they went into pictures, have the two principal character roles, while Eve Southern, Douglas Gerrard Barbara Tennant and George B. Williams handle other characterizations.

Miss du Pont's performances have so far all been a highly dramatic vehicles offering her opportunities for strong emotional work. "The Golden Gallows" is fully as dramatic as any preceding story.

BELLEVILLE IS STILL IN THE ATHLETIC GAME

The Belleville Amateur Athletic Association enters its second year of activity with some money in the bank and with a great determination to go forward steadily improving sports and athletic affairs.

The annual meeting was well attended and proved successful in renewing interest in sport's sake generally.

A long discussion took place on the baseball situation It was decided to give the C.O.B. team every encouragement and assistance possible. The loss of Freddie Goyer, has left the team in somewhat of a hole, but still a good fighting team will turn out May 20th when the season opens.

GETTING READY FOR MOTOR SHOW.

Trent Waterway, Automobile Association and the Horticultural Society Co-operate.

The Trent Waterway Development Association, the Automobile Association and the Horticultural Society are unitedly arranging a booth of generous proportions at the Motor Show. The Waterways Association will have the centre of the stage and the other two bodies will occupy the wings. According to the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce the entire display will be a splendid one, as fitting such a show. At first separate booths were planned bu it was agreed that a combined three-cornerwise display would suit their scheme better.

In every particulars excepting the working model of the Lift Lock the Trent Canal exhibit will be the same as the one at the New York Motor Boat Show. Mr. Fraser has received word from A. W. Tolmie, Canadian Exhibition Commissioner that he has shipped the signs views and large detail map of the route for one of the booths. Trophis of the gun and rod will give finishing touch to the booth.

While their plans are not yet complete the Horticultural Society are going to show samples of the options under the caption "What you get for a dollar", and will distribute leaflets giving reasons why citizens should join the Society. Plans and ferns will adorn the booth.

The Auto Association will set forth the work they have in view and make an appeal for members. It is a poor day that new members are not signed up. There are now 214 on the roster and the number is going up despite the fact that the fee is $2 higher than last year. A brisk business is being carried on in motor licenses, no less than 86 being issued on Saturday. Financially the autoists are looking up and as sincere evidence of this have decided to spend some hundreds of dollars in advertising the city by placing a large sign on the Kingston Highway near Welcome, directing tourists to the city.

As their plans are now the sign will take the form of an open book containing information about the city. The lettering will be of such a substantial nature that 'all who run may read". The committee has now under consideration making the sign serve 24 hours out of 24 by letering with luminous paint.

The Attention

Of more than one person has been engaged in investigating the merits of a new health method. Advancement in science has proven CHIROPRACTIC to be Nature's way to health and long life.

Are You a Dreamer?

You may not enjoy health, but your dreams have been of health, some day. To have your dreams materialize you must act, must seek a health method which gets results. Chiropractic is one of these. The Chiropractor takes the disordered mechanism of the human body and, by properly adjusting the deranged parts, allows mental impulses to reach impaired tissues. We believe that disease is the result of anatomical derangements which ause physiological discord and abnormal function. We ascertain THE CAUSE of your trouble and adjust it, believing that this is the only logical way to restore a disordered body to harmonious action.

For your aches and pains, take Chiropractic Vertebral Aljustments and MAKE YOUR DREAMS OF HEALTH, HAPPINESS AND LONG LIFE COME TRUE.

ATROCITIES BY SAVAGES OF SEMENOFF

Cossack Chieftain's Dishonorable Ejection from United States Sought by British Officer.

EYES GOUGED OUT

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press).

WASHINGTON, April 13. — Gouging out the eyes of a Y.M.C.A. worker and the cutting out of his tongue because he would not give Semenoff's Cossacks candy and cigaretes, was charged to the troops of General Gregory Semenoff by Captain Edward L. Earl, of St. Paul, Minn., a former British Royal Engineer, testifying before the Senate Labour Commitee to-day.

Appearing before the committee, which seeks the dishonourable ejection of Semenoff from this country, Earl brought the series of shuddering charges against the Cossack chieftain, including unwarranted attacks on the British and American forces, utter insolence of Semenoff himself to his Allied colleagues, the shooting down in cold blood of innocent peasants.

Earl said one of the British Red Cross cars was stolen by the Semenoff men, and the British sentry guarding it mysteriously "disappeared."

"We never received co-operation from Semenoff, such as common decency would require from an Allied officer—he called himself one—and, in fact, he did everything he could to make it hard for us."

Attacks on Allies.

Asked as to conflicts with Russian troops, Earl told of an attack by the Semenoff forces on a train containing a small British and American contingent.

One Britisher was killed, several wounded, and an American lost his hand.

Cavalrymen—Semenoff's subordinates—threw shrapnel bombs at the group.

Earl claimed to have seen the Y.M.C.A. worker dead, horribly mangled by the savages of Semenoff.

Later, the natives told the Britisher that the savages, angry at the Y.M.C.A. man because he would not give them supplies, had killed him and mutilated him.

Native Cruelty.

Asked if he knew of any instances of cruelties against natives, Earl replied:

"Oh, yes, but time is limited. I could not tell you all of them."

But he did tell of outrages where innocent peasants were lined up and mowed down with machine guns, simply out of rage and because of unfounded suspicion that they were "Reds."

Semenoff's attorney sprang a surprise by asking Earl if he had not appealed to Semenoff since his arrival in New Cork for funds to come to New York, offering aid in return.

The attorney read one message of Earl to Semenoff, hinting that he had information of value to the Russian.

Denies Asking Aid.

Earl hotly denied wanting any aid and answered sharply that it was "indiscreet" of the lawyer to hint that he was acting for Senator Borah or Col. Morrow (a witness of yesterday).

"Read my second telegram," charged Earl, but the attorney, John K. Clark, claimed to have only one message.

The inquiry on this line was abandoned.

The young Britisher had let the committee know quite clearly that he had a hatred of Semenoff, and would be glad to get even with him for Semenoff's cruelties in Siberia.

His message seeking a contact with Semenoff was interpreted by committee members as an attempt to "double-cross" or "get even" with the Cossack "Ataman" since he admitted being in contact at the same time with the American authorities.

Fired on Sleepers.

Earl said that at one time the Cossacks fired on a group of sleeping American soldiers.

The Semenoff attorney sought to make this appear to be hearsay.

Earl retorted crisply:

"I had reports from my Canadian sentries, who saw the Russians fire on the sleeping Americans."

At one stage, Earl flared out:

"Semenoff was the personification of what we realised, or all that we had heard about what the old regime would carry on in the Pogroms—'killing of the Jews.'"

At the conclusion of this testimony Borah introduced two telegrams clarifying the subject of Earl's communication with Semenoff, revealing that Earl was playing to "get" Semenoff, meantime letting Borah know exactly what he was doing.

It Pays to Advertise.

ROUNDING UP STRAY HOUNDS

Police Plan to Enforce the By-law Relating to Dogs

News that the police are going to stringently enforce the by-law requiring that dogs to be muzzled or kept in leash will be approved by citizens who respect the appearance of their property. Paris used to have great dogs that roamed the streets by night. Peterborough has monsters that travel both by day and night. A great many of these canines seem to depend on their foraging powers for an existence. Garbage pails are upset and the refuse scattered about the streets. Not the least damage is done to gardens. A prominent citizen to-day said he paid $20 for bulbs, planted them with great care, and foraging dogs dug up every one of them. This citizen was only one of hundreds who are sick and tired of dogs. Dogs are everywhere. Great hungry looking monsters stalk the streets unhampered, but tiny little ones that would run at sight of a kitten are leashed as if they were the King of Beasts. People in every part of the city have been calling "for a piece in the paper about the dogs." If the police haul offenders of the dog by-law into court their action will be commended on all sides. A war is also to be raged on poultry men who allow their flocks to wander over other property than their own. Next to the dogs they are alleged to be the greatest nuisance in this neck of the woods.

STATES CANADA MAY BREAK FROM EMPIRE

Unless Embargo on Canadian Cattle Removed

LONDON, April 13.—(Canadian Press.)— An amazing statement by Canadian agriculturists, said to reflect Canadian feeling on the cattle embargo is featured by the Daily Telegraph to-day in an interview form. This is no less than a declaration that if the embargo is not removed Canada will break away from the British Empire.

The interview is published as coming from the Telegraph's agricultural correspondent, but the name of the Canadian in question is not given. He is quoted as stating that this threat would be made good if Canada was refused the right to send store cattle to Britain, and adding: "You don't know how embittered the feeling is against Great Britain because she has not kept her word over this business. If the Empire is to remain as it is, the Mother Country must give greater heed to the wants and wishes of her overseas Dominions."

CLAIM GAINS IN NON-UNION COAL FIELDS

Striking Miners Report That 665,000 Men Are Participating in Movement.

BRIEFS FROM WIRES

INDIANAPOLIS, April 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Continued gains in non-union coal fields was claimed to-day by the United Mine Workers, for a nation-wide suspension of work in the coal industry, with the Union's announcement that 665 thousand miners are now participating. In Union circles here the opinion is expressed that the strike is settling down to a test of endurance and that any changes will occur slowly.

LOWEST BANK RATE.

NEW YORK, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—With the exception of Switzerland, Great Britain has now the lowest bank rate in the world, as a result of the Bank of England reducing its discount rate to four per cent. Switzerland's rate is 3 1-2. The present British rate compares with the high rate of ten per cent. on August 1, 1914, and the low of three per cent. January 29, 1914.

Reduction coming on the eve of the Easter holidays was an entire surprise to the money market. The belief is expressed that the action was prompted by the treasury, which has been ruling the money market for some time past.

OPPOSE THE ALLIES.

LONDON, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—The Times says it understands the Allies regard as unacceptable the Angora Government's counter proposals to a suggested armistice between Turks and Greeks, and that Asia Minor should be evacuated.

April Building Prospects Are Likely to Set Up a New Record

In the first thirteen days of this month there has been over twice as much building started as in all March. Building permits totalling in value $20,440 have been issued compared with only $10,020 in all March. In business circles this increase in building is regarded optimistically.. Three houses have been started so far this month and this week the Canadian Woollens took out permit for a $3,000 weaving shed. This permit, one to G. L. E. Stevens for a $50 garage at 186 George street, and one to A. B. Gates, 307 Margaret avenue for a $75 garage complete the week's permits.

ARE GRADING AT WESTCLOX

Seven Teams With Scrapers Engaged in Cutting Down Crown of Hill.

Not only the top six inches of soil so dear to J. J. Morrison, but the top ten feet of the Westclox property on Armour's Hill will be peeled off by the grading begun this week by Mr. Angus Richardson, contractor for that part of the work. Seven teams were busy this morning scooping the earth from the crown and carrying it off to one side, and a glance at the plowed section indicated the extent of the work which the engineer more fully explained. The present grading operations were decided upon by the company largely to give the property a level appearance, which will accord with their projected buildings and provide a suitable setting for them.

Street Commissioner Harry Evans was also on the ground this morning looking over that part of the street which the city has promised to grade in conformity with the Westclox Company's plans. A visit to the location emphasizes its scenic advantages and also the splendid range of vision in all directions which the hill top affords. Away off to the south-east the lower lying farm lands of Otonabee Township appear to be extensively watered. In fact the impression is at first created that the lake and its several tributaries, now filled almost to the height of their banks, have spilled over many of the farms. Looking into Douro there are similar evidences of inundation, and a casual survey eastward suggests that the countryside had been recently flooded. All through east Peterborough, north and south of the C.P.R., the lower sections are deep in water, but on the upper levels a few farmers may be seen at their first plowing.

DISCUSS SHOWING ARBUCKLE FILMS.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Whether motion pictures showing Roscoe Arbuckle, who was acquitted in San Francisco yesterday on a manslaughter charge, will be shown again is to be determined by the board of directors of the Famous Players, Lasky Corporation.

Declares Germany Unable Pay Debts

GENOA, April 13—(Canad-Karl Bergman, German representative with the reparations commission at Paris, who arrived here to-day, reiterated the previous statements made in Germany's behalf that it would be impossible for Germany to make the reparation payments required of her except through a foreign loan which would improve German exchange. Further taxation in Germany would be unbearable he declared.

SEVERED VEIN WITH A RAZOR

Mrs. Sidney Smith of Otonabee Township Took Her Own Life.

Mrs. Sidney Smith, aged 59, committed suicide at her home in the Stewart Settlement, Otonabee township, at 3.30 p.m. yesterday, by severing the jugular vein with a razor. Friends of Mrs. Smith stated to-day that she had not been in good health. Dr. G. R. Scott was called immediately and reported the suicide to Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer. Dr. Greer decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mrs. Smith is survived by her husband, three brothers and one sister. Her maiden name was Maria Allen. She was born in Clarke township, and had been married 27 years. She was a Presbyterian. The funeral will take place from her late residence to Little Lake cemetery at 2 p.m. on Good Friday. Service will be conducted by Rev. A. H. McConnachie of Centreville.

GOSLIN LOOKS LIKE REAL FIND.

Washington Recruit Already Has Won Berth As Regular.

Leon Goslin, who will hold down right field for Washington this year, with Sam Rice in centre and Manager Milan in left, is regarded as a real find.

"Goose," as he has already been nicknamed, is only 21 years old. He is 5 feet 10½ inches tall and weighs 185 pounds, giving him a real punch to his swing.

He is a left-handed batter, swings a heavy bat, holds it at the extreme end and takes a terrific cut at the ball.

Goslin, while he bats left handed, is a right-handed thrower and the possessor of a pretty good arm.

He led the South Atlantic League last year with a mark of .390. In 142 games he was at bat 549 times, scored 124 runs and made 214 hits for a total of 325 bases.

Included in his safe hits were 38 doubles, 13 triples and 16 home runs. He was credited with "batting in" 131 runs, proving that many of his hits were of a timely nature.

Goslin has a rather peculiar position at the plate, standing with his left foot farther from the plate than his right, which makes him a left field hitter almost exclusively.

Efforts are being made to alter his stance, so he will be able to hook or pull his drives instead of slicing them exclusively, as they would say in golf.

'TWAS A VERY PRETTY 'MISSIONARY PAGEANT.

"The Striking of Can...a's Hour" was a very pretty missionary pageant given by the Pearl Mission Circle in the Sunday school room at the George street Methodist church last Sunday evening. This pageant in which over 40 young people took part, was effectively staged in costumes of the different countries summoned before "The Spirit of Brotherhood,' a part taken by Miss E. Fusee. The last of the Nations to appear was Canada, and the pagent pointed out very clearly the duties devolving upon Canada and her people. Vocal solos were introduced during the progress of the entertainment, with Miss L. McFarlane acting as accompanist. Rev. H. W. Young was in the chair.

NORMALITES OFF

Students of all ages from the young tots in the Primer to the youths and maidens in the Upper forms in the Collegiate Institute and Normal school wore happy smiles to-day in consideration of the prospect of over a week's respite from studies. The Normal School released its student body at noon to day and the Public Schools and Collegiate closed for the Easter vacation at 4 p.m. Some of the classes at the Collegiate more fortunate than others finished writing their examinations yesterday and so secured another day's holiday. The Public Schools and Collegiate reassemble on Monday, April 24th, but the Normalites are allowed another day in which to return, as many come long distances.

LAID AT REST.

The funeral of the late Ernest W. Palmgren (Ernia Pal) took place on Wednesday afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. Harold W. Young, pastor of the George street Methodist church, officiated. The pallbearers were Brothers E. C. Styles, O. E. Grose, H. Blake and J. Tongue, representing the Independent Order of Foresters, and Messrs. W. Menzie and J. McCoy, representing the Quaker Oats Co. The floral tributes were beautiful, expressing the respect and esteem in which he was held by many friends.

Deceased was born in Sweden, where several brothers and sisters who are orphans, survive him. In religion he was a Lutherian of the Swedish Church.

Much sympathy is being extended to Bro. M. J. McGann and Companion Mrs. Bryans, and family, 286 Sherbrooke Place, with whom the deceased resided, and who are left to mourn the loss of their young friend.

The game was a charity match in aid of the Welsh School of Medicine.

Fred Mesley's Death Regretted by Labour

Mr. Wm. Rudkins, president of the Trades and Labour Council, this morning paid a tribute to the memory of his predecessor, the late Fred Mesley, whose sudden death by misadventure on Wednesday has cast a gloom over Labour circles in Peterborough.

"Mr. Mesley was highly respected by everyone who knew him," said Mr. Rudkins, "and he was especially esteemed by the delegates to the Trades Council. He was quiet and unassuming and always took a fair attitude on questions between labour and capital. Fairness was one of his finest characteristics, and he had the faculty of seeing both sides of a question and of appreciating the other side. But he was also deeply interested in the welfare of the workingmen and also of the city of Peterborough as a whole. Mr. Mesley was a man whom organized labor could ill afford to lose."

Mr. Rudkins said he did not wish to anticipate any resolutions of condolence which the Labour Council would pass at their meeting, but he felt he was expressing the regret of Labour men in a present reference to the late President of the Trades Council. He also wished to extend his personal sympathy to the bereaved family.

INQUEST HELD LAST EVENING

Jury Will Hear the Evidence on Wednesday Evening Next.

A coroner's inquiry into the death of Alfred Mesley, who was asphyxiated at the Gas Works yesterday morning, opened in Comstock's Undertaking Parlors at eight o'clock last evening. Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer presided. After viewing the body and the room in which Mesley was suffocated at the works, adjournment until Wednesday night next took place. The jury empanelled was as follows: James E. Fowler (foreman), Norman Andrews, John Kylie, Percy Hooper, Charles Thorpe, Robert Roseberry, Gilbert Borland, Herbert Routley, Richard Terriff, Samuel Anglesey and William Outram.

Mr. Mesley will be buried in Little Lake Cemetery Saturday afternoon. The funeral will be under the auspices of Otonabee Lodge I.O.O.F. Service will be held at the family residence, 428 Roger Street, at 1.45 p.m.

CARPENTERS WILLING TO ARBITRATE

Expect Reply From Builders' Exchange Tonight and Are Hoping For Harmony.

OFFER A MAXIMUM

Negotiations between the carpenters and the Builders' Exchange have reached the stage at which definite announcement is expected to-night. The Examiner is informed the Builders proposed that the carpenters accept a cut of fifteen per cent in their wages, but they replied that they didn't feel that they should have to submit to a reduction of that percentage. The carpenters stated that they were willing to refer the whole matter to arbitration and stand by the result.

The Builders have promised a decision to-night, and the Union men are hopeful that an amicable agreement may be arrived at.

The building season is opening up fairly well and there is plenty of work in sight. The whole atmosphere of the building trades is optimistic and cheerful, and if this little matter of the adjustment of relations between the carpenters and the Builders' Exchange can be settled amicably the conditions should remain satisfactory throughout the entire season. It is understood that the price offered the carpeners was not a minimum but a maximum, from which it was inferred that the Builders intended to pay some men at a rate even less than the proposed reduction of fifteen percent off last year's scale.

THE KAWARTHA LAKES.

The Kawartha Lakes are among the most popular of Ontario's summer playgrounds. The region was long a favored one with the Indians who gave it its musical name, signifying "Bright Waters and Happy Lands." The Kawartha chain of lakes are six hundred feet above the level of Lake Ontario. The climatic conditions are most agreeable and healthful. Every form of outdoor recreation may be indulged in, sailing canoeing and motor-boating, and fishing. Bass, maskinonge and salmon-trout are caught in the large lakes, while there is good fishing for speckled trout in the smaller lakes, in the district. The region is easy of access, being within 125 miles of Toronto on the Grand Trunk Railway System. A publication is issued by the Grand Trunk with a good map is now available, and may be had free on application to any Grand Trunk Agent, or C. E. Horning, D. P.A., Toronto, Ont.

Vol. I. No. 13 PETERBORO, APRIL 13th EXTRA

You will meet all of your friends at the Peterborough Motor Show. You will find the Armories all trimmed and decorated waiting to receive you. You will think as you enter the building that you have stepped into a veritable fairy land, and as you pass among the exhibits or pause to rest for a moment, you listen to the strains of Gliddon's Orchestra, and are surely glad that you are among those present. The exhibit of cars will interest you. They will be shown in all their splendor of new paint and shining varnish; whether you own one or not, whether you intend to own one or not, you will want to see them just the same. There will also be many motor accessories on display—some of them will be luxurious, some will be conveniences and some may be necessities—but they will all be well worth looking at. The De Laval Minstrels, under the leadership of Mr. Nichols, are putting on a show each evening that will "carry you back to Ole Virginny," and is well worth seeing. You couldn't afford to miss the Motor Show if you wanted to, and you wouldn't want to in any event when you stop and think that every cent goes toward helping some small mite of humanity that is trying with all his little strength to make the grade. Remember the dates, April 19, 20 and 21.

FINANCES OF EUROPE DISCUSSED AT GENOA

Russian Delegates Again Try to Bring Question of Disarmament Into the Debate.

GERMAN VIEW.

GENOA, April 13. Canadian Press. —The necessity of bringing about equilibrium in national budgets if the European situation is to be stabilized, formed the most important subject of discussion at the meeting yesterday of the sub-commission on finance, at which Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, the chairman, proposed an international conference of the banks issuing currency, including the American Reserve banks. The commission decided to make the London experts' report the basis of its deliberations, and to appoint another sub-committee to examine exchange, with a second sub-committee to study credits. the commission itself devoting its labors to the question of currency.

Dr. Andreas Hermes, the German Minister of Finance, created some commotion by alluding to the question of reparations. He declared that the Germans had examined the London report and were in accord on many points, but wished to emphasize that Germany would find extreme difficulty in establishing equilibrium in her budget while obliged to support heavy payments externally. Germany, he promised, will bring in practical suggestions later.

A report was current in Conference circles that the German Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, would return to Berlin within a few days, concerned over internal conditions in that country and apparently depressed over the situation at Genoa.

On the other hand Christian Rakovsky, Premier of Ukraine, depicted the Russian financial situation in rosy colors, and seized the opportunity to allude to disarmament, which the Russians are contending should have a place on the agenda. He wanted the world to know that the Russian budget was in a very favorable condition, as six-sevenths of the expenses were covered by ordinary revenue, and only the remaining seventh was met by the issue of paper currency.

Consequently Germany is obliged to pay 18,000,000 gold marks on April 15, and 50,000,000 gold marks, May 15.

BALFOUR IS MADE EARL

Former Premier Overcomes Scruples Against Title and Now Becomes Earl Balfour.

LONDON, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Formal official announcement was made yesterday that an earldom had been conferred on Sir Arthur James Balfour former Premier and at present Lord President of the Council.

The announcement confirmed what had been unofficially known or some time. Throughout his political carer he had steadily set his face against the acceptance of any title, even, according to gossip having declined one when offered him on his return from the Washington Conference. Then he accepted the Order of the Garter, without realizing, it is said, that it carried knighthood and the title "Sir".

Balfour a last relented, however and now goes to the more dignified atmosphere of the House of Lords with the title of Earl of Balfour of Whittinghame. In the Upper Chamber the Conservative leader will not lose his identity under an entirely new name, as did, for instance, Disraeli, when he became Lord Beaconsfield, but will retain his own name, as did John Morley on becoming Earl Morley.

The elevation of Sir Arthur to the peerage creates a vacancy in the important Parliamentary seat for the city of London. Balfour has held this seat for 16 years. At first it was proposed that Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the Exchequer and now head of the big City and Midland Bank, who is one of the greatest financial authorities in London, should become the candidate for the seat, which has always been held by a Conservative. But Mr. McKenna is a Liberal and although the "City" men generally were willing to support him, political circles were opposed and the Conservation Association chose Edward C. Grenfell, the banker, as their candidate. Mr. Grenfell is a partner in the firm of Morgan, Grenfell and Company.

THE EXECUTIONEER IS OUT ON STRIKE.

The Barber of Versailles Wants More Pay.

PARIS, April 12. — (Associated Press).—M. Rapillon, the barber of Versailles prison, who trimmed the beard of Henri D. Landru, the "Blue Beard" convicted and executed for killing 10 women and a boy, and cut the hair of the famous prisoner, has gone on a strike.

The barber had demanded an increase in wages, which the prison authorities declined to grant. He had obtained a good deal of publicity by reason of his services to Landru, and expects, now that he is in business for himself, that many customers will seek him to obtain first-hand information of the celebrated murderer.

STATISTICS OF G.T.R. SYSTEM BEFORE HOUSE

Reports Show Canadian Lines Saved the System as a Whole From Showing Big Deficit.

FIGURES.

OTTAWA, April 13.—(Canadian Press)—Detailed statistics) now in the hands of members of the House show that operations on its Canadian lines last year saved the whole Grand Trunk System from an operatio deficit. The western lines, the New England lines and the Central Vermont all had operation eration deficit. The western lines operation deficit was $447,925.11; on the New England lines, $681,490.29, and on the Central Vermont $176,806.42. But on the Canadian lines there was an operation surplus—i.e., a surplus of operating revenue over operating expenses—of $5,678,739..47. When, from this surplus, the deficits on the western lines the New England lines and the Central Vermont are deducted, there is left on operating surplus for the whole Grand Trunk System of $4,372,517. This is an increase of $33,412.00, over the operation surplus for 1920. For the grand Trunk Canadian lines alone, the increase in operation surplus was $449,907.

The New England lines of the Grand Trunk have an operating mileage of 172 and extend from Portland, Maine, to Norton Mills, Vermont; the Canadian lines have a mileage of 3,612; the western lines have an operating mileage of 992, and are west of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, in the States of Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana, between Port Huron, Detroit and Chicago.

BATTLE ON CHIPPAWA RENEWED IN THE HOUSE

AVIATORS ARE READY TO FLY AROUND WORLD

Two Brothers Will Take Off From Croyden on April 25 for 21,500-Mile Flight.

THE ROUTE.

LONDON, April 13 (Canadian Press). — Arrangements have been completed for the attempted flight around the world to be undertaken by the two Australian brothers, Sir Ross Smith and Sir Keith Smith.

With an engineer, they plan to start from Croydon, near London, on 25th April.

The aviators expect to cover the 21,500 miles in 240 hours of actual flying. The time will be spread over a period of three months. They will use a flying boat, fitted with wheels for alighting on land, and propelled by an engine of 450 horse-power.

They intend to fly three consecutive days and rest every fourth day.

The route will be by way of France, Cairo, Asia, China, Japan, across the Pacific Ocean via the Aleutian Islands, touching land south-east of Vancouver, thence to New York via Winnipeg, thence to St. John, N.B., and thence across the Atlantic.

University of Toronto Also Comes in For a Share of the Debate at Toronto.

COLLEGE GRANTS.

TORONTO, April 13 (Legislature). — The Ontario Legislature resumed the debate on the Budget yesterday afternoon after an interesting discussion over the battle of the day before on the Chippawa, and a speech by Thomas Marshall (Lincoln) urging that the management of Toronto University go back to the old-time senate system instead of the present Board of Governors.

Hon Peter Smith anounced to the House in reply to H. H. Dewart, that of the $15,000,000 raised by the sale of bonds this week, $7,000,000 will go to refunds and the remainder to the Hydro.

Shortly after the opening of the afternoon sitting, W. H. Casselman (Dundas), the only member of the U.F.O. to vote against the Doherty amendment on Tuesday night, which was considered a vote of confidence in the Government in connection with the Chippawa probe, took the position that he had been unfortunately placed as a result of the way the amendment had been framed. He had previously stated in the House

HOW IT WORKS.

An application of Hon. Mr. Kennedy's figures as to the part played by wages and fuel in piling up the cost of operating Canada's railways to local conditions, adds to the force of his statement. The return fare from Peterborough to Lakefield, for example, is 65 cents. The Minister of Railway's report shows that every time anybody pays that fare for transportation to Lakefield and return 42½ cents of the amount has to be paid out for wages and about 10½ cents for coal, leaving only 12 cents to meet all other operating costs. The big proportion absorbed by the two items are worth considering.

SAVING THE PLESIOSAURUS.

At this time of industrial depression and of a world all topsy turvy following the greatest war in history, there is a measure of gratitude due to those who brought the plesiosaurus once before the public and provided humanity with a chance to smile. The latest development is perhaps the funniest of all. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has intervened on behalf of the mythical monster and the Buenos Aires scientific expedition, which started out with the intention of bringing back a plesiosaurus, "dead or alive," has had to suspend operations until the appeal is decided. Nobody, of course, would want to hear of a plesiosaurus being treated roughly, even in the interest of science, but again our somewhat hazy impression of the habits of those monsters of pre-history days has rather left us with the idea that they do—or did not at least—respond readily to kindness. The world has improved, of course, and so possibly have the plesiosauri. The 1922 model may be the acme of gentleness and good breeding. Their size preclude them from perching upon one's shoulder, but it is quite possible that they will answer to a whistle and eat out of one's hand. The only trouble is that if they have reached that stage of perfection, there is little satisfaction in rounding one up.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM.

Satisfactory as Hon. Mr. Kennedy's clear-cut statement has been to Canadians generally, Canada's railway problem cannot be solved by optimistic speeches. It is the biggest question that the country has before it at the present time, and The Examiner feels sure that it is the desire of the Canadian people that no attempt should be made by any party or group to "play politics" with this most vital problem. Nothing is to be gained by raking over past history in an endeavour to fix the responsibility for the present situation upon this or that political party. It is enough to know that the Canadian National railways represent an investment of over a billion and one-half of dollars of the people's money, and that the best thought and ability, both in and out of the House, should be enlisted to bring the Government-owned railway system not only to a state of efficiency as to service, but of economy as to operation. The co-ordination of all the National lines under one board of directors, the plan adopted by Hon. Mr. Kennedy, should give public ownership of railways a fair chance to prove its worth. Opinion may differ as to debate, and it is idle to expect that all members of the House will agree on some features of the situation, but the majority of Canadians will be sternly opposed to this vital problem being treated as a political question. They will expect that the immensity of the task confronting the Government will be recognized, and that all parties will bring to the debate in regard to the railway policy of Canada a desire to be of service to the Dominion. Constructive criticism should be welcomed, but partizan bias, in the interests of the country, must be dropped in the face of this pressing problem.

LABOUR AND THE RAILWAYS.

A striking feature in connection with the statement presented by Hon. W. C. Kennedy, Minister of Railways, to the House of Commons on Tuesday was that portion of his report which dealt with the cost of operations of Canada's National railways. Hon. Mr. Kennedy informed Parliament that the total pay-roll last year amounted to $89,755,060, and that out of every dollar in revenue taken in during 1921, 65.03 cents in wages had to be paid, while fuel was responsible for 16.88 cents. In other words, wages and coal represent the principal charge upon railway revenues, and with the two requiring a combined expenditure of $103,642,575 out of a total operating revenue of $126,691,455, it is apparent that the balance is not large enough to meet other operating charges. These figures should give labour leaders and the people of Canada generally considerable food for thought. It is obvious that no appreciable reduction in either freight charges or passenger rates can be expected so long as Canada's National railways has to pay out 81 cents out of every dollar for wages and fuel, the demands of the labour unions affected being chiefly responsible for the high cost in both cases. In this connection it is of interest to know, as the Minister of Railways informed the House of Commons, that negotiations are under way looking to a modification of some of the working conditions that the railways feel to be difficult of application and resulting in excessive wages being paid to some classes of employees. "It is recognized," declared Hon. Mr. Kennedy, "that railway wages must provide for a proper standard of living, but they should have reasonable relation to the importance and value of the work performed and to wages generally." That is the whole situation in a nut-shell. At the present time the remuneration paid to some classes of railway workers is out of all proportion to the wages of workers in other industries.

MILK AND TUBERCULOSIS.

The Hamilton Board of Health is anxious to have a bylaw passed making the pasteurization of all milk sold to Hamilton consumers compulsory. In view of the facts known to the medical authorities, it is not difficult to account for the board's anxiety. If the public could only be brought to a proper appreciation of conditions, it would be just as insistent in its demands for the enforcement of this simple but effective precaution against an extremely dangerous disease. The relationship between an infected milk supply and tuberculosis is too well attested for dispute. A recent correspondent to The Spectator, quoting from The Canadian Veterinary Record, instanced the case of five children who had contracted the disease from the milk of an infected cow. This occurred in Illinois, but it is just as likely to happen anywhere else where laxity is displayed in the testing of cattle and in the treatment of raw milk. In the case referred to a farmer had had his cows tested for tuberculosis, one animal reacting to the test. The pitiful story proceeds: "Instead of destroying her, the farmer declared the test undependable, removed the ear tag and sold her to his hired man for wages. Of seven children in the man's family, five have contracted pronounced cases of tuberculosis. The other two did not drink this cow's milk. A pig and cat also contracted the disease after drinking the milk."

It is necessary to wake up consumers to a sense of the danger. When an official of the Government tells us that only twenty out of over a thousand herds from which Hamilton gets its milk supply are free from tuberculosis, the need for sterilization is painfully obvious. According to Inspector Thornley, only about 2½ per cent. of the city's milk is sold in its crude state; but, small as that percentage is, very great harm could result from its sale. Canada is evidently much ahead of the United States in respect of the pasteurization of milk, judging by statistics just made public by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The report states that "in 1915 more than 70 per cent. of the cities of 75,000 to 100,000 had no pasteurized milk, but during the last year all of them had some part of the supply pasteurized. The increase in pasteurization in small cities is particularly striking. Take, for example, those from 10,000 to 25,000 population. In 1915 about 40 per cent. had pasteurized milk, but in 1921 nearly 61 per cent. had it. Even in cities below 10,000 pasteurization is becoming more common."

It should not be a matter of percentages at all, but the aim in the towns and cities of Canada should be to secure complete pasteurization of the whole supply. The prejudice which exists in the minds of some against the sterilization process is declared by experts to be unfounded. Proper pasteurization is said to leave the nutritive and chemical properties of milk unaffected, while destroying all harmful bacteria. Consumers should protect themselves against parsimonious or unprogressive dealers by insisting on the uniform application of a bylaw in this city enforcing pasteurization in all cases.—Hamilton Spectator.

The Globe expresses The Examiner's position in regard to the Chippawa probe exactly when it says: "To the score of commissions appointed by the Ontario Government another one is to be added for work that can better be done by a House committee. The cost alone is a serious factor."

LITERARY GEMS

THE LIFE OF A LANGUAGE.

Through all the six hundred years of its life as a literary language English has been continually experimenting with novelties and oddities, and when it ceases so to do its vigor will have departed. Its danger now, we fancy, is rather in the jargon of commercial formulae and the stilted circumlocutions of the official than in the luxuriant inventions of youth.—London Daily Telegraph.

Voice of the People

OUR SIDEWALKS.

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—It is raining in the good old-fashioned way, the road is granolithic, nicely curved and the water runs off to sides and soon finds its escape at the manholes.

But the sidewalks are not moulded as well as the roadway. There is enough water on them to make it uncomfortable. There was a time when the long skirts of the women draggled in the water that was held in the slight depressions in the sidewalks. There are now no long skirts, but there are thin stockings, and all but bare legs. The thin stockings expose the skin on the women's legs and the appearance does not suggest comfort. Queer creatures, these women! One day a couple of them took up all the sidewalk and some of the roadway. Nowadays they are on stilts. Queer creatures! I remember well when the bustles suggested a bag of bran to complete the human form. Now they are on animated hop-poles, queer creatures! Our day when hoops were in vogue a little but well known doctor was coming north on George street. It was hot. As the doctor was passing a door two fine large women, mother and daughter, stepped out from a door. They were in resplendent silk; they floated by, filling the sidewalk; the air was redolent with the airs of Araby. The little doctor took off his hat and wiped his brow. The two frigates floated on and the little doctor stepped back to the sidewalk, uttering in his quaint way, "There is nothing like a saloon!"

But I am off my subject, the sidewalks. All the little depressions in them are filled with water, to the discomfort of these thin-soled shoes on these thinly-clad, bare-legged women. So it is to-day! Yesterday the bustles, then the hoops, now the stick-legged girls. Then the dry planked walks, now the cement with every little depression filled with water.

Is it possible to avoid these sloppy granolithic walks? If so, how?

Answer. Take more pains to mix the cement thoroughly, for it will dry out in depressions enough to hold enough water to make it sloppy and uncomfortable for pedestrians.

Make a little more slope towards the outer edge of the walk. What necessity is there for dead level walks. Let the water off at the sides; don't keep it in the inevitable depressions made by uncertain shrinkages made by bad mixing and bad trowelling.

Our City Engineers know so much that one is afraid to suggest anything to them. The sloppy sidewalks are there. Will the City Engineers use a little common sense by insisting on more incline to the curb of the sidewalks. SENEX.

WARSAW, April 13.—Earlier in the season there was reason to fear that the fall grains and meadows were destroyed, but taken as a whole now, they appear to be in good condition. The regular meeting of the U.F.O. took place in the town hall. An egg-circle representative was present in the hope of organizing an egg circle; there would be better prices for eggs, but the eggs must be perfectly good, hens properly cared for, in a sanitary house, eggs collected twice daily, kept in a cool, dry place, stamped on small end, and shipped twice weekly No decision was reached until the members consider the matter.

The conditions are really no more than should be observed at any time by any one. As it is egg buyers allow for a certain percentage of bad eggs and a few other expenses and those who do take care of their eggs take the same price as those who collect them every two or three days and ship once a fortnight.

Quite a full house greeted the first regular weekly movie show in the town hall on Saturday evening. Mr. Wallace Anderson operated the machine Most who were there enjoyed it very much. There were 8 reels.

An Epic of Chicken Soup

My most intimate girl friends lunched with me today.

They were simply wild about my pearls. Jeanne Alison offered to buy them. Said she woud give me twice what I paid. As my college roommate Jeanne takes advantage of her principles.

I was tempted for a minute, but I didn't let her have them. They are my first purchase as a wife. I paid for them the first money my husband gave me. I mean to keep them forever. I'll have them buried with me.

"Twenty-five dollars!" drawled Bonny Tarle, incredulously. "They look to me like twenty thousand dollars!"

Her verdict settled the case. Bonny's opinion about dress and luxuries is final with us girls. Bonny has things such as only a newly rich millionaire father can buy. Bonny has gazed on pearls at Palm Beach and the Riveria and in the best New York and Paris shops.

It was well that my beads gave the girls something interesting to talk about for I had nearly ruined my first informal luncheon! Of course, I never can give anything but informals.

Yet I am determined to do what I can, socially for Jack's sake. Society is a real investment for an ambitious young business man,I think. And so Jack must know the right people.

His family is intellectual. His father is a newsp per man. But not one of them would go across the street to play bridge. Rather, they yould all go clear across town to avoid a game.

So it's plainly up to me to get Jack to going socially. For business reasons. And with friends like the Allisons and Tearles I—we ought to make the grade somehow. But I couldn't put the case so to Jack He'd stall! Jack never must know that I have and social ambitions for him.

Informal, but "different", my first luncheon was to be.

Girls who have butlers at home just love to "play house" sometimes. Jeanne Alison fixed my flowers, but they looked clumpy and I didn't dare rearrange them!

And Bonny salted the salad too much! And I had already spoiled the soup! So my first luncheon nearly was a failure.

I had planned to serve just a few things, quite in the present fashion, dainty, delicious, elegants things, chicken consomme first.

I spent half of yesterday preparing my chicken broth. It was my initial experiment in soup making. I followed the cook book faithfully, using cold water, simmering for hours, etc. Then according to directions I set it in the refrigerator over night so that the fat would harden on top and not drop of grease remain to float conspicuously as an advertisment of my ignorance.

"Strain it-" said the cook book. And this morning I strained it.

But all the time I was wondering whether to wear my pearl beads.

Suddenly I found myself wandering about my kitchen with the dripping strainer in my hand and wodering what to do next. With a shock I came to.

There was nothing to do next!

I had poured my precious chicken consomme down the kitchen sink.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Felix Bernard, ragtime pianist and composer and autor of "Dardanella" the jazz tune that was so poular two year ago, appeared in Supreme Court to suport his declaration that his share of the profits from the song should have been about $30,000 instead of the $100 for which he signed away all rights to the fece. Bernard is seeing to have a bill of sale to McCarthy and Fishe, Inc., the publishers set aside and to compel the latter to account to him for th eroyalties he declares are due to him.

After turning the song over to McCarthy & Fisher, Inc., for ublication, Bernard went on a theatrical tour. While away he received a letter signde by J. Mittenthal, manager for the defendants, saying that his offering was not a sucess, that is would have to be changed, but that he could have $100 for his song and his trouble. Bernard said he believed the stateemnts of Mr. Mittenthal, having faith in the publishers, and accepted the $100 offered.

Bernard estimates the profits on the song at $300,000.

OTTAWA MEN VISIT WILD GOOSE FARM.

OTTAWA, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—As the guests of R. Chamberlain, of the C.P.R., several Ottawans, including Chief of Police Ross, F. FINANCES OF EUROPE

After making the statement that in two years the Russian army had been decreased from 5,360,000 to 1,450,000. he said: "Russia has already disarmed and all will be useless until the greeat massa of gold which really belong to all countries, shall be distributed fairly instead of being concentrated in the hands of a few nations."

Emil Gluckstadt, the Danish delegate, who was a member of the Commission which investigated the financial situation in Austria, urged the imperative necessity of returning rapidly to the gold standard as the real basis of world currency, and thus bring about equilibrium in the budgets. He emphasized the necessity of adopting special measures to restore credit in countries like Germany, Austria and Hungary.

The question as to which subcommission should discuss the question of finances conne d with the reconstruction of the devastated province of France and Belgium arose, and Chairman Horne ruled that it should be taken up by the sub-committee on credit.

Sir Robert outlined the great goal of the Conference as: First. to establish an agreement on the financial problems of all governments; second, to achieve the financial equilibrium of the budgets of all States; and, third, the establishment of the gold standard as an effective monetary unit.

The Russian and German delegates announced that they hoped to-day to submit definite suggestions based on the report of the London experts.

To-day's developments showed distinct progress in the serious application and study of the economic problems of Europe.

In the meantime the plans on which Russia will be permitted to re-enter the comity of nations on the basis of social order prevalent in the remainder of the world is now squarely before the Bolshevik delegates.

Premier Facta of Italy, President of the Conference, left last night for Milan where he will confer with King Victor Emmanuel.

The indication is that the Allies will insist categorically on the main points of the London experts' report as a basis for the Soviets' admission to the world family, though ready to discuss modifications.

The transport commission began its labors to-day and will base its study of that question on the decisions of the conferences of Barcelona and Porto Rosa. Portugal, Switzerland. Poland, Esthonia and Austria will have representatives on this commission, in addition to the Great Powers.

The Conference decided to push its work through Holy Week without suspension.

LONDON, April 13. — The correspondent of the Daily Herald (labor organ), at the Genoa conference, says that according to a statement made privately by Premier Facta on Tuesday, recognition of Soviet Russia is now an accomplished fact.

Premier Facta, says the correspondent, admitted that a common understanding was reached among the allies that meeting with the Russians on the basis of the Cannes conditions implied mutual recognition by the convening powers and the powers conv ned.

BATTLE ON CHIPPAWA

that he was opposed to a Royal Commission, so when it was made a vote of confidence, he had either to swallow his already announced convictions or vote a want of confidence in the Government. He regretted that he was put in such a position, and if his presence in the Government ranks was in any way embarrassing to the Ministry as a result of his vote on Tuesday night, he was ready to move to some other part of the House.

Premier Drury made it clear that he took no exception to the action of Mr. Casselman in voting against the amendment, every member had a perfect right to vote on it as he saw fit There was no coercion of the Government followers to support the measure.

Minister of Agriculture Doherty took a similar view.

A general discussion followed on the fight of the day before, perhaps the most notable expression being that of H. H. Dewart, who claimed the amendment making it a vote of confidence had been deliberately framed to force Liberals, who did not wish to see the present Government put out of power, either voting against the Ferguson resolution which was the adoption of the suggestion of the Liberal leader or vote against the Government. It had not been fair, he claimed, that members who had given the administration generous support ever since it came into office, should be treated in this way, as he had no doubt several of the Liberals who supported the amendment, as a vote of confidence would have supported a committee of the House to conduct the Chippawa probe under other circumstances.

Z. Mageau (Sturgeon Falls), one of the Liberals who voted on Tuesday night for the Government, took issue with Mr. Dewart, and claimed he had voted for a Commission because he was against a committee of the House, and was not guided by whether it was a vote of confidence or not.

Sam Clark (Northumberland), another of the Liberals who voted for the amendment, disagreed with Mr. Dewart's objection. He warned the Government that it should not be guided by what he termed was the "bluffing" of Hon. Howard Ferguson, who, he said, was an astute politician and a clever man, but he was playing politics for the Tories and any advice he would give would be in the interests of the Tories, not of the Government.

A number of Government members expressed admiration for the independence displayed by Mr Casselman, and said there was no hostile feeling to him on that side of the House because he had chosen to vote against the Government.

Thomas Marshall (Lincoln), in moving for returns in respect to Toronto University, read the minutes of the meeting of the Rockefeller Foundation, by which the grants of $1,000,000 were made to McGill and Toronto Universities. The conditions were similar in the two instances in regard to the extensions of buildings for medical instruction in the Universities, but there were two further conditions affecting the grant to Toronto University that were not laid down in connection with the grant to McGill. One of these was an annual increase in the salaries in the Faculty of Medicine of $45,000, and another was that the number of students be restricted to prevent overcrowding of medical students in the University.

Mr. Marshall took the position that if these minutes were correct, some person from the University must have made the suggestion to the foundation that these restrictions be placed there because that body would hardly, of its own accord, go into such details.

Mr. Marshall expressed the opinion that the University was not accomplishing all it should because the graduate body was prevented from co-operating in the management and progress of the institution. The Act now governing the University should be either amended or repealed. The present Government of it by a Board of Managers, nearly all of whom were appointed by the Government and headed by the President, should be superceded by the Senate, which formerly occupied an important position in the management of the University, and was largely elected by graduates of that institution. He contended that every college graduate had a love for that institution, and was anxious to join in aiding in its growth and prosperity, but under the present system Varsity grads were prevented from taking any part in its Government. He also thought that the Board of Management had too wide powers in regard to the selection of professors, which could only be selected from a list submitted by the President, and urged that a dean of the faculty should be elected by that faculty.

Premier Drury expressed appreciation for the suggestions Mr. Marshall had given, and said he agreed the Province was not getting the results from it which should be expected. Whether it was lack of democracy or what the cause was, he was not prepared to say. It needed a lot of careful consideration.

The debate will be continued on this question at a later date.

T. H. Lennox (York North) continued his speech on the Budget, with an attack on the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act, reading a list of names of men who, he said, were in the employ of the Government in connection with the enforcement of this Act, and who, he claimed, were lawbreakers, many of them well-known.

CHEERS FOR WOMAN.

LONDON, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—General cheers greeted the selection of Mrs. Margaret Wintringham, Independent Liberal member for Louth, as the first woman to check the votes in the House of Commons in a division lobby. The vote was on an amendment moved by Mrs. Wintringham by which she sought to have women police retained on the London force, but she was unsuccessful.

GLOWING TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF SIR JOHN EATON.

Late Merchant Prince a Generous Benefactor of Omemee Village and Institutions.

Omemee News.

OMEMEE, April 13.—In the death of Sir John Eaton, the citizens of Omemee feel that they have lost a real friend, and deep is the sympathy that goes out from this village to his bereaved wife, mother and family. Sir John since his marriage, has been a familiar figure in Omemee and his visits here were always looked forward to with great pleasure. Through the generosity of Sir John and his most estimable wife, who is familiarly known as "Our Fairy God-Mother", Omemee citizens have been enabled to hear in their village much of Toronto's best musical talent.

When the first intimation of the seriousness of his illness reached the village, special prayers were offered for his recovery and for a time it seemed as though the prayers of the people were to be answered. It was with real sorrow that the news of a replase was received, and only to be followed all to quickly by his death. The news cast a deep gloom throughout the village and countryside and flags were half-masted.

On Monday, the day of the funeral, by order of Mr. Chas. Parsons, Toronto, the tannery was closed at two o'clock and did not re open that day, in honor of Omemee's greatest benefactor.

In 1907, the occasion of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. McCrea, parents of Lady Eaton, Sir John and his estimable wife placed in the Methodist Church a handsome pipe organ, in commemoration of the event. In 1910 a splendid parsonage, fully furnished, was presented to the Church in memory of Lady Eaton's father. In 1912 Coronation Hall was erected and presented to the village.

At the outbreak of the world-war a number of handsome all-wool flags and set of silk flags of the Allies were sent to the village for decorative purposes. In 1917, the 109th Battalion colors, which were presented to the Battalion in Lindsay in 1916, were dedicated and placed in the Methodist Church in Omemee.

The return of our first war hero, Mr. Chas. Banks, was marked by a wonderful reception, for which several of Toronto's best talent along with the Oshawa Boy Scouts bugle band in charge of Major W. Eaton was brought to the village.

If space would permit, one might go on and mention many other things, such as the oiling of our streets, the rare hot-house flowers which reached the home church on every festive occasion.

Omemee citizens share in the sorrow throughtout Canada, and the memory of the man who endeared himself to so many, will ever remain green in the hearts of the people.

Results Twice as Quickly

The reason IRONIZED YEAST brings such remarkable results is because it embodies a new scientific process which enables yeast to bring its great benefits often in just half the usual time.

Yeast alone is good, but tests show that it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert its wonderful health-building elements into firm tissue, rosy cheeks and sparkling vitality.

The New Process

Everyone knows that iron is of great value in converting our food into living cells and tissue. So working on this problem, our scientists finally discovered the wonderful process of Ironization—the process through which the combination of yeast and iron becomes 100 per cent efficient.

Do not think, however, that any combination of yeast and iron will do. Yeast brings its best and quickest results only when it is treated through the scientific process of ironization. And this process is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, the one scientifically correct yeast treatment.

Make This Startling Test!

You simply will not believe what wonderful benefits IRONIZED YEAST holds for you until you try it. Mail the coupon NOW! Note how IRONIZED YEAST brings an almost immediate increase in your energy. See how quickly your complexion begins to take on a new freshness and charm. Note how it fills you with a new buoyancy—how it gives you a new enthusiasm—how it just seems to completely "youthify" you, and make you glad that you are alive! Mail coupon at once!

BODY OF ERNEST EDWARDS WAS FOUND IN A DUMMER BARNYARD

Remains Brought to Peterborough This Morning, Where An Inquest Will Be Held—Police Notified

An inquest will be opened in the Police Court here this afternoon by Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer, to enquire into the death of Ernest Edwards, whose lifeless body was found on his farm in Dummer Township yesterday afternoon, by John Williamson, of Norwood, owner of the farm, the lease of which was held by Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards, mother of the boy.

Edwards, 19 years of age, was last seen by his mother on Monday noon, when she ate dinner with him. She then went to pay a visit to the Hill family, between the seventh and eighth lines of Dummer, and did not return until last night.

In the meantime, John Williamson, the owner of the farm, a retired farmer living near the village, who had been making maple syrup, went out to empty the pails. In going past the Edwards' barn, he noticed the body of the youth lying face downwards about five feet from the barn. There were no exterior marks or violence and no signs of a scuffle. The clothing was soaked through, and from all appearances had been there since Monday.

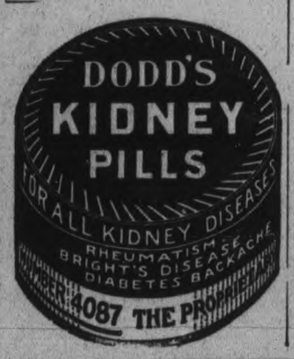
Constable Isaac Puffer, of Norwood, was notified immediately. Accompanied by R. B. Peacock, undertaker at Norwood, he drove to the farm and brought the body to Norwood. This morning the remains were transferred to Peterborough via the 7.35 C.P.R. train, for inquest.

Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards, mother of the boy, was resident of Peterborough up until last fall. She, with four small children under 14, a son John, sixteen years of age, employed at the Quaker Oats factory, and a daughter, Beatrice of fourteen, working at the Auburn Mills, lived at 594 Waterford street. An older son, Roland, was away from home most of the time and the dead boy, Ernest, was enlisted during 1921 in the American Army, and stationed at Camp Benning, Georgia.

Mrs. Edwards was taken on the list of the local branch of the Mothers' Allowance Commission early in 1021, and made an allowance for the younger children, under fourteen years of age. When she moved to Centre Dummer, her case was transferred to the case of the County Board of the Mothers' Allowance Commission. Subsequently, however, the grant was discontinued, as the case apeared to be simply one of a shiftless, idle family which demanded support from any source rather than engage in any sort of honest labour. The home was described here as being badly kept, lacking in cleanliness and the requisites of decent living.

By some persuasion or other, the son was released from service in the American Army and came home, to help his mother, so it was said. This turned out to be no help at all. Mrs. Edwards habitually broke the rules under which the allowance was paid, and the older members of the family gave her no assistance whatever. The allowance was therefore stopped. While living here, the mother also received assistance from city relief.

Ernest Edwards was known in the community of Norwood as "The American Soldier." He had many friends and few enemies. It was recalled by the police this morning that a neighbor living on the same road is bound over by the law to keep the peace as a result of threats made to get Edwards last fall. It is alleged that he threatened to "get" Edwards as a result of some fracas between his boys and Edwards. However, until it has been settled by the coroner's jury that there has been foul play, the police hesitate to cast suspicion on anyone. A peculiar circumstance in the relations of the family with their neighbors was an instance that occurred some time ago. One of the younger boys had trouble with a neighbor's son, and the neighbor, in retaliation, bound the Edwards boy with ropes, and brought him into Norwood at the end of a rope, with a whip over his back. Drivers along the road witnessed the peculiar spectacle of the bound lad with his captor coming into court.



PROSPECTS GOOD FOR MANITOBA.

Greater Acreage and Good Conditions Point to a Bumper Wheat Crop For the West.

No Grasshoppers.

WINNIPEG, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)— With an early spring well on the way, plenty of moisture guaranteed for early months, a bumper crop was predicted for Manitoba in 1922 by Hon. G. H. Malcolm, Minister of Agriculture, when discussing the general situation yesterday.

"There has never been as much land plowed and ready for seed as there is this year," Mr. Malcolm said. The acreage in shape for immediate work is placed at 4,902,650 acres as compared with 4,328,200 in -921. These figures do not include the spring plowing which will be under way within the next fortnight. The total average sown to crop last year was 7,415,037.

The districts which have been infested with grasshoppers during the past three years are free of the pest this year, as nearly as may be judged at this time, and Mr. Malcolm declared yesterday that he did not believe these pests would be a menace this year.

HEADS THACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag al g with a head that aches and ains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS,

which has been on the market for the past forty five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off fr the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

RANEY REPLIES IN THE HOUSE TO LENNOX CHARGES.

Leaves Question of Releasing Liquor Under Certain Conditions to Judgment of Legislature.

TORONTO April 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general, replied in Legislature last night to charges made by Herbert Lennox that the Attorney-General deparment recently offered to release liquor seized at Fort Frances if assured that it would be shipped out of Ontario to British Columbia or some other place.

He read a statement from James Hales, chairman of the License Board, which said in effect that the company had been asked if it would be willing to ship liquor out of Ontario to some place to which it could be lawfully sent. Mr. Hales assumed no responsibility for mentioning the province to which the company should send the liquor. Mr. Raney said he left the issue to the judgment of the house.

Earlier in the day Mr. Lennox hurled more charges in connection with enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act across the floor of the House. He named instances where he claimed the License Department had employed criminals in enforcing the act and gave names and dates as well as presenting to the house sworn testimony of court witnesses as to his authority. Criminals thugs, perjurers and worse, said Mr. Lennox had heretofore participated in enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. He also charged that women had been employed by the Department al officials ,and that records showed payments to them.

NEW INDUSTRIAL WORKS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—In the course of a general discussion in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, before the Easter adjournment, Former Premier H. H. Asquith criticized the working of the administration of the Safeguarding of Industries Act, which he described as a luckless measure, scouted equally by free traders and protectionists.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, President of the Board of Trade, said he always had taken the view that that part of the Act dealing with the key industries was a useful piece of legislation. He said he hoped to see substantial progress made in the number of valuable industries established under the Act, so that when it lapsed these industries might be able to face any competition which they would have to contend with. Reports of a distinctly cheering character were coming in from fine chemical industries, Mr. Baldwin said, and this was the case also with other industries. He expressed the belief that his most sanguine hopes regarding the encouragement of industries would be realized.

PERHAPS ONE REASON why Suits have become more important members of the apparel family is because they have been created this season is so many variations. There are the new Tweed Suits, which already have become a large success. Such clever interesting modes as the box coat tailleurs of twill with a clever touch of Wallachian embroidery; Costume Suits of beautiful fabrics. We know they are the very best value procurable. Commencing at $35 and going slowly upward to $75.

Tweed Suits from $32.50 to $45

Finely Tailored Tweed Suits at such prices is really quite an achievement—especially so when the fabrics are of such serviceable qualities. You will be surprised at the unusual amount of wear you'll get from a Tweed Suit—a full measure of distinction, too, for in this group are such attractive colors as horizon blue, rose, beige, lavender and tan.

The Dimity Blouse is Admirably Adapted to the Suit

Here is a lovely and novel range. They are Irish dimities in stripe and check patterns and trimmed in alluring ways with small checked ginghams—down the front, on the cuffs and sometimes forming a pleated edge for the collar. There are plain white dimities, too, if you prefer. Very moderately priced at $4.95.

The Indispensable Wrap in Cape, Coat or Wrap Styles

To fit the Wrap to the occasion is a simple matter, for displays have the spice of variety. A long season's wear ahead is a practical reason for immediate selection. Styles include Swagger Coats of velinette and English novelty cloths, Capes in a good assortment of fabrics and colors, dressy Wraps and dapper little Sports Coats in very gay colors. They range in price all the way from $18.75 to $75.

A Colored Organdie Blouse at $3.95

You can have orchid or blue, and they come in just the neatest pleated styles imaginable. They have semi-tuxedo collars and long sleeves. The pleating is the only relief, but that is sufficient, for they are quite lovely as they are.

The Easter Millinery

Where are the Hats of yesterday? Certainly not in this superb collection that awaits your coming. All manner of kinds to suit the many types of face and harmonize with the great variety of costumes. Coquettish drooping brims with draped veils that just skirt the eyes, radiant turned-up ones that conceal nothing and allow the sunlight to illuminate the face, and keenly interesting are the trimmings—flowers, fruits, embroideries, beadings and ribbons in dashing and sombre tones.

Every week the scene changes—new ones arrive as others pass out. If you inspected them a little while ago, you can do so again and a new lot will greet you.

On the Underskirt Racks Are Many Colors

Some very delightful creations of habutai, satin and jersey in coral, rose, Pekin, American beauty, Paddy, navy and black. Their pleatings and dashes of contrasting colors make a strong appeal to your sense of the artistic. There is a particularly fine range priced from $6.50 to $7.50.

Hosiery to Keep Company with the New Footwear

Nothing escapes the eye of the critic on Easter Morn. The minutest details of the Costume come in for scrutiny—from the tip of the toes to the highest pinnacle of the Hat, and in these days of short skirts it would be impossible to overlook the Stockings.

In these of Silk, a stitch has been dropped, here and there, to obtain a pretty, lacey stripe effect. You can have Black or Brown, and the price is only $1.25 and $1.00 pair.

If you prefer a plain Silk Stocking, we recommend "Holeproof" with ribbed tops. Obtainable in Black, Brown, and Navy. Priced at $2.00 pair.

Silk and Wool Mixtures are finding favour, particularly these Grey and Black and Brown and Fawn combinations with dropped stitches, here and there, that give the appearance of ribbing. Priced at $2.00 pair.

If It Rained on Easter Morn A Parasol Would Be Very Useful

Ornamental, too, for the beautiful bakelite rings and stems are truly a work of art. The tops are the useful parts and the makers have seen to it that they are capable of withstanding a downpour.

At $8.50 a fine variety of handles and silk and wool tops with taped edges. At $7.50 the handles are a little less elaborate, but ornate nevertheless. The tops are silk and wool and the edges are taped. There are others at $6.50, $5, $3.50 and $2.50. They all represent the best procurable at their respective prices.

New Neckwear Pieces to Gladden the Heart and Smarten the Costume

It is the little, seemingly insignificant things such as Collar or Cuffs that really give the costume the final note of smartness. Realizing this, we selected them with great care, and we believe you'll agree that they are just the loveliest Easter assemblage you have ever seen.

Chamois Cloth Collars, almost like suede. They come in fawn shades and tuxedo shape and the edges are bound with a narrow strip of leather in a color to correspond with the eyelet embroidery work. Choice of fawn with brown, fawn with navy and fawn with Paddy. Priced at $1.75.

Organdie Collar and Cuff Sets in white have neatly hemstitched edges and prettily patterned corners. Priced at $2.50.

A RECITAL

(By Jeannette.)

A pleasant musical recital was given at Heintzman Hall last evening, before an appreciative audience that filled the large store to the doors. The programme was brief and well-balanced, vocal and instrumental selections providing a very enoyable evening of music.

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park's lovely voice was heard to great advantage in several numbers, including a minor, pianissimo "Lullaby" that preluded in strong contract the high toned, full-voiced, vibrant measures of her second solo, "Before the Dawn." An old English ballad, "The Bailiff's Daughter of Islington," was charmingly rendered, with a Scotch encore.

Mr. M. Park sang with great feeling and expression, "When the Shadows Gather," and Leon Cavallo's dainty "Mattinata," with 'All the Roses in June" splendidly rendered by the fine tenor voice. Mr. and Mrs. Park gave the duet, "The Garden of My Heart," to applause that compelled a repetition of the beautifully-blended offering.

Mr. Tom Smith excelled last evening with his rendition on the 'cello of two favorites, Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the "Traumerei," with "Salut d'Amour" as an encore. These numbers' brought out with fine effect Mr. Smith's excellence in a broad ,singing tone.

Mr. Leslie Unitt's two solo numbers, with their accomapnying encores, were further exhibitions of the ease and facility with which he handles the piano. The "Sextette from Lucia" was a difficult arrangement for the left hand only, rendered with skillful precision, with a brief bit of rippling sweetness in a "Valse," and a sparkling staccato encore. Mr. Unitt played the evening's accompaniments also with sympathetic expression.

Two phonograph selections that were much appreciated were the clear, plaintive inflections of the old favorite, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," and an exquisite ten rendition of the Berceuse, from "Joselyn."

AIRMAN KILLED

LONDON, April 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Lieut. Bennett, an engineer, who was planning to accompany Sir Ross and his brother, was also killed in the airplane accident to-day. The machine which crashed, was the one the Smiths intended to use on their flight. It had just been handed over to Sir Ross by Capt. Conkerill of the Vickers Company, who had flown it for thirty minutes. As Sir Ross was approaching the airdome, the machine went into a spin and crashed.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Many People Think it is Due to Kidney Trouble.

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and result is a sensation of pain in those muscles. Some people think pain in the back means kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache seldom has anything to do with the kidneys. Organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. This being the case, pain in the back should warn lead the sufferer to look to the condition of his blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the sensation of pain in ill-nourished muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give away to alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst. But in any event you should keep the blood in good condition and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are highly recommended.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co, Brockville Ont.

ODESSA HAS HARD STRUGGLE FOR EXISTENCE

Sixty Factories Have to Be Re-built and Financed By Foreign Capital — High Cost of Living.

ODESA, Apjril 13.—This once rich port on the Ukraine is struggling to regain some of its former prosperity but it looks like a long hard struggles for its 60 factories must first be r built and financed by foreign capital. Just now there is none to be had.

How difficult will be Odessa's climb back to business may ge gathered from the fact that of 80,000 workmen employed about her port and in her industries before the big wa, but 10,000 now have any sort of work. All are Soviet employees.

The chief production of the 12 factories in operation is in leather, argricultural, machinery, grain bags, nails, cloth, varnish, shoes glass, and very poor material.

The cost of production is contantly varying with the exchange the price of food and labor and at present time no fair comparisons could be made with imported goods.

The cost of labor so far has been negligible due to the forced nationalization of factories and mobilization of workmen but it is steadily increasing as the men are free to find work. Those employed on piece work can earn daily about 300,000 roubles, or 60 cents, or the regular wage scale is 100,000 roubles or 20 cents. But these figures are unreliable, as workers often get permission to do outside work, receive a little food in addition or else their thefts of goods are winked.

It requires a minimum of 200,000 roubles daily or about 35c to feed one person. Rent is free. A pair of shoes costs $10 to $15; a poor suit of clothes twice as much.

It may be said that the working men have lost vastly in a material sense by the revolution. To-day his cry is for bread and bread only. If it is an advantage, the working men now partly control this city, one of the richest and most comfortable one of all Europe and, perhaps destined to be so again, in the years to come when its 60 old factories are rebuilt and reorganized through private capital. This capital must come from abroad. In pre-war days 60 percent of the industries were owned by French, German, Austrian, and English firms and directed by them.

The prosperity of these industries depended on production of wheat, sugar and hemp in the rich black earth hinterland of the Ukraine. When that hinterland is restored with seed grain, agricultural machines, horses and sows and intelligent farmers in the next couple of years, then the city will again raise its head, repaint and repair its handsome buildings and homes and again be called Russia's Chicago.

FIREMEN HAD A RUN TO NORTH WARD.

Although the firemen made a long run to Water Street North at 10.45 to-day, in answer to an alarm from Box 48, they arrived only to find that a man going by had gallantly came to the help of Mrs. R. Parnell, 789 Water Street, extinguishing the blaze in the oven that was causing all the trouble.

Paris is trimming her new tailored gowns with an abundance of narrow braid.

A GALA NIGHT WITH LOCAL ODDFELLOWS

With that spirit of true fraternal brotherhood, which strikingly radiates from Oddfellowship the world over, will quite a number of Oddfellows from out of town be greeted by their local Encampment brethren to-morrow, Good Friday. The occasion will be the annual District Encampment meeting, I.O.O.F.—always held on Good Friday — when district brethren gather in Peterborough to see degree work exemplified, to say nothing of fraternizing, under the joint auspices of this city's two Encampments.

Commencing at 1.30 p.m. in the local lodge rooms, three degrees will be conferred by degree teams representing Victoria Encampment, Port Hope, Hiawatha and Mt. Hebron Encampments, Peterborough, in the presence of visiting brethren from Lindsay, Lakefield, Millbrook and Havelock.

An outstanding feature of this auspicious event will be the attendance of Grand Patriarch Walter Cross of Hamilton, accompanied by Grand Scribe John A. MacDonald, of Toronto. A gifted speaker and exponent of Encampment work and symbols, the Grand Master will unquestionably on this, his first visit to Peterborough, bring a message which should stimulate and instruct.

Peterborough Encampments both enjoy an enviable reputation as hospitable hosts, and no doubt on Friday evening they will entertain their guests handsomely, thus sustaining, if not excelling their good repute in that regard.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Canadian Press.) — Further selling for profits in anticipation of to-morrow's recess caused some irregularity of prices at the outset of to-day's stock market, but gains exceeded losses. Pierce Arrow common and preferred, American Woollen, Royal Dutch, Shell Trading and Famous Players scored early gains of one to two points. Coppers, Shippings, Leathers and Sugars also made moderate gains, but Canadian Pacific was the only active rail to display firmness. Mexican Petroleum, Bethlehem Steel, Peoples Gas and Lehigh Valley forfeited large fractions. Cables announcing another reduction in the Bank of England rate contributed little to the strength of Foreign Exchange.

Reactionary tendencies were largely overcome before the end of the first hour. The four per cent. opening rate for call loans, which also applied to renewals into the coming week, was an encouraging development. Motors and their various accessories made further substantial advances and Tobaccos, notably Tobacco Products were one to almost three points higher. Mercantile Marine Preferred gained 2 1-2 points and Food Specialties, such as Loose Wiles Wilson and Jewel Tea Prfd. advanced one to three points.

The feature of the Railway Division was the substantial gains registered by the Common and Preferred Shares of Gulf Mobile and Northern Railroads.

Buying of high-priced Industrial shares and expanded dealings in low priced Railroads featured early afternoon dealings. Popular stocks crept steadily upwards with Oils and Motors most active. Tidewater Oil, Electric Storage Batery, Fisher Body, Associated Oil and American Woollens ruled three to four points higher. Gulf Mobile and Northern Preferred soared six points and large gains were also registered by Reading, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific Pfd., Baltimore and Ohio and Chicago and Eastern Illinois Pfd.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 13.—(Canadian Press). — Trading eased off somewhat from yesterday's brisk pace on the local Stock Exchange during the first half-hour this morning. Brazilian sold up to 45 this morning, after closing at 44¼. Abitibi also registered a gain of 3-4 to 49. Brompton was up ¼ at 26¼, while Canada Steamships was down 3-4 to 18. Consolidated Smelters sold around 23 3-4 during the early trading this morning. It closed at 24. Steel of Canada was off a half point at 70.

TORONTO STOCK MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—There was a marked let up in the volume of business transacted on the Toronto Stock Exchange during this morning's session. Brazilian lost 3-8 at 44; Canada Bread sold off 3-4 to 29 3-4; Steel of Canada lost ½ at 69½, and Quebec Railway lost 3-4 at 26. Winnipeg Railway, on fairly active trading, advanced 1 point to 45. Mackay advanced ¼ to 90 3-4 while Abitibi, at the close of [illegible] was one higher than last [illegible]. More bank stocks than usual made an appearance on the board, but trading was mostly in odd lots. Prices show but little change.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts 750; trade strong. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $7.50 to $8.65; butcher cows, medium, $4 to $5; butcher steers, choice, $8 to $8.75; calves, $10 to $11; lambs, $6 to $15; hogs, selects, $13.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—The opening wheat prices which ranged from 1-2 to 1 3-4 higher with May 1.31 1-2 to 1.32 and July 1.21 1-4 to 1.22 1-2 was followed by slight further gains and then something of a reaction.

Corn and oats sympathized with the wheat advance. After opening 1-8 to 3-8 higher July 63 1-4 to 63 3-8. The Corn market climbed a little more previous to any setback. Oats started unchanged to 1-8 to 1-4 up, July 39 7-8 to 40 and then continued firm.

BETTER GARDEN TIPS

BY LUTHER BURBANK

MRS. LUTHER BURBANK ILLUSTRATES HER HUSBAND'S GARDEN TIPS.

PLANT NEEDS.

The average impression is, particularly among beginners, that plants get their food chiefly from the earth.

BURBANK

As a matter of fact they take little food from the soil, extracting a great deal of carbon from the air which, plus sunlight and oxygen and other chemical foods, go to make up the ideal and complete plant diet.

And that brings us down to the matter of watering the garden.

DON'T GIVE THEM TOO MUCH WATER!

In fact, it's often best to be a bit stingy with them. I have commented on how plants resemble humans and here we have a demonstration.

Let them GET THIRSTY and they will appreciate water all the more when they get it.

Don't water the garden each day. That is a mistake made by all too many beginners.

You must, of course, watch to see that the young plants are not wilting.

In many eastern states the rains provide practically enough water to take care of a garden, but that is not true in all places.

Remember this: too much water chills the ground and hardens it and, in the end, does more damage than good.

To-morrow Burbanks tells of seeds and how to plant.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take Tablespoonful of Salts if the Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid but become weak from the overwork—they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

On the Night before Wash Day

DO this, and you will have a pleasant, easy, work-free wash-day—with wonderfully clean sweet clothes:

For each tub of clothes take half a package of Rinso, dissolve in just enough cool water to make it as thick as cream. Then stir in two quarts of boiling water, and stir well. When the bubbles disappear you will have a clear, amber-colored liquid that is the magical Rinso washing solution. Pour it into your tub of cool or lukewarm water, and put in the clothes and soak. For extra hard water or extra dirty clothes add more Rinso solution.

In the morning rinse thoroughly and hang out to dry—the washing is done! That's why Rinso is difierent from all other Soaps and Washing Powders.

Extent of Work Undertaken By The Peterboro' Health Society

Character of Work is Branching Out Into That of Hygien and Normal Living---Attend the Motor Show

A glance at the annual report of the visiting nurse of the Peterboro Health Association gives an idea of the extent of the work undertaken a work about which very little is said during the year, but which goes on from day to day with clock work regularity. The vision of a busy little car with its lady driver intent on visitation to houses spread throughout the city is the closest some people ever get to the realization of the work of the Association When one considers the fact that this car and its driver are always bent on errands of mercy, not mere social visits, but calls where advice, help, food, supplies, comfort and encouragement are constantly being supplied to weary shut-in sufferers who, in many cases, would be absolutely unable to procure anything of the sort unaided, one gets some idea of the magnitude and the scope of such an all-embracing Christianity.

One hundred and forty patients were visited during the year of 1921, some twice a day, with a total of 1,356 visit paid in the general work. In the tubercular section, with sixteen patients, 572 visits were made.

Milk and eggs in large quantities medicine, beds mattresses, air cushions, blankets, a coal oil stove, soap stones, are included in the list of supplies given out. In one instance, a child with club feet was sent to the Sick Children's Hospital, with the result in one illuminating, brief sentence: "The child is now attending school and can run and play as other children."

Another line; "In some cases chil dren were given tea three times a day bcause it had to be made for the rest of the family, and milk was too expensive and thought unnecessary. Malnutrition was the result, but since milk has been supplied for the children they have shown a marked improvement."

In the tubercular section, a little Indian girl of eight years of age, suffering with tuberculosis in the bones of the feet, was sent to the Sick Children's Hospital. She is now quite recovered and is attending school.

The scope of the work undertak en by the Association, and its far-reaching character may be guaged by the remark of the visiting nurse in her report, which includes so much actual visiting, attention and careful supervision, with "The character of the work is branching out into that of hygiene, ventilation and healthful normal living generally."

Anyone patronizing the Motor Show next week, besides, having a good time, will be conscious of a certain part in one of the most charitable good works of the community.

SHE HAS SERVED ON EIGHT JURIES; SAYS IT IS EVERY WOMAN'S DUTY

"If women are to take a place on the plane of men they must not shirk jury duty."

That's the way Miss Anna Gustafson, stenographer in the American Plate Glass Co., at Kane, Pa., feels about it.

And to practice what she preaches she has served on a jury on eight occasions. Once the eleven other jurors, all men, elected her foreman of the jury.

Miss Gustafson was first summoned with 25 other women. Most all of these were excused on the housework plea.

She offered no excuse at all, preferring to do her duty, as she calls it.

"Women should take more interest in public affairs," she says. "Any woman, with a conscientious understanding of right and wrong, can render a just verdict if she pays attention to the evidence and the judge's charge."

MISS ANNA GUSTAFSON.

THURSDAY CLUB AND THE CLINIC

The Thursday Club continues to act with the King's Daughters, who provide light refreshments for the open meetings, as a sort of auxiliary to the activites of the Well Babies' Clinic. In the month of March alone, several complete outfits for infants were provided by the Thursday Club to augment the work of the Clinic, in looking after the mothers and babies of the city.

One of the cases under special supervison by Well Babies' Clinic just now, is that of a small mite which was weaned at three weeks, and during three months thereafter had eight different kinds of food tried on it. It lost weight rapidly under this regime. Finally, as a last resort, in order to save its life, a wet nurse was procured by the management of the clinic, and the little thing is improving rapidly.

Another instance of the all-round endeavours which come within the scope of the Clinic's daily work was that of the child very ill at home, whose mother was in the hospital. The nurse discovered the sick, lonely child on her calls, sent for the doctor gave medicine and applied mustard plasters under his direction, and stayed with the ailing little thing until the father came home. The child has now entirely recovered.

DEATH DESCRIBED BY CONAN DOYLE.

HOW YOU CAN REMOVE EVERY TRACE OF HAIR

(Toilet Talks)

A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. Mix fresh as wanted.

HAVE PROHIBITED PUBLIC MEETINGS.

DUBLIN, April 13. — (Canadian Press).—The rebel section of the Irish Republican Army having prohibited all public meetings on any side of the western district of Ireland, the Mayor of Sligo asked Arthur Griffith if he intended to fulfil his engagement to speak there Sunday. Mr. Griffith replied that the Dail had not authorized any interference with the right of public meetings and free speech, "and I, as president of the Dail, will go to Sligo on Sunday."

EASTER COLORS.

Different colors seem to be associated with differnt seasons. What would Christmas be without its red and green and gold, or the 17th of Ireland without its emerald tones, Hallowe'en would be tame minus the orange and black of its prancing pumpkins and witches, and at Easter time, we have mauves and whites and pale yellows. No other colors would do.

Dainty little silvered cards are in the stores, with Easter-tide mottoes, pussy willows and lilies and violets decorating their spotless whiteness. Fuzzy small yellow chicks and round-eyed brown bunnies are the symbols of the season, peeping from tiny houses and standing erect on funny little legs. They draw miniature carts with small maidens as luggage, and prance with Mad March hares on decorative crene paper.

Chocolate biddies are in most of the stores, too. Dark brown sweetmeats with white fillings and white-trimmed exteriors. And there are Easter eggs in cunning small cartons, and poached eggs on saucers, in yellow and white sugars. Mauve and yellow miniature parasols wait for tiny rain drops in decorative windows, the absurd, jaunty little frilled things that make one think of the old song:

"A health unto the happy ones,
A fig for him who frets,
It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining violets."

"ISN'T IT FUNNY WHAT A DIFFERENCE A FEW YEARS MAKE"---IN EASTER BONNETS

MISS 1862

Tracing back to the days of the Civil War girl. She wore an Easter bonnet with wide crown swatched in ostrich feathers. A few flowers peeped through on a brim of black taffeta above and white silk underneath.

MISS 1872

Saucy, to say the least, was the be-feathered bonnet worn by fair Easter paraders a half a century ago. White ostrich plumes cascaded down over a brim just wide enough to cast a shadow over the brow.

MISS 1882

She could come to town in her Quaker gown and bonnet—would the Miss of 1882. Soft straw cover, with gray silk and trimmed with shy pink roses. This gave a youthful look and appealed to the youth of that day.

MISS 1892

Introducing the last word in chicness and dash. It prevailed just thirty years ago on Easter morn. 'Twas a sailor bonnet with pert crown and saucy brim. Ostrich feathers dropped far down over the side.

MISS 1902

Like the headgear of proud cavaliers was the hat which the early twentieth century girls wore on Easter morn. There was a wide brim of flower embroidered silk and a drooping ostrich feather at the side.

MISS 1912

Only ten years ago—yet Miss 1912 peeps at us from a bonnet that would appear very queer in this day. Truly a picture hat, it was exceptionally large with parasol brim of flowered silk and graceful ostrich feathers covering the brim.

MISS 1922

Here we are, up to date! Ostrich feathers, after a run of 50 years have passed out. And Milady of the present day steps forth in an unique bonnet of woven straw with clusters of color silk and a dash of ribbon.

She Found Success Through Designing Inexpensive Little "Love Nest" Homes

This is a story of ambition—of a woman's ambition to be "somebody" and win success in the face of overwhelming odds.

It introduces Miss Elsie M. Lempke, of Chicago, Ill., the first of her sex to be given the general management of a million dollar manufacturing plant.

Miss Lempke came by her reward because she says "my hopes were in the people." I wanted to do something for them that was good and worth while. No success can come otherwise."

Began as Typist.

Today this young woman who began life as a typist heads the entire nation- business of a firm which manufactures demountable houses—the kind that come shipped to you all ready to be put up.

She came to a realization of her "success goal" by thoroughly demonstrating that she could supervise the planning and construction of homes better than a man.

Just recently she drew plans for a five-room house and is selling hundreds of the model to home-builders all over the country for $498, ready to sleep and eat in.

In Right Element.

"That illustrates why I made good," she says. "Home building is principally a woman's art. I simply got in my right element.

"The recent house shortage inspired me to still greater efforts. I wanted to cut down the cost of living.

"Then I designed the house that costs only $498.

MISS ELSIE M. LEMPKE AND THE HOUSE SHE DESIGNED.

"I've made lots of folk happy with these little love nests. And by doing so I've brought happiness to myself.

"Lessen the cost of living and you're made. That's the sum and substance of it all."

MILLBROOK RINK HELD A MEETING.

Officers Elected For the Year—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, April 13. — The annual meeting of the Millbrook Rink Company was held on Monday evening, the president, Mr. Joseph Lancashire, in the chair. There was a good attendance of the members, and the financial report presented by the secretary-treasurer, Mr. W. T. Wood, was quite satisfactory.

During the discussion of business items a committee, consisting of Messrs. R. H. Edmunds, W. E. Ball, and J. Lancashire, was apointed to inquire about the feasibility and the cost of enlarging the present waiting room before another winter, as the accommodation on the nights when the skaters are using the rink is altogether too limited.

The following officers were elected:
President—H. B. Allen.
Vice-president—W. E. Ball.
Secy.-treas.—W. T. Wood.
Management Committee—Messrs. J. E. Allen, Ross Edmunds, W. G. Hetherington, and J. Lancashire.

The Rink Company has been investing any balance on hand, after the necessary expenses were paid, in Victory bonds, and the treasurer was instructed to do the same this year if the funds would permit.

After some further arrangements re financial affairs were attended to, the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Mabel C. Reid, of Wells Street, Toronto, announces the engagement of her daughter, Elsie Mary, to Dr. P. A. Sarjeant, of Burford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sarjeant, of Barrie, the marriage to take place quietly on 3rd May.

Dr. Sarjeant is well and favourably known in Millbrook, having made many warm friends here during the time he carried on Dr. Turner's practice while the latter was absent in New York.

Epworth League.

The Epworth League on Monday evening was under the direction of the Literary Department. Selections from the writings of several poets on the subjects "Christ," "Faith," "Prayer, and "Service," were read by Misses G. Richards, E. Hetherington, P. Burnham, and Messrs. F. Alcorn and R. Raper. A suitable Easter programme will be provided for next Monday evening, under the leadership of the fourth vice-president.

A union service of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches will be held in the latter church on Good Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. G. S. Gervan will deliver the sermon, and the united choirs will furnish the music.

The "Wide Awakes" group of the Canadian Girls in Training held their meeting in the Methodist Church on Friday evening, when eight girls were initiated according to the ritual provided by the Department in Toronto. The ceremony proved a most interesting one, and the girls enjoyed a sing-song, and a game of carpet balls, after the regular session, before they finally dispersed.

Young People Meet.

The Young People of Grace Presbyterian church met on Monday evening and organized a Christian Endeavor Society with the following officers:
Pres.—Mr. Harold Hubbeard.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss Anna Howthorne.
2nd Vice-Pres. — Miss Thelma Ball.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss Florence Deyell.
Pianist — Miss Kathleen Lancashire.
The committees will be formed later, the regular time of meeting being fixed for Monday evenings.

Mrs. W. E. Ball left for Toronto on Thursday morning to visit her sister, Mrs. J. Leitch, who is now recovering slowly from her recent illness.

Mrs. Ball will also be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry while in the city, remaining over the Easter holiday.

Recently there have been a number of mild cases of flu in the village, Miss Ethel Richardson, (Rev.) Tucke, and daughter, Miss Gladys, and Mr. Harry Ball of the Fallis Line, being among those who have been ill with this unwelcome malady.

Mr. and Mrs. Falls and family of South Monaghan, who have occupied Miss Rebecca Brown's house during the latter's absence for the winter months, in order to have their children have the advantage of attending the continuation school here, removed to their farm near Bailieboro last week.

How John Parvin's Mortgage Was Paid.

JOHN PARVIN was a farmer living near Port Hope, Ont. He bought a farm for $6,000, of which amount he paid $2,000 cash and signed a mortgage for the remaining $4,000.

But the thought of this $4,000 overhanging his home made him uneasy. He feared the loss of the farm to his wife in case of his death.

One day he went to Port Hope. Here he met a North American Life representative and confided to him his doubts and fears. He was advised to take out a policy for $4,000, to cover his estate, which he did.

The second winter after this he was taking grain to town. The day was bitterly cold and he caught a chill. Pneumonia resulted. Inside of a week John Parvin had passed away.

His North American Life policy lifted the mortgage off that farm.

If you have any property mortgaged, John Parvin's experience should be an example. Any representative will give you free advice as to rates, etc. Act now.

ANNUAL MEETING THE ASSOCIATION.

Milk Distributed Among Undernourished Children at the Schools.

The annual meeting of the Central Home and School Association took place last Thursday. Reports showed a very encouraging year just finished, with a great deal of good work accomplished by the members of the society.

This Association specializes in two things which might be regarded as outstanding. They pay particular attention to the distribution of milk among under-nourished pupils of the school, and they strive to bring out in their different social affairs, school talent altogether, which might be termed a dual purpose of strengthening the physical and mental development of the child. Milk to a total of 289 quarts was distributed to children during the months from November to March, with the generous co-operation of Mr. G. A. Gillespie in providing the milk at a small cost, and Miss L. C. Esplen, who gives up most of her recess time to looking after its distribution.

Entertainments are held during the year, for the purpose of raising funds for the Association's work, with an ever ready, generous response from parents and friends, and programmes contributed to by pupils from the different classes, and prizes are presented for those attaining the highest standing throughout the school term.

At last week's meeting, officers for the ensuing year were appointed as follows: President, Mrs. F. E. Miller; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. J. Cruikshank; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Bennett; Secretary, Mrs. R. Denne; Treasurer, Mrs. G. J. Johnson; Executive, Mesdames O. M. Steer, E. V. Warne, E. H. Howson, J. D. Craig, A. E. Patterson, Wyman, Stenson, Spencer and Miss L. C. Esplen.

Mrs. Miller was appointed delegate to the annual meeting of the Home and School Associations, which takes place in Toronto next week.

OLYMPIAD TO BE HELD AT COLOMBES

French Committee Tired of Waiting For Assistance From Paris Decides on Racing Club Grounds.

GUARANTEES.

PARIS, April 13. — (Canadian Press.) — The deadlock of ten months which had existed over the choosing of a site for the Olympic Games in 1924 was broken last evening when the French Olympic Committee decided to 'go it alone," and formally accepted the offer of the Racing Club of France, of their Colombes ground and informed the Municipal Council of Paris that it would require no aid from it. This decision finally eliminates Pershing Stadium as the place for holding the games.

The offer of the Racing Club calls for a 500-metre track, inside which there will be rugby and association football fields; the building of a stadium which will accommodate sixty thousand spectators, and dressing rooms for 1,5500 athletes. The track is to be ready for training purposes in October, 1922. The Club will ask for fifty per cent. of the receipts of the Olympic Games, with a guarantee of 3,000,000 francs.

A swimming pool of the regulation size, 50 metres in length, with stands for ten thousand spectators, and four tennis courts also will be built by July, 1923, providing the guarantee to the Club is raised to four million francs.

Gaston Vidal, under-Secretary of State or Technical Education, who attended to-day's meeting at which the offer of the Racing Club was accepted, was entrusted with the task of informing the Cabinet of the Cabinet of the decision of the Olympic Committee. The decision of the Committee was conveyed to the Municipal Council by letter.

LIGHTWEIGHT HAS BEEN SUSPENDED.

NEW YORK, April 12. — Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, and his manager, Philip Glassman, have been suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission pending a hearing on the fighter's disqualification during a bout in Brooklyn Monday night.

Tendler was disqualified in the seventh round of a match with Charlies Pitts of Australia, who had taken a severe beating. The Philadelphian swept into a rapid-fire body attack in the seventh, in the midst of which Pitts fell to the canvas shouting "Foul." The referee sustained the claim and ended the match.

SPORT GOSSIP

Now that Dick Kerr looks to be a sure enough holdout the rest of the Chicago pitching staff, consisting of Red Faber, appears to be in for a busy season.

Says Garry Herrmann to Ed. Roush: "You will play in Cincinatti or nowhere."

Says Ed. Roush to Garry Herrman: "My grievance is not where I'm going to play, but how much I'm going to get."

The way some of these faculties are yelling about college athletics it won't be long before marbles, ping-pong and horseshoes will be considered major sports.

Glenn Killinger, the sensation in college football last season and given a trial with the New York Yankees, has learned that baseball is not played entirely with the feet. He is to summer in Jersey City.

Joe Dugan, who kept Connie Mack busy buying him tickets to and from his home last summer, has already left his new club, the Boston Red Sox. Illness, not tempermament, was the cause however.

Picking the pennant winner in the spring is going to be as popular a pastime as selecting the All-Amercia football team in the fall.

The wail of every club is that it would have a great chance if it had more pitching. Which might be solved if all the clubs would make less efforts to get more hitting.

Golf Facts

Q. Is there any rule in golf that prohibits the use of any club except the putter on the putting green?

1. Certainly not. You can putt with your driver or niblick, if you care to.

Q. Can you tell me what the objections are on the part of the United States Golf Association to allowing mud which sticks to the ball to be removed?

A. The chief objection is to prevent any more touching of the ball with the hands than is absolutely necessary, when once it is put in play. Space is too limited here to attempt any detailed discussion.

Q. Suppose a layer loses a ball, goes back and plays another one, and while playing the second ball, his caddie finds the first one, can he then go on playing the first ball?

A. Not if a period of five minutes has elapsed since he began looking for the ball.

Q. In a medal qualifying round can a player who is away compel his competitor to lift or play his ball?

A. Yes, refusal to do so on part of the competitor disqualifies him.

Q. In a single match what is the rule to cover a case where a player on the putting green plays his opponent's ball through error, holes out, and the discovers the error?

A. The ball is replaced, and the two finish out the hole, no penalty being incurred by the mistake.

COMRADES FOOTBALL CLUB.

Very important meeting Thursday, April 13, at 8 p.m., Park Street Baptist Church. Prospective players invited. 2d-88-2541

THESE PLAYERS STARRED IN 1921

BY BILLY EVANS.

What will the season of 1922 produce in the way of unsual happenings

No two ball games are the same. The action differs each day. That is why baseball is so popular. There is no doping out the game.

The season of 1921 was a record breaker in many respects. A great many records that have stood for years fell by the wayside.

Last year was the era of swat from a baseball standpoint. The Babe Ruth home-run germ was contagious. It spread to both major and many of the minor leagues.

The performance of Stuffy McInnis in playing 152 games at first bases and making only one error stands out as one of the greatest fielding feats of all time.

McInnis accepted 1549 putouts and 102 assists. His single error was on a throw in an unusual manner. It was on a throw from the catcher to get a runner napping at first. McInnis dropped the ball. It was figured by the scorers that he would have gotten the man had he held it. It was a case of drawing the line pretty fine.

Dixie Davis of the St. Louis Browns worked 14 1-3 innings without allowing a hit. In a 19-inning game aaginst Washington Davis worked the last 9 1-3 innings of that game without allowing a hit. In his next time out he didn't allow a hit for five innings, making a total of 14 1-3 hitless innings.

Smith Sets New Record.

Elmer Smith established a swat record that will probably stand a long time. He made seven consecutive extra base hits, four home runs being included in this orgy of swat, three of them in succession.

Smith started with a double, then came three successive home runs, a base on balls, two doubles, and a home run before he was stopped.

It is needless to comment on Babe Ruth's 59 home runs, which smashed his own mark of 54 made in 1920.

A few of the other remarkable things that happened in 1921 follow:

Roger Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals with 378 total bases, and Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees with 457 total bases, set new marks for extra base hitting.

Babe Ruth made seven home runs in five consecutive games. Incidentally, he batted 170 runs, far surpassing all previous efforts in that line.

Ball Not So Lively.

Both major leagues set new home run records, the National with 460, the American with 457.

The season of 1921 was filled with thrills. Even the world series produced its quota when two players stole home in successive games, something out of the ordinary for a world series.

The impression is that the ball used this year will not be as lively as the 1921 brand. If that is true most of the batting records will stand. But you can never tell.

LACROSSE

RIVERSIDES NEW TEAM

Fourth Entry For City Lacrosse League Represents Ashburnham Youth

The city lacrosse league has been completed by the organization of the Riverside team most of whose officers and members well be enlisted from Ashburnham and will likely practice at the Nicholls Oval. Vic Hamilton and Johnnie Sutherland made good their promises to look after a representative team from across the river and including employees of the Quaker Oats Company, and the league is now ready to proceed with the final business of revision and other details looking forward to preparations for the opening games.

The Riversides officers are as follows:—

Hon. Pres—E. A. Peck.
Hon. Vice-President — George Lipsett.
President—Victor Hamilton.
Vice-President—Ed. Dillon.
Secretary-Treasurer—Robt. Armstrong.
Executive —Jim McCoy, Jack Primeau and George Leonard.

It is understood that Lou McCoy will coach the team.

Riversides report that while they haven't many experienced players on their list they have a number of fine prospects, and as for juveniles they claim the huskiest bunch of beginners in the city. Ashburnham will be right in the thick of the city league fight from now on.

The latest entry brings the City Lacrosse league up to its estimated strength of four teams, viz—Strathconas. Athletics, Crescents and Riversides. Each of these teams is supposed to take in hand the juvenile aspirants in their respective districts and from all accounts the first signs of interest are heartening

If there are any newcomers to Peterboro who have played lacrosse and who wish to continue in the game they are requested to make themselves at home right away. This particularly applies to possible candidates for the local junior O.A.L.A. team.

Pat Kelly writes that Campbellford will have a fast junior team this year, but by the same token Havelock are talking already of winning the district. The C.P.R. town will have four teams in the O.A.L.A. according to the reports the Examiner received. They will have intermediate, junior, juvenile and midget teams. Everything but seniors, and their school league is buzzing already.

Havelock believe they could have won the junior championship last year if they hadn't made the mistake of concentrating their attention on the intermediate team. Those intermediates who are still eligible as juniors will be used in their junior team including Hooper the big defense man, Doug and Charlie Brennan, one of the Brinkman boys and a few others. And the town is also preparing to put a good baseball team on the field.

Dr. Sutton and Walter Smaill visited the King George School yesterday on missionary work and found a responsive group of forty-five or fifty boys who listened with every sign of real interest to the short talks on the possibilities and prospective plans of introducing the game in the public schools. Mr. Park and Mr. Munroe welcomed the lacrosse promoters during the morning recess. If the boys of the other school show anything like the same interest as was indicated among the Ashburnham lads it shouldn't be long until Peterboro's school boys are just as skilful with the gutted sticks, as any of the youngsters who are taking up the game throughout the province.

MERCANTILE FIVE-PIN LEAGUE

Telephone Office Take 2 From the Prudentials.

The Telephone boys nearly went down to defeat last night against the Prudential boys. The reason was that the Prudentials were handicapped with three dummies. The last game of the night was a tie with 875 each. J. Cocks was responsible for this, coming in with a high single of 308. This is the first tie of the League, and an extra frame was rolled to decide who would win. The Telephone boys came out ahead with a couple of pins of a margin. All the players were sure hitting them, making the Old King Pin stagger all through the series of games. The 4 pin was heard to moan and sigh, saying that "Me." No. 5 pin had a few complaints also, as it came near being a fight between himself and No. 3. No. 2 was saying what's the use of standing up, they will only knock me down again. Some of the players who were singing in a sweet, enticing tune, were as follows: Cocks was high man with 648, Lush next with 578; others who hit over the 500 mark were Long and Elliott.

DIRECTORATE GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, LINDSAY.

LINDSAY, April 13.—At a meeting of the shareholders of the Lindsay Golf and Country Club organization for the year was effected and the following directorate appointed: Messrs. J. D. Flavelle, A. E. Taylor, L. V. O'Connor, F. R. Wilford, and E. M. Lockie.

BACK TO THE BUSHES

BILLY EVANS SAYS—

It is rather surprising more American Indians have not developed into great ball players

Possibly the failure of the Indian to shine in baseball has been due in a great measure to lack of interest among the whites in introducing the game among the various tribes.

Most Indians are fleet of foot, have a keen eye, and learn quickly. Only a few Indians have made the grade of the big leagues, but most of them have been stars.

First there was Sockalexis. Chief Bender was one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known. Chief Myers was a fine catcher. Jim Thorpe, while not a great ball player, was a mighty good one. An all-round athlete Thorpe is in a class by himself.

Usually either one of the major leagues has an Indian in its list of players. Yellowhorse is known as burg pitcher, is upholding the fame of the Indian in major league circles at present, for all Indian ball Yelloworse is known as Chief.

CHIEF MYERS HAS HIS OWN PECULIAR IDEAS ABOUT ART.

Chief Myers was one of the most interesting ball players I ever talked with. Myers, prior to breaking into the big leagues attended Dartmouth College. There were other things in life aside from baseball for Myers. He was a lover of art, and had a keen sense of humour.

In this connection I always recall a story they tell about Myers. It seems the Chief had a few grievances against the way the American Indian had been treated. Those who have seen the painting of Custer's last fight, and recall the facts of that incident, know the Indian very much in evidence.

Once being interviewed, Myers was asked what painting he like best. Evidently Myers saw an opportunity to give vent to his feelings relative to the white man.

"Custer's Last Fight', he replied. His answer rather surprised the reporter, who prassed him for a reason.

"Well, as far as I have been able to learn," replied Myers, "that was the first and only time the Indians ever had an even break with the whites."

"THE LAST TRAIL"
WILLIAM FOX SPECIAL PRODUCTION

Norma Talmadge is the highest-paid movie actress in the world — At the Royal To-night, Friday, and Saturday. Don't miss this wonderful picture.

New comedy succes, Pathe Review Vaudeville Movies, Nick Carter Detective story. Added attraction, Flora Shaw, Toronto's favorite soprano in a number of classic songs and popular ballads. First time this big production ever shown at our prices.

Zane Grey's "Last Trail' will be shown for the first time here "The Last Traill' a special production screened by William Fox from the well-known novel by Zane Grey—whose stories have made him as famous with motion picture followers as in the fiction reading world. This latest Grey picture, made under the skillful direction of Emmett J. Flynn is described as most thrilling in incident—as it must be if it follows the book—and usually elaborate and impressive in its staging. In short, the aptrons of the Capitol Theatre should be in for a genuine treat The picture is scheduled for a run of three days.

Readers of the Grey novel will recall that it deals with the mystery surrounding the operations of an outlaw who works alone and terrorizes the country side by his daring and ruthlesssness.

The Fox company is a notable one, headed by Maurice Flynn and Eva Novak, and including such sterling players as Rosemary Theby, Charles K. French and Harry Dunkinson.

AT THE GRAND.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

The William H. Kibble production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin", which will be seen at the Grand Theatre on Saturday, April 15, matinee and night, caught the public fancy. The theatres where the offering as been made are said to have been crowded at every performance. For a play holding the stage over fifty years within which period not a single season has elapsed during which it was entirely absent from the theatre, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" still exhibits wonderful vitality. Scorned, ridiculed and rejected of the elect in the more important theatres a few years ago, it is now welcome in the very home of art, and thousands are weeping and laughing over its various incidents nightly. The scenes which are displayed could not easily be improved. The company numbers many persons, whom are well known to Peterboro theatregoers from former visits with various attractions, and the mean-eating Siberian bloodhounds are trained to participate in the drama.

SNAPPY COMEDY

The London Advertiser says: "Peppy modern repartee, and real "honest-to-goodness" sentiment, presented not only with an unusual bevy of girls, but with excellent interpretation of character — there you have "The Rose of Washington Square" presented at the Grand Theatre here.

Humorous Situations.

A comedy with music, more than a musical comedy, describes "The Rose of Washington Square". It abounds with humorous situations, to which have been added music which provides a decided zest and variety. And running throughout is the pathetic story of a mother who has become embittered with the drudgery of life spent entirely in the hills of Carolina, and who, appreciating nothing of the beauty of life surrounded by the vastness of nature, is ready to go to any length to preevnt her daughter from enduring what she conceives to be a similar life

The paper also commends the admirable impersonation of the trouble doctor by Arthur Blackallar; also the characters "Mary Gray" and Cynthia Rose presented by Miss Belle Emerson and Miss Ione ODonnell, respectively. Clever stars find acceptable support by chorus girls, who, amongst the lavish settings of the production are extremely effective.

AT THE ROYAL.

Beginning to-day the Royal presents a special selection of the celebrated First National Company's best productions. This means that you get such pictures as would ask you more money at any other theatre in Canada. Beginning to-day we give the world famous actress Norma Talmadge in "The Wonderful Thing." In this play also appears Mrs. Lydig, a wealthy New York Society woman, and wife of ex-Police Commissioner Hoyt of that city who forsook the 400 to enter the movies under the name of Julia Hoyt. In her society lost a leader, but filmdom gained a great actress. "The Wonderful Thing" is a society drama that starts its action in an English baronial home and ends at a western ranch. The story is based on a forgery committed by a young English aristocrat to pay a gambling debt. The play is a touching one that appeals to the highest of human emotions. The William Fox feature called "Little Miss Hawkshaw," with Eileen Percy in the leading role is a comedy-drama depicting the life and love of the daughter of an Irish peer. A concatination of circumstances makes a modern Cinderella of the girl when she is taken to the slums of New York. However, finding that she was born of wealthy and aristocratic parents in Ireland she plays detective for herself and establishes every claim to her rights in Ireland. This is a play that grips and keeps an audience guessing as well as laughing. Then as to comedy, there are two different comedies which include another of the very funny Toonerville series called "The Skipper Has His Fling," and a Sunshine entitled "Please Be Careful." These comedies are as full of laughter as a beehive is of buzz!

At the Regent

MISS DU PONT COMING IN "GOLDEN GALLOWS"

Beautiful Star to Be Seen in Thrilling Drama of Stage.

Miss Du Pont, leading woman of "Foolish Wives," and a Universal star in her own right, may be seen at the Regent Theatre to-day in "The Golden Gallows," the story of a woman who was unlucky enough to inherit a million.

It isn't generally considered a bad thing to be an heir to a fortune. But for a girl to inherit a vast sum of money from a man who is no relation of hers and supposedly means nothing in her young life is another matter entirely. The public likes to talk about it.

When Willow Winters heard that her clubman friend, Leander Sills had been killed by a former sweetheart, she was genuinely sorry, for he had been kind to her—after he had found out that he couldn't be anything else. And when she learned that he had left her a million or two, she was deeply surprised and grateful, though it was too late to express her gratitude.

But when the public learned of it, the dear, dear public found the whole thing a choice morsel of gossip. Since Willow was a chorus girl, suddenly elevated by a star's sickness to leading parts, the morsel had the appetizing flavor of full grown scandal.

Willow had intended to say yes to a question she expected from Peter Galliner, handsome young member of an old Boston family. But Peter's aristocratic blue blood boiled at an ungentlemanly heat at the news of Willow's inheritance, and his first words to her were just as biting and bitter as might be expected. He "blew up" quite "unbostonianly."

"THE MESSAGE OF THE BLUE BIRD."

A great deal of local interest is being manifested in the coming operatic production, "The Message of the Blue Bird." It is the enthusiastic opinion of cast and chorus that Mr. Asa Huycke has achieved something worth while. The plot has not been neglected, as often happens in things of this kind, but holds a compelling interest to the finish. Mr. Huycke has gathered around him some of the finest singers in the city in the principals and chorus. The names of the cast will be published next week. 1d-88-2576

PETERBORO P.S.A. NOTES.

The stirring missionary message of Rev. C. A. Roberts of Honan, Central China, thrilled the splendid audience of men who attended the Pleasant Sunday afternoon held in Bethany Tabernacle last Sunday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Roberts preached to an appreciative audience in the Tabernacle both morning and evening but a special message to men in the afternoon was both impressive and profitable.

For next Sunday a very special programme is being arranged. This service will be open to all but will be conducted by the executive of the P.S.A. The speaker will be the noted Bible teacher and author, Rev. Lewis Sperry Chafer, of Philadelphia. Mr. W. Forde will conduct the musical programme, and will have the P.S.A. Orchestra present. If you enjoy good things this will be too good to miss. Come in and hear then judge afterward.

Mrs. Little, her sister, Miss Bailey, and her little son Kenneth intend starting for Vancouver in the near future. About 10.30 a dainty lunch was served, after which some very appropriate music was rendered and the friends departed to their respective homes with the singing of "They are Jolly Good Fellows" and good wishes extended to Mrs. Little and Miss Bailey for their future journey.

CONFERENCE TIME LIMIT ONE MONTH

Will Be Known Then, It Is Expected, Whether Purposes Can Be Achieved Or Not.

Big Discussions

One month has been set as the time limit in which the diplomats generally expect it will be known whether the Conference can achieve its purposes. Mr. Lloyd George expects to leave on April 27 and is making every effort to have the big decisions arranged before then.

Although the Conference worked uninterruptedly through Good Friday. It was announced to-day there would be no meetings of commissions on Easter Sunday.

It is understood that Soviet delegates have expressed willingness to acknowledge Russias pre war debts and to cancel their claims against allies if allies will do likewise with Russia's debt.

BELLEVILLE'S CHIEF OF POLICE IN CITY

Belleville has not as many police as it should have, Chief Constable "Sandy" Kidd, formerly of the local force, told The Examiner to-day. Chief Kidd was in the city in an unofficial capacity." We only have eight policemen altogether. There should be one man for every thousand population, so Belleville should have 12 or 13 men." Things are looking up, however, he said. Last July they were granted an automobile, and they have found their efficiency greatly increased. "Dan" Boyd, who was also with the local force, is now Sergeant in Belleville, and, according to the Police Chief, doing fine work.

COURT ISSUES INJUNCTIONS

The Order Prohibits Mass Meetings In the Mining Fields.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 15. —(Canadian Press).—Judge George W. McClintic, of the United States District Court, yesterday issued two temporary restraining orders on officials and members of the United Mine Workers of America, in the New River fields, and in sections of Raleigh and Fayette Counties. These made a total of three injunctions issued by Judge McClintic since Monday. The first of these of yesterday was issued on a petition of the operators of New River field and affects 119 operations; the other was granted on application of six coal companies and one individual. Both injunctions include in the defendants President John L. Lewis, of the International Union organization and other union officials.

Both injunctions prohibited mass meetings in the fields affected, and any action by union organizers which might cause miners to leave the employ of companies at whose operations they were engaged.

PRICES ON THE LOCAL MARKETS

Supplies Plentiful on Both Inside And Outside Markets.

Although there were few vehicles on the market this morning, there was a very busy market above stairs, with quantities of butter and hundreds of dozens of eggs on every side. Buter ranged in price from 45 to 42 cents per pound, with eggs 28 to 25 cents per dozen. Fowl was plentiful also. One girl had nineteen tender-looking chickens, with the small remaining balance selling at 30 cents per pound, but the prevailing prices were 35 and 37 cents per pound, with one dealer asking 40 cents. Hens also were demanding 35 cents, a lone large turkey went for 40 cents per pound, and a duck for 30 cents. There was a small quantity of maple syrup at 75 cents per quart, and cream at 50 cents. 'Seeder' onions were "2 measures for a quarter,' and, over in the corner a young man had a Jaapnese fern for tabe decoration. A specialty on the market in late weeks has been the display of minute and delicately-designed fancy work, and the various sales of home-make cooking which are well patronized.

Several deluded youths in whom the force of habit is strong, clustered determinedly about the two cold iron stoves.

There was little produce on the open market. Two or three dealers had the usual garden stuff at the usual prices, with carrots at 45 cents, white onions at $1.40 per peck, a few apples; Spys at $1.25 and Ben Davis at 65 cents, cabbages 15, 20 and 25 cents, and beets 45.

Potatoes Higher.

Potatoes, not very plentiful, had taken a jump, with $1.50 the demand, one dealer asking $1.40 and $1.35 for his lot. Irish Cobblers for seeding were 35 cents per peck, or $2.00 a bag. One lot of veal was selling at 20 cents per pound, and pork at 18 and 20. A dealer had red clover seed in bags, at $14.50, and strawberry plants at 20 cents apiece. The auctioneers had the crowd, expatiating in loud tones on the rival merits of open buggies and rolling pins, a voluble gentleman in a linen duster held forth to an admiring audience on the benefits of a keen-cutting blade for the kitchen which would achieve "extraordinary" results in skinning a potato or cutting up a cabbage, and two six-months old collie pups at $5 apiece waited for possible purchasers. One, an enquiring, wide-eyed laddie with black and tan coat, and snappy eyes, surveyed the world with curious gaze, but the other, indifferent to its fate, a mild little brown creature, slept at the end of its rope.

REPUBLICANS SEIZED FOUR IRISH COURTS

Developments Over The Week-End Are Awaited in London with Anxious Expectation.

REPORTS ALARM

LONDON, April 15 (Canadian Press). — Developments in Ireland over the week-end are awaited here with anxious expectation in view of the Republicans' seizure of four Courts in Dublin, and Arthur Griffith's determination to hold his pro-treaty meeting in Sligo to-morrow over the decree of the Republicans.

One of the alarming reports afloat is that the Republican forces have laid plans to seize the heads of the Provisional Government.

Disavowal by Rory OConnor, the rebels' commander, of starting another revolution by the seizure of buildings yesterday, fails to allay anxiety, and the Daily News says the outlook is one of almost unrelieved blackness, while the Westminster Gazette declares it can scarcely believe Michael Collins' tolerance will survive the outrage.

STRONG IN SLIGO.

BELFAST, April 15 (Canadian Press). — Republicans have followed up their seizure of the Post Office and other buildings in Sligo with the commandeering of the office of The Sligo Independent, the Conservative newspaper, and they are strengthening their hold on the city, where Arthur Griffith has announced he will address a meeting to-morrow.

They now control every position of vantage.

"GOING TO SLIGO."

DUBLIN, April 15. — (Canadian Press).—When his attention was drawn to-day to the menacing situation in Sligo Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, made the emphatic reply, "I am going to Sligo."

"Civil war in Ireland would shock the United States and cost Ireland the loss of hosts of sincere friends," says Archbishop Hayes, of New York, in a message to Archbishop Byrne, of Dublin.

John D. Ryan, New York, has sent a cable to Lord Mayor O'Neil, which says: "Feeling is strong here that any one held to be responsible for any but peaceful methods will forfeit the support of all Americans."

FERNS, FLOWERS AND BIRDS

The Easter decoration of Murray Street Baptist church for tomorrow's services is as beautiful as it is unique. The arrangement is the work of the Flower committee of the Women's Association.

The ample green, so fitting for the spring season, is of ferns and palms, while the floral gifts of the people of lilles, roses and bloom of many kinds makes the auditorium not only a scene of beauty but of fragrance and joy. Here and there among the foliage and flowers are small cages with sweet-voiced canarics that seem quite at home in their holy and hopeful surroundings. One who has seen the arrangement declares that the worshipper must be reminded that he who arose from the dead on the Easter Day is the One who provides for the birds of the air and breaks the bonds of winter calling forth the foliage and flowers for the inspiration of his highest creature.

The services of the day will be of the most joyous nature. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, will preach in the morning on "The Living Christ," while the choir will provide Easter music.

In the evening the service will be fully choral. The choir will present the sacred cantata, "Hail the Victor" by Wooler. This magnificent work gives splendid play for the voices of the large choir. Solo parts will be taken by Miss Florence Scott, Mrs. C. S. Browne, Miss Florence Harrison, while the voices of Messrs. Everett, Huycke, C. S. Browne H. H. Graham and H. Snelgrove will be used in various associations. There will be a full orchestra of fourteen pieces besides the organ as accompaniment.

Altogether the Easter Day will be a memorable occasion at Murray Street.

"Ratepayer" Wrote Letters To The Newspaper Nearly Forty Years Ago

At That Time He Protested Against The Installation of Electric Lighting on the Grounds That It Was "Dangerous, Unsightly And Costly"—Is Stil With Us.

An interesting review o the electrical development of this city was given to the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, by H. O. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission, in the Chamber of Commerce, on Thursday evening. The president of the branch, P. L. Allison, presided.

Mr. Fisk's address was filled with interesting reminiscences and accompanied by valuable slides, showing early power plants in this district, and other views, that are linked up with the development of electricity locally, formed a comprehesive history.

Comments from newspapers of the day on the glory of the first lights used locally were an interesting part of Mr. Fisk's material.

A letter published in the Voice of the People on 18th May, 1884, in which a "Ratepayer" opposed electric lighting on the ground that it was "dangerous, unsightly, and costly," was a humorous link with the past.

In his address, which lasted for about two hours, Mr. Fisk traced the electrical development right up to the present day, and he referred to the construction of the gigantic generator at the C.G.E. as an instance of the important place Peterborough has come to be in the electrical world.

Motor Show Affords Opportunity To Contribute Towards Good Work

Maintenance of Summer Camp For Little Folk at Jackson Park Merits Your Generous Support.

The Motor Show next week will afford the usual annual opportunity for citizens to contribute towards the good works of the local Health Association. The Motor Show is the channel through which flows the voluntary assistance of all who are interested in furthering a charitable endeavor of much importance to the community.

Besides the services of the visiting nurse, given gratis in most instances, the supplying of eggs, milk, medicine, and comforts for the sick and ailing; the special attention which is given to tubercular cases, there is also what might be termed the juvenile department of the work of the Association, in their maintenance of a Summer Camp at Jackson Park, for under-privileged children. This is a particularly attractive portion of the work, and one that deserves all possible support from those who think that, although adults may in some measure be responsible for the rough road they are compelled to take in life, children should be given as fair a start as possible. To take little, pale, sickly boys and girls out to this pleasant, pine-crowned place, let them gambol and play and wade to their hearts' content through long, sun-filled hours, under kind and watchful supervision, give them all they want to eat of well-cooked, nourishing food, take them out and bring them home in a friendly, jolly sort of large conveyance that bumps happily along with its contented freight, and this, not for a day or two, but through weeks of hot weather, is an achievement to be proud of, in its results that display tanned little faces and legs and bright eyes. The children are not pampered, spoiled darlings. They are youngsters who would probably be playing in a back alley with a few tin cans, and eating hunks of badly-cooked stuff from corners of tables in a wash-filled kitchen. Here they are given a taste of normal living out in the open air, where they have a wonderful time with swings and picture books and dolls. This year, the pet project of the Association is an addition to the Summer Camp in the form of a permanent dining rom, with, perhaps, a rest bungalow for afternoon siestas, because the children who coe here are not of the strongest by any means, that is, when they come in the beginning of the season.

ENQUIRIES ABOUT TRENT WATERWAYS

Practically every mail that arrives at the Chamber of Commerce brings letters of enquiry about the Trent waterway Judging by the communications, Americans not only in New York State and Ohio, but in Michigan and farther west, are interested in the picnic ground of Central Ontario. This morning the Secretary of the Trent Waterway Development Association, received a letter from H. L. Gaddis, Grosse Isle, Michigan, asking for information. Enclosed was a cheque, paying for charts, a guarantee of more than passing interest. The large detail map of the waterway to be used in the Trent Exhibit at the Motor Show, has arrived from Ottawa, also views of scenes along the route, and the association is certain to have an interesting and attractive booth.

TRIBUTES FROM HIS ASSOCIATES

CHICAGO, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—Tributes from scores of former associates of Adrian Constantine Anson, whose death occurred yesterday, reflected the integrity of one of the greatest veterans of baseball. Chas. A. Comiskey, owner of the present Chicago Americans, and years ago Captain Anson's rival as manager and leader, declared to-day that Anson was the greatest batter that ever walked up to hit at a baseball thrown by a pitcher. "He was a fine, big honorable man," he said.

THE WEATHER

Usually rain falls on Good Friday, while the sun shines brightly on Easter Sunday, though there have been exceptions. The rainfall last night totalled .81 of an inch, and was the second heavy rain within a week. It will have the effect of still further retarding work on the land.—W. P.

A MEMORIAL FOR 21ST BATT. LION

Peterboro men who served in the 21st Battalion will be asked by Major L. Fraser to support the memorial Fund being collected to erect a memorial at Kingston for the 830 officers N.C.O's. and men of this unit, who gave their lives in the war.

A strong organization has been formed, and in all parts of the province, wherever the 21st men are located, funds will be collected. Locally there are a large number of men who served in this battalion. Many enquiries have already been made by ex-soldiers as to how they can help. This morning Major Fraser, who is in charge of the fund here, received the pledge cards to be signed. The payments are extended over a year. "We have no objective," Major Fraser said. "We just want whatever the boys feel they can give."

SAYS MINERS NOT TO BLAME

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 15. — (Canadian Press). — Disclaiming responsibility of the miners for the "ills of the coal industry," President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, said here to-day that the principles at issue will not be compromised by the mine workers. Speaking of the miners' aims, he said, "It is poor industrial leadership that can conceive industrial improvement only through debased manhood and the pauper level of existence."

EXPECTS GOOD RESULTS FROM GENOA CONFERENCE.

GENOA, April 15. — (Canadian Press).—Premier Facta to-day received the Archbishop of Genoa at the headquarters of the conference and told his visitor that he was optimistic concerning the results, "because, from all the countries of Europe and from all responsible men comes to Genoa an ardent desire to re-establish an atmosphere of healthy collaboration between all the peoples of the world."

THE GROUPS WILL SMASH OLD PARTIES

Declares J. J. Morrison, Secretary of the U. F. O. Group Government.

EXPOUNDS THEORY

TORONTO, April 15 (Special).—The views about Cabinet solidarity and responsible government recently voiced in the Legislature by W. F. Nickle, the Conservative member for Kingston, do not appeal to J. J. Morrison, the U.F.O. secretary.

Mr. Morrison says that we have not group Government in Ontario, Manitoba, or the Federal arena, that we are simply trying to adapt the party system to groups, and without success.

In an interview with The Examiner, Mr. Morrison declares that the groups ultimately will smash the old shell of the party system.

"The theory of party Government," said Mr. Morrison, "is that the will of the majority should prevail, that a majority of the elected members represent the majority of electors, and that if any party claims such a majority, it has the right to govern. The Government machinery at present is based on this theory.

Extend Franchise.

"The tendency for centuries has been to extend the franchise and to make the vote of the elector more and more effective. In actual practice, majority rule in the House limits this extension, because there will always be some who do not agree with the majority theory of Government, and who will be in perpetual opposition.

"In an effort to make their will effective, these have broekn with the theory, and have formed groups — some on an occupational basis, such as farmers, some on the economic basis, such as Socialists or Labour, some on a racial basis, such at Nationalists. Some have lasted, some have not. But they have come into Parliament, and owing to the two-party system they have been forced into either of two camps, the Government or the Opposition, unless they occupy an anomalous position, such as the Progressives at Ottawa, who have no voice in the Government nor yet are they in opposition.

"If the group is in the Opposition, it is ineffective, except in a strictly party sense. If it is in the Government, it is accused of tyranny and class legislation.

"Governments, such as Manitoba, and more particularly such as those of France and Italy, have been suddenly upset and enemies have said, 'What of group Government?' In reality, we have not had group Government, but rather the two-party system attempting to contain the groups.

"The groups will finally burst the old shell. Then suitable machinery will be evolved and group Government can be put on trial."

LONG TERM FOR MRS. ALICE BYER

Convicted of Complicity In The Robbery Of a Bank.

GRAND RAPIDS, April 15.—(Canadian Press.) — Mrs. Alice Byer, of Traverse City, Mich., was sentenced in circuit court early to-day to serve from ten to twenty years in Detroit House of Correction, following her conviction of complicity in the robbery March 3, of a branch of Grand Rapids Savings Bank. She is believed to be the first woman to be sentenced on a bank robbery charge in Michigan.

PETEREORO'S O.D.C. NOW WANTS SALARY

Official Dogcatcher Had a Lean Season Last Year —Will Want a Uniform Next.

James Gates, official dog catcher for several years, declared to The Examiner that this year, if he is to act he wants a salary. "This piece-work business is no good. I want a salary like any other city official. There's no money in it at $1.25 a head," he said. "Mind you, it only cost the city $3.75 for my services all last summer. There were just three dogs the city had to pay for; all the others were paid for by individuals."

Mr. Gates explained that the city paid him the sum of 3.75 for doing away with three unclaimed dogs. In cases where he captured dogs with tags on them the owner had to pay $1.25 to get the dog back. He made some money, but no great sum, and if the Council wants him again this year as O. D. C., they will have to pay a stated sum per week, "or else get someone else."

STRYCHNINE MIGHT HAVE BEEN CAUSE

Phial of Deadly Drug Missing From The Edwards Home in Dummer.

MOTHER'S STORY

That Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards, mother of Ernest Edwards, the 19-year-old boy who was found lying dead in the barnyard of his farm, north of Norwood, on Wednesday afternoon, has a suspicion that her son died from strychnine poisoning, was indicated by an interview an Examiner representative had with Mrs. Edwards in Norwood this afternoon. Mrs. Edward was at the home of her son, Roland.

She stated that seven years ago, while the family were living between Burleigh and Young's Point, three miles from Burleigh, her husband, while cutting wood for James Reid, bought a small phial of strychnine to kill foxes with. Part of it he used, but the phial with some drops in it was put away in a trunk. All these seven years the trunk had been in their possession, and hidden away in was the small phial. Through the years the mother warned the children to leave the bottle alone.

Since they had moved, the trunk had been in Ernest's room. She told the Examiner that since the tragedy in the family had occurred, she looked in the trunk for the bottle but it was gone. A thorough search of the house, the barn and outbuildings and the land about the place failed to show any signs of the phial. The disappearance of the bottle has raised a natural suspicion in the mind of the mother that her boy took his own life.

If Ernest Edwards committed suicide she can ascribe no cause for him ending his life. He kept his thoughts to himself, however, she told the reporter and he had not been in good humour. It was partly in the belief that he would be in better humour when she returned that led her to go over to Hill's after dinner on Monday to do some sewing for a few days. She had baked in the morning and she left her little girl to do up the dishes.

Ernest had been talking for some time about going to a neighbour's to work and he was supposed to have gone that afternoon. The little girl missed him in the afternoon and she assumed he had gone away. She went over to Wigmore's, nearby, to stay until her mother came home. There was therefore no one around the place from Monday afternoon until Wednesday.

Mrs. Edwards readily answered the questions that were put to her. She told what she knew, but only her statement about the strychnine threw any light on the mystery. The last time she saw her son was Monday noon. She did not look at the body.

MR. T. TOOMS APPEARS ON THE CARPET

Invited to Tell the Independent Labor Party Why He Appeared on a Liberal Platform.

OTHERS NAMED

HAMILTON, April 15.—Special —There were some red hot discussions at yesterday's sessions of the annual convention of the Independent Labor Party of Ontario held in the Sons of England Hall and attended by representatives of sixteen branches. In addition to the delegats there was a gallery of auditors and among the visitors were Hon. W. R. Rollo, Hon. Harry Mills, members of the Drury Cabinet and Wilson Crockett and George Halcrow, M.L.A. Three sessions were held, the evening session closing shortly after 10 o'clock after the passing of two important resolutions having to do with rail transportation.

A resolution from London Branch relative to the passing in the private bills committee of the London Gas Company's bill by the support of Karl H. Homuth and A. W. Swayzee raised considerable talk as to the responsibility of Labor members of the Legislature. This bill provided for increasing the price of gas from 90 cents as provided in the franchise agreement to $1.20 and was carried by a majority of two. Delegate Mould, London, stated Premier Drury and Hon. W. R. Rollo, opposed the bill and Homuth and Swayzee voted for it although the local Labor Party had gone on record against it.. Mr. Mould said members had repudiated a principle of the party in their action and he desired to have them present to go into particulars. Miss McNab, Hamilton, thought they and other labor members should have put in an appearance at the convention and suggested summoning them by telegraph or telephone to attend to-day.

Delegate Simpson also criticized Thomas Tooms, Labor M.L.A. for Peterborough, for appearing on a Liberal platform during the last Federal elections and speaking in interests of a Liberal candidate. He too was advised to present himself before the delegates to-day and justify such action.

After considerable discussion it was decided to wire an invitation to these three members to attend to-day's meeting of the party. One delegate moved that the name of George Halcow be included in the resolution but as no charge was prefered against him this was ruled out by the chairman.

Motor Melodies

Vol. I. No. 14 PETERBORO, APRIL 15th EXTRA

The motor of the Motor Show is hitting on all six, and driving ahead as if on a level grade. This is going to be the best Motor Show that as yet has ever been put on in Peterborough. And while you're there not only will you be listening to the voices of your friends and the soft strains of music from the orchestra in the balcony, but you may also, if you like, step into a room fitted with a wireless telephone—and listen to a concert taking place hundreds of miles away. A wireless installation is something that you do not have a chance to see and listen to every day, and now that the opportunity is affered you, do not fail to take advantage of it. The Motor Show is where you will meet your friends, where you can dance if you feel so inclined, where you will see a real show of motors, motor accessories and other exhibits, and most important of all, the small amount you pay for admission, goes toward making life a little easier and better for a group of handicapped little waifs, that if they grow up will be our men and women of tomorrow, but just now are sadly in need of a tow. Remember the dates, April 19, 20 and 21.

BANKS' Overland Country Club Bargain

NOT A FAULT TO FIND

Mr. Struan G. Robertson, of Seabank, Pictou, N. S., writing in April as to his Overland purchased in the previous May, says: 'I have pleasure in stating that I have not a fault to find with it. I did 3,560 miles with the car during the summer and fall without trouble of any kind except the breaking of an ignition wire. I did not have a puncture.

"Today the car seems as good as when I got her.

"On a 210-mile run round Cape George, Antigonish, Guysboro, Melrose, Glenelg and home by East River St. Mary's with four passengers, I used but ten gallons of gas, being an average of 22 miles to the gallon.

"I am thoroughly well satisfied with it and have not seen anything in its class that I would exchange it for."

SALARY SLASHES RECOMMENDED IN LABOUR REPORT

Select Committee Thinks Salary of Chief Labor Adviser Should Be Cut in Two.

RECEIVING £3,000.

LONDON, April 15.—(Canadian Press.)—A flutter has been created in the dovecots of the ministry of labor by the first report of the select committee on estimates.

A good portion of the report is occupied with consideration of the salaries of the chief labor adviser, Sir David Shackleton and the president of the industrial court, Sir William Mackenzie.

The report shows that Sir David Shackleton was appointed in 1910 as labor adviser at the home office with a salary of £500 and expresses the opinion that a competent gentleman was obtainable for much less than £3,500 which Sir David is now drawing after twelve years of service.

Similar comment is passed regarding Sir William Mackenzie, who is now also receiving £3,000. The committee expresses the opinion that £1,500 a year, the salary now paid to a county court judge would be sufficient for either official.

ULTIMATUM TO RUSSIA

LONDON, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—A Reuter's despatch from Paris last night says a semi-official statement issued at the close of yesterday's meeting of the "Big Four" of the Genoa Conference quoted Premier Lloyd George as having declared that unless the Russian delegation had given a favorable reply by eleven o'clock today to the proposals presented this week, the Genoa Conference, so far as the Russian question was concerned, would be ended.

Head Crushed in and Had Evidently Been Dead For Some Months.

STONY POINT, N.Y., April 15.—(Canadian Press)—The nude body of a woman apparently about 19 years old, with the skull crushed in, was found late Thursday in an isolated spot in the mountains, one half mile from here. The body was that of a woman about five feet, six inches in height, with bobbed hair.

THE HENRY FORD WILL NOT FLOAT.

GLOUCESTER, Mass. April 15.—(Canadian Press).—Another attempt to float the new fishing schooner Henry Ford, aground on Essex bar since her launching on Tuesday, failed yesterday. Tugs were able to move the schooner a few feet at high tide, but could not work her into deep water.

TWO MEN ASPHYXIATED IN THE HOLD OF OIL STEAMER

Roy MacDonald and Clifford E. White, Both of Sarnia, Are Overcome By Gasoline Fumes.

ONE UNCONSCIOUS.

SARNIA, Ont., April 15.—(Canadian Press.) — Roy MacDonald, first mate, and Clifford E. White, third engineer of the Imperial Oil Company steamer Royalite, both residing at Davis street, Sarnia, lost their lives at noon yesterday in a compartment of the hold of the steamer, both men being overcome by gasoline fumes. All efforts at rescue proved unavailing as the rescurers were in turn overcome by fumes of the gasoline when they attempted to reach the men. Clifford White, according to the story of an eye witness, Burton Fry, wheelsman, went down into the compartment to release a hose off a heater pipe along the bottom. He pried it off and started to climb a ladder to the top, and when he ascended about eight feet was seen to swoon and fall off. MacDonald witnessed his fall and immediately went down with a line to tie around his body. He got down and managed to place the rope under White but was able to secure the knot, owing to his being overcome in turn. The watchman nearby, standing at a hatchway, then went down to the rescue with a rope fastened around his body, but was unable to accomplish anything owing to the lack of air and was soon overcome. He called for assistance and a Pere Marquette fireman, Alfred Darlington, went down to the watchman's assistance without any rope around his body. He boosted him up with his shoulders and his efforts, combined with those of others who had gathered around, were successful in lifting the watchman to the top in an unconscious condition. He later recovered. A hose was then dropped into the hold of the compartment and an effort made to draw the fumes from the bottom, but this was not successful.

James Struthers, 317 Emma street, placing a respiratory mask of the army type over his face, went down into the compartment with a rope which the placed around White's body and it was bruought up to the deck of the steamer. Struthers was almost ocvercome when he got out. A diver's suit was secured after a long delay and James Porter, garbed in the diving suit, went down twice, and in the second attempt was successful in getting out the body of MacDonald.

ULSTER PARLIAMENT ADJOURNED TO MAY 16

BELFAST, April 15. —(Canadian Press.)—The Ulster Parliament adjourned Thursday to May 16. He added, however, that the Ulster Goverment had taken the necessary precautions to meet any emergency that might arise along the border.

WITNESS IS STABBED ON BUSY STREET

Stanley Smith, Who Saw Death of Vicenzo Trescoli, Is Murderously Attacked.

IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—What is thought to be an aftermath of the murder of Vicenzo Trescoli, who was killed in his restaurant in the east end of the city on January 5th, last, occurred Thursday night, when stanley Smith, 42 years of age, of 161 St. Lawrence Boulevard, who was a witness in the Trescoli case, was stabbed on St. Catherine street west, the city's most crowded thoroughfare, by a man so far uncaptured. Farm Bloc Members and Southern Democrats Unite Against Agricultural Imports.

CITIES PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, April 15 (Canadian Press). — Farm bloc members have been assured of the support of a number of Southern Democrats in both Houses in getting their high tariff programme through Congress. These Democrats represent what is declared to be increasing protection sentiment in the South.

In view of this support, farm bloc members declare there is not the slightest doubt that the high rates what they demand on wheat, grains generally, live stock, and other farm products will be enacted, despite a growing protest from the great centres of population where consumers fear they will be hard hit.

MORE BEER FOR THE SAME PRICE.

MONTREAL, April 13.—(Canadian Press—)Beer has taken a drop here, most of the breweries having reduced their prices five cents per dozen on pints and ten cents per dozen on the barrel. The change was effective Thursday. It is expected that some of the restaurants and taverns here will adopt the five cent glass of beer.

In any case, the ten cent mug will now hold more.

HUGE SUM ASKED FOR NEW ROADS

Hon. F. C. Biggs Wants to Spend $30,000,000 on Provincial Roads. House Adjourned Till Tuesday.

FROM AUTO TAXES.

TORONTO, April 15.—(Canadian Press)—The bill introduced by Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works to authorize the capitalization of a portion of the revenue from automobile licenses in order to provide about $30,000,000 to be spent in the next few years for road construction came up for second reading in the legislature Thursday afternoon and as the members wished to close the sitting early in order to catch trains, was adjourned after a discussion which promises to be extensive when again resumed. The legislature adjourned at 4.30 and will not re-open until Tuesday afternoon. The premier announced that the budget debate would be continued and he hoped by giving it right of way to conclude the debate by the end of the week.

The plans of the highways are that debentures in the neighboorhood of $32,002,000 will be sold and the money devoted to building the provincial highway. To retire these debentures which will be for 40 years, $2,000,000 a year will be taken from the revenue obtained from automobile licenses. Mr. Biggs explained that it was not the intention of course to spend all this in this year or next year but that it would be spread over the next few years. The revenue from automobile licenses last year was in the neighboorhood of $3,000,000 and he was confident with the increase of the number of cars it would be over the $4,000,000 mark so that there would still be half to use for maintainence and other road requirements.

The minister in reply to questions from the oposition as to the advisibility of putting this additional debt on the province instead of spending the $2,000,000 each year as it came in, said that the great increase of traffic on portions of the provincial highway made it necessary that they be covered immediately with permanent paving instead of macadam. In some sections it cost as high as $3,000 per mile annually is needed to keep the macadam roads in repair in addition to having to rebuild them entirely every few years. Accordingly added to the better service of a severed road it was really cheaper to spend $30,000 a mile build ing them and have the maintenance charge almost nothing.

Dr. Pelletier, Quebec Commissioner in London asking if members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, which is being disbanded, can be placed on farms in the Townships. Hon. Pelletier states that the men are mostly farmers' sons and wish to settle on land within the British Empire, and that they are anxious to invest their capital in Canada.

CASSELL SAYS GERMAN MAILS ARE A SWINDLE

Swedish Economist Warns North and South America of German Financial Condition.

LOW VALUE.

GENOA, April 15. — (Canadian Press.)— "The greatest swindle in history is being perpetrated through the sale abroad of German paper marks and mark securities to meet reparation demands," said Professor Cassell, a distinguished Swedish economist, yesterday.

"I think North and South America,' Professor Cassell added, "should know how dishonest is this system." When France insists upon immediate payment the German Government can only raise money by issuing paper marks and marketing more mark securities abroad. In other words, foreign investors, largely in North and South America, really are making the reparations payments on the theory that they are buying investments. If this system continues the German mark will fall to a point where it will be virtually as bad as Austrian and Polish money, and nobody abroad will touch it."

BODY OF MAN IS FOUND IN LEAMY LAKE

Believed to Be That of Joseph Racine, Who Is Missing Since November 5, 1920.

WORE VEST.

OTTAWA, April 15.—(Canadian Press.)—What is believed to be the body of Joseph Racine, son of the late Member for Casselman in the Ontario Legislature, was found on Thursday in Leamy's Lake, just a mile or so north of the city of Ottawa, and in the Province of Quebec. The body was naked except for a vest, and the man's brains had evidently been beaten out. Inside the vest were two pages of a bank book with Racine's name on it.

Racine disappeared on November 5, 1920, from Ottawa and has never since been seen.

Within a mile of Leamy's Lake, where the body was found, were the notorious Chelsea Road dives outside the city of Hull, since closed up tight. At the time Racine disappeared they were running wide open.

IMPORTATION OF POTATOES PROHIBITED

Drastic Action Taken to Protect Canadian Farmers From Potato Canker.

U. S. SHIPMENTS.

OTTAWA, April 15.—(Canadian Press)—Notice is given by the Department of Agriculture, of a protective order prohibiting the importation of potatoes into Canada, from Europe, Newfoundland, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, and the States of California, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. This order is issued as a protection against potato canker, from which Canada is as yet free. It is pointed out, "that all shipments of potatoes from the United States of America shall be accompanied by a certificate duly signed by the consigner stating the name of the State in which the potatoes were grown."

ARBITRATION BD. ANNOUNCES WAGE CUT IN OTTAWA

Building Laborers to Receive 45 Cents an Hour From May 1 — Nine Hours Recommended.

OVERTIME PAY.

OTTAWA, April 15.—(Canadian Press)—Holding that "notwithstanding the low rate of wages paid in some cases ,we feel that the laborers who will be affected by this award should get a fair living wage of the skilled laborers of the crafts with which they work in carrying on building operations, the board of arbitration in connection with the Ottawa Building Laborers' dispute brought in an unanimous award Thursday, recommending that the rate to be paid this class of labor shall be 45 cents an hour as from May 1.

A copy of the award was handed in to the Department of Labor by T. D'Arcy Scott, Chairman of the Board signed by George C. Crain, for the contractors, and Martin Ryan for the laborers. The award has been accepted by the contractors, and while the rate recommended falls short of five cents per hour of what the laborers were standing out for, it is expected in view of the unanimity of the award, that the union will abide by its terms. The board was appointed a week ago when the laborers refused to accept 45 cents an hour offered by the contractors, a reduction on the 1921 scale of five cents an hour.

In making the award the members of the Board express the opinion that it will have the effect of restoring public confidence in the reasonableness of building costs and thereby lead to greater construction activity and consequent employment of labor.

In addition to the recommendation of 45 cents an hour, the board suggests that a nine-hour day shall be worked, and all time over this to be paid at the rate of time and a half.

DISCRIMINATION MADE AGAINST CANADIAN RUGS

United States Treasury Department Fears That Canada Will Injure U. S. Rug-Making Industry.

SPECIAL DUTY.

OTTAWA, April 15 (Canadian Press). — The United States dumping clause has been made effective in the case of Canadian rugs and chair seats, according to a statement issued on Thursday night by the Department of Trade at Commerce, Commercial Intelligence Branch. A United States Treasury Department decision, it is stated, finds that "the rug-making industry in the United States is being or is likely to be injured by reason of the importation into the United States of rugs from Canada, and that such merchandise is sold or is likely to be sold in the United States at less than its fair value."

Appraising officers scrutinise every entry of such goods from Canada, it is said, and should entries indicate that rugs are offered to United States importers at less than home market prices, the special dumping duty provided under the United States Emergency Tariff Act will be assessed, which is the difference between the price to the United States importer and the home market price in Canada where the former is less than the latter.

Dumping duty provisions are also made effective in the case of veneer chair seats imported from Canada.

SATURDAY, APRIL 15TH, 1922.

THE ETERNAL SYMBOL.

Easter, anniversary of the Resurrection and real birthday of Christian civilization, again is celebrated—as it has been for nearly 1,900 years.

Primarily it is a religious festival, Christianity's rallying day, on which the wise wandering sheep return to the fold to hear inspiring sermons that give many a new lease on life.

The spirit of Easter is the spirit of the Resurrection—of spring—the awakening of life, hope and happiness after the long death of winter. In this sense, the Easter season is observed even in heathen countries. The budding lily and the Easter egg are symbolic of the eternal re-birth of life.

Let us strive, this Easter, to resurrect the best that is in us and face the future with re-born hope, tolerance and Christian kindness to our fellows, striving to extend the glad spirit of Easter until it permeates all days of the year.

A CALL TO MOTORISTS.

The attention of all local motorists is called to the appeal of Mr. Andrew Brown in connection with the parade which will open the Motor Show next week. This feature can be made an outstanding one if the car-owners of the city will co-operate, and it is to be hoped that the experience of last year will not be repeated. There are hundreds of cars in Peterborough, and no reason is apparent why the majority of them should not be in line for the parade. It is a contribution to the success of the occasion that does not make a heavy demand upon any one and yet a general response will mean a record-breaking opening for the Motor Show. The Health Association's work is surely worthy of this small effort. The Automobile Association should impress upon its members the desirability of co-operating, and such organizations as the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs can set a good example for other car-owners by seeing to it that every member who possesses an automobile should be represented. Costly decorations are not expected; an outlay for that purpose would be a waste of money that might better be given in the form of a subscription to the Health Association. The car-owners of Peterborough can start the big show with the proper eclat if they will line up for the parade. Let us see how many public-spirited motorists we have in the city.

THE SCOPE IS WIDENED.

The Chippawa inquiry, according to the powers outlined by Premier Drury in the Legislature on Thursday, is going a long way beyond the scope originally intended. When Col. Carmichael, M.P.P., a member of the Hydro Commission, made his charges of inefficiency and extravagance in connection with the Chippawa power development, it was first proposed by F. Wellington Hay and apparently assented to by the Government that a committee of the Legislature should be appointed to investigate the Carmichael charges. The Government, however, changed its mind suddenly, substituted a royal commission for the suggested House committee and widened the extent of the inquiry so that the new body, headed by Mr. Drury's favourite Commissioner, Mr. W. D. Gregory, has power not only to completely investigate all details in connection with the Queenston-Chippawa scheme, but is also authorized to inquire into any other power development undertaken by the Hydro-electric Commission and generally all matters of expenditure and administration by that Commission. That is a very large order, and judging by the rate at which the Hydro-radial inquiry operated, the new commission will have no reason, for some time at least, to complain of unemployment. Mr. Gregory, especially, should feel satisfied that the Government changed its mind, for his latest appointment is an even bigger plum than the other two commissions upon which he has served.

RESIGNATION.

The anniversary of Easter seems an appropriate occasion upon which to present for Examiner readers a hitherto unpublished poem by the late F. R. Yokome, for over a decade and one-half the revered editor of The Examiner. It is as follows:

"Fain would I make my path, Lord,
If thou'dst have it so,
Where pastures green expand, Lord,
Where waters stilly flow.

Should the way grow steep, Lord,
Thorny, too, and rough,
If but thou with me be, Lord,
For me, 'tis enough.

Tho' through vale and shade of Death my way decline
No ill shall I fear then,
Thy strength, Lord, is mine;

I would not choose my path, Lord,
Just let mine be Thine,
Soon through vale and shade will Light of Heaven shine."

ZITA, THE WIDOW.

A world that has wept over the fate of Mary Stuart, Catherine of Aragon, and Eugenie surely has a tear for Zita of Bourbon-Parma, not yet thirty, but a widow with six young children; once an empress, now an exile and in want. Few have endured such misfortune as has come to this young woman since that day when the Archduke Charles stopped pushing his baby carriage in the parks of Vienna and was called upon to rule an empire. As a girl of twenty-six, she matched her wits against those masters of intrigue who dominated the Germany of 1918. She almost won. But Charles was weak in the hands of the Prussian war lords. He lacked the courage to go through with his peace letter to her brother Prince Sixtus and, perhaps for that reason more than any other, he is to-day in his shroud in Funchal instead of on the throne of Austria-Hungary. In that thrilling and foolhardy incursion into Hungary last October Zita, the co-leader, travelled at Charles' side in the airplane from Switzerland into battle, capture, and exile. We find her in January racing across Europe to the bedside of her sick son. She bore all her sorrows and disappointments "without bitterness."—New York Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

"Europe's family once more sits at same table," says a newspaper heading. It is to be hoped, however, they won't begin throwing the dishes at one another.

That story of the manufacture of moonshine at Burwash Prison Farm is liable to cause a heavy strain upon the accommodation there.

At least one man in Ontario should approve of the Drury Government's fondness for commissions. That is Mr. W. D. Gregory, who has already conducted two inquiries and will now head the Chippawa probe commission.

Eat and Grow Thin

DEAR AUNT of mine.
YOU SURE paint.
A VERY pathetic picture.
OF YOUR case.
AND I really wonder.
IF YOU are not spoofing.
JUST A bit.
IT DOES not seem REALLY QUITE possible
YOU CAN have grown.
SO STOUT.
AS YOU say you have.
AND, OF course.
YOU COULD not expect,
ANY BETTER results.
FROM YOUR fasting experiment.
THAN YOU got.
AND IT does seem.
JUST AS you say.
THAT AFTER you have.
STARVED AND starved.
AND GOTTEN so hungry.
THAT YOU just have to eat.

YOU GET stouter than ever.
BUT WHEN you shoved.
ALL THE furniture back,
AND TRIED to roll.
THE FAT off you.
IT MUST have been.
A REAL circus.
AND NO wonder,
UNCLE HURT his side
LAUGHING AT you.
AND THE joke of it,
ALL LIES in the fact.
THAT YOU do not need.
TO ROLL about or fast.
TO REDUCE your weight.
YOU CAN eat.
ALL YOU want.
AND STILL grow thin.
IT IS only a matter.
OF THE proper diet.
AND OSTEOPATHY.

You can have a very wide choice of foods, eat all you wish and still grow thin; the proper osteopathic adjustment makes sure the desired result.

THE RESURRECTION

1 And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

2 And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.

5 And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

6 And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.

7 But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall you see him, as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they anything to any man; for they were afraid.

9 Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils.

10 And she went and told them that had been with him, as they mourned and wept.

11 And they, when they had heard that he was alive, and had been seen of her, believed not.

12 After that he appeared in another form unto two of them, as they walked, and went into the country.

13 And they went and told it unto the residue: neither believed they them.

14 Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

15 And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—St. Mark, 16.

LLOYD GEORGE HAS FRANCE AND RUSSIA IN HARMONY

British Premier Invites Members of Economic Conference to Lunch and Smoothes Out Troubles.

INFORMAL.

GENOA, April 15. — Canadian Press. — The Bolshevik delegates and the representatives of France to the Economic Conference, broke bread together yesterday at the residence of Premier Lloyd George, and there has been an appreciable rise as a consequence in the expectations that the conference may have good results even in the most pessimistic quarters here.

The occasion for the meeting of the Soviet and the French delegates at table was a conference which began at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning and lasted throughout the day, in which French, Russian, Belgian, Italian and British representatives participated and during which Mr. Lloyd George invited all of them to luncheon.

The meeting was called by Mr. Lloyd George for a discussion of the Russian problem, with the purpose of clearing up uncertain in the London experts' report before the Russians present their final reply to it.

This carrying of the most vital part of the business of the Conference into such an informal gathering where personal contact may possibly remove much of the animosity that has been displayed in the public sessions, has created a general feeling in conference circles that a compromise may be arranged on the Russian problem which will afford a satisfactory working basis for the reconstruction of Russia.

The key-note of the allied position at the Conference yesterday was that Russia first must satisfy past pledges before obtaining any concessions for the future. In other words Russia must recognize the debts of the Czarist Government before Soviet claims against the Allies can be entertained.

This morning the experts of the four inviting powers, who were present at yesterday's meeting again will gather at Mr. Lloyd George's villa, and in the afternoon they will probably be joined by the principal delegates of the five countries.

Germany has not been asked to attend these private conferences as she was not a party to the making of the London experts' report. The straightening out of the moot points in the report will be effected at informal meetings before Germany is called in. It has been expected that Russia would make her reply to the report of the experts to-day, but this reply has now been postponed indefinitely.

The Russians have caused a statement to be circulated through M. Rakovsky, the Ukrainian Premier, and other delegates, to the effect that Russia has already enacted laws and made court reforms and regulations affecting foreigners residing in Russia which meet many of the criticisms of the London experts' report rearding the Soviet Government and that they also have expressed a willingness to acknowledge pre-war debts and signified their purpose to erase their claims against the allies arising from the operations of the Wrangel, Denekin and Yudenitch armies against the Soviet regime if the Allied war claims against Russia are wiped out.

Those present at the meeting today were: M. Barthou, France; Signor Schanzer, Italy; M. Jasper, Belgium, and M. Chitcherin, M. Litvinoff and M. Krassin, Russia. The experts of the inviting powers who attended were Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, Great Britain; Jacques Seydoux, France, and M. Theunys, Belgium. Mr. Lloyd George invited all his visitors to reman for luncheon in order that the discussion might not be interrupted.

The worst symptoms were dragging-down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy, and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GREY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

ERNEST EDWARDS' DEATH WILL BE SUBJECT OF THOROUGH ENQUIRY

Inquest Opened Thursday Afternoon—Contents of Stomach to Be Analyzed

An inquest into the death of Ernest Edwards, the nineteen year old Dummer boy found dead on his farm on Wednesday afternoon opened in Comstock's Undertaking Parlors at 4 p.m. Thursday afternoon Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer presiding. The Jury viewed the body on which Dr Edward H. Wood and Dr. A. W. McPherson were performing a post mortem examination To secure an analysis of the stomach will probably take two weeks the hearing adjourned until Thursday evening, April 27th.

The examining doctors told the jurymen that no marks of violence were found upon the body. There were two slight abrasions on the face, one on the left cheek and another on the left side of the nose but these appeared so slight as to be hardly accountable for death. Dr. Greer said that the stomach was being sent away for analysis and that this could likely take about two weeks. After the jury had retired upstairs he went below to where the examination was being made to make himself clear upon this point.

Isaac Puffer, county constable, who brought the body to the city on the 7.35 C.P.R. train Thursday morning was sworn and told jury what he had learned in connection with the case He first identified the body as that of Ernest Edwards whom he said he knew by sight. The body he said was found by John Williamson the owner of the farm while he was going to the sugar bush in the afternoon.

Mr. Williamson 'phoned him at Finlay's factory, where he worked and detailed how he found the lifeless body. Constable Puffer said he left work, went home and phoned Peterboro to see what steps to take. He was ordered to have the body removed and with Fred Webb and R. B. Peacock the undertaker drove out to the farm arriving there about 7.30 p.m.

No members of the family were there, Constable Puffer stated. The body was found in front of a barn or stable at the south-east corner. Edwards was pitched on his face, his toes resting fairly on the ground. For the jury the constable went into a minute description of the exact location of the body in relation to the barn and a projecting stone wall The head was about two feet from the wall. Edwards lay with his right hand underneath him, clutching his chest and is left hand across his stomach with the fingers projecting so that the tips could be seen. He lay on his left cheek in such a manner that part of his right cheek was observable. Beside him lay his cap and a khaki handkerchief. Although he searched all about, the constable said no marks of a struggle were seen. The ground he told a jurymen, was covered with old grass and it was hard to distinguish tracks.

Made a Search.

Although the party made a search nothing was noticed that had any relation to the case. "Everything was clear and nice" declared Constable Puffer. He said they removed the body to the village arriving there about 8.40.

Ernest Edward lived with his mother a widow on Williamson's place, half of Lot 7, Concession 8, in the east, witness said. They came there the forepart of winter. As the men, with the body, drove out of the gate they met Mrs. Edwards. Constable Puffer broke the news to the mother and she exhibited no sign of emotion, he said. She remarked, "that he would be 20 in July." She said she had not seen him since Monday noon.

Mrs. Edwards told the constable that she got the cheque for her pension last week. Saturday night Ernest asked her for $2. She refused him and he got angry. Mrs. Edwards was away all day Sunday. She came home about 10.30 or 11 o'clock Sunday night. He had learned, Constable Puffer said that Abraham Filion accompanied her home. She was home Monday morning and had dinner with the family. After dinner Ernest got up and went away "and that was the last she saw of him."

Examined Room.

Constable Puffer asked where she had been from Monday to Wednesday and she said she had been over at Hill's doing some sewing. In his evidence the constable said he talked to the mother at the house. He looked all over Edward's room in the hope that some clue to the mysterious death might be found but the search was fruitless.

M. J. Maher, foreman of the jury, suggested that in connection with this case the city police cooperate with the county police. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton said this was understood. "Here's a man right here I'd like to have" said Constable Puffer laying his hand on Detective William Meagher's shoulder. Mr. Hatton said it would be possible to get an officer from Toronto and the Norwood constable said he thought this would be advisable. "I think there should be some detective work done seeing the locality its in" said Constable Puffer. "I agree with you" said Dr. Greer.

The jury empannelled in the inquest was as follows: M. J. Mather foreman: William Rudkins, Joseph Picord, Thomas McAuley, John Edgar, Charles H. Ackerman, Keith Lech, Edward Wright, Fred Bartlett, Ernest V. Warne, J. N. Bacon and David McGrath.

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N.S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N.S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows: "I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care.

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

BAD FLOOD IN NEW ENGLAND

Two Rivers Overflow Their Banks at Many Points and Do Great Property Damage.

BOSTON, April 15.— (Canadian Press.)—The two principal rivers of New England—the Connecticut and the Merrimack — were still out of their banks Thursday night at many points with consequent damage as waters swollen by melting snows and recent rains rushed towards the sea.

The Merrimack at Manchester, N. H., higher than it has been in a quarter of a century, was flooding mill cellars, menacing river bank camps and forcing evacuation of both.

The Connecticut had apparently passed the crest of the present freshet and was receding. In the wake of the waters, however ,near Bellow's Falls, Vt., were left washed-out lower floors of homes and factories, roadways that will not be passable for days, and railroad roadbeds impassable in places now and developing new soft spots constantly.

"Our First Year"

(By a Bride.)

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT.

Do you think two persons can successfully maintain their individual freedom after marriage? This bride and groom are trying it. The other evening she went to the Playhouse with her platonic friend, Bart Elliot, while hre husband went to his club. Her five girl friends are now having lunch with her.

Chapter XII.

Never did two women get together for an hour without discussing a man. I often wonder if men discuss women as frequently and as frankly: and I wonder why a man and a woman never tell each other heally important truths.

Bart Elliot had always been confidential about his "cases", but I knew he always left some things out. And I never had dared to ask Bart what girls want to know about the emotions of men.

Perhaps, now I am married, Jack and I can talk frankly. But I am not sure. For Mary Smith says that when she and her husband touch upon intimate matters they always quarrel.

Of the five girls who lunched with me today, Bonny Tearle is youngest. She is an incorrigible little flapper of the ultra-modern type. Bonny has everything in the world except ideals.

Jeanne Alison is a cigaret-smoking college grad, who scorns men since she escaped from what promised to be a romance with one of her professors As a sophisticated young woman she frankly desires to box Bonny's ears when Bonny tells about her petting parties.

"What did Jack say about your going to the Playhouse with Bart?" I expected that question from Bonny before salad. It came with the soup.

"Nothing not a word!" I replied.

"Well, my husband would have slammed the door in my face!" put in Mary Smith, not tragically, not indignantly, but proudly. It was as if Mary Smith's husband's jealously were an advertisment of the depth of his devotion to his wife!

"You two—Mary and Peg—represent the old and the new-" laughed Jeanne. "Mary gloats over her slavery as a wife. Yes, Mary! You absolutely do- And Peg is free and equal—in theory. But how about practice, Peg?"

"Yes- Tell us how you got away with it the other night" begged Bonny.

"You mean, now you're married, you like to go out with other men?" Mary Smith smiled sweetly to prove she wasn't catfish.

"Now be careful, Peg," warned Jeanne. "We spinsters hang upon you words."

I stammered. It's so hard to tell where a wife can begin to talk about her personal affairs, and where she must limit her revelations.

"Come on! Tell us!" coaxed Bonny.

Unless you married women who know teach us girls, how are we women going to reform marriage" persisted Jeanne. "How are we going to perfect our lovers? And keep our husbands—when we get 'em?

"Girls, you know our theory, Jack's and mine. We are to go where we like, when we like, with whom we like, man or girl.

"Well I've been married only a month. The theory promises to work all right. Jack won't get jealous, neither will I.

"But—it doesn't make me happy! I simply don't want to be with any man except Jack! I've known Bart Elliot all my life And already he is like a stranger to me!"
